Release: 1.0

CONTENTS

DEF Defence Training Package	24
DEF21115 Certificate II in Military Skills	25
DEF22115 Certificate II in Explosive Ordnance	28
DEF22215 Certificate II in Explosive Ordnance Manufacture	31
DEF32115 Certificate III in Explosive Ordnance Manufacture	35
DEF32215 Certificate III in Explosive Ordnance Proof and Experimental.....	40
DEF32315 Certificate III in Explosive Ordnance Maintenance	44
DEF32415 Certificate III in Explosive Ordnance Operations	48
DEF33115 Certificate III in Sensor Operations	52
DEF42115 Certificate IV in Explosive Ordnance Maintenance	55
DEF42215 Certificate IV in Explosive Ordnance Proof and Experimental.....	60
DEF42315 Certificate IV in Explosive Ordnance Manufacture	65
DEF42415 Certificate IV in Explosive Ordnance Operations	70
DEF43115 Certificate IV in Electronic Forensics	74
DEF43215 Certificate IV in Simulator Maintenance	77
DEF43315 Certificate IV in Work Health Safety	81
DEF45115 Certificate IV in Range Control	84
DEF51115 Diploma of Leadership.....	87
DEF52115 Diploma of Explosive Ordnance	91
DEF52215 Diploma of Explosive Ordnance Manufacture	95
DEF52315 Diploma of Explosive Ordnance Proof and Experimental.....	100
DEF53115 Diploma of Electronic Forensics.....	104
DEF53215 Diploma of Simulator Maintenance.....	107
DEF53415 Diploma of Institutional and Operational Chaplaincy.....	110
DEF54315 Diploma of Evaluations	113
DEF55115 Diploma of Range Management.....	116
DEF72115 Graduate Certificate in Explosive Ordnance.....	120
DEF82115 Graduate Diploma of Explosive Ordnance	123
AHCCCF501A Evaluate project submissions	126
BSBADM101 Use business equipment and resources	132
Assessment Requirements for BSBADM101 Use business equipment and resources	135
BSBADM101A Use business equipment and resources.....	137
BSBADM409A Coordinate business resources	143
BSBADM502 Manage meetings.....	149
Assessment Requirements for BSBADM502 Manage meetings	153
BSBADM502B Manage meetings	155
BSBAUD402 Participate in a quality audit	163
Assessment Requirements for BSBAUD402 Participate in a quality audit.....	167
BSBAUD402B Participate in a quality audit.....	169
BSBAUD501 Initiate a quality audit.....	177
Assessment Requirements for BSBAUD501 Initiate a quality audit.....	181
BSBAUD501B Initiate a quality audit	183
BSBAUD503 Lead a quality audit	191
Assessment Requirements for BSBAUD503 Lead a quality audit	195
BSBAUD503B Lead a quality audit	197
BSBAUD504 Report on a quality audit.....	203
Assessment Requirements for BSBAUD504 Report on a quality audit	206
BSBAUD504B Report on a quality audit	208
BSBCMM101 Apply basic communication skills.....	215

Assessment Requirements for BSB CMM101 Apply basic communication skills	218
BSBCMM101A Apply basic communication skills	220
BSBCMM201 Communicate in the workplace	226
Assessment Requirements for BSB CMM201 Communicate in the workplace	229
BSBCMM201A Communicate in the workplace	231
BSBCOM403 Provide education and training on compliance requirements and systems	237
Assessment Requirements for BSB COM403 Provide education and training on compliance requirements and systems	241
BSBCOM403B Provide education and training on compliance requirements and systems	243
BSBCOM404 Promote and liaise on compliance requirements, systems and related issues	255
Assessment Requirements for BSB COM404 Promote and liaise on compliance requirements, systems and related issues	260
BSBCOM404B Promote and liaise on compliance requirements, systems and related issues	262
BSBCOM501 Identify and interpret compliance requirements	276
Assessment Requirements for BSB COM501 Identify and interpret compliance requirements	280
BSBCOM501B Identify and interpret compliance requirements	282
BSBCOM502 Evaluate and review compliance	292
Assessment Requirements for BSB COM502 Evaluate and review compliance	296
BSBCOM502B Evaluate and review compliance	298
BSBCOM601 Research compliance requirements and issues	308
Assessment Requirements for BSB COM601 Research compliance requirements and issues	312
BSBCOM601B Research compliance requirements and issues	314
BSBCRT401 Articulate, present and debate ideas	323
Assessment Requirements for BSB CRT401 Articulate, present and debate ideas	326
BSBCUS402 Address customer needs	328
Assessment Requirements for BSB CUS402 Address customer needs	331
BSBCUS402B Address customer needs	333
BSBCUS501 Manage quality customer service	339
Assessment Requirements for BSB CUS501 Manage quality customer service	342
BSBCUS501C Manage quality customer service	344
BSBFIM501 Manage budgets and financial plans	350
Assessment Requirements for BSB FIM501 Manage budgets and financial plans	353
BSBFIM501A Manage budgets and financial plans	355
BSBINM201 Process and maintain workplace information	363
Assessment Requirements for BSBINM201 Process and maintain workplace information	366
BSBINM201A Process and maintain workplace information	368
BSBINM501 Manage an information or knowledge management system	374
Assessment Requirements for BSBINM501 Manage an information or knowledge management system	378
BSBINM501A Manage an information or knowledge management system	380
BSBINN502 Build and sustain an innovative work environment	387
Assessment Requirements for BSBINN502 Build and sustain an innovative work environment	391
BSBINN502A Build and sustain an innovative work environment	393
BSBITU401A Design and develop complex text documents	401
BSBLDR403 Lead team effectiveness	410
Assessment Requirements for BSBLDR403 Lead team effectiveness	413
BSBLDR803 Develop and cultivate collaborative partnerships and relationships	415
Assessment Requirements for BSBLDR803 Develop and cultivate collaborative partnerships and relationships	419
BSBLED401 Develop teams and individuals	421
Assessment Requirements for BSBLED401 Develop teams and individuals	425

BSBLED401A Develop teams and individuals427
BSBLED501 Develop a workplace learning environment.....434
Assessment Requirements for BSBLED501 Develop a workplace learning environment438
BSBLED501A Develop a workplace learning environment440
BSBMGT402 Implement operational plan447
Assessment Requirements for BSBMGT402 Implement operational plan451
BSBMGT402A Implement operational plan.....453
BSBMGT403 Implement continuous improvement.....460
Assessment Requirements for BSBMGT403 Implement continuous improvement.....463
BSBMGT403A Implement continuous improvement.....465
BSBMGT502 Manage people performance471
Assessment Requirements for BSBMGT502 Manage people performance475
BSBMGT502B Manage people performance477
BSBMGT515A Manage operational plan484
BSBMGT516 Facilitate continuous improvement.....491
Assessment Requirements for BSBMGT516 Facilitate continuous improvement495
BSBMGT516C Facilitate continuous improvement.....497
BSBMGT517 Manage operational plan.....504
Assessment Requirements for BSBMGT517 Manage operational plan.....508
BSBMGT608 Manage innovation and continuous improvement510
Assessment Requirements for BSBMGT608 Manage innovation and continuous improvement.....514
BSBPMG409 Apply project scope management techniques.....516
Assessment Requirements for BSBPMG409 Apply project scope management techniques519
BSBPMG409A Apply project scope -management techniques.....521
BSBPMG414 Apply project information management and communications techniques 527 Assessment Requirements for BSBPMG414 Apply project information management and communications techniques530
BSBPMG414A Apply project information management and communications techniques532
BSBPMG522 Undertake project work.....538
Assessment Requirements for BSBPMG522 Undertake project work542
BSBPMG522A Undertake project work544
BSBREL401A Establish networks551
BSBREL701A Develop and cultivate collaborative partnerships and relationships557
BSBRES401 Analyse and present research information570
Assessment Requirements for BSBRES401 Analyse and present research information..574
BSBRISK401 Identify risk and apply risk management processes.....576
Assessment Requirements for BSBRISK401 Identify risk and apply risk management processes.....579
BSBRISK401A Identify risk and apply risk management processes581
BSBRISK501 Manage risk.....588
Assessment Requirements for BSBRISK501 Manage risk592
BSBRISK501B Manage risk594
BSBSUS201A Participate in environmentally sustainable work practices600
BSBSUS301A Implement and monitor environmentally sustainable work practices.....607
BSBWHS201 Contribute to health and safety of self and others617
Assessment Requirements for BSBWHS201 Contribute to health and safety of self and others620
BSBWHS201A Contribute to health and safety of self and others622
BSBWHS301 Maintain workplace safety.....628
Assessment Requirements for BSBWHS301 Maintain workplace safety632
BSBWHS301A Maintain workplace safety.....634

BSB WHS401 Implement and monitor WHS policies, procedures and programs to meet legislative requirements642
Assessment Requirements for BSB WHS401 Implement and monitor WHS policies, procedures and programs to meet legislative requirements646
BSB WHS401A Implement and monitor WHS policies, procedures and programs to meet legislative requirements648
BSB WHS402 Assist with compliance with WHS laws.....656
Assessment Requirements for BSB WHS402 Assist with compliance with WHS laws660
BSB WHS404 Contribute to WHS hazard identification, risk assessment and risk control662
Assessment Requirements for BSB WHS404 Contribute to WHS hazard identification, risk assessment and risk control.....666
BSB WHS501 Ensure a safe workplace668
Assessment Requirements for BSB WHS501 Ensure a safe workplace672
BSB WHS501A Ensure a safe workplace.....674
BSB WOR404 Develop work priorities.....680
Assessment Requirements for BSB WOR404 Develop work priorities684
BSB WOR501 Manage personal work priorities and professional development.....686
Assessment Requirements for BSB WOR501 Manage personal work priorities and professional development.....689
BSB WOR501B Manage personal work priorities and professional development691
BSB WOR502 Lead and manage team effectiveness.....697
Assessment Requirements for BSB WOR502 Lead and manage team effectiveness701
BSB WRT301 Write simple documents703
Assessment Requirements for BSB WRT301 Write simple documents.....706
BSB WRT301A Write simple documents.....708
BSB WRT401 Write complex documents714
Assessment Requirements for BSB WRT401 Write complex documents717
BSB WRT401A Write complex documents.....719
CPCCOHS1001A Work safely in the construction industry726
DEFCHP001 Provide pastoral care737
Assessment Requirements for DEFCHP001 Provide pastoral care740
DEFCHP002 Provide ethical and pastoral advice.....742
Assessment Requirements for DEFCHP002 Provide ethical and pastoral advice745
DEFCHP003 Plan the delivery of chaplaincy support747
Assessment Requirements for DEFCHP003 Plan the delivery of chaplaincy support750
DEFCHP004 Conduct and facilitate religious observances and activities752
Assessment Requirements for DEFCHP004 Conduct and facilitate religious observances and activities.....755
DEFCHP005 Perform as an effective member of the Chaplains' branch.....757
Assessment Requirements for DEFCHP005 Perform as an effective member of the Chaplains' branch.....760
DEFCHP006 Perform the duties of a chaplain in a deployed environment.....762
Assessment Requirements for DEFCHP006 Perform the duties of a chaplain in a deployed environment.....765
DEFMCM001 Maintain security in a Defence communications and information systems environment.....767
Assessment Requirements for DEFMCM001 Maintain security in a Defence communications and information systems environment.....770
DEFMCM002 Transmit and receive messages utilising Defence messaging systems.....772
Assessment Requirements for DEFMCM002 Transmit and receive messages utilising Defence messaging systems775
DEFMCM003 Transmit and receive data via information exchange systems777

Assessment Requirements for DEFCMM003 Transmit and receive data via information exchange systems780

DEFCMM004 Conduct operator level maintenance in a Defence environment782

Assessment Requirements for DEFCMM004 Conduct operator level maintenance in a Defence environment785

DEFCMM005 Transmit and receive messages via voice systems787

Assessment Requirements for DEFCMM005 Transmit and receive messages via voice systems.....790

DEFCMM006 Support the operation of a communications and information system facility792

Assessment Requirements for DEFCMM006 Support the operation of a communications and information system facility795

DEFEVL001 Develop an evaluation program.....797

Assessment Requirements for DEFEVL001 Develop an evaluation program800

DEFEVL002 Evaluate and report collected information802

Assessment Requirements for DEFEVL002 Evaluate and report collected information .805

DEFEVL003 Maintain and enhance professional practice.....807

Assessment Requirements for DEFEVL003 Maintain and enhance professional practice810

DEFEVL004 Evaluate a training and assessment system.....812

Assessment Requirements for DEFEVL004 Evaluate a training and assessment system815

DEFEVL005 Evaluate a community based program817

Assessment Requirements for DEFEVL005 Evaluate a community based program820

DEFEVL006 Evaluate business performance822

Assessment Requirements for DEFEVL006 Evaluate business performance825

DEFEXO001 Work safely with explosive ordnance827

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO001 Work safely with explosive ordnance.....830

DEFEXO002 Respond to fire.....832

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO002 Respond to fire835

DEFEXO003 Establish and maintain the safety and security of explosive warehouses and workshops.....837

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO003 Establish and maintain the safety and security of explosive warehouses and workshops.....840

DEFEXO004 Examine and certify free from explosives.....842

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO004 Examine and certify free from explosives ..845

DEFEXO005 Package explosives847

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO005 Package explosives.....850

DEFEXO006 Unpackage explosives.....852

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO006 Unpackage explosives855

DEFEXO007 Monitor explosive ordnance environmental conditions857

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO007 Monitor explosive ordnance environmental conditions.....860

DEFEXO008 Conduct explosives inspection.....862

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO008 Conduct explosives inspection865

DEFEXO009 Conduct broken seal inspection867

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO009 Conduct broken seal inspection870

DEFEXO010 Conduct explosives packaging inspection.....872

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO010 Conduct explosives packaging inspection ..875

DEFEXO011 Refurbish explosives packaging877

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO011 Refurbish explosives packaging.....880

DEFEXO012 Conduct electrical/electronic circuitry tests882

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO012 Conduct electrical/electronic circuitry tests885

DEFEXO013 Conduct external explosive ordnance maintenance.....887

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO013 Conduct external explosive ordnance maintenance.....890

DEFEXO014 Gauge explosives.....892
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO014 Gauge explosives895
DEFEXO015 Follow security procedures897
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO015 Follow security procedures901
DEFEXO021 Breakdown explosive ordnance903
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO021 Breakdown explosive ordnance906
DEFEXO022 Fuze and defuze explosive ordnance908
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO022 Fuze and defuze explosive ordnance911
DEFEXO023 Assemble and disassemble explosive components.....913
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO023 Assemble and disassemble explosive components.....916
DEFEXO041 Maintain grenades918
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO041 Maintain grenades921
DEFEXO042 Maintain mortar ammunition923
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO042 Maintain mortar ammunition.....926
DEFEXO043 Maintain actuating devices928
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO043 Maintain actuating devices931
DEFEXO044 Maintain pyrotechnics and countermasures933
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO044 Maintain pyrotechnics and countermasures936
DEFEXO045 Maintain guided weapons938
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO045 Maintain guided weapons941
DEFEXO046 Maintain free flight rockets.....943
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO046 Maintain free flight rockets946
DEFEXO047 Maintain gun ammunition948
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO047 Maintain gun ammunition.....951
DEFEXO048 Maintain aerial delivered ordnance953
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO048 Maintain aerial delivered ordnance956
DEFEXO049 Maintain mines958
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO049 Maintain mines.....961
DEFEXO050 Maintain demolition stores963
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO050 Maintain demolition stores966
DEFEXO051 Maintain aircraft egress systems968
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO051 Maintain aircraft egress systems971
DEFEXO052 Maintain cartridge operated fire extinguisher systems973
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO052 Maintain cartridge operated fire extinguisher systems.....976
DEFEXO061 Render explosive ordnance inert.....978
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO061 Render explosive ordnance inert981
DEFEXO062 Operate a small quantity explosives facility983
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO062 Operate a small quantity explosives facility986
DEFEXO063 Operate a large quantity explosives facility.....988
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO063 Operate a large quantity explosives facility991
DEFEXO064 Load and unload platforms.....993
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO064 Load and unload platforms996
DEFEXO065 Prepare and arm weapon systems998
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO065 Prepare and arm weapon systems.....1000
DEFEXO066 Inspect explosive facilities1001
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO066 Inspect explosive facilities.....1004
DEFEXO067 License explosive facilities and potential explosive sites1006
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO067 License explosive facilities and potential explosive sites.....1009
DEFEXO068 Establish and operate an explosive field storage site1011

