BSB61218 Advanced Diploma of Program Management

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This qualification first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 3.0.

Qualification Description

This qualification reflects the role of individuals who apply specialised knowledge and skills, together with experience in program management across a range of enterprise and industry contexts.

A program is defined as a set of interrelated projects, each of which has a project manager. 'Multiple projects', or 'a program of projects', refers to a number of related projects managed by the same person as a program to achieve organisational objective/s.

It applies to individuals who are program managers, managing or directing a suite of projects (a program) to achieve organisational objectives.

Individuals at this level use initiative and judgement to direct, plan, and lead a range of program functions, with accountability for personal and team outcomes within broad parameters.

They use cognitive and communication skills to identify, analyse and synthesise information from a variety of sources and transfer their knowledge to others, and creative or conceptual skills to express ideas and perspectives or respond to complex problems.

Licensing/Regulatory Information

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this qualification at the time of publication.

BSBWHS308 Participate in WHS hazard identification, risk assessment and risk control processes

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to participate in the processes of work health and safety (WHS) hazard identification, risk assessment and risk control. It includes participating in worker consultation and support to contribute to a healthy and safe workplace.

The unit applies to those who assist with identifying workplace hazards and assessing and controlling WHS risks as part of their WHS responsibilities, which are in addition to their main duties.

NOTES

1. The terms ‘occupational health and safety’ (OHS) and ‘work health and safety’ (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

2. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

BSBWHS331 Participate in identifying and controlling hazardous chemicals

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to identify and control hazardous chemicals in the workplace. It requires knowledge of the potential hazards associated with chemicals and how to work safely with them. It involves supporting workplace safety by communicating information about hazardous chemicals using established consultation methods.

The unit applies to those who participate in identifying chemicals as part of their WHS responsibilities, which are in addition to their main duties. It applies to hazardous chemicals with the potential to harm human health, which may be solids, liquids or gases; pure substances or mixtures. When used in the workplace, these substances can generate vapours, fumes, dusts and mists.

NOTES

1. The terms ‘occupational health and safety’ (OHS) and ‘work health and safety’ (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

2. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

BSBWHS412 Assist with workplace compliance with WHS laws

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to assist with establishing and maintaining workplace compliance with work health and safety (WHS) laws. It includes identifying applicable WHS laws, duties, rights and obligations, and the necessary actions to ensure WHS compliance in the workplace.

It also includes assisting with providing advice about the legislative duties, rights and obligations of individuals and parties prescribed in WHS laws and those of WHS regulators.

The unit applies to those working in a broad range of WHS roles across all industries.

NOTES

1. The terms ‘occupational health and safety’ (OHS) and ‘work health and safety’ (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

2. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

BSBWHS416 Contribute to workplace incident response

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to assist with actions and activities performed in response to workplace incidents according to work health and safety (WHS) legislative and organisational requirements.

The unit applies to those who contribute to workplace incident responses by undertaking a varied range of activities in a structured and familiar work environment as defined in written procedures. It applies to people who work in a broad range of WHS roles across all industries.

NOTES

1. The terms ‘incident’ and ‘accident’ are equivalent. Specific state/territory legislation may use one or the other. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, RTOs are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to the existing state/territory OHS legislative requirements and industry-specific legislative variances.

2. The terms ‘occupational health and safety’ (OHS) and ‘work health and safety’ (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

3. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

BSBWHS417 Assist with managing WHS implications of return to work

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to assist with managing the WHS implications of activities that facilitate an injured worker's return to work. It involves identifying those with roles, duties, rights and responsibilities for return to-work, as well as assisting in preparing, implementing and evaluating the return to work.

The unit applies to those in an organisation who assist with the WHS implications of return-to-work activities. In many organisations, this role will be performed alongside others from within the organisation or external parties, including those working in human resources, workers' compensation, workplace rehabilitation, other professional and administrative capacities, and other roles relating to return to work.

NOTES

1. The unit does not in any way address the process of treating workers for their injury or illness, which is the task of health and medical professionals.

2. Workers' compensation legislation and associated duties will differ between jurisdictions. RTOs are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to the requirements of existing state/territory workers' compensation legislation.

3. The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

4. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

BSBWHS418 Assist with managing WHS compliance of contractors

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to assist with managing the work health and safety (WHS) implications of using contractors. It involves identifying contractor duties, establishing organisational WHS compliance requirements associated with those duties, establishing and communicating the requirements expected of contractors, monitoring contractor compliance with WHS requirements, and implementing required responses to identified non-compliance.

The unit applies to those who work in a broad range of WHS roles across all industries in organisations that use contractors to supply services, including labour hire and temporary workers, cleaning, catering, security, maintenance, repairs, installations and alterations, and major contracts and projects, as relevant to the organisation. This includes casual and volunteer workers. It does not cover visitors, or outworkers or suppliers of goods, materials or products to workplaces.

NOTES

1. The terms ‘occupational health and safety’ (OHS) and ‘work health and safety’ (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

2. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

Assessment Requirements for BSBWHS419 Contribute to implementing WHS monitoring processes

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the ability to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit, and to:

- contribute to monitoring at least three different physical agents or conditions relating to work health and safety (WHS) typically found in the workplace.

During each of these occasions, the candidate must:

- identify regulatory requirements and standards that apply to monitoring physical agents and/or conditions relevant to WHS
- identify context of measurements to be undertaken, including:
  - physical agents and/or conditions to be measured and their characteristics
  - where measurements will be taken
  - area or space available
  - movements of people and equipment, tasks or activities being undertaken, number of persons occupying area, and other factors that may impact on the sampling or data-collection processes and the health and safety of self and others
  - physical features of equipment, such as emitting sources
- prepare and collect WHS data and information
- consult and communicate with individuals and parties regarding monitoring process
- seek expert advice, support and equipment as required.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the knowledge to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit. This includes knowledge of:

- internal and external sources of WHS information and data
- typical physical agents and/or conditions relevant to WHS, including:

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

  - biological agents, such as insects, mites and bacteria
  - electricity
  - fibres, dusts and particulates
  - fumes, mists, gases and vapours
  - heat and humidity
  - light
  - noise
  - radiation, including ionising, non-ionising and laser
  - vibration
- aspects of WHS laws and standards relevant to using testing equipment and measuring physical agents and/or conditions and how they apply to the organisation
- mode of action of common physical agents and/or conditions on the body and how they produce discomfort and harm
- characteristics, modes of action and units of measurement for major physical agents and/or conditions
- environmental conditions that impact on measurements
- types of measuring and monitoring equipment and techniques for correct and safe use, including limitations on use and output, adjustment, maintenance and any in-built alarms
- personal communication strategies to facilitate engagement with workplace parties and individuals
- organisational policies and procedures for:
  - identifying physical agent and/or condition to be measured
  - determining sampling process and defining a plan
  - checking operability of equipment to ensure it meets organisational and work activity requirements
  - maintaining own health and safety and that of others present during process described in the performance evidence
  - reinstating equipment to pre-use condition, including for dismantling and cleaning equipment and parts
  - storing and re-using equipment
  - retaining results and records.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must comply with WHS laws, legal responsibilities and duty of care required for this unit. It must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities undertaken by individuals carrying out WHS duties in the workplace, and must include access to:

- measuring devices and equipment
- workplace equipment and resources
- WHS laws, licensing requirements and standards required to demonstrate the performance evidence

BSBWHS431 Develop processes and procedures for controlling hazardous chemicals in the workplace

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to develop processes and procedures for controlling hazardous chemicals in the workplace, and then monitoring their effectiveness. The unit requires the application of knowledge associated with work health and safety (WHS) legislation, and organisational policies and procedures relating to controlling hazardous chemicals.

The unit applies to those who work under supervision and use some discretion and judgement to respond to monitoring hazardous chemicals in the workplace. It applies to hazardous chemicals with the potential to harm human health, which may be solids, liquids or gases – pure substances or mixtures. When used in the workplace these substances often generate vapours, fumes, dusts and/or mists.

NOTES

1. The terms ‘occupational health and safety’ (OHS) and ‘work health and safety’ (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

2. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

3. For the purposes of this unit of competency ‘safe systems of work’ refers to a formal procedure that results from systematic examination of a task in order to identify all the hazards. It defines safe methods to ensure that hazards are eliminated or, where this is not possible, risks are minimised.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

BSBWHS512 Contribute to managing work-related psychological health and safety

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to contribute to managing work-related psychological health and safety. It requires the ability to identify psychosocial hazards, assess their risk, and implement control methods for psychosocial hazards that apply in the workplace.

The unit applies to those with work health and safety (WHS) supervisory responsibilities who work in a range of WHS roles across all industries, and apply a substantial knowledge base and well-developed skills in a wide variety of WHS contexts.

NOTES

1. The terms ‘occupational health and safety’ (OHS) and ‘work health and safety’ (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

2. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia (SWA) for further information.

3. Safe Work Australia national guidance material refers to ‘psychosocial hazards or factors’ as ‘anything in the design or management of work that increases the risk of work-related stress’ and states that ‘work-related stress if prolonged and/or severe can cause both psychological and physical injury’. (SWA, Work-related psychological health and safety: A systematic approach to meeting your duties)

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the ability to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit, and to:

- contribute to managing at least two different work-related psychological health and safety issues.

During the above, the candidate must:

- identify legislative requirements and workplace responsibilities
- collect, document and analyse relevant information and data to assist with identifying work-related psychosocial hazards according to organisational policies and procedures, including those relating to privacy and confidentiality
- identify potential work-related psychosocial hazards, with input from others, and document them in a risk register
- record at least two psychosocial risk assessments
- determine options for addressing identified work-related psychosocial hazards or minimising the risk
- evaluate effectiveness of existing risk controls and document areas for their improvement, identifying when a review of risk controls is needed.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the knowledge to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit. This includes knowledge of:

- legislative requirements relating to work-related psychological health and safety:
  - duty of care
  - due diligence
  - privacy and confidentiality

BSBWHS513 Lead WHS risk management

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to lead the management of work health and safety (WHS) risks in an organisation. The unit includes facilitating the identification of hazards and potential hazards, leading the assessment of associated risks, selecting and implementing suitable risk controls, and evaluating the overall effectiveness of the organisational WHS risk management process. It involves communicating with stakeholders throughout the process.

The unit applies to those in an organisation who provide specialised knowledge and guidance to a range of personnel when leading the management of WHS risks.

NOTES

1. The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

2. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

BSBWHS514 Manage WHS compliance of contractors

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to lead and coordinate organisational arrangements for managing the work health and safety (WHS) compliance of contractors. It involves determining the WHS legislative and organisational requirements applicable to contractors, and managing compliance of contractors.

The unit applies to those in managerial positions overseeing functions within organisations across all industries that are supplied with services by contractors, including labour hire and temporary workers, cleaning, catering, security, maintenance, repairs, installations and alterations, and major contracts and projects, as relevant to the organisation. This includes casual and volunteer workers. It does not cover visitors, or outworkers or suppliers of goods, materials or products to workplaces.

NOTES

1. The terms ‘occupational health and safety’ (OHS) and ‘work health and safety’ (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

2. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Establish and communicate WHS requirements in relation to contractors	1.1 Analyse scope of contractor services and applicable WHS legislative and organisational requirements 1.2 Determine organisation-specific WHS requirements and guidance that relate to contractor services 1.3 Establish WHS key performance indicators (KPIs) relating to contracted services according to organisational policies and procedures 1.4 Document established WHS requirements according to organisational policies and procedures 1.5 Communicate WHS requirements to contractor according to organisational policies and procedures
2. Monitor contractor compliance with established WHS requirements	2.1 Review services being provided by contractor for compliance with WHS requirements and established KPIs 2.2 Identify and investigate contractor non-compliance with WHS requirements and WHS KPIs 2.3 Discuss and agree with contractor required response in relation to identified non-compliance according to organisational policies and procedures 2.4 Document agreed response to non-compliance according to organisational policies and procedures
3. Review WHS requirements in relation to contractors	3.1 Make necessary adjustments to organisation-specific WHS requirements and guidance that relate to contractor services 3.2 Seek feedback on revised WHS requirements and guidance 3.3 Distribute updated contractor WHS requirements to required personnel according to organisational policies and procedures

Foundation Skills

This section describes those language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills that are essential to performance but not explicit in the performance criteria.

BSBWHS515 Lead initial response to and investigate WHS incidents

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to lead the initial response to work health and safety (WHS) incidents. The unit also includes planning, conducting and reporting on investigations of WHS incidents that have resulted in, or have the potential to result in, injury or damage. This may include accessing specialist expertise.

