BSBMKG520 Manage compliance within the marketing legislative framework

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to comply with the legislative structure of the marketing industry and use this for competitive advantage.

It applies to individuals who work across a variety of industries and who possess a sound theoretical knowledge base, and demonstrate a range of managerial skills to ensure business activities are conducted legally and effectively.

A sound working knowledge of the legal environment in which marketing decisions are made is essential to protect a business from litigation, and individuals in these roles must competently discuss legal issues with specialists, but do not make legal decisions independently.

An in-depth understanding of the legislative operating environment also informs the development of marketing strategies.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Assessment Requirements for BSBPMG413 Apply project human resources management approaches

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- produce work breakdown structures in human resource project planning
- construct effective methods for monitoring roles, responsibilities and performance in projects
- demonstrate methods for providing feedback on performance and improving performance of project team members.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- identify alternative project personnel engagement options
- explain job design principles and work breakdown structures
- describe learning and development approaches that can be incorporated into project life cycle
- list methods for skills analysis
- identify and describe project roles, responsibilities and reporting requirements for human resources.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the management and leadership – project management field of work and include access to:

- relevant workplace documentation and resources
- case studies and, where possible, real situations.

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
	2.3 Establish a shared understanding of desired project outcomes with relevant stakeholders 2.4 Document scope management plan
3. Manage project scope control process	3.1 Implement agreed scope management procedures and processes 3.2 Manage impact of scope changes within established time, cost and quality constraints according to change control procedures 3.3 Identify and document scope management issues and recommend improvements for future projects

Foundation Skills

This section describes language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills incorporated in the performance criteria that are required for competent performance.

Skill	Performance Criteria	Description
Reading	1.3, 2.1, 3.1, 3.2	• Interprets and analyses information from a range of complex texts
Writing	1.1-1.3, 2.1-2.4, 3.3	• Develops project documentation and procedures using formats and language appropriate to context
Oral Communication	1.1-1.3, 2.1- 2.3, 3.3	• Participates in discussions and negotiations using clear language and appropriate non-verbal features • Uses active listening and questioning to elicit views and opinions of others
Numeracy	2.2, 3.2	• Interprets numerical information to determine project timelines and measure outcomes against project scope
Navigate the world of work	1.3, 3.1, 3.2	• Adheres to organisational policies and procedures and considers own role in terms of its contribution to broader goals of work environment
Interact with others	1.1-1.3, 2.1, 2.3, 3.3	• Identifies and uses appropriate conventions and protocols when communicating with diverse stakeholders • Collaborates with others to achieve joint outcomes, playing an active role in negotiating and facilitating agreement
Get the work done	1.1, 2.1, 2.2, 3.1, 3.2, 3.3	• Sequences and schedules complex activities, monitors implementation and manages relevant communications • Makes a range of critical and non-critical decisions in

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- complete project authorisation activities
- collaborate with stakeholders to produce a scope-management plan
- implement scope-management plan according to procedures
- review and document scope-management implementation and recommend improvements.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- identify components of a project scope-management plan
- describe factors likely to impact the project scope
- explain formal change-control processes
- describe methods for measuring work outcomes and progress against plans
- describe methods for segmenting and documenting a work breakdown structure
- identify and describe problem areas likely to be encountered in scope management
- explain procedures for reporting scope change
- explain project life cycle and the significance of scope management
- identify project management tools used for managing scope
- outline roles and responsibilities of project manager in relation to project planning
- identify types of project initiation documentation.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the management and leadership – project management field of work and include access to:

- workplace documentation used to document and manage project scope
- examples of feedback from project stakeholders regarding management of project scope
- case studies and, where possible, real situations
- Interaction with others.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- develop a communication management plan and an information system for a specific project
- implement a project information system with a systematic approach to storage, searching, retrieval and archiving of relevant information
- implement and maintain communication processes
- review project outcomes and document suggestions for improvements to managing project information and communication for future projects.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- explain alternative communication methods and media and their application on various projects
- identify effective project-management information systems and their various applications
- explain methods used to evaluate information systems and communication processes.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the management and leadership – project management field of work and include access to:

- project communication and information management documentation
- examples of how communication was managed on projects

Assessment Requirements for BSBPMG522 Undertake project work

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- define the parameters of the project including:
  - project scope
  - project stakeholders, including own responsibilities
  - relationship of project to organisational objectives and other projects
  - reporting requirements
  - resource requirements
- use project management tools to develop and implement a project plan including:
  - deliverables
  - work breakdown
  - budget and allocation of resources
  - timelines
  - risk management
  - recordkeeping and reporting
- consult and communicate with relevant stakeholders to generate input and engagement in planning, implementing and reviewing the project
- provide support to team members to enable them to achieve deliverables and to transition them as appropriate at completion of the project
- finalise the project including documentation, sign-offs and reporting
- review and document the project outcomes.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

- give examples of project management tools and how they contribute to a project
- outline types of documents and other sources of information commonly used in defining the parameters of a project
- explain processes for identifying and managing risk in a project
- outline the organisation's mission, goals, objectives and operations and how the project relates to them
- explain the organisation's procedures and processes that are relevant to managing a project including:
  - lines of authority and approvals
  - quality assurance
  - human resources
  - budgets and finance
  - recordkeeping
  - reporting
- outline the legislative and regulatory context of the organisation in relation to project work, including work health and safety (WHS) requirements.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the management and leadership – project management field of work and include access to:

- relevant legislation, regulations, standards and codes
- relevant workplace documentation and resources
- case studies and, where possible, real situations
- interaction with others.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

BSBPMG601 Direct the integration of projects

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to direct the integration of all functions of project management in a program or multiple-project context, as well as directing the internal project environment to meet external needs and expectations, and directing projects within a program throughout their life cycle.

It applies to individuals who are program managers, managing a suite of projects (a program).

Unit Sector

Management and Leadership – Project Management

Elements and Performance Criteria

Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Direct integration of all functions of project management	1.1 Support project managers in project stakeholder analysis to determine influence of others on project outcomes 1.2 Analyse, rationalise and integrate requirements of all projects, and inter-relationships of project management functions, to determine agreed, achievable program objectives that align to organisational goals, strategies and objectives as stated in strategic planning documentation 1.3 Review, rationalise and, when approved, integrate project plans

	into a structured, cohesive program plan for program management 1.4 Derive integrated program-control mechanisms from project plans, to establish program-control requirements 1.5 Use project plans to develop consolidated program budgets, schedules and interdependencies, and to identify program risks
2. Direct internal project environment to meet external needs and expectations	2.1 Ensure project managers' work is conducted effectively throughout multiple, aligned project life cycles 2.2 Establish and maintain links to direct alignment between projects and organisational objectives within the program 2.3 Evaluate project proposals (scope definitions) against organisation’s strategic objectives 2.4 Coordinate and direct conflicting requirements of individual projects to achieve program objectives 2.5 Modify, where necessary, individual project objectives to achieve overall program objectives 2.6 Coordinate impact of external environmental influences on individual projects to achieve program objectives
3. Direct projects throughout project life cycles	3.1 Direct all project managers to provide project phases, approval points, review points and other milestones, to allow program integration 3.2 Establish project baselines and report progress in relation to these baselines, to measure program performance throughout business reporting cycle 3.3 Progressively review project baselines to ensure nominated benefits are consistent with organisational expectations 3.4 Direct finalisation plans, procedures and activities to ensure final outcomes are met, and projects meet agreed program objectives 3.5 Review finalised projects in a program-management reporting period to evaluate benefits to the business 3.6 Pass on integration-management lessons learnt to higher project authority and provide feedback for application to other projects

This section describes language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills incorporated in the performance criteria that are required for competent performance.

Skill	Performance Criteria	Description
Reading	1.2, 1.3	• Interprets and critically analyses complex texts • Applies appropriate strategies to construct meaning from complex texts
Writing	1.3, 1.5, 2.5, 3.2, 3.5, 3.6	• Develops a range of project related documents using appropriate format, vocabulary and structure
Oral Communication	1.1, 2,1, 3.1	• Participates in discussions and presents information using language and features appropriate to the audience
Numeracy	1.5, 3.4	• Extracts and evaluates mathematical information embedded in a range of tasks and texts • Selects from, and applies, an expanding range of mathematical and problem-solving strategies in a range of contexts
Interact with others	1.1, 2,1, 3.1	• Collaborates with others to achieve joint outcomes, playing a lead role in facilitating successful outcomes and influencing direction
Navigate the world of work	1.2, 2.2, 3.3, 3.5	• Understands how own role contributes to broader organisational goals
Get the work done	1.1-1.5, 2.1-2.6, 3.3, 3.5	• Develops flexible plans for complex, high impact activities that involve stakeholders with potentially competing demands • Regularly reviews priorities and performance during implementation, identifying and addressing issues and reallocating resources • Uses analytical processes to identify key information and issues, evaluate alternative strategies, anticipate consequences and consider implementation issues and contingencies • Reviews outcomes to evaluate results against goals, and to identify opportunities for improvement

BSBPMG602 Direct the scope of a project program

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to direct the scope of projects within a program, or multiple projects context. It covers management of project authorisations and defining, planning and managing the program scope.

It applies to individuals who are program managers, managing a suite of projects (a program).

Unit Sector

Management and Leadership – Project Management

Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Authorise projects	1.1 Analyse needs, in consultation with client and relevant stakeholders, to justify each project and to designate project managers 1.2 Conduct project selection and prioritisation within guidelines provided by, or under the direction of, a relevant (governance) authority 1.3 Make project authorisation recommendations to relevant authority as basis for future project management activities, and commitment of resources and effort

2. Define and plan program scope	2.1 Define projects' objectives, major deliverables and resource requirements at project and program level, and confirm with governance group or relevant authority 2.2 Determine and agree measurable project outcomes and benefits to enable quantified evaluation of program performance 2.3 Develop, agree on, and communicate scope definition, scope management strategies, and plans 2.4 Align program scope to business requirements and organisational strategy
3. Manage program scope	3.1 Conduct regular program reviews to measure project performance and ensure stated program and business/strategic objectives are met 3.2 Establish and maintain a change management system to form basis of ongoing scope management 3.3 Conduct reviews of scope changes and take action to ensure project and program objectives are achieved or modified 3.4 Measure project outcomes against defined program scope and aligned strategic objectives 3.5 Communicate results of program outcomes to relevant authority 3.6 Pass on scope management lessons learnt to higher project authority for application in planning and implementation of later projects within the program

This section describes language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills incorporated in the performance criteria that are required for competent performance.

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- authorise a range of concurrent projects, including:
  - justifying projects and designating project managers through needs analysis
  - conducting project selection and prioritisation
  - making project-authorisation recommendations
- define and plan program scope, including:
  - defining and confirming project- and program-level objectives, major deliverables and resource requirements
  - determining and agreeing measurable outcomes and benefits to enable program performance evaluation
  - developing, agreeing on and communicating scope definition, scope management strategies and plans
  - aligning scope to business requirements and organisational strategy
- manage program scope, including:
  - conducting regular program reviews

BSBPMG603 Direct time management of a project program

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to direct time management across projects so that key deliverables meet project and program schedules.

It applies to individuals who are program managers, managing a suite of projects (a program).

Unit Sector

Management and Leadership – Project Management

Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Direct project schedule development	1.1 Determine from individual project plans the duration, effort, sequence and interdependencies of major activities and milestones to form the basis of the program schedule 1.2 Direct project managers, through use of time management methods, techniques and tools, preferred schedules, time management plans, resource allocation and financial requirements, to enable continuous updating and refining of the program schedule 1.3 Formalise and communicate project schedules to stakeholders, with agreement, as basis for planning, implementation and review

	of progress
2. Manage program schedules	2.1 Develop, implement and modify mechanisms to monitor, control, record and report actual progress in relation to agreed schedule and plans 2.2 Conduct ongoing analysis to identify and forecast variances and trends, and to develop responses, so projects meet their schedules 2.3 Manage durations of key activities and interdependencies between projects to enable financial and resource rationalisation across the program, to meet strategic expectations within the management/reporting period of the program 2.4 Review progress and refine schedules throughout the program life cycle to ensure consistency with changing scope, objectives and constraints related to time and resource availability 2.5 Ensure responses to perceived, potential or actual project schedule changes are authorised, to achieve program objectives
3. Analyse time management outcomes	3.1 Review and analyse multiple project and program outcomes from available records and information to determine effectiveness of the schedule and time-management processes 3.2 Pass on lessons learnt to higher project authority and provide feedback for application, planning and implementation of later projects within the program

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- direct project schedule development, including:
  - determining details from individual project plans to base the program schedule on
  - directing project managers, to enable continuous updating and refinement of the program schedule
  - formalising and communicating project schedules to stakeholders as basis for planning, implementation and progress review
- manage program schedules, including:
  - developing, implementing and modifying mechanisms to monitor, control, record and report progress
  - conducting ongoing analysis so projects meet schedules
  - managing durations of key activities and interdependencies between projects
  - reviewing progress and refining schedules throughout the program life cycle
  - ensuring responses to project schedule changes are authorised
- analyse time management outcomes, including:
  - reviewing and analysing multiple project and program outcomes
  - passing on lessons learnt.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

BSBPMG604 Direct cost management of a project program

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to analyse, coordinate, and refine budgets of multiple projects contributing to an overall program budget. It covers directing project budget development, managing program costs and directing financial completion of projects.

It applies to individuals who are program managers, managing a suite of projects (a program).

Unit Sector

Management and Leadership – Project Management

Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Direct project budget development	1.1 Direct project managers to determine resource requirements for individual tasks, in consultation with appropriate stakeholders, to develop project budgets which contribute to the program budget 1.2 Direct project cost estimations to enable budgets and cost management processes to be developed for project life cycles 1.3 Direct and authorise cost strategies and cost management plans to ensure clarity of understanding and ongoing management of project finances and the program budget

2. Manage program costs	2.1 Develop and maintain cost management systems to direct monitoring of actual expenditure and to control costs throughout multiple project life cycles and for the program 2.2 Conduct analysis, evaluate options and implement responses to project cost variations to maintain control over changing financial and program objectives 2.3 Monitor internal and external influences on program costs and, where necessary, seek approval from business management for changes to the approved program budget
3. Direct financial completion	3.1 Provide direction for project finalisation activities to achieve integrated financial and physical project completion within program expectations 3.2 Review project outcomes from available records at the finalisation of each project, and analyse information to determine effectiveness of cost management systems 3.3 File program lessons learnt as a resource for future reference and, where necessary, refer to higher project authority for application in planning strategic direction changes and business outcomes for future projects

This section describes language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills incorporated in the performance criteria that are required for competent performance.

Skill	Performance Criteria	Description
Reading	1.3, 2.2, 3.1, 3.2	• Organises, evaluates and critiques ideas and information from a range of complex texts

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- direct quality requirements development, including:
  - directing reviews and consultation to ensure application of organisational quality objectives, standards, levels and criteria
  - modifying quality management methods, techniques and tools
  - identifying and communicating program quality criteria
  - directing project managers to develop and implement quality plans
- direct project quality assurance management, including:
  - analysing results of project activities and product performance to determine compliance with agreed standards throughout project life cycles
  - identifying causes of unsatisfactory results and initiating actions to enable continuous improvement
  - directing inspections of quality processes and analysing results to determine compliance with program and organisational quality standards
  - developing and maintaining a quality management system
- improve program and project quality, including:
  - continually reviewing and modifying the quality management system to ensure project team commitment to continuous improvement
  - directing project outcomes review and analysis to determine system effectiveness
  - aggregating, using and passing on quality improvements and lessons learnt.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

- describe a range of quality management methods, techniques, tools and systems and their various applications
- identify relevant Australian and international standards.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the management and leadership – project management field of work and include access to:

- workplace quality documentation
- feedback from project team/s and stakeholders as to how quality was managed.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to provide the critical link between people, ideas and information at all stages in the life cycles of multiple projects across a program. It covers directing project communications and information management, managing program communications, and analysing communications management outcomes for projects and programs.

It applies to individuals who are program managers, managing a suite of projects (a program).

Unit Sector

Management and Leadership – Project Management

Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Direct planning of project communications	1.1 Direct project information requirements, in consultation with appropriate stakeholders, as basis for projects and program communications planning 1.2 Direct communications management plans and activities to ensure clarity of understanding and achievement of multiple project objectives at all levels

	1.3 Develop project management information system (PMIS), structure and procedures to maintain quality, validity, timeliness and integrity of information and communication across the program and in regard to organisational strategic management
2. Direct management of project information	2.1 Direct generation, gathering, storage, retrieval, analysis and dissemination of information by project staff and stakeholders to improve decision-making processes and communications across the program and between projects 2.2 Direct information validation processes for development, management and modification to ensure consistent quality and accuracy of data across the program
3. Manage program communications	3.1 Develop and manage formal and informal communication networks between the organisation's management structure, program, projects and key stakeholders to ensure effectiveness throughout multiple life cycles of projects within the program 3.2 Address potential, perceived and actual problems with communication and management information systems through project managers, and ensure remedial actions are authorised, to ensure project, program and organisational objectives are met 3.3 Manage customer relationships beyond delegated responsibility of project managers, to ensure clarity of understanding of objectives and to minimise conflict across the program
4. Analyse communications management outcomes	4.1 Direct project finalisation activities to ensure ownership of, and responsibility for, information outcomes 4.2 Review and analyse project outcomes to determine effectiveness of management information and communications systems 4.3 Aggregate and use lessons learnt across multiple projects for other program and organisational applications

BSBPMG610 Enable program execution

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to establish parameters and enable a program to be undertaken effectively. It includes the performance criteria required to demonstrate competency in establishing both what the program will accomplish and how it will do so.

A program is defined as a set of interrelated projects, each of which has a project manager. 'Multiple projects', or 'a program of projects', refers to a number of related projects managed by the same person as a program to achieve organisational objective/s.

It applies to individuals who are program managers and those managing a suite of projects (a program). They operate within assigned authority levels, are responsible for own performance and sometimes the performance of others.

Individuals in this role may be operating within an organisation, business or as a consultant.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

BSBPMG615 Manage program delivery

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to manage program delivery. It includes the performance criteria required to demonstrate competency in ensuring that the program is moving toward the accomplishment of its vision and the attainment of its expected benefits.

A program is defined as a set of interrelated projects, each of which has a project manager. 'Multiple projects', or 'a program of projects', refers to a number of related projects managed by the same person as a program to achieve organisational objective/s.