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO068 Establish and operate an explosive field storage site1014

DEFEXO069 Plan loading of dangerous goods1016

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO069 Plan loading of dangerous goods.....1019

DEFEXO070 Conduct technical explosive investigations.....1021

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO070 Conduct technical explosive investigations1024

DEFEXO071 Test for the presence of explosive substances1026

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO071 Test for the presence of explosive substances1029

DEFEXO082 Apply a knowledge of explosives1031

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO082 Apply a knowledge of explosives.....1034

DEFEXO083 Apply explosive ordnance design principles1036

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO083 Apply explosive ordnance design principles1039

DEFEXO084 Apply knowledge of explosive chemistry1041

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO084 Apply knowledge of explosive chemistry..1044

DEFEXO085 Apply knowledge of explosive physics.....1046

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO085 Apply knowledge of explosive physics.....1049

DEFEXO086 Apply knowledge of explosive materials.....1052

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO086 Apply knowledge of explosive materials ..1055

DEFEXO087 Assess the safety and suitability for service of explosives1057

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO087 Assess the safety and suitability for service of explosives.....1059

DEFEXO088 Conduct explosive capability analysis1060

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO088 Conduct explosive capability analysis1063

DEFEXO089 Assess specific explosives as being safe and suitable for transport1065

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO089 Assess specific explosives as being safe and suitable for transport.....1068

DEFEXO101 Dispose of explosives1070

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO101 Dispose of explosives.....1073

DEFEXO102 Destroy unexploded ordnance1075

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO102 Destroy unexploded ordnance1078

DEFEXO103 Dispose of non-explosive dangerous goods1080

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO103 Dispose of non-explosive dangerous goods1083

DEFEXO104 Operate an in-service remote positioning vehicle1085

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO104 Operate an in-service remote positioning vehicle.....1088

DEFEXO105 Contribute to disposal of explosive ordnance1090

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO105 Contribute to disposal of explosive ordnance1092

DEFEXO106 Conduct explosive ordnance disposal operations1093

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO106 Conduct explosive ordnance disposal operations1095

DEFEXO107 Conduct improvised explosive device disposal operations1096

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO107 Conduct improvised explosive device disposal operations1098

DEFEXO108 Conduct military demolition operations.....1099

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO108 Conduct military demolition operations ..1101

DEFEXO111 Conduct underwater explosive demolitions.....1103

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO111 Conduct underwater explosive demolitions1106

DEFEXO112 Detect, record and collect evidence1108

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO112 Detect, record and collect evidence1111

DEFEXO113 Remove explosive ordnance from damaged aircraft1113

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO113 Remove explosive ordnance from damaged aircraft.....1116

DEFEXO114 Develop explosive ordnance disposal techniques and render safe procedures1118

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO114 Develop explosive ordnance disposal techniques and render safe procedures1121

DEFEXO115 Supervise military explosive task1123

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO115 Supervise military explosive task1126

DEFEXO116 Control military explosive operations1128

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO116 Control military explosive operations1131

DEFEXO117 Manage military explosive operations1133

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO117 Manage military explosive operations1137

DEFEXO121 Assess explosive firings1139

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO121 Assess explosive firings1142

DEFEXO122 Plan explosive trials1144

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO122 Plan explosive trials1147

DEFEXO123 Conduct explosive trials1149

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO123 Conduct explosive trials1152

DEFEXO124 Perform explosive tests, measurements and analyses1154

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO124 Perform explosive tests, measurements and analyses1157

DEFEXO125 Determine the properties of explosives1159

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO125 Determine the properties of explosives1162

DEFEXO126 Conduct post blast analysis1164

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO126 Conduct post blast analysis1167

DEFEXO127 Predict and confirm explosive effects1169

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO127 Predict and confirm explosive effects1171

DEFEXO128 Conduct explosive firings1172

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO128 Conduct explosive firings1175

DEFEXO129 Develop unique explosives1177

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO129 Develop unique explosives1179

DEFEXO141 Prepare firing points1180

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO141 Prepare firing points1183

DEFEXO142 Undertake firings of small arms1185

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO142 Undertake firings of small arms1188

DEFEXO143 Undertake firings of other calibre weapons1190

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO143 Undertake firings of other calibre weapons 1193

DEFEXO144 Conduct static tests1195

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO144 Conduct static tests1198

DEFEXO145 Conduct dynamic small arms tests1200

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO145 Conduct dynamic small arms tests1203

DEFEXO146 Conduct dynamic other calibre tests1205

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO146 Conduct dynamic other calibre tests1208

DEFEXO147 Conduct environmental tests1210

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO147 Conduct environmental tests1213

DEFEXO148 Prepare explosives for proof tests1215

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO148 Prepare explosives for proof tests1218

DEFEXO149 Prepare explosives for metal hardening1220

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO149 Prepare explosives for metal hardening ...1223

DEFEXO150 Acquire data related to velocity1225

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO150 Acquire data related to velocity1228

DEFEXO151 Acquire data related to pressure1230

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO151 Acquire data related to pressure1233

DEFEXO152 Acquire data related to time1235

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO152 Acquire data related to time1238

DEFEXO153 Acquire data related to environment1240

Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO153 Acquire data related to environment1243

DEFEXO154 Acquire data related to imagery.....1245
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO154 Acquire data related to imagery1248
DEFEXO155 Provide survey data for proof and experimental firing1250
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO155 Provide survey data for proof and experimental firing1253
DEFEXO156 Operate small watercraft1255
Assessment Requirements for DEFEXO156 Operate small watercraft1258
DEFFIT001 Conduct a group fitness appraisal.....1260
Assessment Requirements for DEFFIT001 Conduct a group fitness appraisal1263
DEFFIT002 Develop a group fitness program1265
Assessment Requirements for DEFFIT002 Develop a group fitness program.....1268
DEFFIT003 Conduct individual fitness assessments1270
Assessment Requirements for DEFFIT003 Conduct individual fitness assessments1273
DEFFIT004 Instruct a workplace physical training session.....1275
Assessment Requirements for DEFFIT004 Instruct a workplace physical training session 1279
DEFFOR001 Inspect, maintain and test electronic forensic equipment1281
Assessment Requirements for DEFFOR001 Inspect, maintain and test electronic forensic equipment.....1284
DEFFOR002 Conduct initial electronic investigation1286
Assessment Requirements for DEFFOR002 Conduct initial electronic investigation....1289
DEFFOR003 Gather and analyse electronic information1291
Assessment Requirements for DEFFOR003 Gather and analyse electronic information 1294
DEFFOR004 Capture forensic photographic images1297
Assessment Requirements for DEFFOR004 Capture forensic photographic images1300
DEFFOR005 Compile and submit electronic media forensic documentation.....1302
Assessment Requirements for DEFFOR005 Compile and submit electronic media forensic documentation.....1305
DEFFOR006 Conduct electronic data search and analysis1307
Assessment Requirements for DEFFOR006 Conduct electronic data search and analysis 1310
DEFFOR007 Set up, operate and maintain a portable audio recorder1312
Assessment Requirements for DEFFOR007 Set up, operate and maintain a portable audio recorder.....1315
DEFFOR008 Detect, record and collect electronic evidence1317
Assessment Requirements for DEFFOR008 Detect, record and collect electronic evidence 1320
DEFFOR009 Give evidence of electronic media crime.....1322
Assessment Requirements for DEFFOR009 Give evidence of electronic media crime ..1325
DEFFOR010 Produce an electronic media image for forensic purposes.....1327
Assessment Requirements for DEFFOR010 Produce an electronic media image for forensic purposes1330
DEFFOR011 Assess, control and examine electronic incident scenes.....1332
Assessment Requirements for DEFFOR011 Assess, control and examine electronic incident scenes1335
DEFGEN001 Work in a team.....1337
Assessment Requirements for DEFGEN001 Work in a team.....1340
DEFGEN002 Work independently1342
Assessment Requirements for DEFGEN002 Work independently1345
DEFGEN003 Lead a team1347
Assessment Requirements for DEFGEN003 Lead a team.....1350
DEFGEN004 Manage personal performance.....1352
Assessment Requirements for DEFGEN004 Manage personal performance1355
DEFGEN005 Develop relationships with other organisations1357
Assessment Requirements for DEFGEN005 Develop relationships with other organisations.....1360

DEFGEN006 Work with equity and diversity.....	1362
Assessment Requirements for DEFGEN006 Work with equity and diversity	1365
DEFGEN007 Conduct risk assessment in a Defence environment.....	1367
Assessment Requirements for DEFGEN007 Conduct risk assessment in a Defence environment.....	1370
DEFGEN008 Treat risk within Defence at an operational level.....	1372
Assessment Requirements for DEFGEN008 Treat risk within Defence at an operational level.....	1375
DEFGEN009 Analyse causes and identify countermeasures for injuries in physical activities.....	1377
Assessment Requirements for DEFGEN009 Analyse causes and identify countermeasures for injuries in physical activities	1380
DEFGEN010 Supervise equity and diversity in the workplace	1382
Assessment Requirements for DEFGEN010 Supervise equity and diversity in the workplace	1385
DEFGEN011 Interpret policy, legislation and regulations	1387
Assessment Requirements for DEFGEN011 Interpret policy, legislation and regulations.....	1390
DEFGEN012 Provide technical advice.....	1392
Assessment Requirements for DEFGEN012 Provide technical advice	1395
DEFGEN013 Provide Initial Response to Combat Casualty.....	1397
Assessment Requirements for DEFGEN013 Provide Initial Response to Combat Casualty.....	1400
DEFGEN014 Act as a range safety officer on a permanent range.....	1402
Assessment Requirements for DEFGEN014 Act as a range safety officer on a permanent range.....	1405
DEFGEN015 Conduct basic range practices on a permanent range	1407
Assessment Requirements for DEFGEN015 Conduct basic range practices on a permanent range.....	1410
DEFGEN016 Administer personnel.....	1412
Assessment Requirements for DEFGEN016 Administer personnel	1416
DEFGEN017 Identify material suitable for publication within Defence	1418

Qualification Description

This qualification allows for the attainment of competencies in leadership. This qualification was written for Defence officers, but may apply to any person required to provide leadership in difficult circumstances. The leadership context will vary depending on the occupational groups; these occupational outcomes are not reflected in the qualification.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this qualification at the time of publication.

Packaging Rules

14 units of competency are required for this qualification:

- 4 core units
- 10 elective units

Choose a minimum of 6 electives from the list below.

Choose the remaining 4 electives from the list below or from elsewhere within this training package, or from another endorsed training package, or from an accredited course.

All elective units selected from outside this qualification must reflect the occupational and learning outcomes of this AQF qualification level. Seek further advice on selecting imported units of competency in the DEF Implementation Guide.

Elective units selected must not duplicate content already covered by other units in this qualification.

DEF53415 Diploma of Institutional and Operational Chaplaincy

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This qualification was released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages.

Qualification Description

This qualification has been designed to provide a package of competencies reflecting the responsibilities of a chaplain. The role of the chaplain is principally to do with religious ministry; however in the Australian Defence Force that ministry extends well beyond the community model of a minister of religion. Chaplains remain active members of their denominational church organisation and they cannot continue to practice without the endorsement of their church, yet they are also commissioned members of the Australian Defence Force. Their role is governed by two disparate yet culturally sympathetic entities, a military chaplain must provide spiritual ministry to all members of Defence, regardless of faith or denomination. This qualification was developed within Defence but could be used by other organisations.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this qualification at the time of publication.

Packaging Rules

Assessment Requirements for BSBADM101 Use business equipment and resources

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- choose equipment and resources required for tasks
- operate equipment according to manufacturer or organisational requirements
- report faults according to organisational requirements
- maintain equipment and records according to instructions.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- describe the functions of available business equipment
- list the key points in operating the available business equipment safely and correctly
- identify common equipment faults
- describe how to maintain and store equipment and resources.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the general administration field of work and include access to:

- operational and maintenance manuals
- organisational procedures related to operation and maintenance of equipment
- records relating to resources
- case studies and, where possible, real situations.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to initiate and organise a quality audit with an auditee. It covers assessing the scope and objectives of a quality audit; communicating with the auditee regarding the proposed quality audit; identifying resources required to conduct the audit; and developing and submitting a quality audit plan. The types of audits may include external or internal systems audits or process or product/service audits.

It applies to individuals with a well-established theoretical knowledge base in quality auditing who are proficient in using a wide range of specialised, quality auditing and managerial techniques to plan, carry out and evaluate a quality audit. Individuals also supervise and monitor the processes and outcomes of others working in a quality audit team.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- produce documented audit plans for auditees across a variety of contexts including:
 - the scope and objectives of the audit
 - proposed audit methods and techniques to be used
 - required resources and schedules
 - allocation of individual audit team member responsibilities for conducting the proposed audit.
- use terminology relating to quality auditing in written or oral communications.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- identify the relevant auditing codes of practice or ethics
- describe auditing methods and techniques
- outline the requirements of auditing regulations and standards
- identify current audit practices
- outline quality auditing principles, techniques and systems
- describe the requirements of house or other style manual protocols for written communications
- identify software applications relevant to quality auditing activities.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the regulation, licensing and risk – quality auditing field of work and include access to:

- workplace documentation including previous quality audit reports, checklists, risk management plans and audit plans.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

BSBAUD504 Report on a quality audit

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to report on the outcomes of a quality audit and to take appropriate follow up action. It covers compiling audit results; preparing a report for the auditee/client; negotiating follow up action with the auditee/client; and monitoring and reviewing the auditing system and activities. The types of quality audit that may be covered by this unit include an external or internal systems audit or process or product/service audit.

It applies to individuals with a well-established theoretical knowledge base in quality auditing who are proficient in using a wide range of specialised quality auditing and managerial techniques to carry out their own work and to supervise the quality audit team. It addresses the function performed by either an auditor having sole responsibility for the audit or a lead auditor of a quality audit team.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Application of the Unit

Application of the unit	This unit applies to individuals working as a chief executive or manager in a small organisation (where it would be part of their broad role) or as a member of a compliance management team within a larger organisation. These individuals require a sound theoretical knowledge of compliance and well established skills in identifying and interpreting compliance requirements relevant to the operations and sphere of business of the organisation and/or industry sector concerned. The unit also applies to internal or external consultants as part of a broader advisory role to the chief executive or management team of a large or small organisation on compliance management policies and systems. As the activities are focused primarily on identifying and interpreting specific legislative requirements, codes of practice, and internal standards and procedures as they relate to a particular organisation, this unit differs from BSBCOM601B Research compliance requirements and issues. Researching compliance issues is a higher order competence aimed at carrying out research into a wider range of compliance-related issues, such as the costs of compliance, the potential impact of compliance on an

Assessment Requirements for BSBCOM502 Evaluate and review compliance

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- access and interpret information about Australian and international standards related to compliance requirements
- develop an evaluation methodology including:
 - preparation of an evaluation plan
 - analysis and interpretation of collected data and feedback with/from stakeholders
- prepare and submit final report for approval and implementation.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- describe evaluation methods and techniques suitable for compliance related evaluation and review
- list sources of data relevant to compliance related evaluation and review
- identify relevant Australian and international standards
- outline elements of relevant compliance program/management systems
- identify relevant organisational policies and procedures.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the compliance field of work and include access to:

- relevant Australian and international standards, laws, regulations, industry and organisational codes and standards
- relevant data
- office equipment and business technology
- computer resources for online searching
- case studies and, where possible, real situations.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

- making changes to a workspace that will encourage innovation in at least one of
 - design
 - fit-out
 - decoration.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- explain the concepts and theories of innovation and how these link to innovation in practice
- explain the context for innovation in the workplace including core business values, overall objectives, broader environmental context and the need to ensure the value and benefit of innovative ideas and projects
- discuss the factors and tools that can motivate individuals to use creative thinking and apply innovative work practices
- research the legislative framework that impacts on operations in the relevant workplace context
- explain how different approaches to management and leadership can support or hinder innovation
- discuss typical challenges and barriers to innovation within teams and organisations and ways of overcoming these including rewarding and celebrating innovation, coaching and learning, modelling behaviour and managing the physical environment.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the creativity and innovation and include access to:

- workplace documents
- case studies and, where possible, real situations
- office equipment and resources
- interaction with others.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

Application

This unit defines skills, knowledge and outcomes required to plan and supervise the performance of the team and develop team cohesion.

