Release: 1

Assessment Requirements for CPPSEC2106 Protect self and others using basic defensive techniques

Modification History

Release 1.

Supersedes and is equivalent to CPPSEC2017A Protect self and others using basic defensive techniques.

Updated to meet the Standards for Training Packages.

This version first released with CPP Property Services Training Package Version 7.0.

Performance Evidence

To demonstrate competency in this unit, a person must protect self and others using basic defensive techniques for three different threat situations. For each threat situation, the person must demonstrate correct techniques for avoidance, body safety and body positioning including:

- bladed stance
- interview stance
- defensive stance.

In doing this, the person must meet the performance criteria for this unit.

Knowledge Evidence

To be competent in this unit, a person must demonstrate knowledge of:

- standard operating procedures and workplace policies that ensure compliance with legislative and regulatory requirements when protecting self and others using basic defensive techniques:
 - anti-discrimination and diversity
 - apprehension, arrest and restraint of persons
 - duty of care
 - licensing requirements and limits of own authority
 - trespass and the removal of persons
 - use of force
 - workplace health and safety (WHS)
- approved communication terminology, call signs and radio channels used in the security industry
- basic understanding of the force model
- basic defensive techniques and how and when they can be applied including:
 - blocking techniques
 - locking and holding techniques

- take-down techniques
- body safety and body positioning techniques including:
 - bladed stance
 - interview stance
 - defensive stance
- methods of restraint and associated effects, including signs and symptoms of positional asphyxiation
- pre-attack indicators
- procedures for communicating with emergency services
- procedures for effecting an arrest
- process of dynamic risk assessment and how it is applied
- response options using basic defensive techniques that are within specified legal limits
- signs that a person may be suffering from emotional or physical distress
- signs that a person may be suffering from mental illness
- signs that a person may be under the influence of intoxicating substances or substance-affected.

Assessment Conditions

Assessors must satisfy the requirements for assessors contained in the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs). All individuals engaged by a licensed RTO for security licensing purposes must hold both a security trainer's licence (where such a licence exists within the relevant jurisdiction) and a security operative licence that authorises the security activities about which the individual is training/assessing. Regulators may impose other assessor conditions to meet jurisdictional assessment requirements.

Assessment of performance must be undertaken in a simulated workplace environment. Tasks are to be performed to the level of proficiency and within the time limits that would be expected in a workplace.

The assessment of performance evidence must be done by direct observation of the learner by an assessor, either by an assessor observing the learner physically or by an assessor observing the learner via audio and visual media.

Assessment of performance evidence is only valid where the learner has been assessed performing the role of a security officer.

Assessors are responsible for ensuring that the person demonstrating competency has access to:

- specifications of assessment tasks to protect self and others using basic defensive techniques
- appropriate documents, materials, equipment and personal protective equipment (PPE) currently used in industry
- standard operating procedures and workplace policies related to the security work role and which specify requirements for complying with industry legislation and regulations.