The unit applies to those who work in a range of WHS roles across all industries, and apply a substantial knowledge base and well-developed skills in a wide variety of WHS contexts. It does not apply to those undertaking an investigation in order to provide legal advice or prepare for legal proceedings.

NOTES

BSBWHS516 Contribute to developing, implementing and maintaining an organisation's WHS management system

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to contribute to the development, implementation and maintenance of elements of a work health and safety management system (WHSMS). WHSMSs support organisations in systematically managing work health and safety (WHS) in the workplace. WHSMSs consist of a documented set of plans, actions and procedures that target improvements.

The unit applies to those with organisational responsibilities for contributing to tasks in relation to elements of a WHSMS appropriate to the nature and scale of the organisation and its WHS risks. These people will have supervisory responsibilities, work in a range of WHS roles across all industries, and apply a substantial knowledge base and well-developed skills in a wide variety of WHS contexts.

NOTES

1. The terms ‘occupational health and safety’ (OHS) and ‘work health and safety’ (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

2. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

BSBWHS517 Contribute to managing a WHS information system

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to contribute to managing a work health and safety information system (WHSIS) that supports the effective management of WHS. It involves accessing, collecting and analysing WHS information and data; evaluating the effectiveness of the WHSIS and contributing to improving the management of WHS; and communicating the change.

The unit applies to those who contribute to managing a WHSIS. These people work in a range of WHS roles across all industries, and apply a substantial knowledge base and well-developed skills in a wide variety of WHS contexts. Individuals will apply skills and knowledge to enable them to manage information and data management processes, including analysis of the data. They are not required to design the actual information system or process.

  - storing, retrieving and retaining WHS information and data
  - external reporting requirements
- security, privacy and confidentiality requirements relating to accessing, collecting and storing WHS information and data
- requirements for reporting under WHS and other relevant legislation, including obligations for notification and reporting of incidents
- methods for providing evidence of compliance with WHS laws
- tools and techniques for:
  - collecting accurate, current and relevant WHS information and data
  - reviewing effectiveness of WHSIS
- systems for accessing, storing and retrieving WHS information and data
- communication strategies for facilitating engagement of system users
- user training arrangements.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must comply with WHS laws, legal responsibilities and duty of care required for this unit. It must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities undertaken by individuals carrying out WHS duties in the workplace, and must include access to:

- reports and sample software for WHS information and data collation and analysis
- workplace equipment and resources
- WHS laws, and organisational policies and procedures required to demonstrate the performance evidence
- case studies and, where possible, real situations
- opportunities for interaction with others.

Assessors of this unit must satisfy the assessor requirements in applicable vocational education and training legislation, frameworks and/or standards.

BSBWHS518 Manage WHS hazards associated with maintenance and use of plant

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to effectively manage work health and safety (WHS) hazards and to comply with WHS laws, as they apply to the management or control of items of plant being maintained and used in a workplace. It requires strong communication skills and systematic approaches to identify and resolve WHS issues associated with plant.

The unit applies to those who provide guidance to others in the workplace in managing WHS hazards associated with plant. The unit does not apply to the design, manufacture, supply, installation, construction or commissioning of plant or issuing of licences associated with plant.

NOTES

1. The terms ‘occupational health and safety’ (OHS) and ‘work health and safety’ (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

2. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

No licensing, legislative, regulatory or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Identify WHS hazards associated with plant	1.1 Access sources of WHS information, data and advice relating to items of workplace plant 1.2 Inspect items of plant and identify how they are to be used, according to organisational policies and procedures 1.3 Determine WHS hazards arising from plant use, condition, suitability, location and potential abnormal situations 1.4 Consult with others to confirm hazard identification 1.5 Record and report identified hazards according to organisational policies and procedures
2. Assess WHS risks associated with plant	2.1 Access sources of information, data and advice to assist with assessing WHS risks associated with identified plant hazards 2.2 Consult with others to inform WHS risk assessment according to organisational policies and procedures 2.3 Record and report on WHS risk assessment according to WHS laws and organisational policies and procedures
3. Control WHS risks associated with maintenance and use of plant	3.1 Access sources of information, data and advice to inform development of risk controls for safe maintenance and use of plant 3.2 Develop risk controls to be implemented according to the hierarchy of control measures, WHS legislative requirements and organisational policies and procedures 3.3 Consult with, and report to, required internal and specialist personnel in relation to risk controls to be implemented 3.4 Communicate rights, obligations and duties of workplace personnel in relation to identified hazards and risk controls associated with plant 3.5 Monitor effectiveness of implemented risk controls 3.6 Record and report on implemented risk controls according to WHS legislative requirements and organisational policies and procedures
4. Advise on registration,	4.1 Identify types of plant requiring registration and tasks

5. Manage training requirements for plant maintenance and operation	5.1 Identify WHS-related training needs associated with plant items, and applicable registration, licensing and certification requirements 5.2 Identify skill gaps of those maintaining and using plant, and determine and communicate their associated training needs 5.3 Ensure training is undertaken and completed prior to commencing work with new plant and/or new system of work 5.4 Maintain training records according to WHS requirements and organisational policies and procedures

Foundation Skills

This section describes language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills incorporated in the performance criteria that are required for competent performance.

Skill	Description
Reading	• Analyses a wide range of WHS-related technical and non-technical information and data to determine actions, and adheres to requirements associated with plant maintenance and use
Writing	• Uses appropriate formats, vocabulary and grammatical structures to record, report and present information associated with plant
Oral	• Explains information clearly and

Skill	Description
Communication	involves others in collaborative discussions using listening and questioning techniques
Numeracy	• Collates, interprets and compares mathematical and statistical information
Navigate the world of work	• Follows WHS policies, procedures and legislative requirements, and identifies organisational implications of new WHS laws • Modifies or develops systems of work to comply with legislative and organisational requirements
Interact with others	• Establishes and uses appropriate conventions and protocols when communicating with others regarding management of WHS hazards associated with plant
Get the work done	• Develops and applies organisational processes to aid compliance with WHS legislative requirements • Sequences and schedules own activities, monitors implementation, records progress and manages relevant communication • Systematically gathers and analyses information and evaluates options in order to make informed decisions • Evaluates effectiveness of systems and processes to inform decisions on how to implement risk control improvements • Fully utilises features of digital tools to complete tasks

Assessment Requirements for BSBWHS518 Manage WHS hazards associated with maintenance and use of plant

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the ability to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit, and to:

- develop and implement work health and safety (WHS) related risk controls for at least two different items of plant according to the hierarchy of control measures, WHS legislative requirements and organisational policies and procedures
- identify and manage licensing and training requirements associated with at least two different items of plant.

During the above, the candidate must:

- manage effective identification of hazards
- communicate, according to established protocols, to:
  - advise relevant personnel of their rights, obligations, and duties in relation to hazards and risk controls associated with plant
  - seek specialist advice as required.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the knowledge to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit. This includes knowledge of:

- key features of WHS Acts, regulations, codes of practice and other instruments issued by WHS regulators relating to managing WHS hazards associated with plant, including role and duty of persons conducting a business or undertaking (PCBUs)
- organisational WHS policies, procedures, processes and systems relating to hazard management process, including:
  - identifying and accessing internal and external sources of WHS information and data
  - inspecting plant and its use
  - consulting with internal and external personnel

    - recording and reporting identified WHS hazards
    - recording and reporting risk assessment outcomes and risk controls
    - developing risk controls and monitoring the effectiveness of their implementation
    - documenting registration, licensing and certification requirements
    - monitoring and reporting compliance with regulatory requirements for registration, licensing and certification
- basic principles of incident causation and injury processes relating to plant
- differences between a hazard and a risk
- factors that impact on risk
- hierarchy of control measures and its use in choosing between different risk controls
- strategies for identifying risk controls and monitoring their effectiveness, including:
    - workplace inspections
    - robotic and technological processes, and their potential risks and limitations
    - review of adequacy of plant operating procedures
- high-risk work licences required for specific plant
- methods for providing evidence of compliance with WHS laws
- plant-specific knowledge:
    - basic physics of fluids under pressure and pressure vessels, and behaviour of pressurised fluid when pressure is released
    - hazards associated with plant
    - systems of work associated with plant
    - industry practices related to permit to work, and isolation and tag-out systems
    - registration requirements of plant, licensing and certification competencies
- risk controls relating to operation of plant, including:
    - strategies for guarding moving parts in machinery
    - access and egress
    - dangerous parts
    - emergency stops and warning devices
- WHS-related training requirements for plant operators relating to:
    - items of new plant
    - new or changed systems of work associated with plant.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must comply with WHS laws, legal responsibilities and duty of care required for this unit. It must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities undertaken by individuals carrying out WHS duties in the workplace, and must include access to:

- WHS laws, and organisational policies and procedures required to demonstrate the performance evidence
- sources of information, data and advice in relation to plant hazards

BSBWHS519 Lead the development and use of WHS risk management tools

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to lead the development and use of work health and safety (WHS) risk management tools.

The unit applies to those responsible for managing hazards in the workplace whose role requires them to provide leadership in WHS risk management.

NOTES

1. The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

2. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

3. WHS risk management tools are used in the four steps identified by the Safe Work Australia model code of practice, How to manage work health and safety risks – identify hazards, assess risks, control risks and review control measures.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

BSBWHS520 Manage implementation of emergency procedures

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to implement initial response procedures for emergencies. Its focus is on the implementation of procedures already developed for short-term emergency responses. It assumes that expert advice will be available in identifying potential emergencies and in formulating response plans.

The unit applies to those with supervisory responsibilities for managing work health and safety (WHS) in the workplace who contribute to the implementation of procedures for responding to emergencies. These people work in a range of WHS roles across all industries, and apply a substantial knowledge base and well-developed skills in a wide variety of WHS contexts.

NOTES

1. The terms ‘occupational health and safety’ (OHS) and ‘work health and safety’ (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

2. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

1. Identify potential emergencies	1.1 Apply knowledge of WHS hazards and relevant standards to identify possible causes of potential emergencies 1.2 Seek input from stakeholders in identifying potential emergencies 1.3 Identify and liaise with appropriate specialist advisers and emergency services and/or specialist response teams to identify possible causes of potential emergencies 1.4 Develop a risk register to identify potential emergencies and their possible causes
2. Identify options for initial response	2.1 Categorise major types of potential emergencies 2.2 Identify actions required to contain or limit potential emergencies 2.3 Identify actions required to limit impact of potential emergencies on personnel, property and the environment 2.4 Identify requirements for liaison with emergency services and/or specialist response teams 2.5 Prioritise initial response actions to be taken during emergencies
3. Plan initial response procedures	3.1 Identify resources available and required for initial response 3.2 Ensure that emergency equipment is checked for serviceability, accessibility, cleanliness and correct location 3.3 Document actions required for a range of major types of emergency, taking account of standards, current industry practice, specialist advice and input by emergency services and/or specialist response teams 3.4 Identify training needs and appropriate providers
4. Implement initial response procedures	4.1 Document and display actions for initial response 4.2 Outline own role in initial response 4.3 Follow required procedures according to WHS laws, and organisational policies and procedures
5. Review initial response procedures	5.1 Monitor initial response for effectiveness, efficiency and timeliness in consultation with stakeholders and, specialist advisers and agencies as required 5.2 Document results of response monitoring and promptly report to appropriate persons

	5.3 Identify areas for organisational and personal improvement and make recommendations based on analysis of response
6. Manage post-emergency activities	6.1 Identify and support other personnel involved in second response phase 6.2 Facilitate debriefing processes

Foundation Skills

This section describes those language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills that are essential to performance but not explicit in the performance criteria.

Skill	Description
Reading	• Interprets and critically analyses texts when planning emergency response procedures • Applies appropriate strategies to construct meaning from texts to assist in planning emergency response procedures
Writing	• Develops risk registers, reports and associated documentation according to organisational requirements, using appropriate vocabulary, grammatical structure and conventions
Oral communication	• Asks questions and actively listens to gather information about potential emergency situations • Provides information during or after emergency response situations using structure and language appropriate to audience and context
Navigate the world of work	• Contributes to broader goals in emergency response contexts • Identifies legal rights and responsibilities of self and others in relation to emergency response contexts • Keeps up to date on changes to WHS laws relevant to own role and responsibilities, and considers their implications in emergency response contexts
Interact with others	• Collaborates with others to achieve joint outcomes, playing an active role in facilitating effective group interaction • Takes a leadership role in supporting, consulting and liaising in emergency response contexts
Get the work done	• Formulates plans and monitors actions against stated goals, adjusting plans and resources to cope with contingencies • Uses decision-making processes: sets and clarifies goals, gathers information, and identifies and evaluates several choices to determine appropriate actions and responses • Applies problem-solving processes when identifying actions required

BSBWHS521 Ensure a safe workplace for a work area

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to establish, maintain and evaluate an organisation's work health and safety (WHS) policies, procedures and programs in a work area to ensure a safe workplace, according to WHS legislative requirements. It takes a systems approach and addresses compliance with relevant legislative requirements.