It applies team leaders, supervisors and new emerging managers who have an important leadership role in the development of efficient and effective work teams.

Leaders at this level also provide leadership for the team and bridge the gap between the management of the organisation and the team members. As such they must 'manage up' as well as manage their team/s.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

BSBMGT502 Manage people performance

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to manage the performance of staff who report to them directly. Development of key result areas and key performance indicators and standards, coupled with regular and timely coaching and feedback, provide the basis for performance management.

It applies to individuals who manage people. It covers work allocation and the methods to review performance, reward excellence and provide feedback where there is a need for improvement.

The unit makes the link between performance management and performance development, and reinforces both functions as a key requirement for effective managers.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- develop and implement an operational plan using a variety of information sources and consultation (including using specialist advice if required) which includes:
 - resource requirements
 - key performance indicators
 - monitoring processes
 - contingency plans
- communicate effectively with relevant stakeholders to explain the plan and supporting information, seek approvals, negotiate variations and engage work teams
- develop and implement strategies to achieve the operational plan within the organisation's policies, practices and procedures including:
 - recruiting, inducting and developing personnel
 - acquiring physical resources and services
 - protecting intellectual property
 - making variations to the plan
 - monitoring and documenting performance.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- describe models and methods for operational plans
- explain the role of an operational plan in achieving the organisation's objectives
- explain budgeting processes

- list alternative approaches to developing key performance indicators to meet business objectives
- outline the legislative and regulatory context relevant to the operational plan of the organisation
- outline the organisation's policies, practices and procedures that directly relate to the operational plan.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the management and leadership field of work and include access to:

- relevant legislation and regulations
- workplace documentation and resources
- case studies and, where possible, real situations
- interaction with others.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB07 Business Services Training Package Version 8.0. Replaces BSBPMG401A Apply project scope management techniques.

Unit Descriptor

This unit describes the performance outcomes, skills and knowledge required to contribute to the control of a project's scope by assisting with identifying its objectives, deliverables, constraints, assumptions and outcomes; and by applying controls once the project has commenced.

Application of the Unit

This unit applies to a project practitioner working in a project support role.

The individual may be operating in a large or small organisation and applying skills in the context of enterprise projects.

The project practitioner may be part of a project team under the direction of a project manager, or may work as part of a smaller scale self-directed team.

This unit has generic application to a range of industries and organisations and a range of projects, from simple to complex.

In the context of this unit a project is defined as involving:

- a practical and comprehensive project plan
- a documented communications strategy
- a detailed project budget
- strategic engagement with stakeholders

- a risk, issues and change-management methodology
- a quality plan with assurance and control processes
- a supportive team-based environment.

The functions performed in project work, where formal project management methodology is not the main focus, are covered by BSBPMG522A Undertake project work.

Licensing/Regulatory Information

No licensing, legislative, regulatory or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of endorsement.

Pre-Requisites

Not applicable.

Employability Skills Information

This unit contains employability skills.

Required Skills and Knowledge

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

- literacy skills to:
 - document agreed components of scope-management plan
 - interpret potentially complex project plans and documentation
 - report on project progress as required
- numeracy skills to:
 - measure and control project scope
 - review project timeframes and deliverables
- learning skills to identify training requirements necessary for effective consultation and scope management
- planning and organising skills to:
 - measure progress against agreed objectives
 - monitor and respond to compliance issues
- self-management skills to manage multiple tasks and ensure project progresses on time
- teamwork and communication skills to liaise with other members of the project team on a range of project scope-management issues and challenges.

Required knowledge

- components of a project scope-management plan
- factors likely to impact on project scope
- formal change-control processes
- methods for measuring work outcomes and progress against plans
- methods for segmenting and documenting a work breakdown structure
- procedures for reporting scope change
- types of project initiation documentation.

Evidence Guide

The evidence guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.

Overview of assessment
Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit	Evidence of the following is essential: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • contributing to monitoring and control of project scope • recording project scope-management plan • interpreting project initiation documentation for the purposes of documenting project scope.
Context of and specific resources for assessment	Assessment must ensure: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • access to project documentation, which includes information about project scope.
Method of assessment	A range of assessment methods should be used to assess practical skills and knowledge. The following examples are appropriate for this unit: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • direct questioning combined with review of portfolios of evidence and third-party workplace reports of on-the-job performance by the candidate • analysis of responses addressing different project scope-management scenarios • oral or written questioning to assess knowledge of strategies for managing project scope and their application to different situations.
Guidance information for assessment	Holistic assessment with other units relevant to the industry sector, workplace and job role is recommended.

Range Statement

The range statement relates to the unit of competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Bold italicised wording, if used in the performance criteria, is detailed below. Essential operating conditions that may be present with training and assessment (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) may also be included.

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- lead an effective team in planning and implementing all necessary communications for a workplace project
- evaluate and review project communication outcomes and make recommendations for future improvements.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- summarise models and methods of communications management in context of project life cycle and other project management functions
- explain importance of managing risk by treating information securely
- outline methods of reviewing outcomes
- identify organisational policies and procedures relevant to this role in a specific context.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the management and leadership – project management field of work and include access to:

- examples of project management documentation for communications-management purposes
- documentation about project team involvement in communications activities
- case studies and, where possible, real situations
- interaction with others.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

Unit Descriptor

This unit describes the performance outcomes, skills and knowledge required to provide a critical link between people, ideas and information at all stages in the project life cycle. It involves assisting the project team to plan communications, communicating information related to the project, and reviewing communications.

Application of the Unit

This unit applies to a project practitioner working in a project support role.

The individual may be operating in a large or small organisation and applying skills in the context of enterprise projects.

The project practitioner may be part of a project team under the direction of a project manager, or may work as part of a smaller scale self-directed team.

This unit has generic application to a range of industries and organisations and a range of projects, from simple to complex.

In the context of this unit a project is defined as involving:

- a practical and comprehensive project plan
- a documented communications strategy
- a detailed project budget

- strategic engagement with stakeholders
- a risk, issues and change-management methodology
- a quality plan with assurance and control processes
- a supportive team-based environment.

The functions performed in project work, where formal project management methodology is not the main focus, are covered by BSBPMG522A Undertake project work.

Licensing/Regulatory Information

No licensing, legislative, regulatory or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of endorsement.

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- identify or confirm research requirements and objectives
- gather, organise and present workplace information and data
- update, modify, maintain and store information
- maintain and handle data and documents systematically and securely
- prepare and produce reports including:
 - recommendations based on the analysis of information
 - clear and justified assumptions and conclusions
 - use of efficient, valid and reliable methods
- use Boolean operators and other search tools
- analyse, evaluate and interpret data to support organisational activities.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- explain organisational systems for recordkeeping/filing, including security procedures
- identify organisational policies and procedures and legal and ethical obligations relating to workplace information
- explain concepts related to research and analysis including reliability and validity
- give examples of techniques for data analysis and how they are applied
- explain research processes and strategies to identify new sources (online and print) of information and to use them most efficiently and effectively.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the knowledge management – research field of work and include access to:

- workplace information systems, equipment and resources
- workplace policies and procedures
- case studies and, where possible, real situations.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

- outline the purpose and key elements of current risk management standards
- outline the legislative and regulatory context of the organisation in relation to risk management
- describe the organisation's auditing requirements relating to risk management.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the regulation, licensing and risk - risk management field of work and include access to:

- relevant legislation, regulations, standards and codes
- relevant workplace documentation and resources
- case studies and, where possible, real situations
- interaction with others.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
1. Identify risks	1.1. Identify the context for risk management 1.2. Identify risks using tools , ensuring all reasonable steps have been taken to identify all risks 1.3. Document identified risks in accordance with relevant policies, procedures and legislation
2. Analyse and evaluate risks	2.1. Analyse and document risks in consultation with relevant stakeholders 2.2. Undertake risk categorisation and determine level of risk 2.3. Document analysis processes and outcomes
3. Treat risks	3.1. Determine appropriate control measures for risks and assess for strengths and weaknesses 3.2. Identify control measures for all risks

	3.3.Refer risks relevant to whole of organisation or having an impact beyond own work responsibilities and area of operation to others as per established policies and procedures 3.4.Choose and implement control measures for own area of operation and/or responsibilities 3.5.Prepare and implement treatment plans
4. Monitor and review effectiveness of risk treatment/s	4.1.Regularly review implemented treatment/s against measures of success 4.2.Use review results to improve the treatment of risks 4.3.Provide assistance to auditing risk in own area of operation 4.4.Monitor and review management of risk in own area of operation

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

- literacy skills sufficient to read and understand a variety of texts; and to write, edit and proofread documents to ensure clarity of meaning, accuracy and consistency of information
- research and data collection skills to monitor and evaluate risks
- problem-solving skills to appropriately address identified risks.

Required knowledge

- Australian and international standards for risk management
- key provisions of relevant legislation from all levels of government that may affect aspects of business operations, such as:
 - anti-discrimination legislation
 - ethical principles
 - codes of practice
 - privacy laws
 - environmental issues
 - occupational health and safety
- organisational policies and procedures relating to risk management processes and

strategies

- auditing requirements relating to risk management.

Evidence GuideEVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.

Overview of assessmentCritical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit

Evidence of the following is essential:

- identification, analysis and evaluation of risks
- demonstrated understanding of personal role in relation to wider organisational or project context
- demonstrated understanding of risk management processes and procedures.

Context of and specific resources for assessment

Assessment must ensure:

- access to workplace documentation relating to risk management
- access to risk management tools and frameworks.

Method of assessment

A range of assessment methods should be used to assess practical skills and knowledge. The following examples are appropriate for this unit:

- direct questioning combined with review of portfolios of evidence and third party workplace reports of on-the-job performance by the candidate
- review of documentation outlining risk analysis processes and outcomes
- analysis of responses to case studies and scenarios
- oral or written questioning to assess knowledge of Australian and international standards for risk management
- review of implementation of treatment plans.

Guidance information for assessment

Holistic assessment with other units relevant to the industry sector, workplace and job role is recommended, for example:

EVIDENCE GUIDE

- general administration units
- other risk management units.

Range StatementRANGE STATEMENT

The range statement relates to the unit of competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Bold italicised wording, if used in the performance criteria, is detailed below. Essential operating conditions that may be present with training and assessment (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) may also be included.

Context may include:

- any related projects or organisations
- any resources, including physical assets, which are vital to operations
- key operational elements and service of the organisation
- organisation or project, how it is organised and its capabilities
- own role and responsibilities in relation to overall project or organisation design

Risks may include:

- commercial and legal relationships
- economic circumstances and scenarios
- human behaviour
- individual activities
- management activities and controls
- natural events
- political circumstances
- positive risk
- technology - technological issues

Tools may include:

- documentation to assist in process of identifying risk, and assessing impact and likelihood of occurrence
- standard instruments developed for the organisation and contextualised for sections of the workplace's operations, such as checklists and testing procedures
- tools to prioritise risks, including where relevant, numerical scoring systems for risks

RANGE STATEMENT
Stakeholders may include:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • contractors • employees • financial managers • insurance agents • managers • public • service providers • suppliers • unions • volunteers
Risk categorisation may include:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • likelihood of risks: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • almost certain • likely • possible • unlikely • rare • consequences of risks: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • insignificant • minor • moderate • major • catastrophic • current control measures
Level of risk may include:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • low, treated with routine procedures • moderate, with specific responsibility allocated for the risk, and monitoring and response procedures implemented • high, requiring action, as it has potential to be damaging to the organisation or project • extreme, requiring immediate action, as it has potential to be devastating to the organisation or project
Control measures may include:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • hierarchy of controls: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • reduction in likelihood of risks • reduction of consequences of risks • retention of risks • risk aversion • transfer of responsibility of risks

Measures of success may include:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • costs • reductions in impact • reductions in likelihood • reductions in occurrence

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- analyse information from a range of sources to identify the scope and context of the risk management process including:
 - stakeholder analysis
 - political, economic, social, legal, technological and policy context
 - current arrangements
 - objectives and critical success factors for the area included in scope
 - risks that may apply to scope
- consult and communicate with relevant stakeholders to identify and assess risks, determine appropriate risk treatment actions and priorities and explain the risk management processes
- develop and implement an action plan to treat risks
- monitor and evaluate the action plan and risk management process
- maintain documentation.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- outline the purpose and key elements of current risk management standards
- outline the legislative and regulatory context of the organisation in relation to risk management
- outline organisational policies, procedures and processes for risk management.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the regulation, licensing and risk - risk management field of work and include access to:

- relevant legislation, regulations, standards and codes
- relevant workplace documentation and resources
- case studies and, where possible, real situations
- interaction with others.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

Required Skills and Knowledge

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

- analytical skills to analyse problems, to devise solutions and to reflect on approaches taken
- change management skills
- communication skills to answer questions, clarify and acknowledge suggestions relating to work requirements and efficiency
- communication/consultation skills to support information flow from stakeholders to the work group
- innovation skills to identify improvements, to apply knowledge about resource use to organisational activities and to develop tools
- literacy skills to comprehend documentation, to interpret environmental and energy efficiency requirements, to create tools to measure and monitor improvements and to report outcomes
- numeracy skills to analyse data on organisational resource consumption and waste product volumes
- planning and organising skills to implement environmental and energy efficiency management policies and procedures relevant to own work area
- problem-solving skills to devise approaches to improved environmental sustainability and to develop alternative approaches as required
- technology skills to operate and shut down equipment; where relevant, to use software systems for recording and filing documentation to measure current usage; and to use word processing and other basic software for interpreting charts, flowcharts, graphs and other visual data and information
- supervisory skills to work effectively with a team.

Required knowledge

- best practice approaches relevant to own area of responsibility and industry
- compliance requirements within work area for all relevant environmental/sustainability legislation, regulations and codes of practice including resource hazards/risks associated with work area, job specifications and procedures
- environmental and energy efficiency issues, systems and procedures specific to industry practice
- external benchmarks and support for particular benchmarks to be used within organisation, including approaches to improving resource use for work area and expected outcomes

- OHS issues and requirements
- organisational structure and reporting channels and procedures
- quality assurance systems relevant to own work area
- strategies to maximise opportunities and to minimise impact relevant to own work area
- supply chain procedures
- terms and conditions of employment including policies and procedures, such as daily tasks, work area responsibilities, employee, supervisor and employer rights, equal opportunity.

Evidence Guide

The evidence guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.

Overview of assessment

Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to work in a manner that is healthy and safe in relation to self and others and to respond to emergency incidents. It covers following work health and safety (WHS) and emergency procedures and instructions, implementing WHS requirements and participating in WHS consultative processes.

It applies to individuals who require a basic knowledge of WHS to carry out work in a defined context under direct supervision or with some individual responsibility, in a range of industry and workplace contexts.

NOTE: The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where the Model WHS Act has not been implemented RTOs are advised to contextualise the unit of competency by referring to the existing State/Territory OHS legislative requirements.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Assessment Requirements for BSBWHS201 Contribute to health and safety of self and others

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- follow all relevant procedures and instructions relating to work health and safety (WHS) and emergency incidents
- identify and report hazards to designated personnel
- contribute to WHS consultative processes.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- explain workplace safety procedures and instructions including:
 - checking systems and equipment
 - conducting routine work operations
 - requirements for personal protective equipment (PPE)
 - how to report incidents and injuries
- explain emergency procedures including those for fires and incidents
- define the meaning of commonly used hazard signs and safety symbols
- summarise the duty holder responsibilities, as specified in WHS Acts, regulations and codes of practice, of:
 - self and fellow workers
 - persons conducting businesses or undertakings (PCBUs)
 - officers
 - others in the workplace
- explain the difference between hazards and risks

- describe typical WHS hazards that may be present in the workplace, the harm they can cause and how this harm occurs
 - outline the process of hazard identification and risk reduction.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced by individuals carrying out work health and safety duties in the workplace and include access to:

- relevant organisational policies, standard operating procedures and work instructions
- relevant Acts, regulations, codes of practice
- workplace tools, equipment and resources
- personal protective equipment appropriate to the role and work area.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

Required Skills and Knowledge

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

- analytical skills to:
 - assess resources required to apply risk controls
 - assist with environmental monitoring
 - identify hazards and assess risks appropriate to own work area and job role
 - monitor incidents and hazards
 - evaluate effectiveness of risk controls
- coaching and mentoring skills to provide support to colleagues
- communication skills to communicate with people from a range of backgrounds and with a range of abilities
- literacy skills to understand workplace procedures and work instructions for identifying and reporting hazards, and for interpreting WHS signs and symbols.