It applies to individuals who are program managers and those managing a suite of projects (a program). They operate within assigned authority levels, are responsible for their own performance and sometimes the performance of others.

Individuals in this role may be operating within an organisation, a business or as a consultant.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

BSBPMG624 Engage in collaborative alliances

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 3.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to enable a program manager to engage in collaborative alliances. It includes the performance criteria required to demonstrate competency in forging alliances with other organisations to facilitate attainment of program benefits.

Collaborative alliances are significantly different in focus and content from commercial contracts in that the parties operate as partners with shared interests and a higher degree of joint decision-making. However, collaborative alliances are often formalised with the use of a legally binding contract. Collaborative agreements often involve organisations that are part of the same legal entity; business units of the same corporation or departments of the same government.

A program is defined as a set of interrelated projects, each of which has a project manager. 'Multiple projects', or 'a program of projects', refers to a number of related projects managed by the same person as a program to achieve organisational objective/s.

It applies to individuals who are program managers and those managing a suite of projects (a program). They operate within assigned authority levels, are responsible for their own performance, program outcomes, and sometimes the performance of others.

Individuals in this role may be operating within an organisation, a business or as a consultant.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

BSBPMG801 Prioritise projects and programs

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to prioritise projects and programs within a portfolio. It covers the identification, strategic alignment and setting of priorities at the portfolio level.

A portfolio is the centralised management of one or more portfolios of projects, which includes identifying, prioritising, authorising, managing and controlling projects, programs and other related work, to achieve specific strategic business objectives.

It applies to individuals who operate at the strategic level within the organisation. Unlike projects or programs, a portfolio does not have a finite life, instead it is a continuous process and requires regular tending to ensure the portfolio remains in balance and is consistent with the organisation's strategic objectives.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

BSBPRC403 Conduct international procurement

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 3.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to conduct international procurement. This includes sourcing potential suppliers, inviting offers, evaluating the offers received, preparing recommendations and contracting the successful supplier. It also covers arranging importation of the goods, satisfying regulatory requirements, arranging required payments and ensuring all contractual obligations are met.

It applies to individuals who conduct international procurement activities to reduce cost and increase efficiency. Individuals will be able to demonstrate the ability to localise and implement sourcing strategies based on market analysis, business requirements, and organisational objectives. Individuals undertaking this unit are typically undertaking procurement in accordance with an organisation's international procurement guidelines and work under minimal supervision of a senior procurement manager or in consultation with senior management.

No licensing, legislative, regulatory or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- document an analysis of information about records relating to the organisational activities
- apply suitable records series and records systems to the reconstruction of a business records system.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- explain general principles and processes of records management and records management systems, such as:
  - systems of control
  - records continuum theory
  - mandate and ownership of business process
- explain the organisational business functions, structure and culture relevant to the reconstruction of the records system
- explain the organisational policies, strategies and procedures relevant to records access, classification and security.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the knowledge management – recordkeeping field of work and include access to:

- relevant workplace documentation and resources
- case studies and, where possible, real situations

BSBRKG506 Develop and maintain terminology and classification schemes

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to develop new or modified vocabulary controls and classification schemes for business or records systems based on an organisation's functions and activities.

It applies to individuals who work closely with other staff members throughout an organisation and use a range of investigative, analytical and consultative techniques to perform their work. They may be working in a specialist recordkeeping environment such as archives and their individual responsibilities may include the development and implementation of systems.

Generally, where no formal vocabulary controls exist in an organisation there is a form of controlled titling. This unit covers the formalisation of such informal schemes. Vocabulary control, or controlled language, is commonly called a 'thesaurus' in some sectors of the recordkeeping industry.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

1. Research classification scheme and terminology	1.1 Examine work of an organisation to identify terminology that may reflect business functions and activities 1.2 Review and analyse functional analyses for the basis of terminology and classification schemes 1.3 Review other relevant materials and documents to analyse potential impact on vocabulary controls and classification scheme 1.4 Examine any existing classification schemes and terminology to assess for currency and coverage 1.5 Examine representative samples of records to confirm extent to which an existing classification scheme and terminology have been implemented
2. Develop draft terminology and classification scheme	2.1 Prepare draft vocabulary controls and titling rules 2.2 Ensure draft vocabulary controls reflect organisation's business culture, operational realities and business language 2.3 Identify broad classification groups from a functional analysis 2.4 Analyse and breakdown broad classification groups to the level required for an organisation's use 2.5 Document draft classification scheme
3. Validate draft terminology and classification scheme	3.1 Prepare methodology for the validation process taking local imperatives and environment into consideration 3.2 Conduct consultation with users to identify issues, problems, inconsistencies and any required amendments or additions to draft classification scheme, existing language and vocabulary controls 3.3 Conduct testing and encourage feedback from users to identify any problems and inconsistencies with draft classification scheme and terminology 3.4 Document outcomes throughout the validation process
4. Implement and review terminology and classification scheme	4.1 Prepare classification scheme and terminology from validation and research 4.2 Undertake negotiations with competing interests within the organisation to ensure common understanding and appropriateness of work use and definitions 4.3 Note where existing system requires modification, and prepare specific recommendations in accordance with organisational guidelines

Assessment Requirements for BSBRKG605 Determine records requirements to document a function

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- decide what business function a group of records has and document this information within the context of legislative requirements
- determine if recordkeeping systems are adequate for their purpose based on a review of record usage, risk analysis and function performance
- produce procedures for controlling business records in this environment consistent with standards and organisational requirements.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- outline the key provisions of relevant legislation, regulations, standards and documentation that affect aspects of business operations
- outline the general principles and processes of records management and records management systems, such as:
  - systems of control
  - records continuum theory
  - mandate and ownership of business process.
- describe key features and processes of the functional area.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the knowledge management – recordkeeping field of work and include access to:

Assessment Requirements for BSBSUS201 Participate in environmentally sustainable work practices

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- locate and interpret a range of environment/sustainability legislation and procedural requirements
- participate in and support discussions for an improved resource efficiency process
- identify, document and measure usage of resources
- collaborate with team members on suggestions for improving workplace practices.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- identify environmental and resource hazards/risks as well as environmental or sustainability legislation, regulations and codes of practice applicable to own role
- outline sustainability requirements in the workplace
- identify reporting channels and procedures to report breaches and potential issues
- identify where to find environmental and resource efficiency systems and procedures.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the sustainability field of work and include access to:

- documentation, information and resources related to workplace environmental and resource efficiency issues
- office equipment and resources
- case studies and, where possible, real situations

Assessment Requirements for BSBSUS404 Assess, implement, monitor and report on waste management

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 2.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- research an organisation's waste stream including:
  - types and volume of waste
  - disposal arrangements and cost
- create and implement a waste management plan, in accordance with legislative and organisational requirements
- report on implementation of waste management plan, according to organisational requirements.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- explain the waste management hierarchy and how it could be applied in the organisation
- explain the technique for assessing waste management risk
- outline the legislative and regulatory context relevant to waste management
- outline the organisation’s policies, procedures and practices that relate to the waste management strategy and plan
- explain how to assess training needs within the organisation.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the environmental sustainability field of work and include access to:

Assessment Requirements for BSBSUS405 Assess, monitor and reduce water use

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 2.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- conduct an investigation of current water usage practices for an organisation, including:
  - water sources
  - how water is used
  - actual and projected water usage
- research and analyse cost benefits of potential improvements to current practices
- report on final recommendations for water efficient practices.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- identify the available water sources
- explain how water quality affects what it can be used for
- outline legislative and organisational requirements regarding the access and use of water
- outline new technology for water efficient practices
- outline alternative sources for obtaining potable water
- explain the principles of conducting a cost-benefit analysis.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the sustainability field of work and include access to:

- relevant information about legislative requirements

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

- relevant workplace documentation
- case studies or, where possible, real situations.

Assessors of this unit must satisfy the requirements for assessors in applicable vocational education and training legislation, frameworks and/or standards.

BSBWHS201 Contribute to health and safety of self and others

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to work in a manner that is healthy and safe in relation to self and others and to respond to emergency incidents. It covers following work health and safety (WHS) and emergency procedures and instructions, implementing WHS requirements and participating in WHS consultative processes.

It applies to individuals who require a basic knowledge of WHS to carry out work in a defined context under direct supervision or with some individual responsibility, in a range of industry and workplace contexts.

NOTE: The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where the Model WHS Act has not been implemented RTOs are advised to contextualise the unit of competency by referring to the existing State/Territory OHS legislative requirements.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

BSBWHS401 Implement and monitor WHS policies, procedures and programs to meet legislative requirements

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package release 1.0

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to implement and monitor an organisation's work health and safety (WHS) policies, procedures and programs in the relevant work area in order to meet legislative requirements.

It applies to individuals with supervisory responsibilities for implementing and monitoring the organisation's WHS policies, procedures and programs in a work area. These individuals have a broad knowledge of WHS policies and contribute well developed skills in creating solutions to unpredictable problems through analysis and evaluation of information from a variety of sources. They provide supervision and guidance to others and have limited responsibility for the output of others.

NOTE: The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where the Model WHS Legislation has not been implemented RTOs are advised to contextualise the unit of competency by referring to the existing State/Territory OHS legislative requirements.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- explain clearly and accurately to work team the relevant work health and safety (WHS) information including:
  - WHS legislative and organisational requirements
  - identified hazards and outcomes of risk assessment and control
- ensure that the team has access to information about WHS policies, procedures and programs in appropriate structure and language
- implement and monitor procedures according to organisational and legislative WHS requirements including:
  - consultation and communications to enable team members to participate in managing WHS risks and hazards
  - identifying WHS training needs and providing learning opportunities, coaching and mentoring as appropriate to needs
  - identifying, reporting and taking action on WHS hazards and risks
  - identifying and reporting inadequacies in existing risk controls and monitoring outcomes to ensure a prompt organisational response
  - reporting on the cost of WHS training
  - keeping WHS records
  - analysing aggregate WHS data to identify hazards and monitor risk control procedures in work area.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Future Skills Organisation

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- outline the legal responsibilities and duties of managers, supervisors, persons conducting businesses or undertakings (PCBUs) and workers in relation to WHS risk management in the workplace
- identify key provisions of relevant WHS Acts, regulations and codes of practice that apply to the business and outline how they apply in the work area
- explain organisational policies and procedures relating to hazard identification, risk management, fire, emergency and evacuation, incident investigation and reporting
- explain the importance of effective consultation mechanisms in managing health and safety risks in the workplace
- explain how the hierarchy of control applies in the work area.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced by individuals carrying out work health and safety duties in the workplace and include access to:

- an actual workplace or simulated environment
- workplace equipment and resources
- examples of documents relating to workplace safety, hazard identification and risk assessment
- interaction with others.

BSBWHS504 Manage WHS risks

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to conduct work health and safety (WHS) risk management processes.

It applies to individuals who manage WHS risks, based on the organisation's WHS management system (WHSMS), WHS information system (WHSIS) and risk-management approach (as covered in BSBWHS503 Contribute to the systematic management of WHS risk). These individuals will work in a range of WHS roles across all industries and apply a substantial knowledge base and well-developed skills in a wide variety of WHS contexts.

NOTE: The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where the Model WHS Legislation has not been implemented RTOs are advised to contextualise the unit of competency by referring to the existing State/Territory OHS legislative requirements.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- access information and data on hazards and how to manage associated risks
- identify duty holders and legislative requirements for work health and safety (WHS) risk management
- use the organisation's WHS management system (WHSMS) and WHS information system (WHSIS) to conduct the following risk management processes:
  - identify hazards and potential hazards
  - assess the associated risks
  - identify control options
  - select suitable options
  - develop and implement a risk control plan
  - evaluate risk controls
- carry out hazard identification and risk management.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- describe the basic principles of workplace incident, injury and disease causation
- explain the meanings of 'hazard' and 'risk' and how they differ
- identify formal and informal communication and consultation processes and key personnel related to communication
- describe how the characteristics and composition of the workforce impact on WHS risk and the management of WHS, including:
  - communication skills
  - cultural background and diversity

  - gender
  - labour market changes
  - language, literacy and numeracy levels of the workforce
  - structure and organisation of the workforce, including part-time, casual and contract workers; shift rosters and geographical location
  - workers with specific needs and limitations
  - workplace culture in relation to alcohol and other drug use
- identify internal and external sources of WHS information and data and how to access them
- explain the limitations of generic hazard identification and risk assessment checklists and risk ranking processes
- outline methods for providing evidence of compliance with WHS legislation
- describe the nature of workplace processes (work flow, planning and control) and hazards relevant to the workplace
- describe organisational culture as it impacts on the work team
- summarise organisational WHS policies, procedures, processes and systems
- list other functional areas that impact on the management of WHS
- outline the principles and practices of a systematic approach to managing WHS
- outline Commonwealth and state or territory WHS Acts, regulations, codes of practice, standards and guidance material and other publications relevant to the organisation
- outline risk management as a duty of persons conducting businesses or undertakings or officers under WHS legislation
- describe the roles and responsibilities of individuals and parties under WHS legislation
- outline standard industry controls for a range of hazards
- identify techniques, tools and processes for identifying health and safety hazards and assessing and controlling the associated risks, including:
  - hazard and risk checklists
  - hazard hunts
  - job safety analyses
  - manifests and registers, including for dangerous goods, hazardous chemicals and plant
  - safe work method statements
  - surveys using questionnaires, interviews and other survey techniques
  - workplace inspections and walk-throughs.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced by individuals carrying out work health and safety duties in the workplace and include access to:

BSBWHS603 Implement WHS risk management

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to implement work health and safety (WHS) risk management. It addresses the establishment, implementation, review and improvement of WHS risk management frameworks and processes.

It applies to people who apply advanced practical knowledge to coordinate, facilitate and maintain the WHS program within an organisation.

NOTE: The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where the Model WHS Legislation has not been implemented RTOs are advised to contextualise the unit of competency by referring to the existing State/Territory OHS legislative requirements.

    - selecting from control options according to outcomes of risk assessment, WHS hazards and risk controls, and WHS legislation
    - preparing and implementing risk control measures
- monitor and review the WHS risk management process according to the organisation's WHS management system (WHSMS) requirements
- record the WHS risk management process according to the organisation's WHS information system (WHSIS) requirements.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- explain different definitions of hazard and risk and how they are used by different individuals and parties
- outline internal and external sources of WHS information and data and how to access them
- identify organisational WHS policies, procedures, processes and systems
- identify other functional areas that impact on the management of WHS
- describe the principles and practices of a systematic approach to managing WHS
- describe the principles of duty of care, including concepts of causation, foreseeability and preventability
- describe the principles of incident causation and injury processes
- list a range of risk analysis and assessment techniques and tools and their application and limitations
- outline relevant and applicable Australian legislation, standards and publications
- define risk as the effect of uncertainty on objectives
- define risk management as a duty of persons conducting businesses or undertakings (PCBUs) or officers under WHS legislation
- give examples of standard industry risk controls for a range of hazards
- outline techniques, tools and processes for identifying health and safety hazards and controlling risks:
    - hazard and risk checklists

- facilitating and supporting consultation and participation
- documenting and reporting outcomes and suggested improvements.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- give examples of barriers to WHSMS implementation and strategies to overcome them
- describe the nature of information and data that provide valid and reliable measures of WHS performance and WHSMS, including positive performance indicators
- outline relevant Commonwealth and state or territory WHS Acts, regulations, codes of practice, standards, guidance material and other relevant publications
- outline requirements for recordkeeping that address WHS, privacy and other relevant legislation
- describe the structure and functions of a WHSMS
- summarise WHSMS certification and auditing standards, processes and requirements.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced by individuals carrying out work health and safety duties in the workplace and include access to:

- office equipment and resources
- workplace WHS policies and procedures
- relevant Acts, regulations, codes of practice, standards and guidance materials.

BSBWOR201 Manage personal stress in the workplace

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to understand signs and sources of stress within the broader framework of the job role and work environment.

It applies to individuals who usually work with some guidance and supervision in an environment where they are likely to encounter difficult customers and situations from time to time. It typically applies in a contact centre environment owing to the very measured, structured, high volume and potentially repetitive nature of the work, but can apply in any work environment.

No licensing, legislative, regulatory or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Release 1	This version was released in CHC Community Services Training Package release 2.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Significant changes to performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment including volume and frequency requirements. Significant changes to knowledge evidence.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be evidence that the candidate has:

- established and managed 1 organisation or departmental information system:
  - assessed and analysed information requirements in consultation with stakeholders
  - reviewed options for system, including financial and technological resource requirements
  - designed and documented system
  - implemented processes to support information management system and development of information resources
  - evaluated information management system against objectives

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. This includes knowledge of:

- workload analysis models and systems
- relevant policy and procedures and work systems
- systems analysis models and theories
- legal and ethical considerations relating to organisation and statutory information requirements
- range of current and emerging information technology relevant to addressing organisation information requirements

CHCLLN001 Respond to client language, literacy and numeracy needs

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version was released in CHC Community Services Training Package release 2.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Significant changes to the elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment, including volume and frequency.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to identify situations where client language, literacy and numeracy (LLN) skills may be impeding access to services, to adjust service delivery, and to refer appropriately to improve client outcomes.

The unit does not provide workers with the skills and knowledge to identify LLN skill levels or to actively intervene in developing a client's LLN skills.

This unit applies to individuals who may be making individual client assessments or managing caseloads as part of their work role.

The skills in this unit must be applied in accordance with Commonwealth and State/Territory legislation, Australian/New Zealand standards and industry codes of practice.

Elements and Performance Criteria

	1.2 Review the scope of LLN skill requirements needed to effectively access services
	1.3 Identify gaps between the client's LLN skills and those required to effectively access services
	1.4 Determine the degree to which other issues may impact on the client
2. Determine strategies to address LLN needs	2.1 Collaborate with client to agree areas of LLN need and how to respond
	2.2 Determine ways in which service delivery can take account of the client's LLN needs
	2.3 Prioritise areas for immediate or longer-term action based on scope of the client's needs
3. Implement strategies to address LLN needs	3.1 Adjust service delivery approaches that respond to LLN need, including use of appropriate tools and communication strategies
	3.2 Provide the client with accurate and current information about LLN support services
	3.3 Record agreed LLN needs and the strategies used, and report in line with the client and organisation requirements

CPCCWHS1001 Prepare to work safely in the construction industry

Modification History

Release	Comment
Version 1	Replaces superseded equivalent CPCCOHS1001A Work safely in the construction industry.