The unit applies to those working in a range of contexts who have, or are likely to have, responsibility for WHS as part of their broader management role. It is relevant for people with obligations under WHS laws, for example persons conducting a business or undertaking (PCBUs) or officers, as defined by WHS laws.

NOTES

1. The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

2. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Establish a WHS management system in a work area	1.1 Locate, adapt, adopt and communicate WHS policies that define the organisation's commitment to complying with WHS laws 1.2 Identify duty holders and define WHS responsibilities for all workplace personnel in the work area according to WHS laws, policies, procedures and programs 1.3 Identify and approve financial and human resources required by the WHS management system (WHSMS) according to organisational procedures
2. Establish and maintain effective and compliant consultative arrangements for managing WHS in a work area	2.1 Work with required personnel to set up and maintain consultative arrangements according to required WHS laws 2.2 Resolve issues raised through participation and consultation arrangements according to required WHS laws and organisational protocols 2.3 Provide information about consultation and participation outcomes to required personnel according to organisational policies and procedures
3. Establish and maintain procedures for effectively identifying hazards, and assessing and controlling risks in work area	3.1 Develop procedures for ongoing hazard identification, and assessment and control of associated risks 3.2 Include hazard identification at the planning, design and evaluation stages of any workplace change to ensure that new hazards are not created by proposed changes and existing hazards are controlled 3.3 Develop and maintain procedures for selecting and implementing risk controls according to the hierarchy of control measures and WHS legislative requirements 3.4 Identify inadequacies in existing risk controls according to the hierarchy of control measures and WHS legislative requirements, and promptly provide resources to enable implementation of new measures 3.5 Identify requirements for expert WHS advice, and request this advice as required, according to organisational procedures
4. Evaluate and maintain a work area WHS management system	4.1 Develop and provide a WHS induction and training program for required personnel in a work area as part of

(WHSMS)	organisation's training program 4.2 Use a system for WHS recordkeeping to allow identification of patterns of occupational injury and disease in the organisation, and to maintain a record of WHS decisions made, including reasons for decisions 4.3 Measure and evaluate the WHSMS according to organisation's quality systems framework 4.4 Develop and implement improvements to WHSMS to achieve organisational WHS objectives according to organisational procedures 4.5 Ensure compliance with WHS legislative framework to achieve, as a minimum, WHS legal requirements

Foundation Skills

This section describes those language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills that are essential to performance but not explicit in the performance criteria.

Skill	Description
Reading	• Organises, evaluates and critiques ideas and information from WHS laws, policies, procedures and programs
Writing	• Produces WHS policies, procedures and programs using appropriate vocabulary, grammatical structure and conventions • Records WHS decisions according to organisational requirements
Oral communication	• Presents and seeks information from others using structure and language suitable for the audience • Provides information about WHS policies and procedures and on resolution of WHS issues, varying the level of technical vocabulary to suit the audience
Numeracy	• Selects from, and applies, an expanding range of mathematical and problem-solving strategies in identifying financial and human resources required to support WHS requirements
Navigate the world of work	• Monitors adherence to legal and regulatory rights and responsibilities for self and others in relation to WHS • Develops, implements and reviews WHS-related policies, procedures and processes according to legislative and organisational requirements
Interact with others	• Plays a lead role in situations requiring effective collaboration, demonstrating the ability to guide discussions and negotiate

Assessment Requirements for BSBWHS521 Ensure a safe workplace for a work area

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the ability to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit, and to:

- establish, implement, maintain and evaluate one work health and safety management system (WHSMS) for a work area of an organisation that complies with WHS laws, and organisational policies and procedures.

During the above, the candidate must:

- establish, implement, maintain and evaluate effective and compliant consultative arrangements for managing WHS, including:
  - identifying duty holders
  - identifying and approving required resources
  - developing and implementing a training program
- establish, implement, maintain and evaluate procedures for effectively identifying hazards, and assessing and controlling risks using the hierarchy of control measures.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the knowledge to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit. This includes knowledge of:

- details of relevant WHS laws relating to ensuring a safe workplace
- WHS organisational policies, procedures, programs and practices required for the performance evidence
- hazard identification and risk-management processes
- key principles, uses and components of the hierarchy of control measures and procedures for applying it in the workplace
- organisational and WHS legislative reporting requirements.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must comply with WHS laws, legal responsibilities and duty of care required for this unit. It must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities undertaken by individuals carrying out WHS duties in the workplace, and must include access to:

- organisational WHS policies and procedures required to demonstrate the performance evidence
- WHS laws required to demonstrate the performance evidence
- case studies and, where possible, real situations
- opportunities for interaction with others.

Assessors of this unit must satisfy the assessor requirements in applicable vocational education and training legislation, frameworks and/or standards.

BSBWHS522 Manage WHS consultation and participation processes

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to manage the identification, review, development, implementation and evaluation of consultation and participation processes as an integral part of managing work health and safety (WHS).

The unit applies to those responsible for facilitating consultation about and participation in WHS management and decision-making across the organisation. These people work in a range of WHS roles across all industries, and apply a substantial knowledge base and well-developed skills in a wide variety of WHS contexts.

NOTES

1. The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

2. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

BSBWHS531 Implement and evaluate system of work for managing hazardous chemicals

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to implement a system of work for managing the use, handling, processing, storage, transportation and disposal of hazardous chemicals in the workplace; and to verify and validate the effectiveness of that system and the control methods in place against safety data sheet (SDS) requirements. The unit includes the application of the hierarchy of control measures, and applicable legislative requirements and licensing conditions imposed on the workplace in managing these hazardous chemicals.

The unit applies to those accountable for ensuring that a system of work is in place for managing hazardous chemicals in a specified work area. The system of work to be implemented protects all those potentially at risk in the workplace from exposure to hazardous chemicals, including internal and external personnel.

NOTES

1. The terms ‘occupational health and safety’ (OHS) and ‘work health and safety’ (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

2. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

BSBWHS611 Develop and implement strategies that support work-related psychological health and safety

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to develop, implement and evaluate strategies that support work-related psychological health and safety and the control of work-related psychosocial hazards.

The unit applies to those who are in a position to apply the principles of work-related psychological health and safety risk management to develop appropriate strategies in their organisation. These people work in a range of WHS roles across all industries, and apply a substantial knowledge base and well-developed skills in a wide variety of WHS contexts.

NOTES

BSBWHS612 Develop and implement a strategy to support a positive WHS culture

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to support the development of a strategy that embeds and promotes a just work health and safety (WHS) culture in a workplace. It includes facilitating workforce commitment to implementation and continuous improvement of the strategy, specifically from those in leadership positions. It also involves supporting organisational learning and development to strengthen the WHS culture in the workplace.

The unit applies to those responsible for directly supporting the development of workplace WHS culture.

NOTES

1. For the purposes of this unit of competency 'WHS culture' is defined as the shared values, attitudes, perceptions, competencies and patterns of behaviour that determine the commitment to, and the style and proficiency of, an organisation's health and safety management. Organisations with a just WHS culture are characterised by communications founded on mutual trust, by shared perceptions of the importance of safety, and by confidence in the efficacy of preventive measures.

2. The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

3. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

During the above, the candidate must:

- identify theories and information relevant to developing this strategy
- report effectiveness of WHS culture to required personnel
- communicate effectively with leadership team and other required personnel
- review implemented strategy and identify opportunities for its continuous improvement.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the knowledge to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit. This includes knowledge of:

- legislative requirements relating to WHS culture, including privacy and confidentiality considerations of WHS records and information
- internal and external sources of information relating to theories, programs and policies about WHS culture
- organisational policies and procedures for:
  - assessing information about the current WHS culture in the organisation
  - developing key performance indicators relating to WHS culture
  - evaluating implementation of strategy and documenting outcomes of evaluation
  - using feedback tools and obtaining feedback
  - establishing and supporting workforce learning and development needs

- key features of a positive WHS culture
- key features of good-practice strategies for creating a positive WHS culture
- communication and consultation processes relating to creating a positive WHS culture and strategy implementation
- workforce factors impacting on WHS culture, including:
  - workforce language, literacy and cultural profiles
  - organisational behaviour
  - leadership attitudes and behaviour
- roles and responsibilities of personnel involved in developing, implementing and promoting a strategy for WHS culture.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must comply with WHS laws, legal responsibilities and duty of care required for this unit. It must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities undertaken by individuals carrying out WHS duties in the workplace, and must include access to:

- WHS laws relating to WHS culture
- organisational documentation, information and data relating to strategy developed for the performance evidence
- real situations and, where possible, case studies
- opportunities for interaction with others.

Assessors of this unit must satisfy the assessor requirements in applicable vocational education and training legislation, frameworks and/or standards.

BSBWHS613 Evaluate the WHS performance of an organisation

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to evaluate the effectiveness of an organisation's work health and safety (WHS) performance, including its hazard identification and WHS risk management arrangements, its processes for monitoring performance, and the outcomes of its WHS management arrangements. It also incorporates assessing and advising on compliance with established benchmarks and required legislation.

The unit applies to those who apply advanced practical knowledge to coordinate, facilitate and maintain the WHS program in an organisation.

NOTES

1. The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

2. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

No licensing, legislative, or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

BSBWHS614 Conduct a WHS audit under the guidance of a lead auditor

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to conduct a work health and safety (WHS) audit in a work area to establish if an organisation is implementing planned arrangements for managing WHS risks. It involves systematic examination against audit criteria to determine compliance against identified benchmark criteria.

The unit applies to those required to conduct a WHS audit under the guidance of a lead auditor. The WHS audit may be conducted by an individual or by a team, and may be concurrent with other management system audits or conducted as a standalone exercise.

NOTES

1. The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

2. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Prepare for WHS audit under the guidance of the lead auditor	1.1 Define scope, objectives and benchmarks of audit under lead auditor's guidance 1.2 Identify and obtain relevant documentation about operation of organisation 1.3 Identify and arrange resources required to conduct audit under lead auditor's guidance 1.4 Assign timing, schedule and responsibilities for audit under lead auditor's guidance 1.5 Develop draft audit plan according to organisational policies and procedures under lead auditor's guidance 1.6 Submit draft audit plan to required personnel for consultation and feedback 1.7 Finalise documented plan in response to feedback and distribute to required personnel
2. Select audit tools suitable to nature and scope of WHS audit under the guidance of the lead auditor	2.1 Confirm own and lead auditor role in tool selection process with lead auditor 2.2 Identify range of available WHS audit tools and assess their suitability for intended purpose and work area 2.3 Establish that audit tools can be used with consistent outcomes by all members of audit team 2.4 Review audit tools to ensure they enable collection of evidence in a timely and efficient manner 2.5 Trial audit tools and modify as required
3. Undertake WHS audit activities in work area under the guidance of the lead auditor	3.1 Confirm own and lead auditor role in WHS audit activities with lead auditor 3.2 Undertake preliminary audit meetings and work area familiarisation 3.3 Use selected audit tools and consult with stakeholders to gather WHS information, data and records about work area, as required by the audit plan and according to organisational requirements, standards for safe work practices and applicable WHS laws 3.4 Promptly report uncontrolled hazards and related assessed risks identified during audit to key personnel, stakeholders and/or person in control of workplace

	3.5 Note discrepancies in risk controls and risk management arrangements, and reasons for discrepancies, according to organisational policies and procedures 3.6 Check reliability and validity of WHS information, data and records supporting audit activities with required sources 3.7 Undertake exit audit meetings with required personnel and stakeholders
4. Report on outcomes of WHS audit	4.1 Compare results of audit with audit benchmark criteria 4.2 Develop summary audit findings and recommendations, consulting with stakeholders as required 4.3 Present summary audit findings and recommendations to key personnel 4.4 Document final audit outcomes according to organisational policies and procedures

This section describes those language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills that are essential to performance but not explicit in the performance criteria.