Required knowledge

- characteristics and composition of the work team
- hazards and associated risks in the workplace
- organisational policies and procedures relating to WHS, including hazard management, fire, emergencies, evacuation, incident investigation and reporting
- relevant Acts, regulations and codes of practice from all levels of government that impact on business operations, especially with regard to WHS and environmental issues, equal opportunity, industrial relations and anti-discrimination
- WHS aspects of other organisational systems and procedures.

Evidence Guide

The evidence guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to implement and monitor an organisation's work health and safety (WHS) policies, procedures and programs in the relevant work area in order to meet legislative requirements.

It applies to individuals with supervisory responsibilities for implementing and monitoring the organisation's WHS policies, procedures and programs in a work area. These individuals have a broad knowledge of WHS policies and contribute well developed skills in creating solutions to unpredictable problems through analysis and evaluation of information from a variety of sources. They provide supervision and guidance to others and have limited responsibility for the output of others.

NOTE: The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where the Model WHS Legislation has not been implemented RTOs are advised to contextualise the unit of competency by referring to the existing State/Territory OHS legislative requirements.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Assessment Requirements for BSBWHS401 Implement and monitor WHS policies, procedures and programs to meet legislative requirements

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- explain clearly and accurately to work team the relevant work health and safety (WHS) information including:
 - WHS legislative and organisational requirements
 - identified hazards and outcomes of risk assessment and control
- ensure that the team has access to information about WHS policies, procedures and programs in appropriate structure and language
- implement and monitor procedures according to organisational and legislative WHS requirements including:
 - consultation and communications to enable team members to participate in managing WHS risks and hazards
 - identifying WHS training needs and providing learning opportunities, coaching and mentoring as appropriate to needs
 - identifying, reporting and taking action on WHS hazards and risks
 - identifying and reporting inadequacies in existing risk controls and monitoring outcomes to ensure a prompt organisational response
 - reporting on the cost of WHS training
 - keeping WHS records
 - analysing aggregate WHS data to identify hazards and monitor risk control procedures in work area.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- outline the legal responsibilities and duties of managers, supervisors, persons conducting businesses or undertakings (PCBUs) and workers in relation to WHS risk management in the workplace
- identify key provisions of relevant WHS Acts, regulations and codes of practice that apply to the business and outline how they apply in the work area
- explain organisational policies and procedures relating to hazard identification, risk management, fire, emergency and evacuation, incident investigation and reporting
- explain the importance of effective consultation mechanisms in managing health and safety risks in the workplace
- explain how the hierarchy of control applies in the work area.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced by individuals carrying out work health and safety duties in the workplace and include access to:

- an actual workplace or simulated environment
- workplace equipment and resources
- examples of documents relating to workplace safety, hazard identification and risk assessment
- interaction with others.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

BSBWHS402 Assist with compliance with WHS laws

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to assist with providing advice about the legislative duties, rights and obligations of individuals and parties prescribed in work health and safety (WHS) legislation. It includes identification of WHS legislation, duties, rights and obligations and the necessary actions to ensure compliance in the workplace.

This unit applies to individuals who assist with providing advice about the legislative duties, rights and obligations of individuals and parties prescribed in WHS laws as part of a systematic approach to managing WHS. This unit applies to people who work in a broad range of WHS roles across all industries.

NOTE: The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where the Model WHS Legislation has not been implemented RTOs are advised to contextualise the unit of competency by referring to the existing State/Territory OHS legislative requirements.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Assessment Requirements for BSBWHS402 Assist with compliance with WHS laws

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to assist with:

- determining current work health and safety (WHS) legal requirements for the workplace
- providing advice to parties and individuals about current WHS legal requirements for the workplace, including underpinning principles, legal duties, rights and obligations and WHS regulator functions and powers
- assessing workplace compliance with WHS legislative requirements
- determining the training needs of individuals and parties in relation to WHS requirements
- developing and implementing workplace changes in order to achieve WHS legal compliance.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- detail the duties, rights and obligations of individuals and parties as specified in relevant WHS legislation, and specify the location of relevant information on WHS legislation
- describe the functions and powers of the relevant WHS regulator and how they are exercised
- identify internal and external sources of WHS information, and how to access them
- outline the objectives and principles underpinning WHS legislation
- specify method/s used for:
 - assessing WHS compliance
 - determining training needs in relation to WHS compliance
 - implementing changes to achieve WHS compliance.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced by individuals carrying out work health and safety duties in the workplace and include access to:

- relevant Acts, regulations, codes of practice, standards and guidance material
- relevant workplace documentation
- reports from individuals and parties consulted in ensuring WHS compliance
- case studies and, where possible, real situations
- interaction with others.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements. In addition, assessors for this unit of competency must hold a WHS qualification or equivalent at Diploma level or higher.

BSBWHS404 Contribute to WHS hazard identification, risk assessment and risk control

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to contribute to the processes of identifying work health and safety (WHS) hazards, assessing WHS risks, and developing, implementing and evaluating risk controls according to legislative and organisational requirements.

It applies to individuals who contribute to WHS risk management processes in their work role in a range of industry and workplace contexts.

NOTE: The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where the Model WHS Legislation has not been implemented RTOs are advised to contextualise the unit of competency by referring to the existing State/Territory OHS legislative requirements.

No licensing, legislative, regulatory or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- plan, draft and finalise complex documents that require review and analysis of a range of information sources
- use business technology to apply formatting, and incorporate graphics
- edit the draft text to ensure accuracy and clarity of information, obtain feedback on the draft and revise the draft
- apply the enterprise style guide/house style.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- identify the enterprise style guide/house style
- outline formatting styles and their impact on formatting, readability and appearance of documents
- explain rules and conventions for written English, as defined by general and specialist sources.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the communication – writing field of work and include access to:

- office equipment and resources
- organisational policies and procedures
- organisational style guides.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

CPCCOHS1001A Work safely in the construction industry

Modification History

Not Applicable

Unit Descriptor

Unit descriptor This unit of competency specifies the outcomes required to undertake Occupational Health and Safety (OHS) induction training within the construction industry.

It requires the ability to demonstrate personal awareness of OHS legislative requirements, and the basic principles of risk management and prevention of injury and illness in the construction industry.

Licensing requirements will apply to this unit of competency depending on the regulatory requirements of each jurisdiction.

Application of the Unit

Application of the unit This unit of competency supports the attainment of the basic OHS knowledge required prior to undertaking designated work tasks within any of the sectors within the construction industry. The unit relates directly to the general induction training program specified by the National Code of Practice for Induction for Construction Work (ASCC 2007).

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The evidence guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.

Overview of assessment

Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit

Evidence must confirm personal awareness of the following:

- applicable OHS legislative and safety requirements for construction work including duty of care
- the range of common construction hazards and procedures for the assessment of risk and application of the hierarchy of control
- OHS communication processes, information and documentation including the role of OHS committees and representatives, the meaning of common safety signs and symbols, and procedures for reporting hazards, incidents and injuries
- general procedures for responding to incidents and emergencies including evacuation, first aid, fire safety equipment and PPE.

Context of and specific resources for assessment

- Resources must be available to support the program including participant materials and other information or equipment related to the skills and knowledge covered by the program.
- It is recommended that the assessment tool designed specifically to support this unit of competency will provide consistency in assessment outcomes.
- Where applicable, physical resources should include equipment modified for people with disabilities
- Access must be provided to appropriate assessment support when required.
- Assessment processes and techniques must be culturally appropriate, and appropriate to the oracy, language and literacy capacity of the assessee and the work being performed
- In all cases where practical assessment is used it will be combined with targeted questioning to assess the underpinning knowledge. Questioning will be undertaken in such a manner as is appropriate to the oracy, language and literacy levels of the operator, any cultural issues that may affect responses to the questions, and reflecting the requirements of the competency and the work being performed.

Method of assessment

Assessment methods may include more than one of the following:

- practical assessment
- oral questioning
- written test
- work-based activities
- simulated project based activity

RANGE STATEMENT

The range statement relates to the unit of competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Bold italicised wording, if used in the performance criteria, is detailed below. Essential operating conditions that may be present with training and assessment (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) may also be included.

OHS legislative requirements relate to:

- Australian standards
- construction industry OHS standards and guidelines
- duty of care
- health and safety representatives, committees and supervisors
- licences, tickets or certificates of competency
- National Code of Practice for Induction Training for Construction Work
- national safety standards
- OHS and welfare Acts and regulations
- safety codes of practice.

Duty of care requirements relate to:

- legal responsibility under duty of care to do everything reasonably practicable to protect others from harm

RANGE STATEMENT

- Safe work practices include:
- own responsibilities to comply with safe work practices, including activities that require licences, tickets or certificates of competency
 - relevant state OHS requirements, including employers and self-employed persons, persons in control of the work site, construction supervisors, designers, manufacturers and suppliers, construction workers, subcontractors and inspectors.
- Risk relates to:
- access to site amenities, such as drinking water and toilets

 - general requirements for use of personal protective equipment and clothing
 - housekeeping to ensure a clean, tidy and safer work area
 - no drugs and alcohol at work
 - preventing bullying and harassment
 - smoking in designated areas
 - storage and removal of debris.
 - likelihood of a hazard causing injury or harm.
- Principles of risk management include:
- assessing the risks involved
 - consulting and reporting ensuring the involvement of relevant workers
 - controlling the hazard
 - identifying hazards
 - reviewing to identify change or improvement.
- Hazard relates to:
- any thing (including an intrinsic property of a thing) or situation with the potential to cause injury or harm.
- Common construction hazards include:
- confined spaces
 - electrical safety
 - excavations, including trenches
 - falling objects
 - hazardous substances and dangerous goods
 - HIV and other infectious diseases
 - hot and cold working environments
 - manual handling
 - noise
 - plant and equipment

RANGE STATEMENT

Measures for controlling risk to eliminate or minimise hazards in accordance with the hierarchy of control include:

- traffic and mobile plant
- unplanned collapse
- ultraviolet (UV) radiation
- working at heights.

OHS communication processes include:

- elimination
- substitution
- isolation
- engineering control
- administrative control
- personal protective equipment.
- discussions with OHS representatives
- OHS meetings
- OHS notices, newsletters, bulletins and correspondence
- OHS participative arrangements
- processes for raising OHS issues
- toolbox talks
- workplace consultation relating to OHS issues and changes.

OHS information and documentation includes:

 - electric shock.
 - electrical short circuit, malfunction or explosion
 - uncontrolled explosion, fire or escape of gas, hazardous substance or steam
 - any other unintended or uncontrolled incident or event arising from operations carried on at a

RANGE STATEMENT

- General procedures* for responding to incidents and emergencies include:
- workplace.
 - basic emergency response (keep calm, raise alarm, obtain help)
 - evacuation
 - notification of designated OHS personnel and authorities
 - notification of emergency services (e.g. when and how)
 - referring to site emergency plans and documentation.
- Emergencies* include:
- chemical spill
 - fire
 - injury to personnel
 - structural collapse
 - toxic and/or flammable vapours emission
 - vehicle/mobile plant accident.
- Personal protective equipment* includes:
- aprons
 - arm guards
 - eye protection
 - gloves
 - hard hat
 - hearing protection
 - high visibility retro reflective vests
 - protective, well fitting clothing
 - respiratory protection
 - safety footwear
 - UV protective clothing and sunscreen.

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This unit supersedes and is equivalent to DEFCH001B Provide pastoral care. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Unit code updated • Content and formatting updated to comply with the new standards • All PC transitioned from passive to active voice

Application

This unit describes the skills required to provide pastoral care and counsel to members of an organisation as Defence Chaplains. Chaplains are required to be religious leaders immersed in the practices of their accredited faith group and to operate within a spiritual framework. This includes providing pastoral and counselling ministry to personnel, their families and other authorised personnel.

This unit was developed for Defence Chaplains but may be relevant to others who work in this field.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently and perform complex tasks in a mainly predictable context.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

- assessing Rules of Engagement with regard to their application to a chaplain
- identifying and understanding culture, structures, ranks and terminology of other services, coalition forces, other government and NGOs within the deployed environment

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

- chaplaincy role and function
- world religions together with associated religious beliefs and practices
- denominational doctrines, worship and practices

- principles of chaplaincy care
- relevant organisational processes and protocols
- relevant records maintenance requirements
- relevant support agencies
- code of behaviour
- professional codes of practice
- ethical standards
- command and control structures including NATO staff system
- joint, combined and coalition doctrine
- structure of chaplain's organisations in Coalition partners
- chaplain's role in civil military affairs
- role in intelligence gathering within the AO
- Laws of Armed Conflict with regard to their application to a chaplain
- notification policies and procedures

Assessment Conditions

Competency should be assessed in an actual workplace or in a simulated environment, with access to equipment and infrastructure appropriate to the outcome. Competency should be demonstrated over time to ensure the candidate is assessed across a variety of situations.

Assessors must satisfy the NVR/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to maintain personnel, physical, communications and information systems security within the Defence communications and information systems workplace.

This unit was developed for communications and information systems operators working within Defence but may be relevant to others who work in this field.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently and as part of a team, under direct and/or indirect supervision within specific communications environments. They would use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their outputs while performing specific tasks in a range of sometimes unpredictable contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the range of conditions section.
1. Maintain physical security	1.1 Maintain physical security to ensure the safeguarding of official matters. 1.2 Report breaches of physical security to appropriate personnel.
2. Maintain communications security	2.1 Protect classified and sensitive material as it is passed over communications paths. 2.2 Handle classified and cryptographic material. 2.3 Document and report security violations.
3. Maintain information system security	3.1 Protect information systems media, assets and data. 3.2 Record and report breaches of security.
4. Maintain personnel security	4.1 Apply personnel security principles to protect against the threat of subversion, sabotage and espionage. 4.2 Record and report breaches of security.

Foundation Skills

The foundation skills demands of this unit have been mapped for alignment with the Australian Core Skills Framework (ACSF). The following tables outline the performance levels indicated for successful attainment of the unit.

ACSF levels indicative of performance:

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the candidate must demonstrate evidence of performance of the following on at least one occasion.

- applying circuit procedures
- handling classified/COMSEC material
- opening/closing combination/cipher locks
- performing routine/field/emergency destruction procedures
- performing publication amendments
- maintaining physical security:
 - handle classified and sensitive material
 - control access to secure areas
 - follow checks and muster procedures
 - maintain logs and registers
 - follow destruction procedures
 - report breaches in accordance with approved guidelines and procedures
- maintaining communications security:
 - handle classified and sensitive material
 - maintain circuit discipline
 - employ electronic protection methods
- maintaining information systems security:
 - follow information systems security practices
 - account for media and assets
 - maintain data integrity
- maintaining personnel security:

- apply 'need to know' principle
- be aware of own responsibilities

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to develop an evaluation program for an organisation. It includes defining terms of reference and context; identifying key stages and outcomes; assessing and defining data management requirements and identifying the resources needed to undertake the program.

This unit applies to those responsible for the design and development of an evaluation and reporting strategy to measure performance and the value of investment decisions.