Application

This unit of competency specifies the mandatory work health and safety training required prior to undertaking construction work. The unit requires the person to demonstrate personal awareness and knowledge of health and safety legislative requirements in order to work safely and prevent injury or harm to self and others. It covers identifying and orally reporting common construction hazards, understanding basic risk control measures, and identifying procedures for responding to potential incidents and emergencies. It also covers correctly selecting and fitting common personal protective equipment (PPE) used for construction work.

This unit meets the general construction induction training requirements of:

- Part 1.1 Definitions and Part 6.5 of the Model Work Health and Safety Regulations;
- Division 11 of Part 3 of the Occupational Safety and Health Regulations 1996 for Western Australia; and
- Division 3 of Part 5.1 of the Occupational Health and Safety Regulations 2007 for Victoria.

It is expected that site-specific induction training will be conducted prior to conducting construction work.

Licensing, legislative, regulatory or certification requirements apply to this unit. Relevant work health and safety state and territory regulatory authorities should be consulted to confirm jurisdictional requirements.

Elements and Performance Criteria

1.	Identify health and safety legislative requirements of construction work.	1.1. Basic roles, responsibilities and rights of duty holders are identified and explained according to jurisdictional health and safety legislative requirements.
		1.2. Duty of care requirements are identified.
		1.3. Construction safe work practices are identified and explained.
2.	Identify construction hazards and risk control measures.	2.1. Basic principles of risk management are identified.
		2.2. Construction hazards are identified and discussed.
		2.3. Purpose and use of PPE are identified and demonstrated.
		2.4. Measures for controlling hazards are identified.
3.	Identify health and safety communication and reporting processes.	3.1. Health and safety documents are identified and discussed.
		3.2. Roles of designated health and safety personnel are identified and explained.
		3.3. Safety signs and symbols are identified and explained.
		3.4. Procedures for reporting hazards, incidents and injuries are identified.
4.	Identify incident and emergency response	4.1. Procedures for responding to incidents and emergencies are identified and explained.
		4.2. Procedures for accessing first aid are identified.

procedures.	4.3.	Types and purpose of fire safety equipment are identified and discussed.

Foundation Skills

This section describes the language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills essential to performance in this unit but not explicit in the performance criteria.

Skill	Performance feature
Numeracy skills to:	• locate and recognise numbers commonly used in safety signs.
Oral communication skills to:	• ask questions to clarify instructions • listen to instructions to identify key safety information • tell another person about a construction problem or hazard.
Reading skills to:	• follow simple pictorial safety instructions • follow simple safety instructions that are written in English.
Problem-solving skills to:	• select risk control measures.

Range of Conditions

This section specifies work environments and conditions that may affect performance. Essential operating conditions that may be present (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) are included. Bold italicised wording, if used in the performance criteria, is detailed below.

Jurisdictional health and safety legislative requirements must include at least one of the following state and territory Acts or their equivalent:	• Australian Capital Territory: Work Health and Safety Act 2011 • New South Wales: Work Health and Safety Act 2011 • Northern Territory: Work Health and Safety (National Uniform Legislation) Act 2011 • Queensland: Work Health and Safety Act 2011 • South Australia: Work Health and Safety Act 2012 • Tasmania: Work Health and Safety Act 2012 • Victoria: Occupational Health and Safety Act 2004 • Western Australia: Occupational Safety and Health Act 1984.

Performance Evidence

A person demonstrating competency in this unit must satisfy the requirements of the elements, performance criteria, foundation skills, and range of conditions of this unit, in addition to the specific performance and knowledge evidence described below.

The person must:

- identify and orally report two construction hazards
- orally explain how risk could be reduced or removed in relation to those two hazards
- select appropriate personal protective equipment (PPE) to control the risk
- orally explain basic procedures for responding to incidents and emergencies, including types and purpose of the following fire safety equipment:
  - fire blankets
  - fire extinguishers, including water, carbon dioxide, powder and foam
  - hose reels and mains
- identify and orally explain the meaning of required safety signs and symbols
- orally explain the purpose of job safety analyses (JSAs), safe work method statements (SWMS) and safety data sheets (SDS)
- orally explain the roles of the following designated health and safety personnel:
  - first aid officers
  - work health and safety representatives
  - work health and safety committee members
  - supervisors.

The person must also demonstrate correctly fitting to themselves the PPE listed below:

CPPDSM4047 Implement and monitor procurement process

Modification History

Release 1.

Replaces superseded equivalent CPPDSM4047A Implement and monitor procurement process.

This version first released with CPP Property Services Training Package Version 5.

Application

This unit of competency specifies the outcomes required to implement and monitor purchasing processes for goods and services. It requires the ability to follow procurement procedures, determine and arrange appropriate suppliers, and check that final procurement meets client objectives.

The unit supports workers in the property industry who are involved in implementing and monitoring purchasing processes for goods and services. It applies to real estate agents, property managers, strata managers and facility managers.

Licensing, legislative, regulatory or certification requirements apply to this unit in some States and Territories. Relevant state and territory regulatory authorities should be consulted to confirm those requirements.

Elements and Performance Criteria

1.	Determine procurement requirements.	1.1. Procurement requirements and objectives are identified. 1.2. Information on procurement requirements is gathered and reviewed to determine appropriate procurement process and timelines. 1.3. Factors likely to affect procurement objectives are identified. 1.4. Own limitations of authority are identified and appropriate approvals gained as required.
2.	Monitor procurement process.	2.1. Procurement process is systematically monitored and variations to supply are identified. 2.2. Effective communication channels are used to ensure accurate communication flow with suppliers. 2.3. Expenditure and resource usage are monitored to ensure procurement objectives are achieved within budget parameters. 2.4. Reliable methods of monitoring procurement are used to ensure efficient use of time and resources.
3.	Finalise procurement process.	3.1. Purchase of goods and services is completed within designated timeframes. 3.2. Inspection is arranged to confirm procurement meets required quality standards and procurement objectives. 3.3. Defects or variances to procurement objectives are identified and prompt remedial action is taken. 3.4. Procurement system and records, and reports on procurement process, are maintained using business equipment and technology.

Modification History

Release 1.

Replaces superseded equivalent CPPDSM4047A Implement and monitor procurement process.

This version first released with CPP Property Services Training Package Version 5.

Performance Evidence

A person demonstrating competency in this unit must satisfy all of the elements, performance criteria, foundation skills and range of conditions of this unit.

The person must also implement and monitor purchasing processes for two different goods or services relating to managing a building or facility.

Each product or service must be procured using a different procurement method selected from the following:

- open tendering
- request for proposal
- request for quotation
- restricted tendering
- single source
- two-stage tendering.

In doing the above, the person must:

- review procurement objectives and relevant information to determine procurement processes, and source appropriate authority or delegations for procurement
- finalise procurement process within agreed timeframes, using business equipment and technology to maintain records and reports
- apply knowledge of organisation’s practices, ethical standards, and legislative requirements associated with implementing and monitoring purchasing processes for goods and services
- use effective oral and written communication to effectively monitor the implementation of the procurement process against budget parameters.

CPPWMT3044A Identify wastes and hazards

Modification History

Revised unit

Unit updated and equivalent to PRMWM44B Identify wastes and hazards

Unit Descriptor

This unit of competency specifies the outcomes required to identify a range of wastes and potential hazards and risks that may be present in the work environment.

Application of the Unit

This unit of competency supports individuals with responsibilities for identifying wastes and potential hazards and risks in a team environment. It includes following direction, systems and plans, as well as recognising the need for expert advice.

Licensing/Regulatory Information

Pre-Requisites

Not applicable.

Employability Skills Information

This unit contains employability skills.

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements describe the essential outcomes of a unit of competency.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the required skills and knowledge section and the range statement. Assessment of performance is to be consistent with the evidence guide.

Elements and Performance Criteria

1	Identify waste.	1.1	Waste characteristics are identified.
		1.2	Types of wastes are differentiated by waste stream or waste categories.
		1.3	Hazardous and dangerous waste and non-conforming waste are detailed.
		1.4	Contaminants present in waste are noted.
		1.5	Further information on waste is obtained by questioning appropriate personnel to ensure correct identification.
2	Identify hazards and risks.	2.1	Other potential hazards and risks present in work environment are listed.
		2.2	Supervisor and team members are informed of job requirements, hazards and risks.
		2.3	Safe work practices that prevent risk behaviour are outlined to supervisor.
		2.4	Emergency response procedures are practised with team members.

Required Skills and Knowledge

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

- analytical skills to:
  - identify hazards and risks
  - identify waste types and waste non-conformances
  - segregate valuable resources in composite materials
  - segregate waste types, including potentially hazardous waste
- interpersonal skills to work in a team environment
- literacy skills to:
  - list potential hazards and risks
  - document and keep records

    - read and interpret:
        - emergency requirements
        - hazard advice
        - job sheets
        - work requirements and material safety data sheets (MSDS)
- oral communication skills to:
    - follow instructions
    - provide information
    - ask questions
- self-management skills to:
    - apply signalling techniques
    - conduct work practices safely and efficiently
    - plan and undertake routine tasks
    - prioritise duties
    - use emergency and personal protective equipment (PPE)

Required knowledge

- identification of:
    - waste contaminants
    - waste monitoring procedures
    - waste non-conformances
    - waste non-conformance handling procedures
    - waste types
    - waste management options
    - waste storage requirements
    - waste disposal and recovery routes
- procedures for containing segregated waste types, including containment and isolation of hazardous waste
- emergency response procedures relating to:
    - confined space procedures
    - duty of care
    - identification of work areas, including location of:
        - alarms
        - emergency equipment
        - communications equipment
    - coding systems
    - environmental agencies
    - environmental regulations

- occupational health and safety (OHS) requirements relating to:
  - chemical storage and decanting
  - dangerous goods and hazardous substances
  - OHS hierarchy of control
  - basic first aid appropriate to likely hazards and risks in work environment
- potential hazards and risks relating to:
  - dangerous goods
  - potential incidents

Evidence Guide

The evidence guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.

Overview of assessment	This unit of competency could be assessed by observation of practical demonstration in the workplace or in a simulated environment.
Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit	A person who demonstrates competency in this unit must be able to provide evidence of the required skills and knowledge specified in this unit. In particular the person should demonstrate the ability to: • identify a range of waste streams, hazardous wastes and waste contaminants • identify a range of potential hazards and risks present in the workplace • observe OHS requirements.
Context of and specific resources for assessment	Assessment of essential underpinning knowledge may be conducted in an off-site context. It is to comply with relevant regulatory or Australian standards' requirements. Resource implications for assessment include: • work plans and approved specifications • forms and procedures manuals.
Method of assessment	The process of identifying waste and hazards must meet industry expectations. If the environment is narrowly defined or is not representative of industry needs, it may be necessary to refer to portfolio case studies to assess competency in the identification of waste and hazards. Assessment methods must: • satisfy the endorsed Assessment Guidelines of the Property Services Training Package • include direct observation of tasks in real or simulated work conditions, with questioning to confirm the ability to consistently identify and correctly interpret the essential underpinning knowledge required for practical application • reinforce the integration of employability skills with workplace tasks and job roles • confirm that competency is verified and able to be transferred to other circumstances and environments.

Guidance information for assessment	Reasonable adjustments for people with disabilities must be made to assessment processes where required. This could include access to modified equipment and other physical resources, and the provision of appropriate assessment support. Assessment processes and techniques should as far as is practical take into account the language, literacy and numeracy capacity of the candidate in relation to the competency being assessed. This unit could be assessed on its own or in combination with other units of competency relevant to the job function, for example: • CPPWMT3005A Identify and segregate waste • CPPWMT3014A Manually sort waste.

Range Statement

The range statement relates to the unit of competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Bold italicised wording, if used in the performance criteria, is detailed below. Essential operating conditions that may be present with training and assessment (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) may also be included.

Waste characteristics may include:	• density • level of contamination • quality • shape • size • volume • weight.
Waste stream may include:	• construction and demolition • dangerous goods

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

	• green waste • hazardous substances • municipal waste.
Waste categories may include:	• solid (non-hazardous), e.g. construction and demolition • liquid (non-hazardous), e.g. chemical and aqueous • hazardous – regulated, prescribed, quarantined, medical and clinical • recoverable resources, e.g. recyclable and green waste.
Hazardous and dangerous waste may include:	• all waste depending on the condition, environment and personal exposure • biological products • blood products • chemicals • electrical wiring • glass • hospital waste • leaking containers • medical waste • needles and syringes • oil and petrol.
Non-conforming waste may include:	• contamination • hazardous or dangerous waste • inferior quality and unacceptable waste streams.
Contaminants may include:	• sunlight • infestation • mixing waste types • rot or mould • waterlogging.
Other potential hazards and risks are those that may lead to:	• damage to plant, vehicle or property • harm to the environment • illness or injury to employees, contractors or the public • injuries resulting from manual handling and repetitive work.
Hazards and risks may include:	• broken glass • compaction equipment • contamination • dust • fire • hazardous waste (e.g. sharps) • narrow driveways • other vehicles and equipment • overhanging signs

CUAATS301 Work effectively in the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander visual arts industry

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with CUA Creative Arts and Culture Training Package version 2.0.

Application

This unit describes the performance outcomes, skills and knowledge required to build on existing knowledge of the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander visual arts industry and apply new knowledge to working with others to support visual arts practice.

It applies to individuals who are working as part of a team in the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander visual arts industry. Individuals could be working in urban, regional, rural or remote settings. The work environment could involve interactions with artists and their communities in contexts such as cultural/arts centres and cooperatives, commercial and public galleries, museums, retail outlets, community projects, exhibitions, events and festivals.

This unit reflects the diversity of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultures and visual arts practices. It emphasises the importance of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples controlling their own cultural heritage and identity.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Assessment Requirements for CUACNM301 Move and store collection material

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with CUA Creative Arts and Culture Training Package version 2.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- identify nature and scope of movement or storage work through review of workplace documentation and consultation with relevant personnel
- determine the job-specific requirements, based on the collection material to be moved and stored, and any cultural protocols and stakeholders to be considered
- prepare identified requirements, seeking specialist advice or assistance where required
- handle, move and store collection items using appropriate tools, equipment, techniques and organisational procedures to maintain the integrity of the collection material and meet required timeframe for movement and storage
- use safe and sustainable work practices during movement and storage work to:
  - handle collection material safely
  - use transport equipment and packaging material safely
  - minimise hazards during the work.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- explain the key organisational procedures and guidelines relating to:
  - storage and transport documentation and records
  - use of materials, tools and equipment, including labelling
  - manual handling and work health and safety (WHS) procedures and requirements
  - preventive pest management processes
  - waste recycling and disposal
- describe the packing and storage approaches and techniques for:

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

  - culturally sensitive material
  - different types of collection material
  - internal and external transportation
  - short and long-term storage
- explain the record-keeping procedures for collection movement and storage
- identify the security requirements and issues to be considered when moving or storing collection material.
- list sources of specialist advice for moving and storing collection material.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in creative arts industry environments. The assessment environment must include access to:

- a collection to be moved and stored
- materials, tools and equipment for packing, moving and storing collection items
- organisational procedures relating to moving and storing collection material
- sources of advice.

Assessors of this unit must satisfy the requirements for assessors in applicable vocational educational and training legislation, frameworks and/or standards.

CUACNM401 Assess the significance of collection objects

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with CUA Creative Arts and Culture Training Package version 2.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to complete significance assessments of collection objects. Significance is determined by applying criteria including value, meaning and history attached to objects.

The unit applies to individuals who work in both small and large organisations assessing the significance of objects in collections or being considered for inclusion in collections. In smaller organisations, the role may be undertaken by individuals with broader management responsibilities, by committees and boards of management, or combinations of different personnel. In larger organisations, specialised curatorial staff may undertake this role.

The significance of collection objects relates to their value to past, present and future generations and may apply to their aesthetic, historical, scientific or social value. In this unit, significance assessment is undertaken autonomously, according to established procedures but in consultation with others.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Unit Sector

Cultural services - collection management

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with CUA Creative Arts and Culture Training Package version 2.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- research the history, provenance and comparative examples of objects using reputable sources of information
- assess the significance of objects using the appropriate methodology and within required timeframes
- develop a statement of significance of the value and meaning of objects that includes:
  - considered assessment of the value, meaning and importance of objects
  - benchmark for future use
  - communication of values for interpretive programs
  - images, where available, of other comparative objects
  - record of the crucial provenance details and association of objects
  - summary of the meaning and importance of objects
  - summary of the process of investigation and assessment
- review assessment of objects and prepare recommendation for further action as required.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- locate and explain the purpose of the following organisational policies regarding managing collections and assessing objects:
  - policies for accessing and using sources of information for comparative examples
  - procedures for accessing reputable technical specialists
- explain the methodology for significance assessment of objects
- explain the difference between primary and comparative criteria in an assessment

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

- describe the procedures for accessing reputable technical specialists
- list sources of information for comparative examples that relate to:
  - national, state and local government public records
  - online collections databases
  - organisational policies and procedures.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in creative arts industry environments. The assessment environment must include access to:

- tools, equipment and storage system for statements of significance
- information sources
- objects to assess
- organisational policies and procedures related to significant assessments.

Assessors of this unit must satisfy the requirements for assessors in applicable vocational educational and training legislation, frameworks and/or standards.

CUACNM402 Prepare display mounts for collection material

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with CUA Creative Arts and Culture Training Package version 2.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to prepare sites for the display of collection material. It focuses on the assembly and construction of display mounts and so has a strong link to general building and construction skills.

