Performance Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate the ability to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit, including evidence of the ability to:

- produce graphic work using different techniques that meet the requirements of at least two briefs.

In the course of the above, the candidate must:

- interpret information in briefs and related research
- select and care for required resources
- test graphic design methods and techniques and document outcomes and design approaches.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate knowledge to complete the tasks outlined in the elements, performance criteria and foundation skills of this unit, including knowledge of:

- techniques for using experimentation in developing and refining graphic design work
- importance of researching information about graphic design when completing design work
- typical information found in graphic design briefs
- typical parameters and constraints to be considered when interpreting design briefs, including:
 - intellectual property considerations
 - availability of resources
 - time and budget
- common techniques, materials, tools and equipment used in graphic design
- health and safety requirements related to establishing work space and using materials and equipment for graphic design work.

Assessment Conditions

Skills in this unit must be demonstrated in a workplace or simulated environment where the conditions are typical of those in a working environment in this industry.

This includes access to:

- graphic design briefs
- information sources for graphic design research
- equipment and tools used to produce graphic design work
- opportunities for discussion and feedback.

Assessors of this unit must satisfy the requirements for assessors in applicable vocational educational and training legislation, frameworks and/or standards.