Skill	Description
Reading	• Identifies, interprets and analyses legislative and organisational texts relevant to WHS audit requirements • Reviews and interprets information and data gathered during audit activities
Writing	• Communicates information about audit plan, matching style of writing to purpose and audience • Drafts and develops required documents using appropriate vocabulary, grammatical structure and organisational conventions
Oral communication	• Presents information and ideas using vocabulary appropriate to audience and context • Uses questioning and active

Assessment Requirements for BSBWHS614 Conduct a WHS audit under the guidance of a lead auditor

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the ability to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit, and to:

- prepare for and conduct one work health and safety (WHS) audit under the guidance of a lead auditor.

During the above, the candidate must:

- outline purpose, scope and objectives of audit in a preliminary meeting
- develop and implement a WHS audit plan suited to the work area, which reflects nature and scope of required audit
- select, develop, trial and modify WHS audit tools suited to audit and work area
- gather information, data and WHS records, consulting required range of workplace personnel
- report on WHS audit outcomes
- make recommendations in areas where improvements are identified
- work effectively under the guidance of a lead auditor.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the knowledge to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit. This includes knowledge of:

- WHS legislative responsibilities, duties and obligations of managers, supervisors, workers and persons conducting a business or undertaking (PCBUs) or officers
- WHS legislative requirements regarding:
  - communication, consultation and participation processes in a WHS audit
  - notification of incidents
  - audit recordkeeping
  - hazard identification and risk assessment methods

- procedures for identifying WHS audit tools and assessing their suitability
- nature and use of information and data that provide valid and reliable results about performance of WHS risk-management processes and positive performance indicators, and limitations of other types of measures
- key components of a WHS audit plan, including:
  - nature of information and data to be collected
  - key audit personnel
  - information and data collection strategies that ensure security, confidentiality, impartiality and equity
  - process that includes opportunities for corroborating performance evidence collected
- principles and practices of WHS audit, including:
  - reflecting understanding of nature of workplace, work processes, and hazards and controls relevant to workplace
  - methods for collecting reliable WHS information and data
  - methods for interviewing those subject to audit, including arrangements to validate audit findings
  - strategies for addressing commonly encountered problems in collection, and adapting to contingencies as they arise to meet WHS legislative and audit outcome requirements
  - methods for collecting evidence of compliance with WHS laws
  - consulting with required personnel, including lead auditor
- key components of audit findings, including:
  - recommendations
  - non-compliances, uncontrolled hazards and associated risks
  - objective evidence and rationale
- procedures for developing and using benchmark criteria during WHS audit, including positive performance indicators (PPIs)
- features of good-practice WHS audit tools
- internal and external sources of WHS information and data, and procedures for accessing them
- requirements for recordkeeping that address WHS, privacy, confidentiality and other legislative requirements
- roles and responsibilities of internal and external personnel as they apply to WHS audit
- legal liability in relation to providing WHS audit advice
- role of lead auditor and own relationship to lead auditor.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must comply with WHS laws, legal responsibilities and duty of care required for this unit. It must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities undertaken by individuals carrying out WHS duties in the workplace, and must include access to:

- lead auditor

BSBWHS616 Apply safe design principles to control WHS risks

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to apply safe design principles to control work health and safety (WHS) risks in a product's life cycle. It involves engaging at different points of the supply chain to provide advice based on safe design principles. The central feature of safe design is the application of relevant information and data about human experience, capabilities and behaviour to the design of objects, facilities, procedures and environments that people use.

The unit applies to those who apply the principles of safe design in their organisation, which may be at one or more stages of the product's life cycle, including procurement, installation, operation and disposal. Products may refer to plant, tools and equipment. The application of safe design principles aims to eliminate or minimise hazards and their associated risks before an existing product, or a product being developed or modified, is introduced into the workplace.

NOTES

1. The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

2. For the purposes of this unit of competency 'safe design' refers to a process defined as the integration of hazard identification and risk assessment methods to eliminate or minimise the risk of injury throughout the life cycle of plant, tool or equipment being designed.

3. For the purposes of this unit of competency a 'product' refers to any plant, tool or equipment.

4. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Assessment Requirements for BSBWHS616 Apply safe design principles to control WHS risks

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the ability to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit, and to:

- apply safe design principles to control work health and safety (WHS) risks that may occur throughout the life cycle of at least two different products.

During the above, the candidate must:

- provide advice based on WHS legislative requirements and safe design principles in relation to:
  - developing a systematic WHS risk-management approach to safe design
  - consultation processes relating to safe design in a product's life cycle
  - procurement systems to minimise 'purchased' WHS hazards and their associated risks.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the knowledge to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit. This includes knowledge of:

- commonwealth and state/territory WHS laws, publications and guidelines relating to consultation, participation and safe design, including:
  - Safe Work Australia codes of practice and guidance information that relate to safe design
  - requirements for managing WHS risks and implementing controls at each life-cycle stage of a product
  - requirements relating to consultation processes
  - legislative duties of persons conducting a business or undertaking (PCBUs) or officers who are designers or are responsible for safe design processes
- factors involved in selecting WHS risk controls for product design, including:

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

  - ensuring that level and reliability of risk control is commensurate with likelihood and impact of risk
  - impact on safety of alterations to product during its life
  - minimising impact of possible failure or defect by ensuring controls include fail-safe action
- WHS principles, materials, technology and systems that apply to product design
- internal and external sources of WHS information and data, and procedures for accessing them
- human cognitive and perceptual capabilities and other basic factors relevant to the safe design of products in the performance evidence
- factors affecting safe design, including work-related psychosocial factors, occupational violence, shift work, repetitive work, awkward postures, lighting, thermal environment and work layout
- principles of anthropometry and biomechanics as they relate to safe design principles to control WHS risks
- communication and consultation processes, and key personnel related to communication
- hierarchy of control measures and criteria for choosing between different WHS risk controls
- key personnel, including change agents, within workplace management structure
- legal liability in relation to providing advice
- organisational behaviour and culture as they impact on WHS, and on change
- WHS risk management and the principles and practices of a systematic approach to WHS management.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must comply with WHS laws, legal responsibilities and duty of care required for this unit. It must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities undertaken by individuals carrying out WHS duties in the workplace, and must include access to:

- reports from other parties consulted about WHS risk in a product's life cycle
- legislation, standards, guidelines, research and industry data required to demonstrate the performance evidence
- case studies and, where possible, real situations
- opportunities for interaction with others.

Assessors of this unit must satisfy the assessor requirements in applicable vocational education and training legislation, frameworks and/or standards.

BSBWHS617 Apply ergonomics to manage WHS risks

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to apply the principles, processes and methods of ergonomics to work health and safety (WHS) risk management, and to the enhancement of WHS-related planning and design activities and processes.

The unit applies to those who manage WHS risks and who need to consider the role ergonomics plays in this process. These individuals will apply advanced skills and knowledge to coordinate, facilitate and maintain the WHS program in an organisation. This role may involve working with ergonomists or human-factor specialists.

NOTES

1. The terms ‘occupational health and safety’ (OHS) and ‘work health and safety’ (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

2. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

3. Ergonomics applies theories, principles, data and methods to design in order to optimise human wellbeing and overall system performance.

Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Apply ergonomics to WHS hazard identification	1.1 Identify and evaluate relevant WHS laws, organisational policies and procedures relating to ergonomics 1.2 Interpret workplace WHS information and data to identify WHS hazards relating to ergonomics 1.3 Apply knowledge of ergonomics principles, processes and methods to identify workplace WHS hazards
2. Use ergonomics to address WHS risks	2.1 Apply ergonomics principles, processes and methods in the assessment of WHS risks 2.2 Apply ergonomics principles, processes and methods in the development of risk controls 2.3 Apply ergonomics principles, processes and methods in the evaluation of risk controls
3. Apply ergonomics in WHS-related planning and design activities	3.1 Analyse WHS-related planning and design activities and processes 3.2 Assess opportunities to apply ergonomics principles, processes and methods to enhance WHS-related planning and design activities 3.3 Apply ergonomics principles, processes and methods to enhance WHS-related planning and design activities 3.4 Review and evaluate enhancements to WHS-related planning and design activities according to organisational policies and procedures
4. Ensure that ergonomics activities are compliant and appropriate	4.1 Review ergonomics activities to confirm their compliance with applicable WHS laws and other relevant documents 4.2 Review ergonomics activities to confirm their compliance with relevant organisational processes, procedures, standards and systems 4.3 Apply appropriate ergonomics principles, processes and methods according to available resources and own role, responsibilities, skills and knowledge 4.4 Seek advice, support and input from specialists as required according to organisational policies and procedures

This section describes those language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills that are essential to performance but not explicit in the performance criteria.

Skill	Description
Reading	• Identifies, interprets and analyses legislative and organisational texts relevant to ergonomic activities
Writing	• Communicates information about ergonomic principles, processes, and methods, matching style of writing to purpose and audience • Drafts and develops required documents using appropriate vocabulary, grammatical structures and organisational conventions
Oral communication	• Uses questioning and active listening to seek information and confirm understanding
Navigate the world of work	• Identifies own responsibilities regarding ergonomic activities in WHS compliance contexts • Keeps up to date on changes to WHS laws relevant to own role and responsibilities, and considers their implications when negotiating, planning and undertaking work • Contributes, as appropriate, to the work of others in the immediate work context when applying ergonomics
Interact with others	• Selects and uses appropriate conventions and protocols to build and maintain relationships with external people who can provide specialist support
Get the work done	• Uses logical planning processes and understanding of context to identify where ergonomics can be applied in the workplace • Sequences and schedules activities, monitors implementation and manages relevant communication • Uses systematic and analytical

Assessment Requirements for BSBWHS617 Apply ergonomics to manage WHS risks

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the ability to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit, and to:

- identify at least three different work health and safety (WHS) hazards relating to ergonomics, and manage their associated risks
- apply ergonomic interventions in at least two different WHS-related planning and design activities
- seek specialist input during at least one of the above activities.

During the work, the candidate must ensure these ergonomics activities are:

- compliant with:
  - legislative requirements
  - organisational policies and procedures
  - applicable professional standards
- appropriate to:
  - available resources
  - own role and capabilities.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the knowledge to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit. This includes knowledge of:

- ergonomics-related content of applicable WHS laws and other relevant documents, such as policies, standards, guidance publications and alerts issued by the relevant WHS regulators and professional bodies
- organisational policies and procedures relating to ergonomics and the performance evidence

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

- key theories, principles, data and methods relating to ergonomics, and the domains of specialisation within the discipline of ergonomics
- principles, processes and methods of ergonomics applicable to:
  - identifying WHS hazards and managing associated risks
  - WHS-related planning and design activities and processes
- expertise, roles and functions of ergonomists, and skills and techniques relevant to the performance evidence
- scope and broad content of Australian and international ergonomics standards
- systems and system concepts used in ergonomics.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must comply with WHS laws, legal responsibilities and duty of care required for this unit. It must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities undertaken by individuals carrying out WHS duties in the workplace, and must include access to:

- WHS laws required to demonstrate the performance evidence
- reports from other parties consulted when developing ergonomic interventions
- case studies and, where possible, real situations
- opportunities for interaction with others.

Assessors of this unit must satisfy the assessor requirements in applicable vocational education and training legislation, frameworks and/or standards.

BSBWHS631 Apply occupational hygiene principles to manage WHS risks

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to apply occupational hygiene principles, knowledge, skills and techniques to manage work health and safety (WHS) risks. It includes identifying workplace hazards and managing risks associated with occupational hygiene, and engaging specialist assistance. It requires in-depth knowledge of the hierarchy of control measures and its use in developing risk control strategies for occupational hygiene. The unit also includes ensuring that occupational hygiene activities are appropriate, and that training needs are met.

The unit applies to those who apply occupational hygiene principles to manage WHS risks.

NOTES

1. For the purposes of this unit of competency 'occupational hygiene' refers to the use of science and engineering to measure the extent of worker exposure to something in the work environment that has the potential to cause harm. An occupational hygiene approach to WHS risks uses science and engineering to design and implement appropriate risk control strategies to prevent ill health caused by the work environment.

2. The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent, and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where model WHS laws have not been implemented, registered training organisations (RTOs) are advised to contextualise this unit of competency by referring to existing WHS legislative requirements.