It applies to individuals who construct and assemble display areas with temporary or permanent components. In large cultural organisations, this work may constitute a complete job and be the responsibility of qualified tradespeople working under the guidance of curators and other specialised senior staff. In smaller organisations, people with a wide range of general and collection-management responsibilities may undertake this role, either under supervision or autonomously.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Unit Sector

Collection management - cultural services

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with CUA Creative Arts and Culture Training Package version 2.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- assess and agree on mounting and display requirements with colleagues
- plan and organise construction work within required timeframes and established equipment and material supplies
- construct and assemble mountings for the display of collection material, or adapt an existing structure to accommodate the display, in a safe and sustainable manner
- finalise work processes, clean work site and dispose of or recycle waste
- complete records relating to finished work.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- explain the common equipment, methods and materials used in the construction and assembly of mountings for the display of collection material
- identify conservation issues to be considered when displaying collection material
- explain security and site requirements for displaying collection material.
- explain construction and assembly techniques for commonly used display structures
- explain safe work practices and procedures used when preparing display mounts
- outline record keeping requirements.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in creative arts industry environments. The assessment environment must include access to:

CUACNM403 Work with cultural material

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with CUA Creative Arts and Culture Training Package version 2.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to comply with cultural and consultative requirements for sourcing, handling, interpreting and exhibiting cultural material that is not specifically of Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander origin. It involves sourcing cultural material that could be relevant to an exhibition or display through research and consultation with community groups.

It applies to individuals who work in organisations that hold, research or display cultural material not specifically of Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander origin. It applies to elements of cultures, and intellectual properties of communities, that are represented within Australian collecting institutions or which are held temporarily for display or research purposes.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Unit Sector

Cultural services - collection management

CUACNM501 Assess the significance of collections

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with CUA Creative Arts and Culture Training Package version 2.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to complete significance assessments for entire collections, or collections within a larger collection. Significance is determined by applying criteria including value, meaning and history attached to individual objects or collections as a whole.

The unit applies to individuals who work in collecting organisations and apply in-depth knowledge of collections and a range of specialised technical skills to make reasoned judgements and sound decisions when undertaking significance assessments that assist in the process of managing collections. In larger organisations, specialised curatorial staff may undertake this role. In smaller organisations, the role may be undertaken by individuals with broader management responsibilities, by committees and boards of management, or combinations of different personnel. Work is undertaken according to established procedures and in consultation with others.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with FNS Financial Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- analyse a sales plan to develop suitable promotional and budgetary programs
- implement a sales strategy, including putting appropriate sales training in place and preparing promotional materials
- evaluate and make necessary adjustments to ensure the success of a sales plan.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- analyse marketing techniques and market trends
- describe the range of products and services provided by the organisation
- explain the key requirements of legislation, regulation and codes of practice relating to selling financial products and services
- compare and contrast sales and promotion techniques
- outline types of promotional packages and distribution channels used to promote financial products and services
- describe the key features of training strategies used in sales and marketing
- describe the performance criteria used to measure the success of sales plan implementation.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the sales and marketing field of work and include access to:

Performance Evidence

e candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role.

There must be evidence that the candidate has completed the following tasks in line with state/territory regulations, first aid codes of practice, Australian Resuscitation Council (ARC) guidelines and workplace procedures:

- Followed DRSABCD in line with ARC guidelines, including:

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

  - performed at least 2 minutes of uninterrupted single rescuer cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) (5 cycles of both compressions and ventilations) on an adult resuscitation manikin placed on the floor
  - performed at least 2 minutes of uninterrupted single rescuer CPR (5 cycles both compressions and ventilations) on an infant resuscitation manikin placed on a firm surface
  - responded appropriately in the event of regurgitation or vomiting
  - managed the unconscious breathing casualty
  - followed single rescue procedure, including the demonstration of a rotation of operators with minimal interruptions to compressions
  - followed the prompts of an Automated External Defibrillator (AED)
- Responded to at least two simulated first aid scenarios contextualised to the candidate's workplace/community setting, including:
  - conducted a visual and verbal assessment of the casualty
  - demonstrated safe manual handling techniques
  - post-incident debrief and evaluation
  - provided an accurate verbal or written report of the incident
- Applied first aid procedures for the following:
  - allergic reaction
  - anaphylaxis
  - bleeding control
  - choking and airway obstruction
  - envenomation, using pressure immobilisation
  - fractures, sprains and strains, using arm slings, roller bandages or other appropriate immobilisation techniques
  - respiratory distress, including asthma
  - shock

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. This includes knowledge of:

- State/Territory regulations, first aid codes of practice and workplace procedures including:
  - ARC Guidelines relevant to provision of CPR and first aid
  - safe work practices to minimise risks and potential hazards
  - infection control principles and procedures, including use of standard precautions
  - requirements for currency of skill and knowledge
- legal, workplace and community considerations including:
  - awareness of potential need for stress-management techniques and available support following an emergency situation
  - duty of care requirements

  - respectful behaviour towards a casualty
  - own skills and limitations
  - consent
  - privacy and confidentiality requirements
  - importance of debriefing
- considerations when providing first aid including:
  - airway obstruction due to body position
  - appropriate duration and cessation of CPR
  - appropriate use of an AED
  - chain of survival
  - standard precautions
  - how to conduct a visual and verbal assessment of the casualty
- principles and procedures for first aid management of the following scenarios:
  - abdominal injuries
  - allergic reaction
  - anaphylaxis
  - basic care of a wound
  - bleeding control
  - burns
  - cardiac conditions, including chest pain
  - choking and airway obstruction
  - crush injuries
  - diabetes
  - dislocations
  - drowning
  - envenomation
  - environmental impact, including hypothermia, hyperthermia, dehydration and heat stroke
  - eye and ear injuries
  - fractures
  - febrile convulsions
  - head, neck and spinal injuries
  - minor skin injuries
  - needle stick injuries
  - poisoning and toxic substances
  - respiratory distress, including asthma
  - seizures, including epilepsy

  - unconsciousness
- basic anatomy and physiology relating to:
  - how to recognise a person is not breathing normally
  - chest
  - response/consciousness
  - upper airway and effect of positional change
  - considerations in provision of first aid for specified conditions

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated working individually in an environment that provides realistic in-depth, industry-validated scenarios and simulations to assess candidates' skills and knowledge.

Assessment resources must include:

- adult and infant resuscitation manikins in line with ARC Guidelines for the purpose of assessment of CPR procedures
- adrenaline auto-injector training device
- AED training device
- placebo bronchodilator and spacer device
- roller bandages
- triangular bandages
- workplace First Aid kit
- workplace injury, trauma and/or illness record, or other appropriate workplace incident report form for written reports
- wound dressings

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessor requirements

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements define the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria specify the level of performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Respond to a remote emergency situation	1.1 Plan for isolated travel or work if required, accounting for expected contingencies
	1.2 Recognise an emergency situation
	1.3 Identify, assess and manage immediate hazards to health and safety of self and others
	1.4 Assess the casualty and recognise the need for first aid response
	1.5 Assess the situation and evaluate options for medical assistance
	1.6 Evaluate options for transporting casualty or waiting for medical assistance in relation to environmental issues, risks, transport availability and casualty condition
2. Apply appropriate first aid procedures	2.1 Perform cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) in accordance with Australian Resuscitation Council (ARC) guidelines
	2.2 Provide first aid in accordance with established first aid principles
	2.3 Display respectful behaviour towards casualty
	2.4 Obtain consent from casualty where possible
	2.5 Use available resources and equipment to make the casualty as comfortable as possible
	2.6 Operate first aid equipment according to manufacturer’s instructions
	2.7 Monitor the casualty’s condition and respond in accordance with first aid principles
3. Manage the incident	3.1 Seek assistance from others present to manage incident circumstances
	3.2 Establish communication links with emergency response services and convey incident details
	3.3 Report details of casualty condition, changes in

Assessment Requirements for ICPDMT321 Capture a digital image

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with ICP Printing and Graphic Arts Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- find and use information relevant to the task from various sources
- set up a digital camera correctly and safely
- use a digital camera to:
  - preview and capture THREE digital images
  - transfer images to a computer
  - use relevant software to produce final images that meet job requirements.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- identify and explain the key features of the digital camera that impact on the quality of the photographic image
- determine the safety requirements for handling and storing lithium batteries
- explain how to transfer and store images from a camera to a computer list and describe ways that photographic images can be altered or enhanced electronically
- explain why the required delivery mode is important when preparing a photographic image.

Assessment Conditions

Gather evidence to demonstrate consistent performance in conditions that are safe and replicate the workplace. Noise levels, production flow, interruptions and time variances must be typical of those experienced in the digital media technologies field of work and include access to:

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

- a digital camera
- computer hardware and software
- photographic equipment and materials.

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
	2.3 Local colour correction is employed to conform with job specifications 2.4 Tone correction is undertaken to conform with job specifications 2.5 Edited image is saved to conform with job specifications 2.6 Image storage requirements are identified and employed 2.7 Image is saved ready for export

Foundation Skills

This section describes language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills incorporated in the performance criteria that are required for competent performance.

Skill	Performance Criteria	Description
Reading	1.1, 2.2-2.6	• Recognises and interprets textual information to determine and confirm job requirements
Numeracy	1.1	• Applies basic mathematical formulas to calculate image resolution requirements
Get the work done	1.1-1.3, 2.1-2.7	• Plans and implements tasks required to complete jobs according to specifications provided • Examines images and makes routine decisions about resolution and editing requirements • Understands the purposes, specific functions and key features of common digital systems and tools and operates them effectively to edit digital images

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with ICP Printing and Graphic Arts Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- interpret instructions in job specifications to determine task requirements
- open and convert an image to required colour space
- use suitable software to edit and save an image ready for export according to job specifications.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- explain why some images require editing or manipulation
- explain what image profiling is and why it could be required
- explain why image storage requirements should be identified
- explain when a Joint Photographic Experts Group (JPEG) rather than a Tagged Image File Format (TIFF) would be selected as a file format
- list and describe factors which may influence the grey balance and colour in an image.

Assessment Conditions

Gather evidence to demonstrate consistent performance in conditions that are safe and replicate the workplace. Noise levels, production flow, interruptions and time variances must be typical of those experienced in the digital media technologies field of work and include access to appropriate image manipulation software, hardware and file storage capability.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

ICPPRN386 Troubleshoot digital media

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with ICP Printing and Graphic Arts Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to problem-solve failed digital media processes and products, involving logical systematic analysis to determine the source of a problem.

It applies to skilled individuals who may set up, operate and monitor equipment and machinery and who may have to prepare material and apply solutions to problems. They may also provide leadership and guidance to others, with some limited responsibility for the output of others.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Identify substandard process performance	1.1 Operation of printing device is determined to manufacturer's specifications 1.2 Outputs are identified as consistent with normal operation by comparison to proofs, dummy copies or samples 1.3 Signs of equipment degradation and impending failure are identified and appropriate follow-up action is taken according to workplace procedures 1.4 Equipment outputs are inspected to determine nature of the problem 1.5 Nature of substandard performance is defined and reported

2. Identify causes of substandard performance	2.1 Causes of substandard performance are identified using a process for investigation 2.2 Records are reviewed to ensure the device had been maintained according to manufacturer's specifications 2.3 Calibration records are reviewed to ensure system is within calibration 2.4 Appropriate test procedure, materials and equipment are verified 2.5 Performance tests are conducted as appropriate to investigation 2.6 Equipment and/or testing variables are analysed to develop list of possible causes of substandard performance 2.7 Causes or substandard performance are isolated using the process for investigation
3. Propose corrective action	3.1 Corrective action is proposed and trialled based on investigation 3.2 Trial data is monitored to ensure outputs are consistent with normal operation 3.3 Trial results are reviewed to confirm validity of corrective action 3.4 Workplace records are maintained as required

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with ICP Printing and Graphic Arts Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- correctly identify substandard printing performance for TWO different jobs and apply corrective solutions according to enterprise procedures and job specifications.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- outline relevance and location of machine manuals, safety and other documentation, information included in these documents, and location of other sources of information
- identify output devices expected for printing performance on a particular substrate and how the same substrate can perform differently on various output devices
- explain how moisture can affect print quality and correct storage procedures for substrates
- describe different printing defects that can cause mis-calibration
- explain relevant problem-solving methodologies, including empirical, ishikawa and brainstorming
- identify relevant research techniques and online forums and networks that may assist.

Assessment Conditions

Gather evidence to demonstrate consistent performance in conditions that are safe and replicate the workplace. Noise levels, production flow, interruptions and time variances must be typical of those experienced in the printing field of work and include access to special purpose tools, equipment and materials.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with ICP Printing and Graphic Arts Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to scan images, including line-art, greyscale and colour originals.

It applies to skilled individuals working as pre-press tradespeople in the printing and graphic arts industry who design and prepare layouts and artwork, manipulate images and text, and apply solutions to a defined range of problems. They may also provide some leadership and guidance to others with some limited responsibility for the output of others.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with ICP Printing and Graphic Arts Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- correctly use a medium to high-end full colour digital device to reproduce:
  - one line-art
  - one greyscale
  - one colour transparency (positive)
  - one colour reflective
  - one negative
  - one re-screen
- ensure job specifications and work health and safety (WHS) requirements are met.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- identify scanner settings for various printing processes or electronic media and correctly calibrate scanner
- name primary colours and colour mixing principles
- outline variables influencing colour separation requirements
- describe importance of tone gradation and grey balance
- discuss need to apply colour correction
- describe factors influencing selection of screen ruling and dot percentage
- outline impact output resolution has on final screen ruling
- outline WHS standards for operating a scanner

Assessment Requirements for ICPPRP422 Digitise complex images for reproduction

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with ICP Printing and Graphic Arts Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- safely use a medium to high-end full colour scanner (with full software capabilities) to reproduce at least TWO colour continuous tone originals with different contrast characteristics and ONE rescreen
- provide high-quality colour, grey balance, tone reproduction and cast removal in scanned images
- match technical aspects of scanned image to selected printing process and substrate
- safely operate and monitor production on a flat-bed or drum scanner with full colour capabilities
- find and use information relevant to the task from a variety of information sources.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- explain why scanner settings need to be varied to suit subsequent printing processes or electronic output
- list factors that influence selection of highlight and shadow aim points
- describe critical qualities of a copy that need evaluation prior to reproduction
- explain main points to be considered when preparing a copy for scanning
- describe how grey balance requirements are determined prior to applying colour correction
- describe factors that determine requirement for colour correction
- describe purpose of catchlight controls and how they are applied
- describe considerations necessary to ensure predictability and repeatability at the output stage

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

- list methods of storage and filing of images for retrieval
- explain criteria used for evaluating scanned images
- explain how common file formats relate to the scan saving process
- identify other file formats available for saving scans and when they are used
- identify manuals, safety and other documentation relevant to this task and where are they kept, and information included in them
- identify other sources of available information.

Assessment Conditions

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
3. Identify appropriate behaviours and attitude	3.1 Apply communication skills to interact effectively with other staff and clients 3.2 Demonstrate behaviour that reflects the organisational culture
4. Carry out tasks within the range or context specified for the workplace	4.1 Complete set tasks according to instructions and deadlines 4.2 Discuss any problems or concerns with assigned work with the supervisor or a mentor
5. Report on workplace experience	5.1 Maintain a log book that records daily activities 5.2 Complete a short report of the work experience

Foundation Skills

This section describes language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills incorporated in the performance criteria that are required for competent performance.

Skill	Performance Criteria	Description
Reading	3.1, 4.1	• Interprets and comprehends instructions, including textual and diagrammatic information to inform job requirements
Writing	1.3, 3.1, 5.1, 5.2	• Uses correct spelling and grammatical structures, clear language, and technical terminology when recording activities and writing reports
Oral Communication	3.1, 4.2	• Elicits information using effective listening and open questioning techniques • Speaks clearly and concisely, converting highly technical language and terminology to plain English, when providing information
Navigate the world of work	1.1-1.3, 2.1-2.3	• Draws on a repertoire of experience to facilitate understanding of the culture and the environment
Interact with others	1.2, 1.3, 3.1, 3.2, 4.2	• Cooperates and collaborates with others as part of routine activities, and to elicit support and feedback • Collaborates with others sharing information to build strong connections, demonstrating behaviours reflective of organisational culture
Get the work done	4.1, 5.1, 5.2	• Plans, organises and completes work according to defined requirements and schedules, taking responsibility for decisions, and scheduling tasks to

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with ICT Information and Communications Technology Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- monitor behaviour of self and others to ensure compliance with the workplace culture
- operate according to the lines of reporting and required method of communication
- allocate tasks to appropriate staff members
- plan and complete assigned tasks in a production environment, to meet deadlines
- demonstrate effective communication, listening and questioning skills with various people, including use of industry terminology.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- summarise basic 3-D techniques
- explain the budgeting and scheduling considerations for 3-D design
- discuss capabilities and constraints of 3-D packages
- outline current game-play hardware and software products
- discuss the technical constraints that hardware or software imposes on graphics and visual design
- explain the process required to produce a 3-D animation sequence or components
- summarise the roles and responsibilities of team members producing 3-D animations and digital effects
- summarise effective strategies for communicating with production teams and clients.

Assessment Requirements for ICTICT103 Use, communicate and search securely on the internet

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with ICT Information and Communications Technology Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- connect to and access the internet
- send and receive emails
- secure internet access and email communications
- use search tools to locate information
- use different internet search techniques
- research and select appropriate website
- undertake online transactions
- assess the accuracy, currency, authority and reliability of the site and information located.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must :

- list basic technical terminology related to reading help files and prompts
- describe the basics of copyright and privacy statements
- explain different types of messages that occur, including error messages and messages to install plug-ins
- list different types of search engines and web browsers
- list procedures for using email applications
- list procedures for evaluating and assessing the authority, reliability and authenticity of information
- outline internet search functions
- describe internet speed and traffic loads related to times of accessing the internet
- describe the makeup and structure of internet addresses

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

- list organisational guidelines on internet and email use (web etiquette or netiquette)
- describe business process related to online transactions
- describe web browser update techniques
- explain what key words and bookmarks are used for.

Assessment Conditions

Gather evidence to demonstrate consistent performance in conditions that are safe and replicate the workplace. Noise levels, production flow, interruptions and time variances must be typical of those experienced in the general information and communications technology (ICT) industry, and include access to:

- a personal computer or digital device with internet
- search engines currently used in industry
- organisational policies on internet usage.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

Assessment Requirements for ICTICT308 Use advanced features of computer applications

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with ICT Information and Communications Technology Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- use at least three computer applications employing advanced features and import and export capacities for efficiency and productivity purposes
- solve routine problems using support resources.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- outline the basic features and functions of relevant operating systems software and system tools
- outline relevant vendor product directions in computer applications
- identify commonly available vendor applications and their features.