Those undertaking this unit would work autonomously while performing complex tasks in a familiar context.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the range of conditions section.
1. Define terms of reference & evaluation context	1.1 Identify and clarify the outcomes sought, who will use the information and for what purpose. 1.2 Identify the key stakeholders who will be consulted. 1.3 Select evaluation and monitoring methods which are suitable to the size and significance of the program, and the terms of reference. 1.4 Complete a review of existing evidence and literature relevant to the proposed evaluation. 1.5 Develop an evaluation methodology that supports broader management targets, standards, and outputs.
2. Identify the key stages and outcomes of the program	2.1 Define key stages, milestones and timeframe. 2.2 Communicate with clients and stakeholders the details of the program and delivery timeline for endorsement. 2.3 Identify potential risks which may impact on the proposed program. 2.4 Refine targets and objectives as required.
3. Define reporting and record keeping requirements for data management	3.1 Identify data collection, management and reporting requirements to meet the objectives of the program. 3.2 Identify existing data sets that may be accessed for the program. 3.3 Design data collection protocols to meet relevant standards and required formats. 3.4 Store data to ensure security and appropriate access taking into account required formats. 3.5 Identify the information products required taking into account clients and stakeholders' needs and use. 3.6 Produce reports to suit program audience types.
4. Identify the resources needed to implement the program	4.1 Identify the personnel and skills required to implement the monitoring and evaluation program. 4.2 Assess the material resources required to undertake the work. 4.3 Determine the cost of the program and develop a budget.

Assessment Requirements for DEFEVL005 Evaluate a community based program

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	These Assessment Requirements were released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meet the Standards for Training Packages.

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the candidate must demonstrate evidence of performance of the following on at least one occasion.

- selecting relevant evaluation information and documentation
- accessing and interpreting the organisation's standards and values
- analysing records/notes of the evaluation process
- explaining the evaluation process
- giving clear and precise instructions and advice
- discussing the evaluation process with other relevant people
- seeking information relevant to the evaluation
- discussing the evaluation outcome with the stakeholders
- interpreting contract requirements
- developing resources to support the evaluation process
- communicating with key stakeholders
- producing and maintaining documentation
- planning projects, work programs
- coordinating the work of self and others
- investigating training and workforce data
- determining and implementing improvement
- writing evaluation reports

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

- access and equity issues of community based population

- quantitative and qualitative methods for monitoring and evaluation
- data management
- what comprises quality community based services
- how community based organisations operate
- terminology relating to quality evaluation processes
- evaluation models/methods
- evidence-based practice
- records management systems of the organisation
- relevant policy, legislation, codes of practice and national standards, including Commonwealth and state/territory legislation
- WHS relating to planning and conducting an evaluation

Assessment Conditions

Competency should be assessed in an actual workplace or in a simulated environment, with access to equipment and infrastructure appropriate to the outcome. Competency should be demonstrated over time to ensure the candidate is assessed across a variety of situations.

Assessors must satisfy the NVR/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to examine and certify explosive and non-explosive dangerous goods packaging as being free from explosives (FFE) and arisings for salvage or return. Certification of these items as being FFE is a statutory requirement at different stages in the processing of these items, in particular when being sold or offered to the public for scrap metal. This unit does not cover the competencies required for inerting explosives and associated components.

This unit applies to those required to examine and certify salvage and associated packaging as being FFE.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently and as part of a team, under direct and/or indirect supervision, use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their output. They would perform specific tasks in a broad range of contexts.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to package explosives and explosive components for transportation and storage where packaging includes painting, stencilling, marking, sealing, strapping, vacuum evacuation and labelling. This includes calculating net explosive quantity, applying compatibility constraints, marking the packaging with internationally recognised coding and maintaining a range of documentation.

This unit applies to those required to prepare, package and finalise documentation for explosives and explosive components for the purpose of transportation and storage.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently and as part of a team, under direct and/or indirect supervision, use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their output. They would perform specific tasks in a broad range of contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to monitor environmental conditions related to explosives prior to sealing packaging. It includes having to identify explosives that need environmental controls, matching this to an appropriate storage facility and maintaining the requisite environmental conditions.

This unit applies to those required to monitor environmental conditions related to explosives.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently and as part of a team, under direct and/or indirect supervision, use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their output. They would perform routine tasks in a broad range of contexts.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to refurbish explosives packaging. The unit requires the individual to inspect the packaging to determine whether it can be refurbished, refurbish the packaging and maintain a range of documentation.

This unit applies to those required to prepare for and refurbish explosives packaging following deterioration or damage of the packaging through handling.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work as individuals and as part of a team, under direct and/or indirect supervision, use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their output. They would perform routine tasks in a range of contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to conduct external maintenance on all types of explosive ordnance. Maintenance is carried out on the explosive ordnance while monitoring the environmental conditions. The unit only applies to the maintenance of explosive ordnance that does not require the removal of any explosive component.

This unit applies to those required to conduct external maintenance on explosive ordnance by the removal of rust and contaminants, cleaning, painting and stencilling standard markings.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently and as part of a team, under direct and/or indirect supervision, use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their output. They would perform specific tasks in a range of contexts.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to gauge explosives and/or components for inspection, testing, maintenance or to determine serviceability. Gauging requires the ability to work safely within an explosives environment, to calculate and apply net explosive quantity, to assess and apply compatibility and to maintain documentation.

This unit applies to those required to gauge explosives and/or components to confirm compliance with established design parameters and/or other specifications, references or publications.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently and/or as part of a team, under indirect supervision. They would use discretion and judgement and take responsibility for the quality of their outputs while performing specific tasks in a broad range of contexts

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to follow security procedures in an explosive workplace environment, including but not limited to:

- training areas
- ranges
- operational areas
- warehousing and distribution points
- road, rail, aviation, and maritime transport
- freight forwarding and customs broking areas

It includes checking and maintaining the security of any goods and cargo; ensuring the security of workplace personnel and visitors; identifying and reporting any security threats or situations; and completing all required security records.

This unit was developed for those working within an explosive workplace. While developed by Defence, it is applicable to any individual in this field of work.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently and as part of a team, under direct and/or indirect supervision, use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their output. They would perform routine tasks in a range of contexts.

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

Operational knowledge of:

- organisation security procedures
- identification of possible security threats/incidents

Assessment Conditions

Competency should be assessed in an actual workplace or in a simulated environment, with access to equipment and infrastructure appropriate to the outcome. Competency should be demonstrated over time to ensure the candidate is assessed across a variety of situations.

Assessors must satisfy the NVR/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

DEFEXO021 Breakdown explosive ordnance

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This unit supersedes and is equivalent to DEFEO505D Breakdown explosive ordnance. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Unit code updated • Content and formatting updated to comply with the new standards • All PC transitioned from passive to active voice • PC 1.2 removed

Application

This unit describes the skills required to break down explosive ordnance into its component parts. The breaking down of explosive ordnance is normally conducted as a process of destruction, however it may be used as a means to salvage component parts or to test specific components. Explosive ordnance requiring to be broken down is normally that which cannot be disassembled due to its design or process of manufacture. This unit does not cover the competencies required for inerting explosives and associated components.

This unit applies to those required to break down explosive ordnance into its component parts.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently and as part of a team, under direct and/or indirect supervision, use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their output. They would perform specific tasks in a broad range of contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the range of conditions section.
1. Prepare for breakdown of explosive ordnance	1.1 Identify requirement for explosive ordnance breakdown from work requests/instructions. 1.2 Identify, acquire and prepare technical references, tools and equipment required for the breakdown. 1.3 Acquire, prepare, move and position explosive ordnance to be broken down in preparation for the task. 1.4 Identify, calculate, assess and apply net explosive quantities and compatibility throughout the operation. 1.5 Monitor and maintain environmental conditions.
2. Breakdown explosive ordnance	2.1 Breakdown explosive ordnance into its individual components. 2.2 Process components in accordance with the requirements specified in the work request. 2.3 Interpret emergency procedures and apply contingency plans.
3. Finalise the breakdown operation	3.1 Ensure serviceability of equipment/tools. 3.2 Maintain documentation and records.

Foundation Skills

The foundation skills demands of this unit have been mapped for alignment with the Australian Core Skills Framework (ACSF). The following tables outline the performance levels indicated for successful attainment of the unit.

ACSF levels indicative of performance:

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the candidate must demonstrate evidence of performance of the following on at least one occasion.

- conducting tests
- identifying and selecting appropriate tools and equipment
- identifying types of aerial delivered ordnance
- using PPE
- conducting manual handling and using team lifting techniques
- handling dangerous goods and hazardous substances

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

Basic knowledge of:

- organisational safety requirements
- legislative and regulatory requirements while maintaining aerial delivered ordnance

Operational knowledge of:

- colour coding, marking and labels
- documentation requirements
- effects of environmental conditions
- maintenance procedures

- operational safety
- operations, characteristics and limitations of aerial delivered ordnance to be maintained
- operations, characteristics and limitations of tools and equipment used in maintenance
- testing procedures

Assessment Conditions

Competency should be assessed in an actual workplace or in a simulated environment, with access to equipment and infrastructure appropriate to the outcome. Competency should be demonstrated over time to ensure the candidate is assessed across a variety of situations.

Candidate needs to complete at least one assessment using live explosives.

This unit needs to be assessed in an authorised and licensed potential explosion site.

Assessors must satisfy the NVR/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to render explosive ordnance inert. Rendering explosive ordnance inert is normally undertaken to provide a training display or model but may also be used to allow transportation of specific explosive ordnance required for testing or analysis. It does not cover the authorisation process to render explosive ordnance inert.

This unit applies to personnel who are required to render explosive ordnance inert.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently and/or as part of a team, under indirect supervision. They would use discretion and judgement and take responsibility for the quality of their outputs, while performing complex tasks in broad range of contexts

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to operate a storage facility licensed to contain a small quantity of explosive ordnance. This includes conforming to the facility licence, calculating net explosive quantity, applying compatibility constraints, ensuring package sealing requirements are applied and maintaining a range of documentation.

This unit applies to those required to operate a small quantity explosives facility.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently and as part of a team, under direct and/or indirect supervision, use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their output. They would perform specific tasks in a broad range of contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the range of conditions section.
1. Confirm requirements of a small quantity facility	1.1 Identify small quantity facility requirements. 1.2 Manage facility in accordance with explosive limit licences. 1.3 Develop, approve and display storage plans.
2. Operate the facility	2.1 Identify, calculate, confirm and apply net explosive quantities and compatibility throughout the operation. 2.2 Confirm authorised packages, seals and marks comply with organisational requirements. 2.3 Issue and receipt items held in a small quantity facility. 2.4 Display hazard divisions including applicable supplementary fire symbols. 2.5 Interpret emergency procedure specific for the facility and apply contingency plans. 2.6 Monitor explosive license limit during operations using authorised record systems.
3. Maintain facility operating requirements	3.1 Ensure serviceability of equipment and tools. 3.2 Ensure housekeeping procedures are adhered to. 3.3 Maintain documentation and records.

Foundation Skills

The foundation skills demands of this unit have been mapped for alignment with the Australian Core Skills Framework (ACSF). The following tables outline the performance levels indicated for successful attainment of the unit.

DEFEXO068 Establish and operate an explosive field storage site

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This unit supersedes and is equivalent to DEFEO213A Establish and operate an explosive field storage site. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Unit code updated • Content and formatting updated to comply with the new standards • All PC transitioned from passive to active voice • PC 1.1 removed • PC 1.3 and 1.4 merged • PC 2.3 and 3.1 reworded

Application

This unit describes the skills required to establish and operate an explosive field storage site. It includes establishing the site maintaining all explosive safety and work health and safety (WHS) requirements, operating the site in support of the organisation and maintaining all relevant documentation. It does not cover the planning of the site.

This unit applies to those required to establish and operate an explosive field storage site to support an operational or training deployment.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently and as part of a team, under direct and/or indirect supervision, use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their output. They would perform complex tasks in a range of contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the range of conditions section.
1. Establish an explosive field storage site	1.1 Establish explosive field storage site layout in accordance with the authorised plan. 1.2 Identify and apply safety and security requirements.
2. Operate an explosive field storage site	2.1 Issue and receive explosives in accordance with demand. 2.2 Monitor and report consumption rates. 2.3 Identify and report operational requirements. 2.4 Identify, calculate, analyse and apply net explosive quantities and compatibility throughout the operation. 2.5 Apply lifting policies.
3. Maintain documentation	3.1 Action explosives documentation impacting serviceability or operational restrictions. 3.2 Maintain explosives records.

Foundation Skills

The foundation skills demands of this unit have been mapped for alignment with the Australian Core Skills Framework (ACSF). The following tables outline the performance levels indicated for successful attainment of the unit.

ACSF levels indicative of performance:

1	2	3	4	5	1	2	3	4	5	1	2	3	4	5	1	2	3	4	5
Learning NA					Reading					Writing					Oral communication					Numeracy

Performance variables:

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the candidate must demonstrate evidence of performance of the following on at least one occasion.

- analysing and evaluating information
- implementing emergency, safety and security procedures
- preparing and presenting reports

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

Operational knowledge of:

- explosive lifting policy, instructions and procedures
- licensing requirements for field storage
- quantity distances for field storage
- explosive field storage principles

Assessment Conditions

Competency should be assessed in an actual workplace or in a simulated environment, with access to equipment and infrastructure appropriate to the outcome. Competency should be demonstrated over time to ensure the candidate is assessed across a variety of situations.

Assessors must satisfy the NVR/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to plan loading of dangerous goods in accordance with relevant regulatory requirements and workplace procedures. It includes assessing the goods/freight to be loaded, planning the transfer and loading operations, and completing all required documentation.

This unit applies to personnel with responsibility for resource coordination and allocation.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit work autonomously, usually managing individuals and teams. They would use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their output. They would perform complex tasks in a broad range of complex contexts utilising strategic and highly specialised knowledge.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

- identifying and solving problems that may arise during the planning of the loading of dangerous goods
- identifying factors in work schedules, time and resource requirements when planning the loading of dangerous goods
- identifying hazards that may exist during the loading/transferring of dangerous goods and hazardous substances and ways of controlling the risks involved
- managing and prioritising work and coordinating self and others in relation to workplace activities
- modifying activities to cater for variations in workplace contexts and environment
- providing customer/client service
- providing leadership to others
- interpreting operational and technical data, instructions and manuals
- suggesting improvements to workplace operations, and negotiating changes
- determining required permits and compliance with relevant regulations/codes of practice
- applying security requirements
- complying with Explosive Licence Limits

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

Strategic knowledge of:

- relevant aspects of AEC and ADG code and relevant Australian Standards applicable to dangerous goods and hazardous substances
- application of Explosive Transport Regulations and/or organisational policies and procedures for transportation of dangerous goods
- application of Explosive Licences Limits
- relevant Australian and international standards and associated certification requirements
- permit and licence requirements
- relevant regulations and codes concerning the handling, loading and transport of goods and freight

Application

This unit describes the skills required to conduct investigations and to prepare options and solutions in matters concerning the performance of explosives and/or their means of delivery. An investigation may be conducted into any explosive process/operation and may be undertaken at all levels within an organisation for both internal and external agencies.

Investigations may be initiated by the Terms of Reference and/or Instruments of Appointment. In the case of an explosive incident, the reporting of the incident is sufficient, with processes and procedures providing the direction for inquiry. Investigations may be either preliminary or technical in nature.

This unit applies to those required to conduct technical investigations and to prepare options and solutions in matters concerning the performance of explosive and/or their means of delivery.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently and as part of a team, under direct and/or indirect supervision, use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their output. They would perform complex tasks in a broad range of contexts.

Elements describe the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the range of conditions section.
1. Liaise with customer	1.1 Identify customer requirements. 1.2 Obtain methodology, coordination requirements and necessary authorisation to progress the investigation. 1.3 Determine report requirements in terms of frequency, timing and format to meet customer needs. 1.4 Establish investigation objectives.
2. Select and implement procedures	2.1 Select and apply procedures that incorporate appropriate and feasible methods. 2.2 Implement procedures to enable investigation objectives to be met within budget and time constraints.
3. Examine the evidence	3.1 Identify, collect and preserve evidence as required. 3.2 Consider legislative, statutory, regulatory and organisational requirements in the examination of evidence.
4. Provide and evaluate findings	4.1 Evaluate findings against specified criteria. 4.2 Provide recommendations to reduce risk of reoccurrence.
5. Prepare and present investigation reports	5.1 Prepare investigation reports and present to customer. 5.2 Provide evidence to inquiries/courts as required.

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	These Assessment Requirements were released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meet the Standards for Training Packages. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Assessment Requirements created drawing upon specified assessment information from superseded unit

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the candidate must demonstrate evidence of performance of the following on at least one occasion.