3. The model WHS laws include the model WHS Act, model WHS Regulations and model WHS Codes of Practice. See Safe Work Australia for further information.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Identify WHS hazards to be addressed by occupational hygiene	1.1 Identify and evaluate relevant WHS laws, organisational policies and procedures relating to occupational hygiene 1.2 Use workplace WHS information to identify exposure to WHS hazards that could give rise to worker ill health 1.3 Apply knowledge of occupational hygiene principles, skills and techniques to identify workplace WHS hazards to be addressed through occupational hygiene 1.4 Determine and document sources of exposure to identified hazards 1.5 Identify and document situations where WHS specialists and other advisers may be required according to organisational policies and procedures
2. Assess identified occupational hygiene risks	2.1 Select and use occupational hygiene equipment and techniques for assessing occupational hygiene risks relating to identified hazards according to organisational policies and procedures 2.2 Analyse and interpret results of assessments according to organisational policies and procedures, and exposure standards 2.3 Consult with specialists as required according to organisational policies and procedures to inform recommendations 2.4 Report results of risk assessments, interpretations and recommendations to required personnel
3. Design and implement risk controls	3.1 Apply the hierarchy of control measures when assisting with design of risk controls for assessed risks 3.2 Analyse information and data to identify deficiencies in existing risk controls 3.3 Implement suitable new risk controls and assist in providing remedial advice about existing risk controls according to organisational policies and procedures 3.4 Ensure effective consultation with, and participation of,

	required internal personnel 3.5 Access external sources of information and data, WHS specialists and other advisers as required about nature and level of health hazards, risks and risk controls
4. Monitor, evaluate and modify risk controls	4.1 Monitor and evaluate risk controls to address risks relating to occupational hygiene in consultation with required personnel 4.2 Modify risk controls in consultation with required personnel 4.3 Identify and document training needs associated with risk controls and arrange training in consultation with required personnel 4.4 Make recommendations about future arrangements for monitoring and evaluating risk controls
5. Confirm occupational hygiene activities are appropriate	5.1 Confirm that occupational hygiene activities comply with required WHS laws 5.2 Confirm that occupational hygiene activities comply with required organisational procedures, processes, standards and systems 5.3 Apply appropriate occupational hygiene principles, knowledge, skills and techniques according to available resources and own role, responsibilities, skills and knowledge 5.4 Seek advice, support and input from specialists and other advisers as required and appropriate

Assessment Requirements for BSBWHS631 Apply occupational hygiene principles to manage WHS risks

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 5.0.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the ability to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit, and to:

- apply occupational hygiene principles, processes, skills and techniques in managing at least two different work health and safety (WHS) hazards that present occupational hygiene risks to workers, using:
  - workplace WHS information
  - knowledge of WHS laws, and organisational policies and procedures relating to occupational hygiene
  - knowledge of occupational hygiene principles, processes, skills and techniques
  - the hierarchy of control measures to design and implement risk controls
- seek specialist input or advice during at least one of these activities.

During the above, the candidate must:

- assess occupational hygiene risk associated with these WHS hazards
- monitor, evaluate and modify risk controls relating to occupational hygiene
- ensure occupational hygiene activities are legislatively and organisationally compliant and appropriate.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the knowledge to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit. This includes knowledge of:

- WHS laws relating to occupational hygiene, including roles and responsibilities of persons conducting a business or undertaking (PCBUs) or officers under WHS laws
- exposure standards and other standards and guidelines used in occupational hygiene, including their limitations and practical applications
- occupational hygiene principles, knowledge, skills, techniques and methodologies

- characteristics of WHS hazards and risks addressed by occupational hygiene, their effects on people and how these effects occur
- common risk controls for a range of environmental hazards and associated occupational hygiene risks, their effectiveness and their limitations
- organisational policies, procedures, processes and systems relating to occupational hygiene and the performance evidence
- key principles, uses and components of the hierarchy of control measures in managing risks associated with occupational hygiene, including:
  - nature and scope of risk controls
  - requirements for selecting personal protective equipment (PPE), and limitations of its use
- key concepts, processes and procedures for applying occupational hygiene in managing WHS risks:
  - sources of environmental hazards and routes of exposure to them
  - sources of occupational disease and its prevention
  - risks addressed by occupational hygiene
  - developing, implementing and evaluating occupational hygiene risk controls
  - methods for occupational hygiene assessments and investigations
  - training, education, roles, functions and skills of occupational hygienists
  - types, purposes, functions and uses of occupational hygiene equipment
  - requirements for individual training and instruction in risk controls, including in the use of PPE
- workplace processes, activities, jobs and tasks relevant to occupational hygiene
- roles and functions of specialists, including occupational hygienists, occupational medicine physicians, other medical doctors and toxicologists
- procedures for working with occupational hygiene specialists and other WHS personnel to control WHS risks.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must comply with WHS laws, legal responsibilities and duty of care required for this unit. It must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities undertaken by individuals carrying out WHS duties in the workplace, and must include access to:

- WHS laws, standards and guidelines required to demonstrate the performance evidence
- occupational hygiene equipment that meets relevant standards for function and performance
- organisational policies and procedures required to demonstrate the performance evidence
- case studies and, where possible, real situations
- opportunities for interaction with others.

BSBXBD401 Capture and store big data

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package 6.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to capture and store transactional and non-transactional big data obtained from a variety of sources. It involves using methodologies and techniques to obtain big data sets. It also involves analysing and storing the captured big data according to industry practices and organisational policies, procedures and protocols.

It applies to those in a broad range of industries and job roles who, under some supervision and guidance, are responsible for obtaining, preparing and storing big data.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the ability to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit, including evidence of the ability to:

- capture, apply data cleansing, and store one set of transactional and one set of non-transactional big data relating to specific workplace needs
- create a report relating to data capture for a specific workplace need for at least one set of transactional and one set of non-transactional big data.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate knowledge to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit, including knowledge of:

- legislative requirements relating to big data capture and storage, including data protection, security and privacy laws and regulations
- organisational policies and procedures relating to big data capture and storage, including for:
  - capturing, storing and reporting transactional and non-transactional sources of big data
  - cleansing methodologies when capturing big data
  - business intent of big data capture
  - re-creating and recovering big data lost during capture process
  - privacy concerns of predictive analytics organising security and retrieval of big data
  - quality assuring captured big data
- data capture techniques to produce analytic ready data and datasets

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to analyse, interpret and apply insights from big data when making operational decisions. It involves applying skills in decision making and techniques for using big data in day-to-day work.

It applies to those who work in leadership and management positions, including in their own small business, in a broad range of industries who use big data analytics to drive their operational decision making.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Identify business requirements relating to big data	1.1 Scope and confirm operational decision-making requirements 1.2 Identify opportunities for use of big data in business decision making 1.3 Confirm nature and scope of report requirements
2. Interpret big data sources and summaries	2.1 Access required big data sources and summaries according to organisational policies and procedures and legislative requirements 2.2Apply insight analysis and descriptive statistics that support operational decision making 2.3 Use findings to identify insights that relate to identified operational decision-making requirements

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
3. Make operational decision based on big data analysis	3.1 Draft report on data analytics, applying identified insights to operational decision-making requirements 3.2 Seek input and integrate feedback from required stakeholders according to organisational policies and procedures 3.3 Finalise and distribute recommendations to required personnel according to organisational and legislative requirements

Foundation Skills

This section describes those language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills that are essential to performance but not explicit in the performance criteria.

Skill	Description
Learning	• Modifies behaviour following exposure to new information
Numeracy	• Uses mathematical concepts and statistics required to use big data for operational decision-making • Completes at times complex calculations and records numerical data
Oral communication	• Asks open and closed probing questions and actively listens when seeking input and feedback
Reading	• Identifies and interprets information from relevant sources to complete work
Writing	• Uses clear, specific and industry-related terminology to represent outcomes of big data analysis in reports
Planning and organising	• Efficiently and logically sequences big data analytics to draw out insights and trends
Technology	• Uses appropriate technology platforms when using big data

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package 6.0.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the ability to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit, including evidence of the ability to:

- interpret and use a big data set as the basis for two different operational decisions in work area.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate knowledge to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit, including knowledge of:

- legislative requirements relating to accessing and using sources and summaries of big data and big data sets, including data protection and privacy laws and regulations
- organisational policies and procedures relating to using big data, including for:
  - scoping and confirming operational decision-making requirements
  - accessing big data sources and summaries
  - combining external big data sources, such as social media, with in-house big data sets
  - integrating big data and analytics into operational workflow
  - reporting on use of big data in relation to operational decisions described in performance evidence
  - seeking input and feedback from required stakeholders
  - distributing report on big data analytics
- operational decision-making requirements relating to use of big data, including timelines
- procedures for data-driven decision making, including what-if analysis scenarios and tools for optimisation and simulations
- techniques for presenting big data analytics:
  - charts
  - heat maps
  - scatterplots
  - dashboards

  - statistical tools
- key programming protocols and techniques required to use big data for operational decision making
- domain knowledge of business processes required to demonstrate the performance evidence.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be assessed in a workplace or simulated environment where conditions are typical of a work environment that uses big data.

Access is required to:

- information and telecommunications equipment required to analyse and use big data sets
- big data sources and summaries suited to business requirement in performance evidence
- industry standards, organisational procedures, and legislative requirements required to demonstrate the performance evidence.

Assessors of this unit must satisfy the requirements for assessors in applicable vocational education and training legislation, frameworks and/or standards.

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package 6.0.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the ability to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit, including evidence of the ability to:

- present the insights obtained from two different sets of big data using interactive dashboards and other models that serve to best visualise the insights.

One of the above sets must be transactional big data and one must be non-transactional.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate knowledge to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit, including knowledge of:

- importance and benefits of big data presentation
- strategies for determining requirements for presenting big data, including analysis of business areas that need improvement
- methodology for conducting exploration and discovery of new and big data, including:
  - visualisation software to combine data from various sources to drive better business insights
  - business intelligence tools to discover and present hidden insights in data sets
- structured, semi-structured and unstructured big data visualisation tools and techniques
- organisational policies, procedures and protocols relating to presenting transactional and non-transactional big data insights, including:
  - using statistical graphs, plots, and information graphics to communicate big data insights
  - seeking feedback from stakeholders on presented big data
- in-house and external sources of big data
- appropriate methods and tools for creating and representing big data reports, including:
  - charts

  - heat maps
  - scatterplots
  - dashboards
  - interactive maps
  - real-time data
- design approaches for visualising big data, including key performance indicators for the big data presentations in the performance evidence
- dashboard design principles, including audience, context and aesthetics.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be assessed in a workplace or simulated environment where conditions are typical of a work environment that uses big data.

Access is required to:

- information and telecommunications equipment and technology required to present and visualise big data
- big data suited to business requirement in performance evidence
- industry standards, organisational procedures, and legislative requirements required to demonstrate the performance evidence.

- external party security risks and methods for mitigating risk
- industry-accepted best practice protection strategies for improving security on digital devices:
  - password management
  - use of anti-virus software
  - virtual private network (VPN) use on public Wi-Fi
  - router settings
  - fundamentals of two-factor authentication
  - encryption
  - patching software applications
- risk management methodologies
- tools and techniques to conduct gap analysis of strategy performance
- data protection requirements for:
  - stored data
  - data in transit
  - data in third party applications
- mobile device security strategies.

Assessment Requirements for BSBXDB301 Respond to the service needs of customers and clients with disability

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 4.0.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the ability to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria, and foundation skills of this unit, including evidence of the ability to:

- interact with a minimum of three different individual customers or clients with disability in compliance with organisational diversity and inclusion objectives and policies, codes of practice and behavioural guidelines and:
  - adjust communication styles within the service context, using verbal and nonverbal techniques to accommodate the individual capabilities, needs and preferences of customers or clients
  - interact through the use of assistive communication devices as directed by individual customers, support persons or specialist support providers
  - implement a person-centred service approach that focuses on individual customer or clients' expressions of their needs and preferences
  - provide support and access resources and services to address the needs of customers or clients within scope of own role and escalate to supervisor where required
  - refer to additional service providers to meet more complex individual customer or client needs
  - seek feedback on customer/client satisfaction with service.

Throughout this process, interaction with an individual's support person should only be undertaken as required.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate knowledge to effectively complete the tasks outlined in the elements and performance criteria of this unit. This includes knowledge of:

- organisational policies, codes of practice and/or behavioural guidelines for:
  - interacting with customers or clients with disability
  - maintaining confidentiality, privacy and dignity for customers and clients

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

    - responding to customers and clients disclosing and/or sharing information about disability
- persons covered by the Disability Discrimination Act
- features of the social model of disability as compared to the medical model
- where barriers to access and communication within service contexts exist
- different communication methods and techniques that can be employed when interacting with customers or clients, including:
    - use of plain English in spoken and written communication
    - at least one other verbal and one other nonverbal communication method
    - at least two augmentative and alternative communication techniques appropriate to the service context and purpose of interaction
- inclusive language and person-first expressions to use when communicating with, or about, customers or clients with disability
- supports, services, resources, facilities and aids that can be accessed and utilised to meet individual customer or client needs
- principles and strategies of a person centred support approach
- additional disability support and service providers that can be referred to, to meet more complex individual customer or client needs.