Assessment Conditions

Gather evidence to demonstrate consistent performance in conditions that are safe and replicate the workplace. Noise levels, production flow, interruptions and time variances must be typical of those experienced in the general information and communications technology (ICT) industry, and include access to:

ICTICT511 Match ICT needs with the strategic direction of the enterprise

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with ICT Information and Communications Technology Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to ensure information and communications technology (ICT) services meet current and future internal operational enterprise requirements.

It applies to individuals whose responsibilities may include maintaining and supporting critical infrastructure for objectives in small-to-medium sized organisations.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Unit Sector

General ICT

Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Evaluate current business strategy	1.1 Analyse current strategic plan of the organisation to understand the industry environment and current organisational goals 1.2 Compare information related to current operational practices and the strategic plan to determine possible ICT gaps and improvement opportunities 1.3 Report information regarding the effect of ICT

	developments to an appropriate person
2. Evaluate effect of changes	2.1 Review information on current ICT systems supported by the organisation 2.2 Compare and document advantages and disadvantages of current and proposed ICT systems 2.3 Determine the objectives and implications of introducing changes 2.4 Document findings and forward to appropriate person for feedback
3. Develop action plans	3.1 Develop plans to implement proposed changes according to organisational policy and procedures 3.2 Document action plans, ensuring that standards, targets and implementation methods are detailed 3.3 Forward documentation to appropriate person for feedback and approval

This section describes language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills incorporated in the performance criteria that are required for competent performance.

Skill	Performance Criteria	Description
Reading	1.1, 1.2, 2.1, 2.2	• Reviews, analyses and evaluates complex online and hard copy documentation containing ICT specific terminology, diagrams and numerical information to determine ICT gaps and improvement opportunities
Writing	1.3, 2.2, 2.4, 3.1, 3.2	• Uses plain English, together with vocabulary, grammatical structures, terminology, diagrams, numerical information, formatting and structure relevant to the job role and organisation
Oral Communication	1.3, 2.3, 3.1	• Uses plain English, translating technical terminology when necessary, to communicate with a range of personnel and determine objectives, articulate ideas and requirements, and develop plans • Elicits information using effective listening and questioning techniques

Assessment Requirements for ICTICT511 Match ICT needs with the strategic direction of the enterprise

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with ICT Information and Communications Technology Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- access and analyse relevant information on changes to technology and resources
- analyse strategic plans to determine future technology needs
- monitor resource use and cost-efficiency and effectiveness of technology
- develop and document action plan detailing standards, targets, timelines and implementation methods.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- identify methods of analysis and planning approaches to technical problems and management requirements
- assess and document the hardware platform used by the organisation and network, and the subsequent security guidelines required
- explain current system functionality to forecast for planning
- identify and specify operating systems supported by the organisation to forecast for planning
- compare competing and complementary internal and external operating environments
- identify and assess technology and product directions for evaluating and forecasting vendor and technology trends.

Assessment Conditions

Gather evidence to demonstrate consistent performance in conditions that are safe and replicate the workplace. Noise levels, production flow, interruptions and time variances must be typical of those experienced in the general information and communications technology (ICT) industry, and include access to:

- a site where ICT needs and strategic directions of the enterprise may be coordinated
- detailed information relating to abusiness strategic plan
- information on a range of ICT business solutions.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

Assessment Requirements for ICTICT515 Verify client business requirements

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with ICT Information and Communications Technology Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- establish business relationship through investigation of the organisation and interviews with client and staff
- determine and document business expectations and needs, including critical business requirements
- work with clients and staff to gather, analyse and confirm information contributions
- review and gain approval for system specifications.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- describe the process of communicating with the client in order to gather and report data
- provide an overview of the client business to enable informed information and communications technology (ICT) product selection
- describe the process used to identify products related to the business
- outline the role of stakeholders and the degree of stakeholder involvement.

Assessment Conditions

Gather evidence to demonstrate consistent performance in conditions that are safe and replicate the workplace. Noise levels, production flow, interruptions and time variances must be typical of those experienced in the general ICT industry, and include access to:

Assessment Requirements for ICTSAS305 Provide ICT advice to clients

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with ICT Information and Communications Technology Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- investigate client support requests and provide a documented solution after consultation with client
- convey comprehensive technical information to clients in a clear, concise, jargon-free and coherent manner
- use technical manuals and ‘help’ documentation.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- identify and describe the available in-house and vendor support
- explain contract and service agreements with vendors
- identify features of different types of hardware supported by the organisation
- identify sources of information relevant to the provision of services and support
- identify operating system:
  - functions and basic features
  - supported by the organisation
- identify and describe security and network guidelines and procedures
- identify the advanced features of software, including the functions and support provided by the organisation.

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

Assessment Conditions

Gather evidence to demonstrate consistent performance in conditions that are safe and replicate the workplace. Noise levels, production flow, interruptions and time variances must be typical of those experienced in the systems administration and support field of work and include access to:

- peers and supervisors for obtaining information
- relevant information sources
- technical records and documentation.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

ICTSAS410 Identify and resolve client ICT problems

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with ICT Information and Communications Technology Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to record and prioritise client support activities, determine the required resources, solve client information and communications technology (ICT) problems or escalate as necessary.

It applies to experienced individuals who apply specialised and technical knowledge and have responsibility for providing support to end users.

Unit Sector

Systems administration and support

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Determine client problems	1.1 Determine client problem by using questioning or other techniques 1.2 Document responses of client for follow-up action 1.3 Examine logged requests to determine specific requirements 1.4 Take action where required to gain further information 1.5 Refer to a database of known problems to identify possible

	resolution options
2. Prioritise client problems	2.1 Determine scale of the problem based on information gathered 2.2 Establish and record relevant constraints 2.3 Undertake an impact analysis of the problem to determine severity and risks 2.4 Prioritise problem according to organisation's escalation procedures 2.5 Provide advice and support to the client from database of known problems, where appropriate
3. Refer problems where required	3.1 Investigate and apply appropriate process to follow when referring problems to third parties 3.2 Provide third party with client and problem details as required 3.3 Document advice and support provided by third party according to organisational guidelines, where appropriate
4. Carry out maintenance	4.1 Obtain appropriate components for resolution in line with organisational guidelines 4.2 Complete maintenance in line with organisational guidelines 4.3 Store or dispose of used components following organisational environmental guidelines
5. Prepare maintenance report	5.1 Prepare a maintenance report, including information about problems and resolution action 5.2 Forward maintenance report to client for feedback
6. Confirm problem resolution	6.1 Obtain feedback from client to ensure requirements have been met 6.2 Forward client feedback to appropriate person for sign-off and record in known problems database as appropriate

Foundation Skills

This section describes language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills incorporated in the performance criteria that are required for competent performance.

Skill	Performance Criteria	Description

Assessment Requirements for ICTSAS410 Identify and resolve client ICT problems

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with ICT Information and Communications Technology Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- record and prioritise client support activities
- determine required resources
- resolve client problems or escalate according to organisational guidelines or practices
- prepare maintenance report
- seek and record client feedback.

Note: Evidence must be supplied for at least two client support activities.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- describe hardware and software products:
  - currently in use
  - supported by the organisation
- outline sustainable practices consistent with information and communications technology (ICT) industry
- explain help desk or service desk structure and escalation procedures
- describe key functions and basic features of operating system
- describe organisational structure of workplace
- discuss principles of equal employment opportunity and anti-discrimination relating to client ICT problems
- relating to client ICT problems
- outline workplace security and network guidelines and procedures.

Assessment Conditions

Gather evidence to demonstrate consistent performance in conditions that are safe and replicate the workplace. Noise levels, production flow, interruptions and time variances must be typical of those experienced in the systems administration and support field of work and include access to:

- special purpose tools, equipment and materials
- industry software packages
- sites with a representative range of current industry-standard hardware, software and diagnostic tools
- technical records
- organisational guidelines
- vendor documentation.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

ICTWEB201 Use social media tools for collaboration and engagement

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with ICT Information and Communications Technology Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to establish a social networking presence, using social media tools and applications. It includes the requirement to review, compare, and use different types of social networking tools and applications.

It applies to information and communications technology (ICT) personnel who need to develop a social networking web presence for a small or large office environment, using social media tools and applications.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Unit Sector

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Describe the different types of social media tools and applications	1.1 Explain the characteristics of the term ‘social media’ 1.2 Identify different types of social-media tools and applications 1.3 Illustrate some of the issues associated with the use of social media tools and applications

2. Compare different types of social media tools and applications	2.1 Select one social media type to review 2.2 Review the most popular tools, and applications, within that social media type 2.3 Itemise the benefits across a range of the most popular tools and applications 2.4 Select the most appropriate social media tool or application
3. Set up and use, popular social media tools and applications	3.1 Identify the social media tools and applications available for possible implementation 3.2 Initiate the preferred social media tools, and applications, for use 3.3 Establish the social media interface, using text and file content 3.4 Initiate social networking interaction 3.5 Test and evaluate tools, and applications, for ease of use 3.6 Present the findings

This section describes language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills incorporated in the performance criteria that are required for competent performance.

Skill	Performance Criteria	Description
Reading	1.2, 2.2	• Extract the relevant information from technical and organisational documents
Writing	1.1, 2.2, 2.3, 3.3, 3.4, 3.6	• Develop the content in a manner that supports and conveys information, using the appropriate structures and specialised language
Navigate the world of work	1.3	• Understands legal and ethical responsibilities, regarding the use of social media tools
Get the work done	2.1, 2.2, 2.4, 3.1, 3.2, 3.5, 3.6	• Makes routine decisions and implements standard procedures for routine tasks • Understands the purposes, specific functions, and the key features of common digital systems and tools, and operates them effectively to complete routine tasks

Release 1	This version first released with ICT Information and Communications Technology Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- identify different types of social media tools and applications, and the issues associated with their use
- access the internet, set up a social networking presence and upload and link a wide variety of files
- use and evaluate social media tools and applications.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- list basic technical terminology in relation to social networking, social media applications, and tools
- outline basic methods of uploading images, text files, portable document format (PDF) files, audio files, video files, and link the associated files
- state the features, and functions, of social media applications
- list import and export software functions
- explain how to link documents
- explain the process of tagging, in order to facilitate collaborative folksonomy
- list social media applications and procedures, for connecting to social networking sites
- identify and describe, input and output devices
- describe, and use, really simple syndication (RSS) feeds to connect a social network.

ICTWEB417 Integrate social web technologies

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with ICT Information and Communications Technology Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to successfully develop and integrate social networking code into new and existing websites.

It applies to individuals working as web developers who apply a wide range of knowledge and skills across a range of general information and communications technology (ICT) environments and support small to medium enterprises (SMEs) that require broader, rather than more specialised, ICT support.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Analyse the specifications and requirements	1.1 Evaluate different popular social networking websites 1.2 Discuss the benefits of social networking in websites 1.3 Discuss the negative aspects of social networking 1.4 Define goals, based on the client requirements, for successful social networking integration

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
2. Develop the code and documentation	2.1 Develop the guidelines for implementing social networking in a website 2.2 Develop the code to integrate a social networking website, into a pre-existing website 2.3 Use the pre-existing scripts and tools, to integrate a social networking website into a pre-existing website
3. Validate the integration	3.1 Validate social networking integration 3.2 Validate the performance of the social networking integration in different browsers, checking compatibility and display

Foundation Skills

This section describes language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills incorporated in the performance criteria that are required for competent performance.

Skill	Performance Criteria	Description
Reading	1.1, 1.4, 2.3, 3.2	• Analyses and consolidates information and data, from a range of sources, against the defined criteria and requirements, and checks for accuracy and completeness
Writing	1.4, 2.1, 2.2	• Develops clear and well-organised material for a specific audience, using precise language to convey explicit information requirements and recommendations
Oral Communication	1.2, 1.3	• Determines and confirms client requirements using collaborative and inclusive techniques, including active listening and questioning, and reading of verbal and non-verbal signals, to convey and clarify information and to confirm understanding
Interact with others	1.2, 1.3	• Selects and uses the appropriate conventions and protocols, when communicating with clients in a range of work contexts
Get the work done	1.1, 1.4, 2.1-2.3, 3.1, 3.2	• Takes responsibility for planning, sequencing and prioritising tasks, and own workload, for efficiency and effective outcomes • Makes routine decisions, and implements standard procedures for routine tasks, using formal decision-making processes for more complex and non-routine

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Select and analyse the website structure and development tools	1.1 Analyse the business specification, and select the appropriate software 1.2 Identify the website's technical needs, and select the appropriate software tools

	1.3 Identify the site's structure and navigation flow, and demonstrate an understanding of functionality 1.4 Review the design documentation, and integrate the design work with the site's structure and navigation, according to web development standards
2. Begin site construction	2.1 Take action to ensure user input during website construction 2.2 Validate the existing information and basic content, when incorporating data on the website 2.3 Apply consistent design specifications to all aspects of the website 2.4 Gather feedback from the user on web design, content, accessibility and structure, using the appropriate feedback mechanism
3. Complete and validate the website construction and content	3.1 Undertake an evaluation of the website, against the technical requirements and the design specification 3.2 Test each function, and, process of the website 3.3 Conduct navigation tests and hypertext markup language (HTML) compliance with website standards 3.4 Stress test the website to meet the design criteria and user load 3.5 Record testing results to ensure that the website meets user requirements 3.6 Obtain the sign-off and approval of the user

This section describes language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills incorporated in the performance criteria that are required for competent performance.

Skill	Performance Criteria	Description
Reading	1.1, 1.2, 1.4, 3.1	• Critically analyses complex documentation from a variety of sources, and consolidates information relating to specific criteria to determine requirements
Writing	2.1, 2.4, 3.5, 3.6	• Prepares and produces dynamic material for a specific audience, using clear and detailed language in order to convey explicit information, requirements and recommendations

- build a basic website according to client specifications
- validate the final web design against the client's requirements
- confirm and obtain client sign off.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- outline a basic knowledge of:
  - design principles
  - the issues around accessibility and equity principles, when building for diverse users
- identify and describe the software, and tools, that are used in website development
- outline the general principles of the standard generalised markup language (SGML), and associated documentation standards
- outline the principles of website design
- describe the technical attributes specific to the web
- describe and apply, the types of code used in the generation of web sites.

- upload content for a website
- remove content on a website.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- outline content features, including clarity, ease of viewing and readability
- explain copyright and intellectual property legislation, relating to web page content
- summarise the document design, web design and usability
- discuss the functions and features of:
  - micro-content elements, such as headings, highlighted words and link text
  - style guides, such as cascading style sheets (CSS)
- explain the information architecture
- summarise the instructional design principles
- outline the obligations of merchants and service providers
- outline the organisational requirements relating to web page content and user diversity
- explain privacy requirements relating to web page content.

Employability Skills Information

Employability skills	This unit contains employability skills.

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements describe the essential outcomes of a unit of competency.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the required skills and knowledge section and the range statement. Assessment of performance is to be consistent with the evidence guide.

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
1. Perform emergency first aid	1.1. Correct procedures for EAR (expired air resuscitation) and CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) are demonstrated on a mannequin. 1.2. First aid treatment of injuries is carried out correctly. 1.3. Details of first aid administered are accurately recorded. 1.4. Understanding of relevant regulatory and legislative requirements is demonstrated.

Required Skills and Knowledge

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- planning and sequencing operations
- checking and clarifying task-related information
- performing EAR (expired air resuscitation) and CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) on a mannequin
- simulated first aid treatment for the full range of injuries covered by the range statement
- reading, interpreting and following emergency first aid procedures and related documents
- entering information onto proformas and other relevant documents
- communicating effectively with injured persons, appropriate personnel and authorities

Required knowledge

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge of:

- applicable regulatory and legislative requirements
- use and application of any applicable personal protective equipment
- hazards and control measures associated with performing emergency first aid, including housekeeping
- instances where EAR and CPR should be performed
- procedures for preparing a person for the administration of EAR and CPR
- procedures for performing EAR and CPR on a child and an adult
- dangers and precautions to be taken when administering EAR and CPR
- emergency first aid procedures for injuries covered by the scope of this unit
- details to be recorded of first aid administered
- procedures and reasons for recording first aid administered
- relevant regulatory and legislative requirements with respect to emergency first aid
- the impact of regulatory/legislative requirements on the individual and others
- safe work practices and procedures

EVIDENCE GUIDE
The evidence guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.
Overview of assessment	A person who demonstrates competency in this unit must be able to perform emergency first aid.
Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit	Assessors must be satisfied that the candidate can competently and consistently perform all elements of the unit as specified by the criteria, including required knowledge, and be capable of applying the competency in new and different situations and contexts.
Context of and specific resources for assessment	This unit may be assessed on the job, off the job or a combination of both on and off the job. Where assessment occurs off the job, that is the candidate is not in productive work, then an appropriate simulation must be used where the range of conditions reflects realistic workplace situations. The competencies covered by this unit would be demonstrated by an individual working alone or as part of a team. The assessment environment should not disadvantage the candidate. This unit could be assessed in conjunction with any other units addressing the safety, quality, communication, materials handling, recording and reporting associated with performing emergency first aid or other units requiring the exercise of the skills and knowledge covered by this unit.
Method of assessment	Assessors should gather a range of evidence that is valid, sufficient, current and authentic. Evidence can be gathered through a variety of ways including direct observation, supervisor's reports, project work, samples and questioning. Questioning techniques should not require language, literacy and numeracy skills beyond those required in this unit of competency. The candidate must have access to all tools, equipment, materials and documentation required. The candidate must be permitted to refer to any relevant workplace procedures, product and manufacturing specifications, codes, standards, manuals and reference materials.

The range statement relates to the unit of competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Bold italicised wording, if used in the performance criteria, is detailed below. Essential operating conditions that may be present with training and assessment (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) may also be included.
Injuries	Burns/scalds, fractures, cuts and abrasions, poisoning, foreign bodies in eyes, concussion and shock

MSMENV472 Implement and monitor environmentally sustainable work practices

Modification History

Release 1. Supersedes and is equivalent to MSAENV472B Implement and monitor environmentally sustainable work practices

Application

This unit of competency covers the skills and knowledge required to effectively analyse the workplace in relation to environmentally sustainable work practices, and to implement improvements and monitor their effectiveness.

This unit of competency applies to those who have responsibility for a specific area of work or who lead a work group or team. It addresses the knowledge, processes and techniques necessary to implement and monitor environmentally sustainable work practices, including the development of processes and tools.

It includes identifying areas for improvement, developing plans to make improvements, and implementing and monitoring improvements in environmental performance.