- accessing, interpreting and applying technical information
- applying quantitative and qualitative analysis
- applying research techniques
- determining the characteristics and the performance characteristics of explosive ordnance, components and associated weapons systems

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

Operational knowledge of:

- analysis processes and techniques
- characteristics, technical capabilities and limitations of explosive ordnance, components and associated weapons systems
- design principles of explosive ordnance, components and associated weapons systems
- explosions and terminal effects
- explosive chemistry, physics and materials
- weaponneering
- methods of explosive ordnance deployment

Assessment Conditions

Competency should be assessed in an actual workplace or in a simulated environment, with access to equipment and infrastructure appropriate to the outcome. Competency should be demonstrated over time to ensure the candidate is assessed across a variety of situations.

Assessors must satisfy the NVR/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to analyse and apply knowledge of the chemistry of explosives. The application of the knowledge of explosive chemistry is specific to the work being undertaken by individuals involved within a variety of applications including manufacturing, policy development, technical manual development, platform integration, configuration, staff processes, transport, disposal, trials and inter-operability.

This unit applies to those required to analyse the chemistry of explosives in the context of their work environment and in relation to their workplace functions.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would make high level, fully independent judgements, applying functional knowledge of the chemistry of explosives, analysing complex data and producing specific documents detailing the outcomes of highly specialised technical functions. They would perform sophisticated tasks in a broad range of specialised contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to undertake a technical analysis to identify the explosive capability to satisfy a requirement. The capability analysis is a process that is undertaken because of requirements identified by the customer. It involves the requirement to analyse the operational outcomes, identify the target characteristics and detail the design specifications for explosive to satisfy the explosive capability required.

This unit applies to those required to analyse an explosive capability requirement then match the requirement to known explosives or identify the capability required.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would make high level, fully independent judgements, applying a detailed knowledge of explosives, analysing complex data and producing specific documents detailing the outcomes of highly specialised technical functions. DEFEXO089 Assess specific explosives as being safe and suitable for transport

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This unit supersedes and is equivalent to DEFEO007 Assess specific explosive ordnance as being safe and suitable for transport. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Unit code updated • Content and formatting updated to comply with the new standards • All PC transitioned from passive to active voice • Unit title changed to better reflect unit outcomes • PC 4.1 removed • Element 1 reworded • Element 1 all PC reworded and reordered • Elements 2 and 3 merged and all PC reworded and reordered

Application

This unit describes the skills required to assess specific explosive as being safe and suitable for transport. The assessment is a process that is normally undertaken with explosives which are damaged, misfired or of an unknown origin and are required to be transported rather than destroyed or otherwise disposed of. It involves the necessity to identify the transportation requirements, assess the explosive to determine its suitability for transportation and to document the assessment process and outcomes.

This unit applies to those required to assess explosives as being safe and suitable for transport.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would make high level, fully independent judgements, applying a detailed knowledge of explosives, analysing complex data and producing specific documents detailing the outcomes of highly specialised technical functions. They would perform sophisticated tasks in highly specialised operational contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to prepare a disposal site and to dispose of explosives by burning, detonation or by functioning on a licensed demolition range under controlled conditions. This unit specifically precludes the destruction of unexploded ordnance that has malfunctioned/failed to function. The disposal of explosives may be undertaken for a variety of reasons such as expired shelf life, defectiveness or surplus to requirement, or if the explosive has been otherwise compromised while being handled during storage, transportation or maintenance.

This unit applies to those required to prepare a disposal site and to dispose of explosives on a licensed demolition range under controlled conditions.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently and under direct or indirect supervision, use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their output. They would perform routine tasks in a range of contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to destroy unexploded ordnance (UXO) by detonation. Unexploded ordnance includes any authorised explosive ordnance or explosive ordnance that has failed to function as designed while in use on a licensed range. Destruction is normally carried out by explosives in the location of the unexploded ordnance. Explosive ordnance in this competency includes that which has malfunctioned/failed to function following attempted firing or ignition. This unit can apply above and below the high water mark.

This unit applies to those required to prepare for and destroy UXO by detonation and undertake appropriate site/equipment maintenance and/or refurbishment.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently under direct or indirect supervision, use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their output. They would perform routine tasks in a range of contexts.

DEFEXO111 Conduct underwater explosive demolitions

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in DEFTP Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This unit supersedes and is equivalent to DEFEO714C Conduct underwater explosive demolitions. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Unit code updated • Content and formatting updated to comply with the new standards • All PC transitioned from passive to active voice

Application

This unit describes the skills required to conduct explosive demolitions in an underwater environment. The unit also covers the conduct of maintenance on the established demolition circuits and includes the requirement to disarm and disassemble the demolition. The individual is also required to handle, transport and protect explosives in an underwater environment.

This unit applies to those required to assemble and disassemble firing circuits, and to fix detonators, primers, firing devices and explosive charges in accordance with the demolition supervising officer's plan in an underwater environment.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work individually and as part of a team, under indirect supervision. They would use discretion and judgement and take responsibility for the quality of their outputs, conducting routine tasks in a range of complex contexts that could be unpredictable.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Competency Field

Explosive Ordnance

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the range of conditions section.
1. Prepare for underwater demolitions	1.1 Analyse work task and worksite data to determine the specific requirements for the explosive demolition. 1.2 Develop a work plan consistent with the dive plan. 1.3 Select, inspect and prepare explosives, associated equipment and protective equipment. 1.4 Secure explosives and associated equipment to/from the dive site. 1.5 Assess access obstructions and other hazards and take action to remove/reduce the risk.
2. Conduct underwater demolition	2.1 Secure explosives and associated equipment on self. 2.2 Establish work-safe area at the demolition site and confirm location of divers prior to commencing demolition task/s. 2.3 Identify and manage hazards relevant to the application of explosives and associated equipment. 2.4 Fix and place demolition charges, lay line, set timing devices, establish firing point and connect and test circuit. 2.5 Confirm location and safety of personnel prior to firing the demolition charge. 2.6 Fire demolition charge.
3. Conduct post-demolition procedures	3.1 Minimise environmental impact from use of explosives and recover waste products. 3.2 Disassemble demolition circuit. 3.3 Recover, de-service and store for re-use explosives and associated equipment, or dispose. 3.4 Record usage of explosives and associated equipment.

Foundation Skills

The foundation skills demands of this unit have been mapped for alignment with the Australian Core Skills Framework (ACSF). The following tables outline the performance levels indicated for successful attainment of the unit.

ACSF levels indicative of performance:

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the candidate must demonstrate evidence of performance of the following on at least one occasion.

- handling explosives
- setting up explosive circuits
- implementing diving safety awareness strategies
- conducting demolition operations
- diving using self-contained underwater breathing apparatus in open water to 30 metres
- operating specialist equipment

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

Basic knowledge of:

- oceanography

Operational knowledge of:

- environmental effects on explosives
- dive equipment
- dive physics
- explosive charge design

- explosive initiation techniques
- general occupational/diving safety awareness
- land-based explosive demolitions

Assessment Conditions

Competency should be assessed in an actual workplace or in a simulated environment, with access to equipment and infrastructure appropriate to the outcome. Competency should be demonstrated over time to ensure the candidate is assessed across a variety of situations.

Assessors must satisfy the NVR/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to detect, record and collect physical evidence resulting from an explosive incident. These activities can be conducted under a variety of conditions, including wartime, peacekeeping, training, in support of the civilian community/authority, as part of a joint services and/or coalition operation. The explosive incident may be an act of aggression or an accident.

This unit was developed for personnel who are required to detect, record and collect physical evidence resulting from an explosive incident.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work individually and/or as part of a team, under indirect supervision. They would use discretion and judgement and take responsibility for the quality of their outputs, performing routine tasks in a range of contexts.

DEFEXO114 Develop explosive ordnance disposal techniques and render safe procedures

Modification History

Release	Comments

Application

This unit describes the skills required to develop explosive ordnance disposal (EOD) techniques and render safe procedures (RSPs). The development of EOD techniques and RSPs is a process that would not normally be undertaken except in an operational environment where time was of essence and normal techniques were not feasible or possible. The development of explosive ordnance disposal techniques and RSPs is a process primarily in support of the civilian community/authority but may also be conducted under a variety of conditions, including wartime and peacekeeping.

This unit applies to those required to develop explosive ordnance disposal techniques and RSPs as a consequence of an operational requirement.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently and as part of a team, under indirect supervision, conducting complex tasks in a broad range of contexts that could be unpredictable.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

- locating explosive device
- liaising with other agencies
- gathering and securing evidence
- applying manual handling and team lifting techniques
- using PPE
- handling dangerous good and hazardous substances safely
- conducting explosive ordnance disposal operations

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

Operational knowledge of:

- blast/fragmentation/thermal mitigation
- characteristics and limitations of explosive device to be disposed/rendered safe
- characteristics and limitations of specialised disposal/render safe tools, equipment and procedures
- consequent mitigation principles
- documentation requirements
- equipment handling requirements
- net explosive quantity estimations
- operational safety
- relevant testing procedures
- safety distance calculation procedures
- site preparation and refurbishment requirements
- conduct of explosive ordnance disposal operations
- theory of explosive ordnance design

Assessment Conditions

Competency should be assessed in an actual workplace or in a simulated environment, with access to equipment and infrastructure appropriate to the outcome. Competency should be demonstrated over time to ensure the candidate is assessed across a variety of situations.

Candidate needs to complete at least one assessment using live explosives.

This unit needs to be assessed in an authorised and licensed potential explosion site.

Assessors must satisfy the NVR/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

DEFEXO115 Supervise military explosive task

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This unit supersedes and is equivalent to DEFEO703C Supervise military explosive ordnance task. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Unit code updated • Content and formatting updated to comply with the new standards • All PC transitioned from passive to active voice • PC 2.3 and 2.6 removed • PC 1.2 and 3.1 revised

Application

This unit describes the skills required to supervise a team involved in a military explosive task. Military explosive tasks are normally conducted on operations, they can however be conducted in peacekeeping, in support of the civilian community/ authority and also in training. It includes planning the explosive task, applying safety precautions, identifying requirements and resources, and supervising the performance of the task.

This unit was developed for Defence personnel who are required to supervise a team involved in a military explosive task.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently and supervise small teams, using discretion and judgement and taking responsibility for the quality of their outputs. They would perform complex tasks in a range of contexts that could be unpredictable.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Elements describe the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the range of conditions section.
1. Identify task requirement and allocated resources	1.1 Receive task and resources and determine constraints imposed and any special requirements. 1.2 Identify doctrine, policies and procedures applying to the task. 1.3 Analyse the task to identify issues of concern and shortfalls. 1.4 Report identified concerns and shortfalls to the chain of command.
2. Plan and prepare for explosive task	2.1 Plan method of performing the task, including contingency arrangements. 2.2 Conduct reconnaissance of the task site. 2.3 Acquire resources required for the task. 2.4 Assess resources for suitability and report defects/shortfalls. 2.5 Conduct task briefings. 2.6 Conduct rehearsals and/or trial runs where practical.
3. Supervise explosive task	3.1 Oversee observance of appropriate operational and WHS requirements/safety precautions. 3.2 Ensure efficiency in performance and mission is achieved. 3.3 Liaise and coordinate with personnel conducting concurrent activities. 3.4 Refer issues that cannot be resolved to the chain of command.
4. Finalise explosive task	4.1 Refurbish task area, tools, materials and equipment. 4.2 Conduct debriefing. 4.3 Complete documentation associated with the task.

Foundation Skills

The foundation skills demands of this unit have been mapped for alignment with the Australian Core Skills Framework (ACSF). The following tables outline the performance levels indicated for successful attainment of the unit.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to prepare and fire explosives and to conduct an assessment of the explosive firing in support of explosive assessment without using sophisticated measuring or tracking equipment. Assessment of explosives is a process used to determine whether the explosive is performing within specified tolerances.

This unit applies to Defence personnel who are required to prepare and fire explosives and conduct an assessment of the explosive firing in support of explosive assessment.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work as part of a team under indirect supervision, using discretion and judgement and taking responsibility for the quality of their outputs. They would conduct complex tasks in a range of contexts.

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

Operational knowledge of:

- evaluation processes
- planning processes
- reporting procedures
- resource allocation procedures
- risk assessment
- trailing methodologies

- explosives use in trials
- initiation systems
- disposal procedures

Assessment Conditions

Competency should be assessed in an actual workplace or in a simulated environment, with access to equipment and infrastructure appropriate to the outcome. Competency should be demonstrated over time to ensure the candidate is assessed across a variety of situations.

Assessors must satisfy the NVR/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

DEFEXO123 Conduct explosive trials

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This unit supersedes and is equivalent to DEFEO603C Conduct explosive ordnance trials. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Unit code updated • Content and formatting updated to comply with the new standards • All PC transitioned from passive to active voice • Unit title changed to better reflect unit outcomes • PC 1.4 removed

Application

This unit describes the skills required to conduct trials in an explosive research environment. Explosive trials are normally conducted to select new weapons systems or explosives and are a common component of explosive research. They involve a number of personnel both in their planning and implementation.

This unit applies to those required to prepare and conduct trials in the explosive research environment.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work as part of a team with supervising responsibilities, using discretion and judgement and taking responsibility for the quality of their outputs. They would conduct complex tasks in a range of contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the range of conditions section.
1. Prepare for trials	1.1 Obtain and confirm information on resource requirements and availability. 1.2 Prepare information support systems for the trial, including achievable reporting and recording processes. 1.3 Negotiate and resolve coordination issues with others affected by the trial.
2. Conduct trials	2.1 Identify and liaise with trial planners. 2.2 Implement, monitor and amend trial plan based on changing circumstances. 2.3 Allocate resources to trial tasks in accordance with the plan and resource availability. 2.4 Collect and record data generated by the trial in accordance with the agreed methodology.
3. Report on results of trials	3.1 Report data generated by the trial. 3.2 Provide options and recommendations resulting from the trial in a clear and comprehensive format. 3.3 Produce and maintain post-trial reports, statistical reports and other records in accordance with requirements.

Foundation Skills

The foundation skills demands of this unit have been mapped for alignment with the Australian Core Skills Framework (ACSF). The following tables outline the performance levels indicated for successful attainment of the unit.

2. Develop specialised tests or analyses	2.1 Locate, discuss and confirm relevant technical information with other staff. 2.2 Develop experimental design in liaison with other staff. 2.3 Arrange the building or purchase of necessary equipment given project constraints and available skills and materials. 2.4 Trial, document and evaluate new procedures.
3. Perform qualitative analysis	3.1 Perform qualitative tests to observe explosive properties. 3.2 Compare data with standards, charts, tables, and spectra in order to identify known or unknown materials and their properties. 3.3 Perform tests or analyses efficiently and within the timeframe.
4. Perform quantitative analysis	4.1 Perform quantitative tests to measure explosive properties. 4.2 Use available computer technology to control instruments or acquire/translate/convert data to optimise test accuracy. 4.3 Check samples and analyses when non-standard results are obtained. 4.4 Complete tests or analyses within the timeframe.
5. Record and validate results	5.1 Record data using appropriate worksheets and/or information management systems. 5.2 Analyse data for anomalies and 'out of control' conditions and accept or reject. 5.3 Assess data for validity against quantity and compatibility information, known standards and reference materials. 5.4 Modify test procedures, if necessary, under supervision.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to determine the properties of explosives through the process of measuring and recording during initiation or firing, in a research environment.

This unit applies to those required to determine the properties of explosives independently or may contribute to the determination of the properties of explosives as a member of a collaborative team.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently or as part of a team, under indirect or direct supervision, using discretion and judgement and taking responsibility for the quality of their outputs. They would perform complex tasks in a range of contexts that could be unpredictable.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to analyse a blast site following an incident involving explosive ordnance. The individual would examine the site to identify the nature of the blast and provide advice to authorities on the incident. The incident may include accidents or intentional blasts using explosive ordnance or improvised explosive devices.

This unit applies to those required to conduct an analysis of a site following an explosive ordnance incident.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently and/or as part of a team, under indirect supervision. They would use discretion and judgement and take responsibility for the quality of their outputs while performing complex tasks in a broad range of contexts that could be unpredictable.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to prepare and fire explosives in support of explosive research and proofing. Firing of explosives is a process used in the research or proofing environment to determine research outcomes. It involves the setting up of scientific measuring and recording instruments, in order to record the results of the firing for scientific analysis.