Assessment Conditions

The following conditions must be met for this unit:

Use of facilities, equipment and resources, including:

- a customer or client base or a simulated setting (where a workplace situation would be impractical, inappropriate or not possible), consisting of contact with a minimum of three individuals with differing disabilities
- workplace diversity and service policies and codes of practice
- organisational guidelines and codes of practice for provision of service to customers or clients with disability
- organisational products, services and/or supports

Industry operating conditions, including:

- challenges typical in work to support customers or clients with disability
- a minimum of three opportunities for real service interactions with customers or clients, either face to face or through other formats for service interaction, such as telephone and email.

Assessors of this unit must satisfy the assessor requirements in applicable vocational education and training legislation, frameworks and/or standards to AC.

AHCSAW302 Implement erosion and sediment control measures

Modification History

Release	TP Version	Comment
1	AHCv1.0	Initial release

Application

This unit of competency describes the skills and knowledge required to construct, install and maintain a range of measures specified on erosion and sediment control plans.

This unit applies to individuals who work under broad direction and take responsibility for their own work including limited responsibility for the work of others.

No occupational licensing, legislative or certification requirements are known to apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Pre-requisite Unit

Nil.

Unit Sector

Soil and Water Conservation (SAW)

Elements and Performance Criteria

Element	Performance criteria
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Prepare for implementation and construction	1.1 Confirm that erosion and sediment control plan and schedule of works match site conditions 1.2 Identify survey pegs and site indicators on site 1.3 Match equipment and tools to program works and terrain on site 1.4 Verify work readiness of selected equipment and tools

Assessment Requirements for AHCSAW302 Implement erosion and sediment control measures

Modification History

Release	TP Version	Comment

Performance Evidence

The candidate must be assessed on their ability to integrate and apply the performance requirements of this unit in a workplace setting. Performance must be demonstrated consistently over time and in a suitable range of contexts.

The candidate must provide evidence that they can:

- construct, install and maintain a range of erosion and sediment control measures
- identify hazards and implement safe work procedures
- prepare for implementation and construction
- read and follow plans to carry out implementation and construction
- identify survey pegs and site indicators on site and on the plans
- carry out repairs and maintenance procedures to enterprise standards
- select equipment and materials appropriate for the task
- operate equipment and machinery according to safe work practices and manufacturer instructions
- clean and store equipment, machinery and tools according to organisational requirements

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate knowledge of:

- materials cartage pollution control
- sequence of working and timing/duration
- work health and safety issues relating to the equipment and the site
- equipment used
- materials suitable for constructing erosion and sediment control measures and where to source them on site
- limitations of structures including timing of maintenance, structure life cycle, specifications and standards

Assessment Requirements for BSBADM101 Use business equipment and resources

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- choose equipment and resources required for tasks
- operate equipment according to manufacturer or organisational requirements
- report faults according to organisational requirements
- maintain equipment and records according to instructions.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- describe the functions of available business equipment
- list the key points in operating the available business equipment safely and correctly
- identify common equipment faults
- describe how to maintain and store equipment and resources.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the general administration field of work and include access to:

- operational and maintenance manuals
- organisational procedures related to operation and maintenance of equipment
- records relating to resources
- case studies and, where possible, real situations.

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- identify typical information to be included in a budget
- recognise when a budget indicates expenditure is greater than income, and suggest modifications that will bring it into balance
- prepare a balanced budget in collaboration with others, that meets the board's identified needs.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- describe components of a typical budget and standard budgeting procedures
- explain concept of community control of organisations and how it may apply to budgetary decision-making
- explain concept of financial contingency planning and how this can be undertaken
- outline current and potential sources of income to fund the organisation's activities
- identify geographic, cultural, social, economic and political contexts in which particular organisations operate and how this might impact budgetary decision-making
- list organisational plans that will affect the budget
- outline organisational vision, objectives and procedures in relation to sources of income for organisational activities
- identify provisions of federal, state or territory legislation and funding body requirements that impact how finances and assets can be used within the organisation
- explain relevant protocols and cultural responsibilities when making budgetary decisions.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the regulation, licensing and risk – ATSI governance field of work and include access to:

- examples of budgets
- examples of relevant documents
- examples of projects that might be undertaken by a board.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- identify funding sources
- complete funding applications
- confirm submission meets funding body's requirements
- maintain open lines of communication with relevant individuals and network to promote application for funding
- follow appeal procedures if required.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- outline appeal procedures available if funding submission is rejected
- explain concept of community control of organisations and how it may impact the way funding is sourced and used
- describe cultural context in which Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander boards operate, including their role in upholding traditional and cultural values, and how that may impact the way funding is sourced and used
- list funding sources and their requirements
- identify geographic, social, economic and political contexts in which particular organisations operate and how these may impact the way funding is sourced and used
- identify organisational policies and procedures in relation to obtaining funding
- describe relevant consultancy services to support funding submissions
- list relevant protocols and cultural responsibilities that impact how funding is sourced.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the regulation, licensing and risk – ATSI governance field of work and include access to:

- an actual or simulated board
- examples of projects requiring funding
- the internet or other sources of information about funding bodies
- examples of relevant documents.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

BSBAUD402 Participate in a quality audit

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to prepare for and participate in a quality audit as a member of a quality audit team. The types of audits may include external or internal systems audits or process or product/service audits.

The process includes reviewing designated documentation; identifying and developing checklists and audit related documentation; preparing audit schedules; gathering, analysing and evaluating information; and reporting findings to the lead auditor.

It applies to individuals with a broad knowledge of the quality auditing environment who analyse and evaluate information from a variety of sources to provide solutions to auditing issues, including unpredictable quality auditing problems.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 2	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.1. Version created to correct mapping table information
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to work within the business continuity framework to develop and implement business continuity plans for an organisation to manage risk and ensure business resilience when faced with a disruptive event.

It applies to individuals working in positions of authority who are approved to implement change across the division, business area, program area or project area.

This unit addresses the knowledge and processes necessary to develop and maintain business continuity requirements. Business continuity awareness and planning help the organisation to identify barriers and/or interruptions and determine how the organisation will achieve critical business objectives (even at diminished capacity) until full functionality is restored.

The focus is on risk and vulnerability assessment, business impact assessments, and business continuity and communication plans.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to originate and develop concepts for products, programs, processes or services to an operational level.

It applies to individuals who develop concepts for any business or community activity or process, such as marketing and advertising campaigns, staff development programs, information technology and communication systems, radio and television programs, entertainment events, films, exhibitions and digital media products. Individuals operate with a high degree of autonomy, but collaborate with others to generate ideas and refine concepts to the point where they can be implemented.

BSBCUE502 Establish a multicentre

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to develop strategies to establish organisational systems for a multicentre that administers product or service support or sales, or manages information enquiries from consumers.

It applies to individuals who possess a sound theoretical knowledge base and use a range of specialised, technical or managerial competencies, and who will work closely with other members of an organisation and have a high degree of autonomy with managerial responsibility.

A multicentre may be operated through extensive open workspaces, with workstations that may include computers and a telephone set/headset connected to a telecom switch.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Unit Sector

Stakeholder Relations – Customer Engagement

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.

Assessment Requirements for BSBCUE603 Design and launch new customer engagement facilities

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- design and establish or substantially enhance a customer engagement facility including
  - researching the requirements based on the business needs
  - developing detailed specifications by delegating to and managing specialists
  - managing the physical and human resources
- consult with stakeholders throughout the development process to confirm the requirements and specifications, report concerns and review and debrief
- prepare a viable project management plan and use project management tools for the development, testing and launch of the facility
- develop testing procedures an plans for all resources
- plan follow-up actions after the launch.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- identify legislative, regulatory and organisational requirements for customer engagement facilities
- outline principles underpinning contact centre design at both the technology level and the human level with reference to:
  - emerging technologies
  - ergonomics of office design
  - hardware and telecommunications services
  - software systems
- identify sources of information, guidance and support for the project

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

- identify systems and physical resources used in customer contact facilities
- explain project management principles
- describe research methods using a range of information sources
- describe risk management principles and practices.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the customer engagement field of work and include access to:

- relevant legislation, regulations, standards and guidelines
- organisational business plans and policies
- specifications of resources used in customer engagement facilities
- case studies and, where possible, real situations.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

Assessment Requirements for BSBCUE604 Develop and maintain a service level strategy

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- develop, monitor and maintain a service level strategy and supporting policies and procedures
- analyse historical data to determine existing contact-wait and abandon-time characteristics
- formulate a comprehensive set of call-wait characteristics and targets based on the business needs and industry benchmarks
- consult with stakeholders to confirm requirements and verify the proposed service level strategy
- monitor and maintain service levels by collecting, analysing and acting on service level data
- develop a comprehensive contingency plan for loss of facilities or technology.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- explain benchmarking principles
- describe business and financial planning (budget) principles
- identify business requirements for service level performance, which may include regulatory requirements
- describe the technology functionality and reporting capability of a management information system to provide service-level contact data
- describe industry standards, best practice and regulatory requirements for service levels
- describe the difference and impacts of providing the required service-level against the industry standard

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

- explain the structure and organisation of workforce, including part-time, casual, contract and shift workers
- explain the organisational structure and who the key stakeholders are
- describe the processes for determining customer expectations and satisfaction with level of service.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the customer engagement field of work and include access to:

- information and databases for analysis activities
- industry and competitor benchmarking data
- historical contact-wait and abandon-time data
- relevant legislation, regulations, standards and guidelines
- stakeholder feedback
- case studies and, where possible, real situations.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

Assessment Requirements for BSBCUS403 Implement customer service standards

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 2	This version released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 2.0. Version created to clarify assessment conditions
Release 1	This version first released with Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- access, interpret, apply and monitor customer service standards
- demonstrate compliance with customer service system and standards
- make contributions to improving or adapting customer service standards to better meet the needs of the organisation and the customers
- review and analyse customer feedback and make recommendations to address issues raised, including identifying the resources required
- make adjustments to improve customer service procedures including:
  - identifying and responding to problems
  - communicating with and encouraging staff
- coordinate and manage delivery of services and products to meet standards including:
  - planning and implementing team work activities
  - managing resources.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- have detailed product / service knowledge
- explain the rights and responsibilities of customers and relevant consumer law
- outline models of customer service

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

- explain relevant organisational procedures and standards for customer service standards and relationships.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the customer service field of work and include access to:

- office equipment
- business technology
- workplace documents and policies and procedures
- customer feedback
- consumer protection laws and regulations
- case studies and, where possible, real situations
- interaction with others.

Assessors of this unit must satisfy the requirements for assessors in applicable vocational education and training legislation, frameworks and/or standards.

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 2	This version released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 2.0. Version created to clarify assessment conditions
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to develop strategies to manage organisational systems that ensure products and services are delivered and maintained to standards agreed by the organisation.

It applies to individuals who supervise the provision of quality customer service within an organisation's procedures framework by others. At this level, individuals must exercise considerable discretion and judgement, using a range of problem solving and decision making strategies.

Unit Sector

Stakeholder Relations – Customer Service

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1 Plan to meet internal and external customer	1.1 Investigate, identify, assess, and include the needs of customers in planning processes

requirements	1.2 Ensure plans achieve the quality, time and cost specifications agreed with customers
2 Ensure delivery of quality products and services	2.1 Deliver products and services to customer specifications within organisation's business plan 2.2 Monitor team performance to consistently meet the organisation's quality and delivery standards 2.3 Help colleagues overcome difficulties in meeting customer service standards
3 Monitor, adjust and review customer service	3.1 Develop and use strategies to monitor progress in achieving product and/or service targets and standards 3.2 Develop and use strategies to obtain customer feedback to improve the provision of products and services 3.3 Develop, procure and use resources effectively to provide quality products and services to customers 3.4 Make decisions to overcome problems and to adapt customer services, products and service delivery in consultation with appropriate individuals and groups 3.5 Manage records, reports and recommendations within the organisation's systems and processes

This section describes language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills incorporated in the performance criteria that are required for competent performance.