This unit of competency applies to all sectors of the manufacturing industry and members of its value chain. It may also be applied to all sections of an organisation, including office and warehouse. This unit will need to be appropriately contextualised as it is applied across an organisation and across different industry sectors.

This unit of competency applies to an individual working alone or as part of a team/work group and working in liaison with other shift team members and the control room operator, as appropriate.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Elements and Performance Criteria

Elements describe the essential outcomes		Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element
1	Investigate current practices in relation to resource usage	1.1	Identify environmental regulations applying to the enterprise
		1.2	Assess procedures for assessing compliance with environmental regulations
		1.3	Collect information on environmental and resource efficiency systems and procedures and provide to the work group, as required
		1.4	Measure and record current resource usage by members of the work group
		1.5	Analyse and record current purchasing strategies
		1.6	Analyse current work processes to access information and data, and assist in identifying areas for improvement
2	Set targets for improvements	2.1	Seek input from stakeholders, key personnel and specialists
		2.2	Access external sources of information and data as required
		2.3	Evaluate alternative solutions to workplace environmental issues
		2.4	Set efficiency targets
3	Implement performance	3.1	Source and use techniques/tools to assist in achieving targets

	improvement strategies	3.2	Apply continuous improvement strategies to own work area of responsibility, and communicate ideas and possible solutions to the work group and management
		3.3	Integrate environmental and resource efficiency improvement plans for own work group with other operational activities and implement them
		3.4	Seek suggestions and ideas about environmental and resource efficiency management from stakeholders and act upon them where appropriate
		3.5	Implement costing strategies to fully value environmental assets
4	Monitor performance	4.1	Document outcomes and communicate reports on targets to key personnel and stakeholders
		4.2	Evaluate strategies and environmental performance, including breaches or potential breaches of regulations and occurrences outside of standard procedure which may lead to lower environmental performance
		4.3	Set new targets and investigate and apply new tools and strategies
		4.4	Promote successful strategies and reward participants where possible

Foundation Skills

This section describes those language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills that are essential to performance.

Foundation skills essential to performance are explicit in the performance criteria of this unit of competency.

Range of Conditions

This field allows for different work environments and conditions that may affect performance. Essential operating conditions that may be present (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) are included.

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

Regulatory framework

The latest version of all legislation, regulations, industry codes of practice and Australian/international standards, or the version specified by the local regulatory authority, must be used, and include one or more of the following:

- legislative requirements, including work health and safety (WHS)
- industry codes of practice and guidelines
- environmental regulations and guidelines
- Australian and other standards
- licence and certification requirements
- ISO 14001:2015 Environmental management systems

Procedures

All operations must be performed in accordance with relevant procedures.

Procedures are written, verbal, visual, computer-based or in some other form, and include one or more of the following:

- work instructions
- standard operating procedures (SOPs)
- safe work method statements (SWMS)
- formulas/recipes
- batch sheets
- temporary instructions
- any similar instructions provided for the smooth running of the plant

Assessment Requirements for MSMENV472 Implement and monitor environmentally sustainable work practices

Modification History

Release 1. Supersedes and is equivalent to MSAENV472B Implement and monitor environmentally sustainable work practices

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence in this unit must be relevant to and satisfy the requirements of the elements and performance criteria and must include the ability to:

- investigate/analyse resource usage
- evaluate improvement alternatives and set targets
- implement improvements within the limit of own authority
- monitor the performance of improvements.

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence must be provided that demonstrates knowledge of:

- relevant environmental and resource efficiency issues, specific to industry practices, including:
  - contribution to climate change and other macro threats that can arise from materials and work processes used
  - regulated environmental issues
  - issues relevant to licencing conditions
- best practice environmental approaches relevant to own area of responsibility
- methods for measuring and calculating resource usage.

Assessment Conditions

- The unit should be assessed holistically and the judgement of competence based on a holistic assessment of the evidence.
- The collection of performance evidence:
  - should occur over a range of situations
  - will typically include a supervisor/third-party report focusing on consistent performance and problem recognition and solving. A supervisor/third-party report must be prepared by someone who has a direct, relevant, current relationship with the person being assessed and who is in a position to form a judgement on workplace performance relevant to the unit of competency
  - will typically include the use of appropriate tools, equipment and documents

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

    - may use industry-based simulation for all or part of the unit particularly where safety, lack of opportunity or significant cost is an issue.
- Assessment should occur in operational workplace situations. Where this is not possible, or where personal safety or environmental damage are limiting factors, assessment must occur in a sufficiently rigorous simulated environment reflecting realistic operational workplace conditions. This must cover all aspects of workplace performance, including environment, task skills, task management skills, contingency management skills and job role environment skills.
- Assessment in a simulated environment should use evidence collected from one or more of:
    - walk-throughs
    - pilot plant operation
    - demonstration of skills
    - industry based case studies/scenarios
    - ‘what ifs’.
- Knowledge evidence may be collected concurrently with performance evidence (provided a record is kept) or through an independent process, such as workbooks, written assessments or interviews (provided a record is kept).
- Assessment processes and techniques must be appropriate to the language, literacy and numeracy requirements of the work being performed and the needs of the candidate.
- Conditions for assessment must include access to all tools, equipment, materials and documentation required, including relevant workplace procedures, product and manufacturing specifications associated with this unit.
- The regulatory framework will be reflected in workplace policies and procedures and is not required to be independently assessed.
- Foundation skills are integral to competent performance of the unit and should not be assessed separately.
- As a minimum, assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations 2015 assessor requirements.

MSS015002 Develop strategies for more sustainable use of resources

Modification History

Release 1. Supersedes and is equivalent to MSS015002A Develop strategies for more sustainable use of resources.

Application

This unit of competency covers identifying strategies for more sustainable uses of resources. The unit includes the identification of waste (muda) as part of a strategy for achieving better sustainability outcomes in a process as well as quantifying theoretical and actual resource (including energy) consumption.

This unit applies inside organisations and their value chains and specifically applies to the use of resources as part of an overall response to improving sustainability. The unit has been developed with manufacturing operations as a focus. However, because of the range of organisations in a typical manufacturing value chain it may also be applied to other types of organisations.

The unit assumes that a decision to attempt to achieve more sustainable use of resources has already been made. The unit covers the skills needed for developing a strategic approach to resource use at the organisation or value chain level.

The unit does not cover the technical skills required to implement specific initiatives that may be identified as part of the strategic plan. However, there is a requirement to present and organise data. The complexity of this requirement will vary according to the type and scale of the organisation’s processes.

Where the carbon footprint (or water footprint or similar) of an enterprise or value chain is known, the unit can be applied to developing strategies for the reduction of that footprint. A manager or technical specialist who has a major responsibility for sustainability as part of a broader work role would typically undertake this, or sustainability may be their primary work responsibility.

For specific techniques covering the auditing of water, energy, emissions and transport, refer to relevant sustainability audit units.

Elements and Performance Criteria

Elements describe the essential outcomes.		Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1	Quantify resource consumption	1.1	Identify all significant resources used by process.
		1.2	Identify consumption measurements available for each resource.
		1.3	Determine consumption for each resource.
2	Quantify resource loss	2.1	Determine theoretical consumption of each resource.
		2.2	Compare theoretical consumption with actual consumption.
		2.3	Determine loss (emission) for each resource.
3	Recommend strategies for reducing muda (waste)	3.1	Short-list high emission process steps.
		3.2	Analyse process to identify emission steps or locations.
		3.3	Determine root cause of emission.
		3.4	Investigate methods for reducing emission.
		3.5	Develop strategies and recommendations for improvement.

4	Prepare resources use audit report	4.1	Identify purpose of report and key stakeholders.
		4.2	Compile data, implications and recommendations.
		4.3	Consult with stakeholders as appropriate.
		4.4	Draft and present report.

Foundation Skills

This section describes those required skills (language, literacy and numeracy) that are essential to performance.

Range of Conditions

This field allows for different work environments and conditions that may affect performance. Essential operating conditions that may be present (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) are included.

Muda (waste) includes all of

- excess production and early production
- delays
- movement and transport
- poor process design
- inventory
- inefficient performance of a process
- making defective items
- activities which do not yield any benefit to the organisation or any benefit to the organisation’s customers.

Emissions include one or more of

- known or able to be physically measured emissions of gases, vapours, fumes, liquids or solids
- assumed emissions through material balancing
- assumed emissions through energy loss, including heat, friction and other energy conversion yield losses.

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

Significant resources are deemed to be significant because they include one or more of	• high volume • high value • high environmental significance • important to the product or process • covered by legislation or regulation • important to the enterprise.

Assessment Requirements for MSS015002 Develop strategies for more sustainable use of resources

Modification History

Release 1. Supersedes and is equivalent to MSS015002A Develop strategies for more sustainable use of resources.

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence in this unit must be relevant to and satisfy the requirements of the elements and performance criteria and include the ability, for one or more value chain or process, to:

- quantify significant resource consumption and emission using materials balancing
- identify and consult with stakeholders
- develop strategies for reducing emissions
- prepare and present a resources use report.

Knowledge Evidence

- Must provide evidence that demonstrates sufficient knowledge to interact with relevant personnel and be able to identify strategies for more sustainable uses of resources including knowledge of:
- the concept of muda (waste) and muda categories
- muda reduction methods and strategies
- methods and uses of material balancing
- methods and uses of energy balancing
- methods of comparing theoretical with actual resource consumption
- methods for mapping processes and resources consumed
- methods of measuring actual resource usage
- AS/NZS ISO 14001 Environmental Management Standards (or its authorised replacement or other relevant standard).

Assessment Conditions

- The unit should be assessed holistically and the judgement of competence shall be based on a holistic assessment of the evidence.
- The collection of performance evidence is best done from a report and/or folio of evidence drawn from:
  - a single project which provides sufficient evidence of the requirements of all the elements and performance criteria
  - multiple smaller projects which together provide sufficient evidence of the requirements of all the elements and performance criteria.

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

- A third party report, or similar, may be needed to testify to the work done by the individual, particularly when the project has been done as part of a project team.
- Assessment should use a real project where strategies for more sustainable uses of resources are identified for an operational workplace.
- Knowledge evidence may be collected concurrently with performance evidence or through an independent process such as workbooks, written assessments or interviews (provided a record is kept).
- Assessment processes and techniques must be appropriate to the language, literacy and numeracy requirements of the work being performed and the needs of the candidate.
- Conditions for assessment must include access to all tools, equipment, materials and documentation required including relevant workplace procedures, product and manufacturing specifications associated with this unit.
- Foundation skills are integral to competent performance of the unit and should not be assessed separately.
- Assessors must satisfy the assessor competency requirements that are in place at the time of the assessment as set by the VET regulator.
- The assessor must demonstrate both technical competency and currency.
- Technical competence can be demonstrated through:
  - relevant VET or other qualification/Statement of Attainment AND/OR
  - relevant workplace experience
- Currency can be demonstrated through:
  - performing the competency being assessed as part of current employment OR
  - having consulted with an organisation providing relevant environmental monitoring, management or technology services about performing the competency being assessed within the last twelve months.

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in PSP Public Sector Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This unit supersedes and is equivalent to PSPETHC301B Uphold the values and principles of public service. • Unit code updated • Content and formatting updated to comply with new standards • All PC transitioned from passive to active voice

Application

This unit describes the skills required to demonstrate ethical conduct required of those in public service. It includes applying ethical standards and dealing with ethical problems.

This unit applies to those working in public sector roles but may be applied to anyone working in a similar organisational context.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit will generally work independently and as part of a team. They would perform routine tasks in a range of familiar contexts.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
1. Develop a procurement profile of the buying organisation	1.1 Gather and analyse long term data about the strategic implications related to the buying organisation's level of spend on various types of goods and services, including how, where and from whom the goods or services are procured. 1.2 Profile the organisation's existing suppliers, with particular emphasis on each supplier's capability and capacity, vulnerability, and adherence to Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) principles, WHS, legislative compliance, market position and ownership structure. 1.3 Identify and engage relevant communication strategies to engage internal, external and market stakeholders. 1.4 Assess the buying organisation's market position (how the market views the organisation as a potential customer). 1.5 Identify and consider opportunities and risks associated with developing a stronger market position as a buyer.
2. Conduct strategic assessment of the supply market	2.1 Gather and analyse market information to determine capacity, competition, legislative and regulatory compliance, vulnerabilities and risk within the supply market. 2.2 Monitor and analyse market trends and emerging changes to the current supply market place. 2.3 Analyse and assess the supply market's ability to meet the buying organisation's needs, including supply chain management issues. 2.4 Identify and assess innovative and/or creative opportunities within the market. 2.5 Assess local and international supply market factors that may influence the ability to supply goods and services.
3. Develop strategies to source goods or services from the market	3.1 Assess the suitability of current and emerging commercial trends within the market to the needs of the buying organisation. 3.2 Identify and consider the application of commercial best practice models to strategic sourcing activities across the procurement life cycle. 3.3 Identify and test possible benchmarks of better strategic sourcing

PUAFER001 Identify, prevent and report potential facility emergency situations

Modification History

Release 1. This is the first release of this unit of competency in the PUA Public Safety Training Package.

Application

This unit of competency involves the skills and knowledge required by occupants to identify and prevent the development of facility emergency situations or to minimise their consequences, and to report if emergency protection systems and/or equipment is compromised.

It applies to a broad range of emergencies and covers the work required before an emergency services and/or specialist response team arrives; it does not include the specific use of equipment to prevent facility emergency situations.

The unit has been developed to cover facilities as specified in Australian Standard 3745 and AS 4083. For this unit, as covered by AS 3745 and/or AS4083, occupants are people attending a facility on a permanent or temporary basis such as an employee, contractor, student or resident, but not a visitor or patient and a facility is a building, structure or workplace that is, or may be, occupied by people (occupants).

All aspects of the unit must be undertaken in accordance with legislative requirements, organisational policies and procedures and approved safe practices. It applies to occupants who are required to be ‘emergency aware’ in their facility.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1 Identify, monitor and report situations that could lead to facility emergencies	1.1 Situations that could lead to facility emergencies are identified by the occupant and facility emergency response procedures are followed
	1.2 Immediate work area and/or public area is routinely checked for situations that could lead to emergencies
	1.3 High risk activities are monitored to ensure precautions and facility emergency response procedures are followed
2 Identify, report and correct situations that could prevent facility emergencies from being safely handled	2.1 Relevant emergency protection systems and equipment are identified
	2.2 Situations that could lead to emergency protection systems and equipment being impaired are identified
	2.3 Immediate work area is routinely checked for situations that could lead to emergency protection systems and equipment being made inoperable and results of check are reported

Foundation Skills

Foundation skills essential to performance are explicit in the performance criteria of this unit of competency.

Range of Conditions

Range is restricted to essential operating conditions and any other variables essential to the work environment.

Non-essential conditions may be found in the Companion Volume Implementation Guide.

high risk activities must include three or more of the following relevant to the facility	• handling dangerous goods and hazardous materials including waste • handling gases

Assessment Requirements for PUAFER001 Identify, prevent and report potential facility emergency situations

Modification History

Release 1. This is the first release of this unit of competency in the PUA Public Safety Training Package.

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence in this unit must be relevant to and satisfy all the requirements of the elements, performance criteria and range of conditions on at least one occasion and includes

- communicating with team members and stakeholders
- identifying and reporting situations in a facility that reduce the effectiveness of emergency protection systems and equipment
- identifying emergency protection systems and equipment present in a facility
- identifying, monitoring and reporting situations that could lead to emergencies in a facility

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence in this unit must be relevant to and satisfy all the requirements of the elements, performance criteria and range of conditions and includes knowledge of

- basic types emergency protection systems and equipment
- principles of operation and limitations of emergency protection systems and equipment installed in a facility
- procedures for identifying, minimising, or preventing, and reporting situations within a facility that may lead to an emergency
- safe work practices applicable to a facility that help to prevent emergencies
- situations at a facility that reduce the effectiveness of emergency protection systems and equipment

Assessment Conditions

As a minimum, assessors must satisfy applicable regulatory requirements, which include requirements in the Standards for Registered Training Organisations current at the time of assessment.

PUAFER004 Respond to facility emergencies

Modification History

Release 1. This is the first release of this unit of competency in the PUA Public Safety Training Package.

Application

This unit of competency involves the skills and knowledge required by occupants to recognise emergencies in a facility, to report emergencies and to take appropriate action during facility emergency situations. It includes preparing for emergency situations, reporting emergencies, responding to emergency warnings and advice, choosing the most appropriate course of action and evacuating from a danger area.

The unit has been developed to cover the facilities as specified in Australian Standard (AS) 3745 and AS4083. For this unit, as covered by AS3745 and AS4083, occupants are people attending a facility on a permanent or temporary basis such as an employee, contractor, student, resident but not a visitor or patient and a facility is a building, structure or workplace that is, or may be, occupied by people (occupants).

All aspects of the unit must be undertaken in accordance with legislative requirements, organisational policies and procedures and accepted safe practices. It applies to occupants who are required to be ‘emergency aware’ in their facility.

RIIVEH305E Operate and maintain a four wheel drive vehicle

Modification History

Release	Comment
1	This unit replaces RIIVEH305D Operate and maintain a four wheel drive vehicle. Amended element 5 and performance evidence to use of recovery equipment and remove use of snatch straps. Added mapping table.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to operate and maintain a four wheel drive vehicle in the Resources and Infrastructure Industries.

This unit is appropriate for those working in supervisory and technical specialist roles.

Licensing, legislative, regulatory and certification requirements that apply to this unit can vary between states, territories, and industry sectors. Relevant information must be sourced prior to application of the unit.

