Unit Descriptor
This unit specifies the outcomes required to collect, analyse and communicate information and to use that information to develop and maintain effective working relationships and networks, with particular regard to communication and representation.
This unit replaces BSBFLM403A Manage effective workplace relationships.
Frontline managers play an important role in developing and maintaining positive relationships in internal and external environments so that customers, suppliers and the organisation achieve planned outputs and outcomes. They play a prominent part in motivating, mentoring, coaching and developing team cohesion through providing leadership for the team and forming the bridge between the management of the organisation and the team members.
At this level, work will normally be carried out within routine and non-routine methods and procedures, which require planning and evaluation and leadership and guidance of others.
This unit builds on BSBFLM303B Contribute to effective workplace relationships. Consider co-assessment with BSBFLM412A Promote team effectiveness. This unit is related to BSBFLM503B Manage effective workplace relationships.

Evidence Guide

The Evidence Guide provides advice to inform and support appropriate assessment of this unit. It contains an overview of the assessment requirements followed by identification of specific aspects of evidence that will need to be addressed in determining competence. The Evidence Guide is an integral part of the unit and should be read and interpreted in conjunction with the other components of competency. Assessment must reflect the endorsed Assessment Guidelines of the parent Training Package.

Overview of Assessment Requirements

A person who demonstrates competence in this unit must be able to provide evidence that they are able to access, analyse and communicate information and ideas to develop and maintain positive internal and external work relationships; develop trust and confidence within the work team; develop and maintain networks; and resolve problems and conflicts effectively and efficiently.

Specific Evidence Requirements

Required knowledge and understanding include:
- relevant legislation from all levels of government that affects business operation, especially in regard to occupational health and safety and environmental issues, equal opportunity, industrial relations and anti-discrimination
- the principles and techniques associated with managing work relationships to achieve planning responsibilities:
  - developing trust and confidence
  - maintaining consistent behaviour in work relationships
  - identifying the cultural and social environment
  - identifying and assessing interpersonal styles
  - establishing, building and maintaining networks
  - identifying and resolving problems
  - resolving conflict
  - managing poor work performance
  - monitoring, analysing and introducing ways to improve work relationships
  - contributing to the elimination of discrimination/bias

Required skills and attributes include:
- ability to relate to people from a range of social, cultural and ethnic backgrounds and physical and mental abilities
- functional literacy skills to access and use workplace information
- skills to research, analyse, interpret and report information
- relationship management and communication skills: responding to unexpected demands from a range of people
- using supportive and consultative processes effectively
- forging effective relationships with internal and/or external people and developing and maintaining these networks
- gaining the trust and confidence of colleagues
- dealing with people openly and fairly
- coaching and mentoring skills to provide support to colleagues

Key competencies or generic skills relevant to this unit

The seven key competencies represent generic skills considered essential for effective work participation. Innovation skills represent a further area of generic competence. The bracketed numbering indicates the performance level required in this unit:
Level (1) represents the competence to undertake tasks effectively Level (2) represents the competence to manage tasks Level (3) represents the competence to use concepts for evaluating and reshaping tasks. The bulleted points provide examples of how the key competencies can be applied for this unit.

Communicating ideas and information (2) selecting and applying different communication methods to suit different groups and individuals

Collecting, analysing and organising information (2) collecting and analysing contributions from internal and external sources

Planning and organising activities (2) organising information and feedback collected from various sources

Working in a team (2) implementing a range of strategies to facilitate effective workplace relationships

Using mathematical ideas and techniques (1) using appropriate calculations to aid effective planning

Solving problems (2)
using skills and information to assist in the area of conflict resolution and as an aid to decision making

Using technology (2) assisting in the management, distribution and communication of information

Innovation skills (2) adopting new ideas and approaches to develop and maintain networks, effective workplace relationships and effective communication within the work team

Products that could be used as evidence include:
documentation produced in managing people within the work team, such as:
- contribution to organisational policies and procedures
- contribution to procedures and policies for dealing with workplace relationships and communications, and related codes of conduct
- actions taken to address social and ethical standards in the workplace
- actions taken to address issues and problems within work team
- actions taken to address methods of maintaining networks and developing contacts within and outside the organisation
- learning and development plans for team members

Processes that could be used as evidence include:
how strategies were implemented to ensure that information was collected and accessed how ideas and information were communicated how communication process was implemented and feedback received and dealt with how policies were implemented, and contributions sought and used to develop new ideas and approaches how processes were implemented to facilitate new ideas and approaches examples of how issues have been resolved how the organisation's social and ethical standards have been used within workplace relationships how trust and confidence has been developed and maintained how interpersonal styles and methods were adjusted to suit the organisation's social and cultural environment examples of how networks were developed and maintained how strategic networks were used to build relationships how ongoing planning and implementation has been conducted how strategies were implemented to ensure that difficulties were addressed and solutions were planned how colleagues were guided and supported to resolve work difficulties examples of how poor work performance and conflict was managed

Resource implications for assessment include:
access by the learner and trainer to appropriate documentation and resources normally used in the workplace

Validity and sufficiency of evidence requires: that this unit can be assessed in the workplace or in a closely simulated work environment that where assessment is part of a learning experience, evidence will need to be collected over a period of time, involving both formative and summative assessment that examples of actions taken by candidate to implement effective workplace relationships are provided

Integrated competency assessment means:
that this unit should be assessed with other frontline management units taken as part of this qualification, as applicable to the candidate's leadership role in a work team and as part of an integrated assessment activity