Skill	Performance Criteria	Description
Reading	1.1, 1.2, 2.1, 3.1, 3.2, 3.3, 3.5	• Interprets and analyses textual information from a variety of sources and applies the knowledge that has been gained to evaluate standards for organisation's products and services
Writing	1.2, 3.1, 3.2, 3.3, 3.5	• Produces a range of text types to convey information, requirements or recommendations matching style of writing to purpose and audience
Oral Communication	1.1, 1.2, 2.1, 2.3, 3.2	• Clearly articulates systems and standards in a team environment using language suitable to diverse audiences • Uses listening and questioning techniques to obtain

Assessment Requirements for BSBCUS501 Manage quality customer service

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 2	This version released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 2.0 Version created to clarify assessment conditions
Release 1	This version first released with Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- develop and manage organisational systems for quality customer service
- develop and review plans, policies and procedures for delivering and monitoring quality customer service
- implement policies and procedures to ensure quality customer service
- solve complex customer complaints and system problems that lead to poor customer service
- monitor and assist teams to meet customer service requirements
- develop, procure and use human and physical resources to support quality customer service delivery.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- outline the legislative and regulatory context of the organisation relevant to customer service
- describe organisational policy and procedures for customer service including handling customer complaints
- identify service standards and best practice models
- summarise public relations and product promotion
- outline techniques for dealing with customers including customers with specific needs

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

- explain techniques for solving complaints including the principles and techniques involved in the management and organisation of:
  - customer behaviour
  - customer needs research
  - customer relations
  - ongoing product and/or service quality
  - problem identification and resolution
  - quality customer service delivery
  - record keeping and management methods
  - strategies for monitoring, managing and introducing ways to improve customer service relationships
  - strategies to obtain customer feedback.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the customer service field of work and include access to:

- legislation, regulations and codes of practice related to customer service
- business technology
- workplace documentation and resources
- complex customer complaints
- case studies and, where possible, real situations
- interaction with others.

Assessors of this unit must satisfy the requirements for assessors in applicable vocational education and training legislation, frameworks and/or standards.

BSBDES201 Follow a design process

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to follow a design process at a basic level, incorporating an element of problem solving to identify and resolve challenges that may hinder the process.

It applies to individuals who work under direct supervision and respond to specific issues or changes which may relate to product and service requirements.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Unit Sector

Design – Design Process

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1 Clarify the challenge	1.1 Confirm the nature and scope of the challenge with stakeholders 1.2 Agree on specific objectives with stakeholders 1.3 Identify constraints that may impact the design process 1.4 Identify and source relevant supporting information and assistance
2 Explore different ideas	2.1 Generate a range of ideas to respond to the challenge

and solutions	2.2 Explore different options and ideas for meeting objectives 2.3 Involve others in the process of developing ideas and solutions
3 Select and present a solution	3.1 Reflect on different ideas and feedback, and select a preferred solution 3.2 Summarise the key ideas in the solution and present to stakeholders in appropriate format 3.3 Obtain any required approvals to take the solution to the next stage
4 Implement solution	4.1 Schedule key tasks and organise resources to support implementation 4.2 Carry out testing, prototyping or trialling of the proposed solution 4.3 Maintain any required documentation 4.4 Identify problems and seek advice and guidance from others
5 Evaluate solution	5.1 Check success of the solution based on original objectives 5.2 Seek feedback from appropriate stakeholders 5.3 Review both the solution and the process undertaken to develop the solution as part of an ongoing learning process

This section describes language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills incorporated in the performance criteria that are required for competent performance.

Skill	Performance Criteria	Description
Learning	5.3	• Reviews own work to identify improvement opportunities
Reading	1.4, 2.2, 4.3	• Reviews and interprets textual information from a range of sources to scope job requirements and generate ideas
Writing	3.2, 4.3	• Produces meeting summaries using simple language and structure
Oral Communication	1.1, 1.2, 2.3, 3.2, 4.4	• Uses questioning and listening techniques to gain information, confirm understanding or seek feedback

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

		• Presents ideas using correct pronunciation and vocabulary
Numeracy	4.1	• Recognises and interprets numerical information relating to timeframes and dates
Interact with others	5.2	• Cooperates with others to achieve results in immediate work context
Get the work done	1.3, 1.4, 2.1, 2.2, 3.1, 3.3, 4.1, 4.2, 4.4, 5.1	• Plans routine tasks with familiar goals and outcomes • Seeks assistance when problems are beyond immediate responsibilities or experience • Takes responsibility for routine low-impact decisions within familiar situations • May reflect on outcomes and identify what worked, or develop an improved approach for future situations • Identifies ideas in use in other contexts and considers how they might be applied in own context with minimal adjustment

BSBDES202 Evaluate the nature of design in a specific industry context

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to examine and consider the design process in a particular industry.

It applies to individuals working in any context, who need to develop a basic appreciation and knowledge of the way design works in a particular industry, and of its potential impacts on industry and individual work practice.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

2 Experiment with colour	2.1 Test different colours and colour-combinations through experimentation 2.2 Use own ideas as a way of testing, challenging or confirming colour theory

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

	2.3 Ensure safe use of materials, tools and equipment during experimentation with colour
3 Communicate concepts and ideas through use of colour	3.1 Investigate how colour might be used to communicate a particular idea or concept 3.2 Select materials, tools and equipment relevant to the idea or concept 3.3 Apply colour to communicate the concept or idea based on own knowledge of colour and colour theory 3.4 Review and reflect on own use of colour and what it communicates 3.5 Seek and obtain feedback from others about the way colour has been used and its success in communicating the concept or idea 3.6 Present and store work any samples in a way which takes account of the need for professional presentation and potential relevance for future work

Foundation Skills

This section describes language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills incorporated in the performance criteria that are required for competent performance.

Skill	Performance Criteria	Description
Reading	1.1, 1.2, 2.3, 3.1	• Evaluates and integrates facts and descriptions of colour from a range of texts including text embedded in visual media
Writing	1.2, 3.6	• Produces a range of text types using appropriate vocabulary, grammatical structure and conventions • Applies basic referencing and sequencing of professional and archival resources
Oral Communication	1.1, 3.5	• Presents ideas, asks questions and listens, to seek feedback or generate ideas
Numeracy	2.1	• Selects and uses mathematical information for measurement and volume
Navigate the world of work	2.3	• Takes some personal responsibility for adherence to legal and regulatory requirements with specific reference to safety

3 Communicate concepts or ideas through application of design processes to 3D forms	3.1 Investigate and reflect on how a particular concept or idea might be communicated in 3D form 3.2 Select materials, tools and equipment relevant to the realisation of the concept or idea 3.3 Apply a creative design process to produce a range of 3D concept realisations 3.4 Reflect on own application of design process and success in communicating the concept or idea 3.5 Seek and obtain feedback from others about the 3D form and its success in communicating the concept or idea 3.6 Present and store concept realisations or samples in a format which takes account of the need for professional presentation and the work's potential value for future jobs

Foundation Skills

This section describes language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills incorporated in the performance criteria that are required for competent performance.

Skill	Performance Criteria	Description
Reading	1.1, 1.2, 3.1	• Interprets textual information from relevant sources to determine and adhere to requirements
Writing	2.1, 3.6	• Produces a range of text types using appropriate vocabulary, grammatical structure and referencing conventions
Oral Communication	2.1-2.3, 3.5	• Participates in verbal exchanges using vocabulary, style and tone appropriate to audience • Uses listening techniques to clarify understanding
Numeracy	3.1, 3.3, 3.5	• Performs mathematical calculations required to produce 3D concept designs
Get the work done	1.1, 1.2, 2.1-2.4, 3.1-3.4, 3.6	• Plans and organises tasks required to achieve outcomes • Identifies ideas in use in other contexts and considers

Assessment Requirements for BSBDES303 Explore and apply the creative design process to 3D forms

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- produce a range of samples or concept realisations which demonstrate creative thinking techniques and experimentation processes based on available resource materials for three-dimensional (3D) forms
- review own work to determine future improvements.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- identify creative thinking techniques that can be used as part of the design process
- describe the elements and principles of design as applied to 3D forms
- list materials, tools and equipment required for the design of 3D forms in the relevant work context
- describe the notion of individual interpretation and choice within the design process
- explain the particular challenges and issues in the design of 3D forms
- outline the relationships between form and space.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the design process field of work and include access to the materials, resources and equipment needed to apply design processes to 3D forms.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to source information on design history and theory, and to apply that information in the individual's design work.

It applies to individuals who work in design and need to develop and maintain a general knowledge of design history and theory.

More complex research into design theory and design trends is covered by BSBDES602 Research global design trends and BSBDES801 Research and apply design theory.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

BSBDES401 Generate design solutions

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to generate design solutions in response to a particular design need.

It applies to individuals who generate concepts and solutions in response to a design challenge in any industry context. The starting point may be an open or closed brief; a spontaneous idea; modification of an existing product, service, process or system; or a point in an ongoing design process.

This unit builds on BSBDES201 Follow a design process, and places greater focus on research, concept generation and collaboration with others as key aspects of the design process.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

BSBDES402 Interpret and respond to a design brief

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to interpret and creatively respond to a design brief through the production of work.

It applies to individuals working in any industry or design context where work is prescribed by a commissioning agent/client in a brief. Individuals are required to integrate the creative, communication and planning processes that support effective response to a design brief.

Work is carried out independently, although guidance is available if required.

Unit Sector

Design – Design Process

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1 Interpret design brief	1.1 Correctly interpret the specifications of design brief 1.2 Establish and clarify user or client for the proposed product/service to inform design decisions 1.3 Identify and clarify specifications, parameters or constraints of design brief in consultation with relevant colleagues

	1.4 Source and evaluate information pertinent to design brief
2 Explore and develop design concept	2.1 Generate ideas for design concept through research, exploration and experimentation 2.2 Develop initial design concept consistent with design brief parameters 2.3 Evaluate and explore options for refining concept to best meet design brief parameters 2.4 Refine options and select approach which best meets design brief requirements
3 Liaise with client	3.1 Agree on communication process and frequency of communication with client 3.2 Present concepts for work at appropriate stages during design process as required 3.3 Present and explore different options and creative ideas with client when appropriate 3.4 Proactively seek and act on client feedback 3.5 Reach agreement on concept for work which complies with design brief
4 Plan production of work	4.1 Assess specific design production risks 4.2 Identify all components required to produce a prototype 4.3 Assess technical requirements for production against specified guidelines 4.4 Identify and consult with support services required for production 4.5 Produce a prototype and evaluate against design brief requirements 4.6 Analyse prototype and determine any further adjustments to production requirements 4.7 Finalise production specifications supported by accurate and complete documentation
5 Complete production of work	5.1 Collect and/or organise required components for the work 5.2 Produce or monitor the production of work ensuring all parameters of design brief are met 5.3 Accurately document work progress in a format appropriate to the nature of the design and requirements of design brief

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to develop and extend skills as a practising designer.

It applies to individuals who work as a designer, in any industry context, either independently or employed by an organisation.

Designers must continually refine, develop and evaluate their own conceptual and technical skills. Research, experimentation and collaboration are key factors in this process.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Evidence of the ability to:

- use strategies to develop or extend skills, ideas and a unique voice
- adjust work processes as a result of peer feedback and self-evaluation
- research work options, networking and promotional opportunities and incorporate information into own work and career development.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- list current and emerging designers in the relevant design discipline
- discuss current and emerging trends and technologies in the relevant design discipline, and the opportunities and challenges they represent
- identify professional development information and resources available to designers
- summarise sources of information relating to work opportunities and career planning.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the design process field of work and include access to materials, resources and equipment used in the development of technical and conceptual skills in the relevant design context.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

BSBDES501 Implement design solutions

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to take a design concept or solution to the implementation stage. The outcome of work could be a completed product, object, system or service, but is more likely to be a complete or partial prototype or model for the design. The focus of the unit is on a general knowledge of design techniques and processes, and practical application to a specific design context.

It applies to individuals who implement concepts and solutions in response to a design challenge in any industry context.