Elements and Performance Criteria

1. Identify four-wheel drive specific terms, terminology and techniques	1.1 Access, interpret and apply four wheel drive vehicle documentation and ensure the work activity is compliant 1.2 Identify the structural and handling differences between a conventional two wheel drive and a four-wheel drive vehicle 1.3 Identify and demonstrate the purpose and use of front wheel hubs 1.4 Identify factors affecting tyre size, fitment, rating, and pressure 1.5 Identify recovery hooks and mounting features 1.6 Identify hazards associated with incorrect use of vehicle features or equipment
2. Plan for minimal environmental impact	2.1 Determine types of impact likely to occur during four-wheel driving activities 2.2 Demonstrate compliance with land management principles and policies when planning exploration activities 2.3 Comply with policies and management plans relevant to the activity area 2.4 Plan and conduct activities in a manner which minimises

	environmental impact 2.5 Adopt and implement procedures to ensure minimisation of harm to the environment from four-wheel drive activities 2.6 Demonstrate cooperation and consideration towards other land users
3. Perform pre-departure checks	3.1 Perform routine pre-departure checks under the bonnet, under the body, on external and internal items and accessories 3.2 Take action to correct any deficiency 3.3 Determine food and water requirements for journey 3.4 Select navigation equipment 3.5 Interpret weather conditions, determine suitability for driving 3.6 Apply safe vehicle loading practices 3.7 Secure items of personal luggage 3.8 Advise passengers of any special safety precautions to be taken when traversing rough terrain
4. Use four-wheel drive mode	4.1 Operate four-wheel drive both on and off road, in accordance with road rules, principles of four-wheel driving and WHS regulations 4.2 Apply smooth accelerator control strategies over a range of terrain types 4.3 Demonstrate recommended braking techniques for hard top surfaces and off road conditions 4.4 Identify situations where the engagement of four-wheel drive is required 4.5 Engage four-wheel drive mode 4.6 Survey track to identify hazards, asses risk and select a best route 4.7 Select routes to minimise damage to the environment 4.8 Use appropriate range, gear, speed, driving and braking technique, negotiate a range of terrain types whilst maintaining control of vehicle, being aware of contextual/environment issues 4.9 Maintain appropriate hand positioning on steering wheel 4.10 Check brakes and undercarriage after negotiating varying terrain 4.11 Assess and perform repairs to damaged tracks 4.12 Use standard operating procedures when travelling in company with other vehicles
5. Coordinate and	5.1 Apply work procedures to ensure risk assessment, safe

recover a vehicle	operating practices, and communication requirements are adhered to 5.2 Identify equipment and methods to recover a stuck vehicle 5.3 Identify risks associated with vehicle recovery and develop and implement strategies to minimise risks 5.4 Identify correctly rated recovery equipment and attachment points 5.5 Demonstrate procedures for preparing vehicles for recovery 5.6 Identify techniques to minimise impact on the environment during vehicle recovery 5.7 Coordinate safe recovery of a four-wheel drive vehicle using designated equipment and recovery method 5.8 Perform post recovery checks and report any vehicle or environmental repairs needed 5.9 Return recovery equipment to a reusable condition
6. Perform maintenance and minor repairs on four-wheel drive vehicles	6.1 Select/access maintenance equipment, including spares and fluids, prior to departure, considering contextual issues of the trip 6.2 Check vehicles prior to and regularly during trip, and perform routine maintenance/repair tasks 6.3 Submit vehicle written performance reports 6.4 Demonstrate safe use of a jack to change a wheel on a four-wheel drive vehicle

Foundation skills essential to performance are explicit in the performance criteria of this unit. Further information is available in the Resources and Infrastructure Industry Training Package Companion Volume.

Modification History

Release	Comment
1	This unit replaces RIIVEH305D Amended element 5 and performance evidence to use of recovery equipment and remove use of snatch straps. Added mapping table.

Performance Evidence

- Evidence is required to be collected that demonstrates a candidate's competency in this unit. Evidence must be relevant to the roles within this sector's work operations and satisfy all of the requirements of the performance criteria of this unit and include evidence that the candidate:
- locates and applies relevant documentation, policies and procedures
- works effectively with others to undertake and complete effective operation and maintenance of a four wheel drive vehicle to meet all required outcomes including:
  - preparing for and organising work activities to meet all task requirements
  - communicating clearly and concisely with others to receive and clarify work instructions
  - using a range of communication techniques and aids to advise others of work activity
- demonstrates completion of the operation and maintenance of a four wheel drive vehicle that safely, effectively and efficiently meets all of the required outcomes on more than one (1) occasion including:
  - performing pre-departure checks
  - selecting and programming navigation equipment
  - operating a four wheel drive vehicle on and off road
  - applying correct braking techniques according to terrain
  - engaging four wheel drive mode
  - carrying out stop stall key start recovery procedures (only applies to manual licencees)
  - selecting routes and applying techniques to minimise damage to the environment
  - identifying and using multiple types of recovery equipment
  - performing recovery of four wheel drive
  - operating a jack to support a four wheel drive on unstable ground

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate knowledge of the following when operating and maintaining a four wheel drive vehicle:

- problem solving skills for operation and maintenance of a four wheel drive vehicle
- handover procedures
- technical information, including manufacturer's manuals related to operation and maintenance of a four wheel drive vehicle
- operating vehicles within specifications and limitations
- faults in vehicles and ancillary equipment
- driving techniques and handling characteristics of four-wheel drives in different terrain
- differences between optional four-wheel drive and constant four-wheel drive vehicles and their impacts on vehicle operation and capability
- tyre management principles
- hazards associated with vehicle recovery, including:
  - slopes
  - pot holes
  - power lines
  - wet, slippery conditions
  - mud
  - changes in terrain
  - obstacles such as tree branches or poles
- travelling in convoy
- area restrictions
- knowledge of basic four wheel drive maintenance procedures, including:
  - charging batteries
  - changing fuses and globes
  - jump-starting
  - battery safety

Assessment Conditions

- Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors; and industry regulations for certification and licensing; and,
- this unit must be assessed in the context of this sector's work environment; and,
- this unit must be assessed in compliance with relevant legislation/regulation and using policies, procedures, processes and operational manuals directly related to the industry sector for which it is being assessed; and,
- assessment may be conducted in conjunction with the assessment of other units of competency; and,

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

- assessment must confirm consistent performance can be applied in a range of relevant workplace circumstances; and,
- assessors must demonstrate the performance evidence, and knowledge evidence as outlined in this unit of competency, and through the minimum years of current* work experience specified below in an industry sector relevant to the outcomes of the unit; or,
- where the assessor does not meet experience requirements a co-assessment or partnership arrangement must exist between the qualified assessor and an industry subject matter expert. The industry subject matter expert should hold the unit being assessed (or an equivalent unit) and/or demonstrate equivalence of skills and knowledge at the unit level. An industry technical expert must also demonstrate skills and knowledge from the minimum years of current work experience specified below in the industry sector, including time spent in roles related to the unit being assessed; and,
- assessor and Industry subject matter expert requirements differ depending on the Australian Qualifications Framework Level (AQF) of the qualification being assessed and/or industry sector as follows:

Industry sector	AQF Level	Required assessor or industry subject matter expert experience
Drilling, Metalliferous Mining, Coal Mining, Extractive (Quarrying) and Civil Construction	1	1 Year
	2	2 Years
Drilling, Coal Mining and Extractive (Quarrying)	3-6	3 Years
Metalliferous Mining and Civil Construction	3-6	5 Years
Other sectors	Where this unit is being assessed outside of the Resources and Infrastructure Sectors, assessor and/or industry subject matter expert experience should be in-line with industry standards for the sector in which it is being assessed and, where no industry standard is specified, should comply with any relevant regulation.

*Assessors can demonstrate current work experience through employment within industry in a role relevant to the outcomes of the unit; or, for external assessors this can be demonstrated through exposure to industry by conducting frequent site assessments across various locations.

Where a unit is being delivered outside of a qualification the first numeric character in the unit code should be considered to indicate the AQF level.

Application

This unit describes a participant's skills and knowledge required to enter and work in confined spaces in the Resources and Infrastructure Industries.

This unit is appropriate for those working in operational roles undertaking work in confined spaces.

Licensing, legislative, regulatory and certification requirements that apply to this unit can vary between states, territories, and Industry sectors. Relevant information must be sourced prior to application of the unit.

Note: The terms Occupational Health and Safety (OHS) and Work Health and Safety (WHS) are equivalent and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where the National Model WHS Legislation has not been implemented RTOs are advised to contextualise the unit of competency by referring to the existing State/Territory OHS legislative requirements.

Elements and Performance Criteria

1 Plan and prepare for working in confined space	1.1 Access, interpret and apply procedures for confined space entry and the environmental management plan and ensure the work activity is compliant 1.2 Obtain, confirm, clarify and apply work instructions and agreed procedure 1.3 Obtain, confirm, clarify and apply safety requirements

Assessment Requirements for RIIWHS202D Enter and work in confined spaces

Modification History

Release	Comment
1	The unit replaces RIIOHS202A Enter and work in confined spaces.
2	Editorial corrections.
3	Amended Application field.
4	Required frequency and volume of evidence amended in Performance evidence. Substantial amendments made in Assessment Conditions field, including: references to Industry Sectors, assessor and subject matter expert experience requirements, how assessment should be conducted and what it should confirm.

Performance Evidence

Evidence is required to be collected that demonstrates a candidate's competency in this unit. Evidence must be relevant to the roles within this sector's work operations and satisfy all of the requirements of the performance criteria of this unit and include evidence that the candidate:

- locates and applies relevant documentation, policies and procedures
- demonstrates completion of entering and working in confined spaces that safely, effectively and efficiently meets all of the required outcomes on more than one (1) occasion including:
  - obtain appropriate entry permit and instructions for performing work in confined space
  - interpreting and applying safe work method statements
  - apply tagging and lock out
  - selecting, wearing and caring for personal protective equipment applicable to all tasks and environment identified
  - entering the confined space
  - using atmospheric monitoring devices prior to entering the confined space
  - working in the confined space
  - using atmospheric monitoring devices during confined space activity
  - applying safe materials handling methods
  - exiting the confined space
  - remove tagging and lock out

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate knowledge of enter and work in confined spaces through:

- identifying areas that constitute confined spaces
- complying with site and equipment safety requirements
- complying with the entry and exit procedures, risks and regulations
- types of air contaminants and toxic gases
- identifying the limitations of breathing apparatus
- identifying equipment types, characteristics, technical capabilities and limitations
- complying with site isolation and site control responsibilities and authorities
- locations of safety data sheets (SDS) information and application
- using confined space and Industry terminology

Assessment Conditions

- An assessor of this unit must satisfy the requirements of the NVR/AQTF or their successors; and Industry regulations for certification and licensing; and,
- this unit is best assessed in the context of this sector's work environment;
- where personal safety or environmental damage are limiting factors, assessment may occur in a simulated environment provided it is realistic and sufficiently rigorous to cover all aspects of this sector's workplace performance, including environment, task skills, task management skills, contingency management skills and job role environment skills; and,
- this unit must be assessed in compliance with relevant legislation/regulation and using policies, procedures, processes and operational manuals directly related to the industry sector for which it is being assessed; and,
- assessment may be conducted in conjunction with the assessment of other Units of Competency; and,
- assessment must confirm consistent performance can be applied in a range of relevant workplace circumstances; and,
- assessors must demonstrate the performance evidence, and knowledge evidence as outlined in this Unit of Competency, and through the minimum years of current* work experience specified below in an Industry sector relevant to the outcomes of the unit; or,
- where the assessor does not meet experience requirements a co-assessment or partnership arrangement must exist between the qualified assessor and an Industry subject matter expert. The Industry subject matter expert should hold the unit being assessed (or an equivalent unit) and/or demonstrate equivalence of skills and knowledge at the unit level. An Industry technical expert must also demonstrate skills and knowledge from the minimum years of current work experience specified below in the Industry sector, including time spent in roles related to the unit being assessed; and,
- assessor and Industry subject matter expert requirements differ depending on the Australian Qualifications Framework Level (AQF) of the qualification being assessed and/or Industry Sector as follows:

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

Industry sector	AQF Level	Required assessor or Industry subject matter expert experience
Drilling, Metalliferous Mining, Coal Mining, Extractive (Quarrying) and Civil Construction	1	1 Year
	2	2 Years
Drilling, Coal Mining and Extractive (Quarrying)	3-6	3 Years
Metalliferous Mining and Civil Construction	3-6	5 Years
Other sectors	Where this Unit is being assessed outside of the Resources and Infrastructure Sectors assessor and/or Industry subject matter expert experience should be in-line with industry standards for the sector in which it is being assessed and where no Industry standard is specified should comply with any relevant regulation.

*Assessors can demonstrate current work experience through employment within Industry in a role relevant to the outcomes of the Unit; or, for external assessors this can be demonstrated through exposure to Industry by conducting frequent site assessments across various locations.

Substantial amendments made in Assessment Conditions field, including: references to Industry Sectors, assessor and subject matter expert experience requirements, how assessment should be conducted and what it should confirm.

Application

This unit describes a participant's skills and knowledge required to work safety at heights in the Resources and Infrastructure Industries.

This unit it appropriate for those working in operational roles where they are required to perform work at heights.

Licensing, legislative, regulatory and certification requirements that apply to this unit can vary between states, territories, and Industry sectors. Relevant information must be sourced prior to application of the unit.

Note: The terms Occupational Health and Safety (OHS) and Work Health and Safety (WHS) are equivalent and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where the National Model WHS Legislation has not been implemented RTOs are advised to contextualise the unit of competency by referring to the existing State/Territory OHS legislative requirements.

Elements and Performance Criteria

1. Identify work requirements	1.1 Access, interpret and apply height safety procedures and ensure the work activity is compliant 1.2 Inspect site to determine layout and physical condition, condition of structures, prevailing weather conditions, equipment requirements and potential hazards

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

	1.3 Adhere to WHS requirements 1.4 Identify, select and check safety equipment for serviceability 1.5 Identify, manage and report potential risks and hazards
2. Identify work procedures and instructions	2.1 Consult with authorised personnel to select materials, tools and equipment and check for serviceability 2.2 Select, wear and care for personal protective equipment 2.3 Inspect/install fall protection and perimeter protection equipment 2.4 Identify approved methods of moving tools and equipment to work area and minimise potential hazards associated with tools at heights 2.5 Ensure safety system has been installed correctly 2.6 Select and install appropriate signs and barricades
3. Access and install equipment	3.1 Consult with authorised personnel to ensure anchor fall protection and associated equipment is correctly fitted and adjusted 3.2 Ensure all required equipment is installed 3.3 Use recommended methods to access work area for people, tools and equipment 3.4 Locate tools and materials to eliminate or minimise the risk of items being knocked down
4. Perform work at heights	4.1 Check access from ground to work area and ensure it is safe 4.2 Keep fall equipment in place and adjusted appropriately for movement during work 4.3 Undertake manual handling of materials and equipment 4.4 Locate materials and equipment ensuring that they are safely secured and distributed 4.5 Check safety system periodically for compliance 4.6 Monitor risk control measures to ensure that they are effective and appropriate 4.7 Reassess risk control measures, as required, in accordance with changed work practices and/or site conditions and undertake alterations
5. Clean up work area	5.1 Consult with authorised personnel to ensure safety system is dismantled and removed 5.2 Clear work area and dispose of or recycle materials 5.3 Clean, check, maintain and store tools and equipment

SIRXSLS001 Sell to the retail customer

Modification History

Not applicable.

Application

This unit describes the performance outcomes, skills and knowledge required to deliver quality customer service and sell to retail customers. It requires the ability to determine customer needs, match products and services to their needs, and facilitate a sale.

This unit applies to all retail sectors and business sizes from large format stores to small independents. It applies to retail personnel at all levels who play a role in engaging with customers with the purpose of selling.

	1.3. Observe and determine appropriate level of interaction based on customer verbal and non-verbal cues. 1.4. Determine and clarify customer preferences, needs and expectations.
2. Provide advice on products and services.	2.1. Use product and service knowledge to tailor options to specific customer needs, and offer alternatives when product is unavailable. 2.2. Clearly explain and promote product and service features and benefits where relevant. 2.3. Advise on promotional events where relevant. 2.4. Provide additional information to address customer questions and objections. 2.5. Offer comparisons to competitor product or service range as required. 2.6. Collaborate with the customer to determine product or service option most suited to their needs. 2.7. Take opportunities to upsell and cross sell products and services that enhance customer request and maximise profitability of sale.
3. Facilitate the sale of products and services.	3.1. Select and use appropriate techniques to close sale. 3.2. Direct the customer to designated point-of-sale and process sale, as required, according to organisational procedures. 3.3. Farewell customer on leaving, and invite to return. 3.4. Provide any required after sales service according to organisational procedures.

Foundation Skills

Foundation skills essential to performance in this unit, but not explicit in the performance criteria are listed here, along with a brief context statement.

Reading skills to:	• interpret:
	  • detailed in-house and supplier product information documents
	  • plain English documents that outline organisational customer service policy and procedures.

Numeracy skills to:	• interpret basic fee information from in-house documents and complete basic pricing calculations.
Problem-solving skills to:	• respond to customer objections and provide appropriate solutions to satisfy customer needs.
Technology skills to:	• use technologies equipped with search functionality and information systems to source product and service information.

Assessment Requirements for SIRXSLS001 Sell to the retail customer

Modification History

Not applicable.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit in the context of the job role, and:

- interact with four different retail customers to initiate and close the sale of different retail products or services
- demonstrate the following during the above customer interactions:
  - appropriate communication
  - establishment and clarification of customer needs, wants and expectations
  - product and/or service knowledge
  - appropriate sales approach to sell benefits and features of products and/or services
  - overcome objections and close sales
  - upsell and/or cross sell additional products and/or services that complement the sale
  - promotion of customer loyalty and repeat sales.

Knowledge Evidence

Demonstrated knowledge required to complete the tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit:

- appropriate body language for customer service
- basic principles of positive customer service and sales
- open and closed questioning techniques related to the sale of product and services
- verbal and non-verbal cues indicating customer understanding of information
- techniques for effective communication with customers of diverse backgrounds:
  - cultural diversity
  - special needs
- sales techniques:
  - opening techniques
  - recognising buying signals
  - strategies to focus customer on specific products and services
  - selling add-ons and complementary products
  - overcoming customer objections
  - closing techniques

- primary components of consumer protection laws that relate to selling products and services, especially organisational responsibility for supplying products and services as described or substituting suitable products and services when unable
- primary components of privacy law, and actions that retail business must take to protect privacy of customer information
- for the specific retail sector:
  - professional service standards and protocols for retail industry personnel
  - attitudes and attributes expected by the retail industry to work with customers
  - different customer service needs and expectations
- for the particular retail organisation:
  - product and service knowledge:
    - product and service range offering
    - product specifications, features and benefits
  - designated response times for providing customer service
  - customer service procedures including recording of and storing customer details.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in a retail environment. This can be:

- an industry workplace
- a simulated industry environment.