This unit applies to personnel who are required to prepare and fire explosives in support of explosive research and proofing.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work individually or as part of a team, under indirect supervision, using discretion and judgement and taking responsibility for the quality of their outputs. They would conduct complex tasks in range of contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the candidate must demonstrate evidence of performance of the following on at least one occasion.

- accessing, interpreting and applying technical information related to explosives
- applying firing processes
- applying testing protocols and techniques
- conducting measuring and recording processes
- maintaining documentation and records
- identifying firing requirements and constraints
- recording results in accordance with firing instructions

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

Operational knowledge of:

- characteristics, technical capabilities and limitations of explosives
- firing processes
- measuring and recording processes
- organisational reporting and documentation requirements
- testing protocols and techniques

Assessment Conditions

Competency should be assessed in an actual workplace or in a simulated environment, with access to equipment and infrastructure appropriate to the outcome. Competency should be demonstrated over time to ensure the candidate is assessed across a variety of situations.

Assessors must satisfy the NVR/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

DEFEXO141 Prepare firing points

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This unit supersedes and is equivalent to DEFEO800A Prepare proof firing points. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Unit code updated • Content and formatting updated to comply with the new standards • All PC transitioned from passive to active voice • PC 1.3 and 3.3 removed • Element 1 reworded

Application

This unit describes the skills required to prepare proof, trial and experimental firing points to support proof, experimental and trial testing of munitions and weapon systems. The practitioner is responsible for ensuring the available firing point technologies and equipment best meet the design outcomes of the required test.

This unit was developed for personnel who are firing point specialists working within proof, experimental and trials organisations or original equipment manufacturers, but is applicable to any individual in this field of work.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently as part of a team under indirect supervision, use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their output. They would perform routine tasks in known contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the range of conditions section.
1. Prepare for proof, trial and experimental firing	1.1 Read and clarify proof, trial and experimental instructions. 1.2 Identify and apply relevant range regulations. 1.3 Identify and resource required stores and equipment and check for calibration, serviceability and safety. 1.4 Liaise with relevant parties. 1.5 Obtain agreement on firing point preparation in consultation with stakeholders.
2. Establish firing point	2.1 Install equipment in accordance with the proof, trial and experimental instruction. 2.2 Monitor installation of data acquisition equipment. 2.3 Check safety traces against the set-up. 2.4 Check functionality of equipment and record identification data, condition and calibration.
3. Monitor firing point equipment	3.1 Monitor performance of equipment. 3.2 Document performance of equipment.
4. Recondition firing point	4.1 Undertake safety checks. 4.2 Confirm and record equipment calibration. 4.3 Record and report equipment condition. 4.4 Recondition firing point.

Foundation Skills

The foundation skills demands of this unit have been mapped for alignment with the Australian Core Skills Framework (ACSF). The following tables outline the performance levels indicated for successful attainment of the unit.

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the candidate must demonstrate evidence of performance of the following on at least one occasion.

- analysing and evaluating information
- preparing and presenting simple reports
- preparing and installing the equipment necessary to prepare proof, trial and experimental firing points
- using PPE
- using manual handling and team lifting techniques
- handling dangerous goods and hazardous substances

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

- effect of small arms, other calibre and explosive fire/detonation
- licensing requirements
- organisational guidelines and standards
- proof, trial and experimental tests involving explosive ordnance and weapon systems
- regulatory requirements
- explosive ordnance or weapon systems undergoing testing

Assessment Conditions

Competency should be assessed in an actual workplace or in a simulated environment, with access to equipment and infrastructure appropriate to the outcome. Competency should be demonstrated over time to ensure the candidate is assessed across a variety of situations.

This unit needs to be assessed in an authorised and licensed potential explosion site or authorised test facility.

Assessors must satisfy the NVR/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to conduct dynamic other calibre proof, trials and experimental tests in the explosive ordnance environment. Explosive ordnance dynamic other calibre tests are conducted to ensure weapons systems or other calibre ammunition in service meet the required standards. The dynamic other calibre tests are a common component of explosive ordnance quality assurance.

This unit was developed for proof, trials and experimental testing specialists working within proof, trials and experimental organisations in Defence, but is applicable to any individual in this field of work.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently and as part of a team, under direct and/or indirect supervision. They would use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their output. They would perform routine tasks in range of contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to acquire data related to velocity in a proof and experimental environment. Explosive proof tests are conducted to ensure weapons systems or explosives meet the required standards. The acquisition of data related to velocity is a common component of proof tests.

This unit applies in a physical science or engineering environment where product undergoes testing to establish that it meets established standards and/or specifications related to velocity.

This unit was developed for data acquisition specialists working within proof and experimental organisations in Defence or original equipment manufacturer, but is applicable to any individual in this field of work.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit must demonstrate the ability to work independently and as part of a team under direct and/or indirect supervision, use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their output. They would perform complex tasks in a range of known contexts.

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

Operational knowledge of:

- analysis process
- data acquisition methodologies
- information sources
- organisational guidelines and standards
- regulatory requirements
- relevant legislation
- research techniques

Assessment Conditions

Competency should be assessed in an actual workplace or in a simulated environment, with access to equipment and infrastructure appropriate to the outcome. Competency should be demonstrated over time to ensure the candidate is assessed across a variety of situations.

Assessors must satisfy the NVR/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

DEFEXO151 Acquire data related to pressure

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This unit supersedes and is equivalent to DEFEO810A Acquire data related to pressure. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Unit code updated • Content and formatting updated to comply with the new standards • All PC transitioned from passive to active voice • PC 1.5 and 2.5 removed • PC 3.1 and 3.2 merged • Element 1 one new PC

Application

This unit describes the skills required to acquire data related to pressure in a proof and experimental environment. Explosive ordnance proof tests are conducted to ensure weapons systems or explosive ordnance in service with Defence meets the required standards. The acquisition of data related to pressure is a common component of proof tests.

This unit was developed for personnel involved in a physical science or engineering environment where products undergo testing to establish that they meet established standards and/or specifications in respect to pressure, but is applicable to any individual in this field of work.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit must demonstrate the ability to work independently and as part of a team under direct and/or indirect supervision, use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their output. They would perform complex tasks in a range of known contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

DEFEXO155 Provide survey data for proof and experimental firing

Modification History

Application

This unit describes the skills required to conduct surveys and to produce survey data in support of proof and experimental firings. This survey can be conducted by two people; one person being the observer and the other recording data – this unit of competency covers both roles. The production of survey data is crucial in the setting up and validation of a number of these proof tests. It applies in a physical science or engineering environment where a product undergoes testing to establish that it meets established standards and/or specifications.

This unit was developed for survey specialists working within proof and experimental organisations in Defence, but is applicable to any individual in this field of work.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would typically work independently and as part of a team under direct and/or indirect supervision. They use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their output. They would perform complex tasks in known contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

This unit describes the skills required to operate small watercraft. It includes the requirement to prepare the watercraft for operations, to conduct buoyancy calculations, to carry out appropriate tasks, and to clean and maintain the watercraft. While the technical aspects of this competency are concerned with 'operating a boat', the specialisation of the skill, and safety issues associated with waterborne operations confer additional responsibilities upon the operator. For all watercraft operations the individual may need to provide directions to personnel within the boat concerning specific safety matters such as seating, movement and actions on incidents such as man overboard and capsized.

The watercraft will normally be operated:

- in protected or calm waters
- day or night
- in training, on exercise and on operations

This unit applies to those required to operate small watercraft to conduct a range of tasks including:

- transporting personnel and/or equipment across water
- assisting mounting and maintaining wet crossing activities
- patrolling range boundaries
- recovering proof ordnance

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit will usually work independently under indirect supervision, demonstrating sound judgement in the use of authority and making independent decisions. They would perform routine tasks in a range of contexts that are sometimes unfamiliar and unpredictable.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the candidate must demonstrate evidence of performance of the following on at least one occasion.

- calculating and recording number and weight of passengers, stores and equipment
- monitoring hazards and applying safety principles to operations
- using clear interpersonal communication as operator of the vessel
- using knots and lashings to secure watercraft
- navigating using maps and GPS

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

Operational knowledge:

- applicable statutory waterways rules for watercraft operation
- buoyancy/floatation calculations
- composition of teams, and roles and responsibilities of team members
- effects of water moving over objects and obstacles
- local water hazards and environmental conditions
- techniques for supporting others
- verbal and non-verbal communication techniques

Assessment Conditions

Competency should be assessed in an actual workplace or in a simulated environment, with access to equipment and infrastructure appropriate to the outcome. Competency should be demonstrated over time to ensure the candidate is assessed across a variety of situations.

Assessors must satisfy the NVR/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

DEFFIT001 Conduct a group fitness appraisal

Modification History

Release	Comments

Application

This unit describes the skills required to conduct a fitness appraisal and screening for small groups or organisations (up to 30 people) within Defence, to determine the current fitness state, goals and limitations against the organisation's fitness requirements, and to record and communicate the results. Fitness appraisal informs the development of a fitness program.

This unit was developed for physical trainers or combat fitness leaders of the ADF who provide basic organic fitness training support to small groups or organisations in an operational setting, but may be relevant to others who work in this field. This function may be performed in addition to their primary trade or employment over a range of familiar and predictable contexts.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit require clearance by a supervising fitness instructor, however, they will work autonomously, while performing routine tasks in a familiar context.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

2. Conduct a basic fitness appraisal	2.1 Choose a fitness appraisal method by considering the group fitness goals and current perceived fitness state. 2.2 Conduct basic fitness appraisals of the group. 2.3 Record and compare fitness appraisal results to the desired fitness goals of the group to inform the development of the fitness program. 2.4 Explain the results of the fitness appraisal to the group, including the potential impact on fitness program development. 2.5 Identify the group's health and fitness status, including recommendations from health professionals, to inform the development of the fitness program.

DEFFOR001 Inspect, maintain and test electronic forensic equipment

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to inspect, test and maintain electronic forensic equipment (computer, recording, communications and organisational specialist equipment). The inspection, maintenance and testing of electronic forensic equipment is an essential component of electronic forensics that ensures the electronic forensic equipment is available and fit for purpose.

This unit applies to those working in the gathering and analysis of electronic information.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently or as part of a team, under indirect supervision, while performing complex tasks in a broad range of contexts. They must be able to use discretion and judgement and take responsibility for the quality of their outputs.

Assessment Requirements for DEFFOR001 Inspect, maintain and test electronic forensic equipment

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	These Assessment Requirements were released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meet the Standards for Training Packages.

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the candidate must demonstrate evidence of performance of the following on at least one occasion.

- inspecting and testing equipment such as computer, recording, communications and organisational specialist equipment
- maintaining equipment, including power checks, software checks and cleaning
- storing equipment

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

- WHS policy relevant to the maintenance, servicing and testing of equipment
- organisation's policies and procedures concerning the use, testing, cleaning and servicing of equipment
- recording procedures including:
 - verbal
 - record sheets or books
 - computer data bases, card systems or microfiche systems
 - maintenance schedules

Assessment Conditions

Competency should be assessed in an actual workplace or in a simulated environment, with access to equipment and infrastructure appropriate to the outcome. Competency should be demonstrated over time to ensure the candidate is assessed across a variety of situations, with access to electronic devices with content suitable for forensic extraction including mobile devices, computers or communications equipment.

Assessors must satisfy the NVR/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

DEFFOR002 Conduct initial electronic investigation

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to gather and collate information and obvious and accessible electronic evidence from the scene of an incident and identify potential witnesses. In the context of this unit, electronic evidence may include computer hard drives, recording media, flash drives, tape drives or digital and analogue recording and communications equipment. It includes maintaining the chain of evidential record.

This unit applies to those working in the gathering and analysis of electronic information.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to, particularly those relating to WHS, recording details of witnesses, and the search and seizure of electronic evidence.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently or as part of a team, under indirect supervision, while performing complex tasks in a broad range of contexts. They must be able to use discretion and judgement and take responsibility for the quality of their outputs.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

1. Conduct initial assessment of scene	1.1 Assess the scene. 1.2 Establish communication with the senior investigating officer and maintain liaison throughout the investigation. 1.3 Ascertain the circumstances surrounding the scene through visual assessment and reports from other personnel. 1.4 Define/redefine the scene boundaries as required to preserve physical evidence for collection. 1.5 Locate obvious and accessible electronic evidence and, where appropriate, protect from possible contamination.
2. Control integrity of scene	2.1 Establish and maintain appropriate arrangements for scene access and egress. 2.2 Identify and access additional resources required to secure incident scene.
3. Examine scene	3.1 Instigate an appropriate search pattern to ensure all electronic evidence is located and preserved. 3.2 Record details of the scene and types of electronic equipment and media. 3.3 Locate, collect, package, label and store electronic evidence to ensure preservation for further examination. 3.4 Maintain a log of all evidence.
4. Identify potential witnesses and record initial statements	4.1 Identify and record names and contact details of potential witnesses. 4.2 Record initial statement using appropriate recording practices.

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the candidate must demonstrate evidence of performance of the following on at least one occasion.

- conducting the initial assessment of the scene
- identifying witnesses
- recording and compiling records of interview and statements accurately
- maximising the potential evidentiary value of the electronic evidence
- paying attention to detail
- implementing a methodical and systematic approach
- questioning potential witnesses
- using recording and specialised evidence collection equipment
- working with a variety of professionals
- taking and compiling statements
- collecting and recording electronic evidence
- protecting from contamination evidence including at least one of computer hard drives, recording media, flash drives, and digital and analogue recording and communications equipment
- managing access and egress by establishing:
 - clear brief as to who has control of access
 - physical barriers
 - roster guards
 - limited entry to essential personnel
 - delegation of authority to control entry
 - record of all persons who enter or depart the scene

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

- legislative, policy and quality system context and requirements
- details of scene features and use of a variety of specialised equipment
- functions and roles of other professionals and experts
- incident scene protection and preservation
- indicators of need for specialised investigations
- policies and procedures relating to recording details of persons
- public safety and duty of care at incident scene

Assessment Conditions

Competency should be assessed in an actual workplace or in a simulated environment, with access to equipment and infrastructure appropriate to the outcome. DEFFOR003 Gather and analyse electronic information

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to gather and analyse electronic information to support electronic forensic investigations. It includes identifying, collecting, analysing, presenting and maintaining information, compiling notes and statements of evidence, and removing portable media from machines. It also covers the use of initial screening technology. In the context of this unit, portable media refers to external hard drives, SIM cards, recording media, flash drives, tape drives and other peripherals.

This unit applies to those working in the gathering and analysis of electronic information.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to, particularly those relating to WHS and the gathering and analysis of electronic information.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently or as part of a team, under indirect supervision, while performing complex tasks in a broad range of contexts. They must be able to use discretion and judgement and take responsibility for the quality of their outputs.

DEFFOR004 Capture forensic photographic images

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to capture photographic images for forensic purposes during an electronic forensic investigation. It includes the selection of appropriate equipment and software and the capture of specific images required by the investigator. In the context of this unit, photographic equipment includes digital cameras, film cameras, accessories such as lenses (normal, wide-angle, telephoto and zoom), flashes and filters, tripod, equipment bag, memory cards and batteries.

This unit applies to those working in the gathering and analysis of electronic information.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to, particularly those relating to WHS and the capture of photographic images.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently or as part of a team, under indirect supervision, while performing routine tasks in a broad range of contexts. They must be able to use discretion and judgement and take responsibility for the quality of their outputs.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Elements describe the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the range of conditions section.
1. Prepare to take a forensic photograph	1.1 Identify, analyse and confirm forensic photographic requirement from work requests/instructions. 1.2 Check photographic equipment for serviceability, rectify and report any faults to appropriate personnel. 1.3 Identify recording methods required to document the forensic evidence. 1.4 Identify and factor into planning any operational, security, safety and other considerations affecting taking forensic photographs.
2. Take forensic photographs	2.1 Assess and determine the most appropriate way to capture the photographs. 2.2 Prepare and select correct technical photographic settings. 2.3 Set up, compose and take the photographic sequence. 2.4 Produce forensic photographs of a high quality that directly illustrate the investigation and are suitable for reproduction.
3. Process forensic photographs	3.1 Remove the film from the camera or download digital images to a computer. 3.2 Arrange for photographs to be developed, scanned or printed. 3.3 Forward forensic images to the electronic forensic investigator.
4. Store forensic images	4.1 Package and store images to maintain continuity and prevent degradation or contamination. 4.2 Enter details of images in case notes and, where appropriate, in the exhibit register to maintain the chain of custody.