Unit Sector

Design – Design Process

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1 Organise resources for realising the design solution	1.1 Confirm the nature and scope of the proposed design solution 1.2 Research resources required for developing the design concept to implementation stage 1.3 Investigate different factors impacting the selection and use of resources 1.4 Select and prepare resources based on research and other

	legislative or organisational requirements
2 Test the design solution	2.1 Experiment with a range of different techniques and processes to test the design solution 2.2 Evaluate, challenge and refine testing processes 2.3 Gain input and feedback from key stakeholders during testing 2.4 Accurately document outcomes of testing 2.5 Select final design solution based on outcomes of testing and input from others
3 Develop prototype or model	3.1 Create prototype or model based on agreed approaches 3.2 Select and organise materials, tools and equipment, where appropriate, according to chosen design solution 3.3 Expose model or prototype to quality checks and ongoing analysis, enhancement and refinement 3.4 Compare completed prototype or model against identified needs and other considerations and make adjustments as required
4 Present prototype or model	4.1 Identify key stakeholders design should be presented to 4.2 Select appropriate format for presentation based on nature of audience and design 4.3 Present prototype or model to optimise clarity, conciseness and appeal

This section describes language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills incorporated in the performance criteria that are required for competent performance.

Skill	Performance Criteria	Description
Reading	1.1-1.4, 3.4	• Researches and accurately interprets textual information from a wide range of sources
Writing	1.2, 1.3, 2.3, 2.4, 3.4, 4.3	• Documents research, resource requirements and testing outcomes using appropriate language and formats
Oral Communication	1.1, 2.3, 4.3	• Participates in a range of verbal exchanges and presentations using appropriate tone and vocabulary to suit audience

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

		• Uses active listening and questioning techniques to gain input and feedback
Numeracy	1.1-1.3, 2.4, 2.5	• Interprets and applies numeric information relevant to design solution • Compares numerical data gathered from testing
Navigate the world of work	1.4	• Understands and adheres to organisational policies, procedures and legislative requirements during planning and implementation of design solution
Interact with others	4.3	• Recognises importance of taking audience, purpose and contextual factors into account when making decisions about what to communicate, with whom, why and how
Get the work done	1.1-1.4, 2.1, 2.2, 2.5, 3.1-3.4, 4.1, 4.2	• Sequences and schedules routine and complex activities, monitors implementation, and manages relevant communication • Applies formal problem-solving processes when responding to unpredictable issues and challenges that arise during the testing process • Makes a range of critical and non-critical decisions in relatively complex situations, taking client requirements and range of constraints into account • Creates new or innovative ideas through exploration, analysis and critical thinking

Assessment Requirements for BSBDES501 Implement design solutions

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- undertake critical analysis, testing and development of a model, prototype or aspect of a design solution to meet an identified need
- present model to key stakeholders using the most appropriate best practice methods.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- explain the elements and principles of design and their application in relevant design context
- describe key features of the wider industry, with the economic, social and historical context for the design solution
- discuss design trends and technologies including other designs and the work of other design practitioners in the relevant context
- summarise sources of information that support the development of technical and other knowledge
- describe the technical expertise, resources, materials, tools, equipment, techniques and industry processes required for the area the design solutions are being implemented in.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the design process field of work and include access to:

- other people to reflect the collaborative nature of the design process

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2025 Future Skills Organisation

- resources required to test a design solution in a given industry context including materials, tools, equipment and expertise.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

BSBDES502 Establish, negotiate and refine a design brief

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to work proactively with a client or commissioning organisation to develop and negotiate a design brief.

It applies to individuals working in any industry or design context where the designer plays a key role in determining the scope and nature of work required. Establishment, negotiation and refinement of a design brief requires the integration of highly-developed creative thinking, communication and planning skills in a process that may not be linear. Adaptability and effective responses to change and new ideas are crucial.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Unit Sector

Design – Design Process

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1 Establish design requirements	1.1 Identify and make appropriate contact with relevant stakeholders for the design project, in addition to the client 1.2 Identify and source information and references relevant to the design project 1.3 Undertake critical analysis of sources and extract key information to inform the design project

	1.4 Liaise with client and other key stakeholders to determine overall objectives and parameters for the design project 1.5 Proactively seek, review and act on information needed to inform constructive communication with client 1.6 Build trust and respect between self and client through effective communication and demonstration of professional integrity
2 Develop and refine design brief	2.1 Develop concepts and ideas for inclusion in design brief, taking account of overall objectives and parameters 2.2 Undertake own analysis of concept and challenge ideas and approaches taken to ensure responsiveness to project needs 2.3 Present ideas in an appropriate format/medium and seek feedback from key stakeholders 2.4 Use effective communication techniques to generate discussion, debate and critical analysis 2.5 Re-evaluate and refine options based on own analysis and discourse with others 2.6 Establish and agree on final nature and scope of design brief with client and accurately document details
3 Negotiate terms and conditions	3.1 Negotiate and agree terms and conditions of brief in accordance with relevant organisational and professional standards 3.2 Clarify, agree and document roles and responsibilities of those involved in the project 3.3 Confirm agreements in writing in accordance with organisational requirements 3.4 Identify the need for specialist advice when developing formal agreements or contracts, and seek appropriate assistance

		various sources to develop ideas and concepts
Writing	1.1, 1.3-1.5, 2.1-2.3, 2.6, 3.1-3.3	• Develops a range of documents using appropriate vocabulary, context and formatting for different audiences
Oral Communication	1.1, 1.4-1.6, 2.3, 2.4, 2.6, 3.1, 3.2	• Participates in discussions to elicit views of others by asking questions and listening to responses • Presents ideas and seeks feedback from others using appropriate tone, vocabulary and language structures
Numeracy	1.2-1.4	• Interprets and applies numeric information relevant to design brief
Navigate the world of work	1.2, 1.3, 3.1, 3.3, 3.4	• Identifies and adheres to organisational policies and procedures, industry standards and legislative requirements during planning and design of design solution
Interact with others	1.1, 1.4-1.6, 2.3, 2.4, 2.6, 3.1, 3.4	• Uses appropriate communication conventions and protocols to seek information from stakeholders • Uses a range of collaborative techniques to clarify and refine ideas and negotiate agreeable outcomes with others
Get the work done	1.1-1.3, 1.5, 2.1, 2.2, 2.5, 3.2	• Sequences and schedules complex activities, monitors implementation, and manages relevant communication • Applies formal problem-solving processes when responding to unpredictable issues and challenges that arise during the testing process • Makes a range of critical and non-critical decisions in relatively complex situations, taking client and organisational requirements and possible constraints into account • Generates new or innovative ideas or concepts through exploration, analysis and critical thinking

Range of Conditions

This section specifies different work environments and conditions that may affect performance. Essential operating conditions that may be present (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) are included.

Information and references relevant to the design brief must include consideration of:	• legislative and regulatory context • financial/budgetary information • organisational materials • technical reports/data.

Assessment Requirements for BSBDES502 Establish, negotiate and refine a design brief

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- develop and finalise at least TWO design briefs for a specific industry purpose
- demonstrate highly-developed interpersonal skills, self-evaluation techniques and the ability to seek expert advice when required.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- discuss the legal issues that affect negotiations and contracts in the relevant work context
- explain the design process within the specific industry context/design discipline
- compare and contrast the scope, nature and potential variations that occur within design briefs relevant to a specific context
- identify sources of information to assist the development of design concepts within a specific industry context.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the design process field of work and include access to:

- appropriate equipment and media to communicate and present ideas and concepts
- sources of information relevant to industry context
- interaction with others to reflect the collaborative nature of the work, and communication and negotiation skills required.

BSBDES601 Manage design realisation

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to manage the process of taking a design from concept to final realisation or production. It has a strong focus on planning, implementation and monitoring skills, combined with a sound knowledge of design and production issues and challenges in a given context.

It applies to individuals working in any industry context or design discipline who take responsibility for turning design concept into reality – a product or service of value to the end-user. This person could be an individual designer-maker or a designer working as part of a larger design/production team.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Unit Sector

Design – Design Process

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1 Plan realisation of design	1.1 Collect, analyse and maintain relevant information on the design 1.2 Discuss and agree on standards of work and monitoring requirements with appropriate stakeholders 1.3 Develop clear plan and schedule for design realisation,

	including key roles and responsibilities linked to timelines and budget
2 Implement and monitor realisation of design	2.1 Organise and/or allocate resources to achieve realisation of design within required standards, timeframes and budget 2.2 Liaise with others involved in design realisation to ensure obligations and quality standards are met within time, budget and technical resources 2.3 Maintain accurate, relevant and complete documentation in accordance with agreed standards 2.4 Monitor process to ensure integrity of design is maintained at all times, including through the process of challenging and interrogating own design work 2.5 Promptly identify difficulties or problems that arise in relation to realisation of design and take action to rectify situation
3 Liaise and negotiate with stakeholders	3.1 Establish and maintain appropriate communication channels with relevant stakeholders 3.2 Proactively seek and provide information to facilitate effective design realisation 3.3 Adhere to agreed terms and conditions or negotiate appropriate changes in light of changed circumstances 3.4 Negotiate and agree on revisions with relevant parties in a professional manner, to enhance quality of outcome
4 Complete design process	4.1 Finalise design outcomes in accordance with terms and conditions 4.2 Seek feedback from key stakeholders on finished design and make final adjustments as agreed 4.3 Evaluate completed design in relation to own work and overall process, to inform future practice

Writing	2.3, 3.1, 3.2, 4.3	• Produces documentation using appropriate structure, language and context to articulate own ideas and positions
Oral Communication	1.2, 3.2-3.4, 4.2	• Articulates clearly using specific language and appropriate tone to convey information • Uses active questioning and listening techniques to confirm understanding
Numeracy	1.3, 2.1	• Interprets and uses numeric information in budgets and to determine work schedules
Navigate the world of work	2.3, 3.3, 4.1	• Works independently and collectively within broad parameters, with a strong sense of responsibility and ownership of plans, decisions and outcomes • Adheres to organisational policies and procedures
Interact with others	1.2, 2.2, 3.1, 3.2, 3.4	• Recognises the importance of taking audience, purpose and contextual factors into account when making decisions about what to communicate, with whom, why and how • Fosters a collaborative culture within own sphere of influence, facilitating a sense of cohesion and commitment
Get the work done	1.1, 1.3, 2.1, 2.4, 2.5	• Takes responsibility for planning and organising tasks to meet workplace deadlines, including those tasks that require liaison with other people • Applies formal problem-solving processes when responding to unpredictable issues and challenges that arise during the design process • Uses each experience to reflect on how variables impact outcomes to inform future practices

Assessment Requirements for BSBDES601 Manage design realisation

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- produce a design according to all brief requirements
- demonstrate highly-developed interpersonal and negotiation skills to deliver the finished product.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- outline key responsibilities of relevant personnel in this context
- describe best practices when dealing with setbacks in the production process
- explain production processes in a particular industry context or discipline including required materials, tools and equipment.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the design process field of work and include access to:

- resources, tools, materials and equipment required for realising a design in a specific context
- a design concept that the candidate can take to realisation stage
- other people to reflect the collaborative nature of the work.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

BSBDES602 Research global design trends

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to research and critically evaluate global design trends. The focus is on research and analysis of information and ideas at a complex level, plus the evaluation and extension of the individual's professional skills.

It applies to individuals who need to maintain a current and comprehensive knowledge of global design trends to inform their own professional practice. Although predominantly for designers, this unit may also be relevant to those who work in related management, marketing and production areas.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Unit Sector

Design – Design Process

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1 Research design trends	1.1 Analyse and select formal and informal research strategies to source information on global design trends 1.2 Identify and explore new and alternative sources 1.3 Evaluate the credibility of information gathered and ensure research scope is sufficiently broad

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
2 Analyse design trends to inform own practice	2.1 Use information to challenge and extend own perspectives and ways of thinking 2.2 Examine and assess implications and consequences of design trends on own work 2.3 Use critical analysis to identify creative or commercial opportunities presented by emerging trends and technologies 2.4 Develop systems to identify and respond to future opportunities
3 Develop and articulate positions and ideas	3.1 Develop substantiated positions and ideas on global design trends 3.2 Generate informed discussion, debate and critical analysis with peers and colleagues 3.3 Use debate and feedback to challenge and refine own positions
4 Extend own design skills	4.1 Proactively identify and use opportunities presented by research to extend own design skills 4.2 Re-evaluate and refine approaches to work in the context of current and emerging trends 4.3 Use practice, discussion and ongoing evaluation to continuously improve skills

This section describes language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills incorporated in the performance criteria that are required for competent performance.

Skill	Performance Criteria	Description
Learning	4.1-4.3	• Plans and implements strategies to improve and extend own knowledge and skills
Reading	1.1-1.3, 2.1, 2.2	• Analyses and synthesises complex and varied information from a range of sources
Writing	2.4	• Documents methods for identifying future opportunities using vocabulary and structure appropriate to context and purpose
Oral Communication	3.2, 3.3, 4.3	• Elicits the views others by participating in critical discourse and debate on conceptual and technical