Assessment must ensure access to:

- relevant documentation:
  - organisational policies and procedures for:
    - customer service
    - sale of products and services
    - resolving customer complaints
    - collection and storage of customer details
  - organisational product information and price lists
  - supplier brochures, information sheets and price lists
  - promotional activity information
  - current plain English regulatory documents distributed by government regulators for:
    - consumer protection law
    - privacy law
- customers with whom the individual can interact to sell products and services; these can be:
  - individuals in an industry workplace, or
  - individuals who participate in role plays or simulated activities, set up for the purpose of assessment, in a simulated industry environment operated within a training organisation

Assessment Requirements for SISXFAC003 Implement facility maintenance programs

Modification History

Not applicable.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit in the context of the job role, and:

- implement facility maintenance programs that meet scheduled timeframes for at least one facility that incorporates:
  - organisational schedules for short and long-term maintenance programs for four of the following facilities and equipment:
    - capital items
    - fittings and fixtures
    - equipment
    - premises
    - plant
    - motor vehicles
    - environment
  - maintenance requests and feedback from facility users
  - budget restrictions
- maintain records according to organisational requirements and manage discrepancies.

Knowledge Evidence

Demonstrated knowledge required to complete the tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit:

- legislation to enable:
  - safe implementation of maintenance operations
  - reporting of unsafe equipment
- organisational policies and procedures to enable maintenance programs to be carried out efficiently, safely and responsibly:
  - isolation procedures for failed or unsafe equipment
  - purchasing and receipting procedures
  - reporting of unsafe equipment
- own responsibilities within maintenance program to enable tasks to be carried out responsibly
- suppliers for specific products, supplies and services

- purchase specifications to enable the purchase of quality stock
- strategies to minimise disruptions to facility users when carrying out maintenance requirements
- techniques to enable routine maintenance tasks to be completed safely and efficiently
- basic gardening techniques and operations to carry out maintenance schedules as required
- basic principles of supply and demand to ensure optimum stock levels are maintained.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in:

- a sport, fitness or recreation facility. This can be a workplace or simulated facility.

Assessment must ensure use of:

- a facility for which a maintenance program would be implemented
- organisational policies and procedures on which procedures are based
- reporting documentation
- resources to maintain facility and equipment.

Assessment must ensure access to:

- maintenance equipment
- supplies and stock:
  - first aid
  - pool chemicals (where applicable)
  - office supplies
  - hygiene and sanitary supplies (where applicable)
  - cleaning supplies
  - activity-specific equipment
- organisational policies and procedures in relation to facility maintenance:
  - work health and safety/occupational health and safety
  - documents relating to purchase, receipt, storage and issue
  - record keeping
  - maintenance timeframes and schedules

SITTGDE001 Interpret aspects of local Australian Indigenous culture

Modification History

Not applicable.

Application

This unit describes the performance outcomes, skills and knowledge required to share information about a specific local Australian Indigenous culture. It is this localised focus that distinguishes this unit from SITTGDE007 Research and share information on Australian Indigenous cultures.

The unit recognises that there is no single Australian Indigenous culture and emphasises the importance of local cultural knowledge, appropriate behaviour and local community consultation.

This unit applies to those people who are able to share local Australian Indigenous cultural knowledge with others. They may work at many different levels, as cultural knowledge has no direct relationship with organisational levels of responsibility.

The local Australian Indigenous cultural knowledge necessary to achieve competency in this unit may only be accessible to those individuals who identify as elders or who are authorised by local elders on behalf of their communities.

There are many different Indigenous language groups in Australia, therefore the focus of cultural interpretation will vary and should ultimately be decided in consultation with elders on behalf of the local community.

Tour guides, residing anywhere in Australia, are required to undertake training and assessment prescribed by Parks Australia to guide within Kakadu and Uluru–Kata Tjuta National Parks in the Northern Territory.

When working in Queensland, all guides, regardless of their place of residence, are subject to the Queensland Tourism Services Act 2003.

No other occupational licensing, certification or specific legislative requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Consult with local Australian Indigenous community.	1.1. Liaise with community members regarding tourism activities, and ways in which cultural information can be used to make these activities authentic to the local area. 1.2. Prepare for and conduct activities according to the needs and wishes of the local Australian Indigenous community. 1.3. Identify potential conflicts with the local Australian Indigenous community and seek solutions.
2. Share information about local Australian Indigenous culture.	2.1. Share an appropriate level of information about aspects of Australian Indigenous culture with customers. 2.2. Advise customers about culturally appropriate behaviour. 2.3. Show respect for Australian Indigenous cultures and values through appropriate behaviour during activities. 2.4. Show customers traditional and contemporary practices when appropriate. 2.5. Use local language and share with customers when appropriate. 2.6. Invite customers to actively participate and share in the Australian Indigenous cultural experience when appropriate.

SITTGDE005 Prepare and present tour commentaries or activities

Modification History

Not applicable.

Application

This unit describes the performance outcomes, skills and knowledge required to construct commentaries or activities and to use effective interpretation and presentation techniques to ensure customer participation and enjoyment in tours or activities. Guides may be presenting generalist or specialist information.

It is relevant in industries where group tours or activities take place in museums, galleries, libraries, places of historical or cultural significance, performing arts centres or zoos; to sport and recreation industries where groups participate in outdoor and adventure activities, such as guided bushwalking; and to any industry that operates tours for business or promotional purposes.

This unit applies in any context where individuals develop and present commentaries or activities that involve creative approaches to the preparation and delivery of information. Guides of all types working independently with limited supervision undertake this role.

Tour guides, residing anywhere in Australia, are required to undertake training and assessment prescribed by Parks Australia to guide within Kakadu and Uluru–Kata Tjuta National Parks in the Northern Territory.

When working in Queensland, all guides, regardless of their place of residence, are subject to the Queensland Tourism Services Act 2003.

SITTGDE006 Develop and maintain the general and regional knowledge required by guides

Modification History

Not applicable.

Application

This unit describes the performance outcomes, skills and knowledge required to research information on Australia and local regions for presentation to customers. It requires broad general knowledge of Australia plus some regional and location-specific knowledge. It highlights the need for ongoing research to update and expand knowledge.

This unit applies to all guides regardless of the context in which they work. Wherever guides are located or travel, they must maintain and expand their general knowledge base as a key professional development activity. In this context, they work independently or under limited guidance from others.

No occupational licensing, certification or specific legislative requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in the elements and performance criteria of this unit, including:

- carrying out a minimum of three training sessions, involving demonstrating and instructing particular work skills for at least two different individuals or small groups, with each session addressing:
  - different learning objectives
  - a range of delivery techniques and effective communication skills appropriate to the audience.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge to effectively complete the task outlined in the elements and performance criteria of this unit. This includes knowledge of:

- learner characteristics and needs
- the content and requirements of the relevant learning program, and/or the delivery plan
- the sources and availability of relevant learning resources and learning materials
- the content of relevant learning resources and learning materials
- training techniques that enhance learning, and when to use them
- introductory knowledge of learning principles and learning styles
- key workplace health and safety (WHS) issues in the learning environment, including:
  - roles and responsibilities of key personnel
  - responsibilities of learners
  - relevant policies and procedures, including hazard identification, risk assessment, reporting requirements, safe use of equipment and emergency procedures
  - risk controls for the specific learning environment.

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Establish effective work environment for learning	1.1 Establish, and agree upon, the objectives and scope of the work-based learning 1.2 Analyse work practices and routines to determine their effectiveness in meeting established learning objectives

	1.3 Identify, and address any workplace health and safety (WHS) implications of using work as the basis for learning
2. Develop a work-based learning pathway	2.1 Address contractual requirements and responsibilities for learning at work 2.2 Arrange for the integration and monitoring of external learning activities with the work-based learning pathway 2.3 Obtain agreement from relevant personnel to implement the work-based learning pathway
3. Establish the learning-facilitation relationship	3.1 Identify the context for learning and the individual's learning style 3.2 Select an appropriate technique or process to facilitate learning, and explain the basis of the technique to the learner 3.3 Develop, document and discuss an individualised learning plan with the learner 3.4 Access, read and interpret documentation outlining the WHS responsibilities of the various parties in the learning environment 3.5 Monitor supervisory arrangements appropriate to learner's levels of knowledge, skill and experience to provide support and encouragement and ensure learner's health and safety
4. Implement the work-based learning pathway	4.1 Explain the objectives of work-based learning, and the processes involved, to the learner 4.2 Sequence the introduction of workplace tasks, activities and processes to reflect the agreed work-based learning pathway 4.3 Encourage learner to take responsibility for learning and to self-reflect 4.4 Develop techniques that facilitate the learner's transfer of skills and knowledge
5. Maintain and develop the learning-facilitation relationship	5.1 Prepare for each session 5.2 Structure learning activities to support and reinforce new learning, build on strengths, and identify areas for further development 5.3 Observe learner cues, and change approaches where necessary, in order to maintain momentum 5.4 Practise ethical behaviour at all times 5.5 Monitor the effectiveness of the learning/facilitation relationship through regular meetings between the parties

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
6. Close and evaluate the learning-facilitation relationship	6.1 Carry out the closure smoothly, using appropriate interpersonal and communication skills 6.2 Seek feedback from the learner on the outcomes achieved, and the value of the relationship 6.3 Evaluate effectiveness of the work-based pathway against the objectives, processes and techniques used 6.4 Recommend improvements to work-based practice in light of the review process

- instructional design principles relating to different design options for learning program design and structure
- availability and types of different relevant learning resources, learning materials, and pre-developed learning activities
- methodologies relating to developing and documenting new learning activities, and related learning materials
- different delivery modes and methods
- relevant policies, legal requirements, codes of practice and national standards, including commonwealth and state or territory legislation, that may affect training and assessment in the VET sector
- describe relevant workplace health and safety (WHS) knowledge relating to the work role, and WHS considerations that need to be included in the learning program.

Assessment Conditions

Gather evidence to demonstrate consistent performance in conditions that are safe and replicate the workplace. Conditions must be typical of those experienced in the training and assessment environment, and include access to competency standards or accredited courses relevant to the learning programs.

Assessors must satisfy the requirements for assessors in applicable vocational education and training legislation, frameworks and/or standards.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to design, develop and review learning strategies.

It applies to those who work under limited supervision and use a range of specialised technical or managerial skills to develop learning strategies relevant to both Training Package qualifications and course-based qualifications.

The learning strategy provides an overview or outline only. Detailed guidance is provided in the content of specific learning programs.

parameters of the learning strategy	groups and their learning needs 1.2 Research qualification or other benchmark options for meeting the likely target group needs and select an appropriate option 1.3 Consult with relevant people to confirm the parameters of the learning strategy
2. Develop the framework for the learning strategy	2.1 Develop a learning strategy design that reflects the requirements of the selected qualification or other benchmark 2.2 Analyse industry or organisation documentation to determine additional and supporting requirements 2.3 Research and analyse options for design, based on likely target groups, their learning needs and contexts for delivery 2.4 Use appropriate learning theories and instructional design principles to support the learning strategy design 2.5 Identify and document learning outcomes 2.6 Consult to modify and confirm the framework 2.7 Develop the review process for the learning strategy
3. Devise the content and structure of the learning strategy	3.1 Construct content headings from learning outcomes to form an overview of content to be addressed 3.2 Sequence the content to support learning and determine overall timelines within operating constraints 3.3 Express learning strategy outcomes to reflect both generic and specific learning outcomes to be achieved 3.4 Identify and document appropriate delivery and assessment strategies, taking account of the learning parameters, design framework and learning context 3.5 Identify and document operational requirements
4. Review the learning strategy	4.1 Review the learning strategy in collaboration with relevant people against specified criteria prior to and post implementation 4.2 Document a post-implementation review process that includes measures for identifying the effectiveness and quality of the learning strategy 4.3 Make recommendations based on outcomes of the review processes, where appropriate, and document these 4.4 Make modifications and document as part of a continuous improvement strategy

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in the elements and performance criteria of this unit, including:

- preparation and presentation of a minimum of two examples of learning strategies designed by the candidate, with differentiated design structures in each that:
  - reflect the specific requirements of the qualification or skill set, and
  - reflect client needs and the contexts of application
- documentation of a review that provides outcomes and evidence of continuous improvement.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge to effectively complete the task outlined in the elements and performance criteria of this unit. This includes knowledge of:

- Training Packages, including the content of Training Packages relevant to the learning strategy
- accredited courses and the similarities and differences between them and the skill sets, or qualifications, within training packages
- NVR/AQTF requirements for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) in terms of their effect on the design, and development, of learning strategies
- The Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF) including:
  - key features of each qualification type
  - AQF pathways policy including credit transfer
- industry and enterprise requirements, including:

  - those relevant to the learning strategy
  - industry licensing arrangements, where relevant
- the main branches of learning theory incorporating behavioural learning theory, cognitive learning theory, experiential learning theory, information processing theory and current research on learning, as it relates to teaching in an adult environment
- assessment approaches, including:
  - the basis and rationale for different assessment methods appropriate to the learning strategy.

TAELED803 Implement improved learning practice

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with TAE Training and Education Training Package Version 2.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to initiate, and implement, practices that support the improvement of learning strategies in an organisational context. It includes:

- evaluating ways to improve learning practice, managing and monitoring the means by which to improve learning, analysing, and advancing adoption of improved learning practice
- methods for improving learning practice, including developing individual staff members from the perspective of the organisation's needs and imperatives, and enhancing outcomes for learners and candidates.

It applies to leaders or managers who use research, theoretical analysis and professional investigation, to identify ways in which to implement learning practices that build organisational capabilities within a small to medium-sized organisation, or to a significant unit of activity in a large organisation.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in the elements and performance criteria of this unit, including:

- implementing improved practice in at least one learning environment, including documentation to show:
  - an evaluation of ways in which to improve learning practice
  - how the process was managed and monitored
  - how learning was improved
  - how improved learning practice was advocated for
  - how colleagues were mentored in order to promote learning practice.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge to effectively complete the task outlined in the elements and performance criteria of this unit. This includes knowledge of:

- adult learning practice
- contemporary policy and approaches to vocational learning and assessment
- the content and requirements of the relevant delivery and assessment strategies
- the content of learning resources and learning materials
- the design and management of learning objects and content
- different learning styles, and how to encourage learners, including:
  - theoretical learners
  - pragmatic learners
  - activist learners
  - reflective learners
  - kinaesthetic learners
  - audio learners

TAELED804 Review enterprise e-learning systems and solutions implementation

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with TAE Training and Education Training Package Version 2.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to design, review and implement advanced enterprise electronic learning (e-learning) solutions, as a member of a senior management team. It includes evaluating trends in e-learning in relation to organisational plans, monitoring e-learning resources, and ensuring any proposed solutions are tested, and evaluated, against organisational requirements.

This unit applies to leaders or managers working to ensure learning can enhance individual, team and organisational capabilities.

Unit Sector

Learning and development

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Evaluate trends in e-learning	1.1 Identify and differentiate forms of e-learning 1.2 Analyse trends in the deployment of information and communications technology (ICT) in education and learning 1.3 Analyse and evaluate integration of ICT for learning and business purposes

	1.4 Explore how the convergence of different technologies can affect learning practice
2. Monitor e-learning resource alignment to organisational requirements	2.1 Research trends in teaching methods associated with different types of electronic learning resources 2.2 Determine the organisation's strategic and learning requirements 2.3 Analyse and report risks associated with e-learning implementation 2.4 Devise policy and procedures to ensure brief, focus and type of e-learning resources are designed appropriate to organisational requirements 2.5 Establish how international e-learning regimes, human resources and learning policies and procedures, will affect the design of e-learning resources
3. Test and evaluate e-learning solutions	3.1 Set the parameters for testing e-learning solutions, consistent with technical, user and organisational requirements 3.2 Review e-learning resources and e-learning systems or solutions, against criteria tied to learner and organisational requirements 3.3 Adjust learning resource design or delivery methods, where required to meet changing user and organisational requirements 3.4 Test and evaluate instructional design principles as appropriate for the given focus and context 3.5 Consult with learners, educators, designers and other personnel to evaluate constraints relating to organisation's e-learning systems and resources 3.6 Use research findings and reports on suggested improvements to e-learning resources, or systems design, to inform future practice

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in the elements and performance criteria of this unit, including:

- researching, conducting and providing advice through a training needs analysis
- preparing at least two training needs analyses for one, or more organisations, and for each of these demonstrating:
  - the processes that were used to determine the organisation's needs
  - details of the research methods undertaken to identify suitable training and/or assessment
  - planning for the training needs analysis
  - presentations that outline advice and recommendations.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge to effectively complete the task outlined in the elements and performance criteria of this unit. This includes knowledge of:

- competency standards, training packages and accredited courses
- NVR/AQTF requirements and standards
- risk identification and management strategies
- industry and enterprise knowledge
- evaluation and research methodologies
- the principles of intellectual property
- training and development strategies
- change management concepts/strategies

TLIE4006 Collect, analyse and present workplace data and information

Modification History

Release 1. This is the first release of this unit of competency in the TLI Transport and Logistics Training Package.

Application

This unit involves the skills and knowledge required to collect, analyse and present workplace data and information as part of workplace operations.

It includes identifying required information, analysing and preparing information for use, explaining information and presenting workplace information to others.

Work is performed under general or limited supervision, generally within a team environment.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Pre-requisite Unit

Assessment Requirements for TLIE4006 Collect, analyse and present workplace data and information

Modification History

Release 1. This is the first release of this unit of competency in the TLI Transport and Logistics Training Package.

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence in this unit must be relevant to and satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria on at least one occasion and include:

- applying relevant legislation and workplace procedures
- communicating and working effectively with others when collecting, analysing and presenting workplace data and information
- completing relevant documentation
- identifying and using required communications and presentation technology
- monitoring and prioritising work activities in terms of planned schedule
- planning own work including predicting consequences and identifying improvements
- reading, interpreting and following relevant instructions and procedures
- working systematically with required attention to detail.

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence in this unit must be relevant to and satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria and include knowledge of:

- presentation and communication techniques including barriers to effective communication and how to overcome them
- principles of effective presentation and communication of information
- protocols and procedures for the collection, analysis and presentation of workplace data and information using relevant technology
- relevant procedures and duty of care requirements
- sources of data and information and procedures for processing the information for workplace use
- typical presentation and communications problems, and appropriate action and solutions.