DEFFOR006 Conduct electronic data search and analysis

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages.

Application

This unit covers the competency to analyse electronic forensic data that has been acquired through a range of electronic forensic methodologies. It includes analysing electronic storage devices for artefacts that may become evidence. In the context of this unit, physical evidence includes both digital and analogue recording, and communications equipment including hard drives, recording media, flash drives, tape drives, random-access memory (RAM), read-only memory (ROM), basic input/output system (BIOS) and other peripherals. In addition, artefacts are any kind of tangible electronic byproducts that are produced during user or system activity.

This unit applies to those working in the gathering and analysis of electronic information.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to, particularly those relating to WHS and the conducting of electronic data search and analysis.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently, with minimal supervision, while performing complex tasks, including making complex judgements. They would use discretion and judgement and take responsibility for the quality of their outputs.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Assessment Requirements for DEFFOR006 Conduct electronic data search and analysis

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	These Assessment Requirements were released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meet the Standards for Training Packages.

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the candidate must demonstrate evidence of performance of the following on at least one occasion.

- conducting an electronic data search
- communicating (listening, questioning, presenting) and negotiating
- using and interpreting the outcomes from different types of electronic forensic tools
- reducing and describing data
- applying thinking processes including at least two of:
 - inductive (interpreting raw information, identifying and testing trends or patterns)
 - deductive (beginning with a hypothesis and testing it), lateral, critical or creative
 - problem solving techniques and decision making
- preparing analysis reports
- constructing sound inductive arguments
- evaluating data
- using computer and information systems
- conducting analysis including:
 - quantitative and/or qualitative
 - explorative
 - descriptive
 - causative
 - predictive
 - development of hypotheses
 - timeline development
 - link analysis
 - comparative
 - biographical
 - demographic or geographic

- historical
- scenario generation
- Delphi technique
- morphological maximising the potential evidentiary value of the electronic evidence
- operating safely

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

- computer and storage device theory, characteristics and operating mechanisms
- government and policy environments within which analysis will be conducted various types of electronic forensic tools and their capabilities and limitations
- applicable laws, policy and procedures
- available resources required to support the intelligence analysis process
- security issues and classifications
- the range of analytical techniques appropriate for data analysis evaluation systems
- thinking and inductive/deductive reasoning processes
- the influence of human factors on data analysis
- evidentiary requirements

Assessment Conditions

Competency should be assessed in an actual workplace or in a simulated environment, with access to equipment and infrastructure appropriate to the outcome. Competency should be demonstrated over time to ensure the candidate is assessed across a variety of situations, with access to electronic devices with content suitable for forensic extraction including mobile devices, computers or communications equipment.

Assessors must satisfy the NVR/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

DEFFOR007 Set up, operate and maintain a portable audio recorder

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to select, set up, operate and maintain a portable audio recorder and associated equipment required for recording during an electronic forensic investigation. In an electronic forensic investigation the selection of recording equipment is dependent on the specific information required by the investigator. In the context of this unit equipment may include any domestic or commercial audio device used by the organisation, including microphones, mounts, organisational specialist equipment, computer equipment or software tools. Audio recording media may include audio tapes, flash drives, hard disk drives or solid state drives.

This unit applies to those working in the gathering and analysis of electronic information.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to, particularly those relating to WHS and the set-up and operation of a portable audio recorder.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently or as part of a team, under indirect supervision, while performing routine tasks in a familiar context. They must be able to use discretion and judgement and take responsibility for the quality of their outputs.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the range of conditions section.
1. Select and prepare portable audio recorder, equipment and materials	1.1 Identify and confirm portable audio recorder and equipment for the task. 1.2 Perform visual, auditory or tactile inspection of the portable audio recorder and equipment to ensure its operation. 1.3 Charge the batteries to meet the requirements of the task. 1.4 Report and record details of faulty or damaged equipment.
2. Test all operational aspects of portable audio recorder	2.1 Test the portable audio recorder and equipment to ensure it is fit for purpose. 2.2 Check the functions of the portable audio recorder to ensure it can achieve the required result. 2.3 Load the audio recording media for the task.
3. Operate portable audio recorder	3.1 Operate the portable audio recorder to achieve forensic investigation requirements. 3.2 Place microphones if appropriate and check microphone placement to ensure desired result is achieved. 3.3 Screen external noise. 3.4 Check recording levels and adjust portable audio recorder sound levels. 3.5 Adjust and move portable audio recorder and equipment. 3.6 Remove and process audio recording media.
4. Inspect, clean, maintain and store portable audio recorder and equipment	4.1 Conduct auditory or tactile inspection to identify possible operational or physical failure of portable audio recorder or equipment. 4.2 Clean, maintain, assemble and store portable audio recorder and equipment. 4.3 Perform power checks and software checks. 4.4 Perform internal or external repairs. 4.5 Update portable audio recorder records.

- operating a portable audio recorder and associated equipment
- inspecting a portable audio recorder and equipment
- testing a portable audio recorder and equipment
- cleaning and maintaining a portable audio recorder and equipment
- using cleaning agents and chemicals

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

- portable audio recorder operational functions
- concepts of portable audio recorder maintenance and appropriate cleaning techniques and materials
- WHS policy relevant to the maintenance, servicing and testing of portable audio recorder and equipment
- types of and differences in audio recording equipment, and compatibility of audio recording media with equipment
- management of audio recording media stocks, storage and handling
- safe working practices when operating, maintaining, servicing and testing portable audio recorder and equipment

DEFFOR008 Detect, record and collect electronic evidence

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to conduct activities involved in the detection, recording and collection of electronic evidence prior to laboratory examination. It requires the individual to detect, record, collect and package both digital and analogue recording and communications equipment including hard drives, recording media, flash drives, tape drives, random-access memory (RAM), read-only memory (ROM), basic input/output system (BIOS) and other peripherals.

This unit applies to those working in the gathering and analysis of electronic information.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to, particularly those relating to WHS and the search for and seizure of electronic evidence.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently, with minimal supervision, while performing complex tasks, including making complex judgements. They would use discretion and judgement and take responsibility for the quality of their outputs.

- solving problems
- making analytical decisions
- examining electronic evidence
- maximising the evidentiary value of the electronic evidence
- handling and preserving continuity of evidence
- collecting and preserving specific evidence types
- operating safely
- packaging and storing items to maintain continuity and prevent degradation or contamination by considering:
 - physical nature of exhibit
 - electronic stability
 - packaging medium
 - tamper-evident seals
 - exhibit labels
 - storage temperature

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

- legislative, policy and quality system context and requirements
- available techniques and their limitations

DEFFOR009 Give evidence of electronic media crime

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to give evidence as an electronic forensics expert witness in legal proceedings. The unit includes preparation for proceedings, presenting evidence and following up on outcomes of proceedings. Proceedings may be to criminal, coronial, civil or military courts; Defence or workers' compensation tribunals; human rights, equal opportunity or royal commissions; administrative reviews or parliamentary hearings.

This unit applies to those working in the gathering and analysis of electronic information.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to, particularly those relating to WHS and the search and seizure of electronic evidence.

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the candidate must demonstrate evidence of performance of the following on at least one occasion.

- presenting expert evidence
- describing complex technical procedures in simple language
- writing complex reports
- applying the rules of evidence
- applying the constraints of individual qualifications
- maximising the potential evidentiary value of the electronic evidence

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

- legislative, policy and procedural context in which electronic forensic evidence is given
- rules of evidence
- court procedures relevant to the specific legal process
- procedures and protocols in different judicial systems
- types of evidence admissible in judicial systems
- legislative requirements of presenting evidence
- constraints and limitations of individual qualifications
- prosecution process
- role of legal personnel
- role of expert witnesses
- use of forensic documentation and notes in giving evidence

DEFFOR010 Produce an electronic media image for forensic purposes

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to employ a range of electronic media forensic methodologies to produce an image of a storage device. Storage devices may include hard disk drives, solid state drives, read-only memory (ROM), random-access memory (RAM), flash drives, tape drives, basic input/output system (BIOS) and USBs. Common objectives may include keyword searches, files recovery, including deleted files, extraction of registry information and metadata. Mobile devices such as mobile phones may afford additional information, including location, but require the use of specific methodologies.

This unit applies to those working in the gathering and analysis of electronic information.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to, particularly those relating to WHS and the search and seizure of electronic evidence.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently, with minimum of supervision, while performing complex tasks, including making complex judgements. They would use discretion and judgement and take responsibility for the quality of their outputs.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

- using analytical, decision-making and problem-solving skills in response to a range of electronic evidence contexts, including the systematic examination of items of electronic evidence
- applying resource management and time management
- applying exhibit handling skills
- preserving continuity of evidence
- using specialised evidence-recording equipment as required
- collecting, packaging and preserving specific evidence types
- adhering to operational safety
- maximising the potential evidentiary value of the electronic evidence

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

- legislative, policy and quality system context

DEFFOR011 Assess, control and examine electronic incident scenes

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to assess, control and examine electronic incident scenes, including determining the resources required to examine the scene and plan a search for electronic equipment that will require forensic examination. In the context of this unit, physical evidence includes both digital and analogue recording and communications equipment, including hard drives, recording media, flash drives, tape drives, random-access memory (RAM), read-only memory (ROM), basic input/output system (BIOS) and other peripherals.

This unit applies to those working in the gathering and analysis of electronic information.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to, particularly those relating to WHS and assessing, controlling and examining electronic incident scenes.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently, with minimal supervision, while performing complex tasks, including making complex judgements. They would use discretion and judgement and take responsibility for the quality of their outputs.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the range of conditions section.
1. Respond to incident	1.1 Receive, record, acknowledge and prioritise tasking. 1.2 Undertake preliminary assessment and anticipate likely resource requirements prior to arrival at the incident scene.
2. Assess the scene	2.1 Obtain information from relevant personnel to determine incident details. 2.2 Survey the incident scene to establish its scope within the scene assessment. 2.3 Identify resources required to conduct examination of the scene. 2.4 Identify risk factors and develop strategies to maintain personnel safety and preserve physical evidence. 2.5 Identify tactical factors and resulting priorities to assist decision making/subsequent action. 2.6 Establish a systematic plan of action. 2.7 Conduct a systematic search to identify relevant physical evidence, and maintain the integrity of the evidence.
3. Control the scene	3.1 Coordinate investigations to preserve life, property and evidence, minimise disruption and comply with operational safety guidelines. 3.2 Task and coordinate support personnel if necessary to manage the incident scene. 3.3 Establish and review perimeters to maintain security and integrity of the scene. 3.4 Maintain a record of movement where relevant. 3.5 Safeguard persons at the scene and prevent contamination or alteration of the scene. 3.6 Identify entry and exit paths to preserve evidence and maintain safety of personnel. 3.7 Assess the incident scene to identify subsequent investigative and/or forensic action.
4. Examine and interpret the scene	4.1 Record the nature and location (spatial relationships) of physical evidence and identify the sequence of events. 4.2 Draw conclusions from the physical evidence. 4.3 Review the conclusions if additional relevant evidence is identified.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to identify and assess risks in preparation for implementing treatment measures.

This was developed for Defence personnel required to conduct a risk assessment but may be relevant to others working in this field.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work both independently and as part of a team, while performing routine tasks to apply known solutions to a variety of predictable problems. They would normally have local supervisory or management responsibility and apply known solutions to a variety of predicable problems.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to provide technical advice in a Defence context. It includes identifying the issues surrounding the provision of advice and the formulation of options. A person can only provide advice on subject areas for which they have relevant experience and knowledge.

This unit was developed for Defence personnel having to provide expert advice, but may be relevant to others working in this field.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently and as part of a team, under direct and/or indirect supervision, while performing complex tasks in a range of contexts. They would use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their outputs.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

DEFG EN014 Act as a range safety officer on a permanent range

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in DEF Defence Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This unit supersedes and is equivalent to DEFCM118B Act as a range safety officer on a permanent range. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Unit code updated • Content and formatting updated to comply with the new standards • All PC transitioned from passive to active voice • PC 1.2 removed

Application

This unit describes the skills required to perform the duties of a range safety officer during the conduct of range practices on permanent ranges. Supervising safety on a permanent range includes safe handling and operation of weapons and ammunition for which the range safety officer has been assessed as qualified to operate.

Range practices are potentially high-risk activities, consequently applying, implementing and supervising safety precautions underpins all aspects of this competency. Ranges may include:

- 25 metre and 100 metre open ranges
- classification range
- mobile training range
- standard 25 metre range
- static mechanical range
- weapons training simulation system

This unit applies to Defence personnel required to perform the duties of a range safety officer, including butts or firing point supervisor, during the conduct of range practices on permanent ranges within a Defence working environment.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently, under indirect supervision, use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their outputs. They would perform routine tasks in a range of highly unpredictable contexts

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to conduct weapons range practices to support the maintenance of operational readiness in the Australian Defence Force (ADF). This includes the safe and efficient planning and conduct of basic range practices as the Officer in Charge (OIC). Conduct in this instance also includes effectively supervising safety, preparing and finalising range practices using weapons and ammunition for which the OIC is qualified to operate.

Range practices may include:

- 25 metre and 100 metre open ranges
- classification range
- mobile training range
- standard 25 metre range
- static mechanical range
- weapons training simulation system

This unit applies to those working as Defence personnel required to perform the duties of OIC for the conduct of basic range practices within a Defence working environment.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently under indirect supervision, use discretion and judgement, and take responsibility for the quality of their outputs. They would perform routine tasks in a range of contexts.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to administer personnel. The application of this unit in the workplace includes supervising a designated team of personnel in their administration and compliance with organisational administrative policy and procedures. It includes aspects of supervising personnel readiness for work, welfare, entitlements, discipline and competency.

Supervisors may be at the middle to senior line-management level or junior management level. The number of personnel being administered will vary greatly but will usually be ten to thirty personnel.

This unit applies to those leading and managing others in an operational environment where the normal access to a personnel administrative support network is not available.

Those undertaking this unit would work autonomously, with supervising responsibilities. They would perform complex tasks in a range of contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to identify news, features or other journalistic material for Defence publications, such as services newspapers, magazines and internet sites. The reporter can identify a story through personal initiative or following direction from the editor or sub-editor. Usually information comes from within the organisation, but occasionally material will be provided from external sources.

This unit applies to those working as Defence reporters.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work under limited supervision. They would perform complex tasks in known contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to take suitable photographs for incorporation within a Defence publication. This includes basic photographic techniques such as composition, lighting and layout. All Defence reporters are required to take photographs in a variety of formats suitable for publication in a range of publications. Generally the reporter determines the need, type and context of the photographs, but in some cases this will be under direction from senior reporters or the editor.

Reporters either work in a controlled environment where they can manage photographic activity or in an uncontrolled environment where they anticipate a photographic opportunity but cannot identify its exact timing or nature.

This unit was developed for Defence reporters, but is applicable to anyone working in this field.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would mainly work independently seeking assistance from superiors when needed. They would perform specific tasks in known contexts.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to set up and operate a video camera and associated equipment required to capture video images. The capture of video images includes the selection of the appropriate equipment and software and the capture of specific video images required for Defence purposes. The capture of these video images may occur under operational conditions; however, the unit does not include specific operational settings.

This unit was developed for Defence personnel who are involved in the capture of video images required for public affairs and other Defence purposes, but may be relevant to others who work in this field.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently or as part of a team, under indirect supervision, while performing specific tasks in a broad range of contexts. They must be able to use discretion and judgement and take responsibility for the quality of their outputs.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Application

This unit describes the skills required to manage equity and diversity. Individuals will contribute to, implement and review equity and diversity programs in their workplace; encourage the development of their workforce; and communicate and display the values of the equity and diversity principles to their workforce.

This unit applies to those working as commanders, managers and equity advisers in Defence.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work autonomously while performing sophisticated tasks in a range of contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.
