BACKGROUND AND ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The Australian National Training Authority funded Tourism Training Australia to develop an integrated training package for the Tourism Industry. This training package builds upon the already comprehensive work completed over previous years in the production of standards, curriculum and resources.

The process of development has involved extensive research and consultation with industry and other relevant parties throughout Australia. Tourism industry operators, associations, State/Territory training organisations, the Tourism Training Network, and both public and private providers were represented on the National Industry Reference Group or involved in the consultations.

Tourism Training Australia would like to acknowledge the valuable contribution of all those who have assisted with the entire Tourism Training Package project.

INTRODUCTION TO THE COMPETENCY STANDARDS

An essential component of the Tourism Training Package was the review of existing competency standards, and development of new competency standards. Competency Standards cover the following occupational streams:

- Tour Operations/Guiding
- Attractions and Theme Parks
- Retail and Wholesale Travel
- Visitor Information Services
- Meetings and Events.

The Standards are organised into the following categories:

- Common Core (Tourism/Hospitality)
- Tourism Core
- Planning and Product Development
- Sales and Marketing
- Sales/Office Operations
- Field/On-Site Operations, and
- General Units (covering):
 - Customer Service
 - Hygiene, Health, Safety and Security
 - General Administration
 - Financial Administration
 - Computer Technology
 - Technical and Maintenance Services
 - Merchandise Sales
 - Training
 - Leadership.

KEY PRINCIPLES

The following principles underpin all the competency standards:

- Competency standards define the skills and knowledge required to work in the Tourism Industry. The standards provide a flexible framework which can be used by all tourism enterprises, regardless of location or business size.
- To be meaningful and valuable, training and/or assessment based on these standards must be tailored to meet the specific needs of industry sectors, individuals and different cultural groups.
- There is recognition of the need to balance the commercial viability of tourism and hospitality operations with culturally and environmentally appropriate practices.

COMPETENCY STANDARDS

Competency Standards are statements about the skills and knowledge that people need to perform their jobs to the required industry standards.

They are nationally agreed benchmarks for effective performance in the tourism and hospitality industry.

USES OF COMPETENCY STANDARDS

Competency Standards ensure that all training and assessment meet the real needs of industry. However, they can also be used for much more than this; they can form the basis for a complete and integrated human resource system.

The standards can be used for:

- compiling job descriptions and organising work structures
- recruitment
- determining training needs
- developing training and training resources/materials
- conducting appraisals and skills assessments
- establishing linkages between skills and industrial awards

DEVELOPMENT OF COMPETENCY STANDARDS

The Competency Standards were developed by the industry through an extensive process of research and consultation. Tourism Training Australia co-ordinated this process. Consultation was undertaken Australia-wide using the Tourism Training State/Territory network. It involved wide circulation of standards with feedback obtained through a range of methods including focus groups, questionnaires and interviews.

Standards for the Tourism Industry have existed for many years. The development of the competency standards under the Tourism Training Package, has been based on a review and updating of existing standards, including the addition of more comprehensive Evidence Guides and Range of Variable statements.

THE TOURISM STANDARDS

The standards describe the skills and knowledge needed to work throughout the Tourism Industry. Individual units are combined to create a package of skills which suit the needs of the work situation.

CODING AND ORGANISATION OF STANDARDS

The following is an explanation of how the standards for the entire Tourism sector of the industry are organised.

CODING

Each nationally endorsed unit of competence has been allocated a unit code. This national code consists of:-

- a national identifier for those Tourism units reviewed and developed as part of the Tourism Training Package “THT”. Note, however, that those units common to tourism and hospitality use the national identifier “THH”. Units imported from other industries use the national identifier codes of the parent industries: “TD” (some Driving units in Tour Operations), “WR” (some General units listed under Merchandise Sales).
- a common core unit identifier for Tourism and Hospitality “COR”.
- a tourism core unit identifier “TCO”.
- a stream/functional/field area identifier. For example: PPD – Planning and Product Development; SOP – Sales/Office Operations; FTO – Tour Operations; FME – Meetings and Events; FTG – Guiding; FAT – Attractions and Theme Parks etc.
- a general unit identifier “G”.
- a version descriptor. The first version descriptor for all recently reviewed and developed units of competence is “A”. As revisions are undertaken and units of competence are updated, the version identifier will change to B, C, D etc to reflect the changes.

Example:

NATIONAL CODE	UNIT CODE	VERSION DESCRIPTOR	UNIT TITLE
THH	COR01	A	Work With Colleagues and Customers
THT	TCO01	A	Develop and Update Tourism Industry Knowledge
THH	GCS04	A	Make Presentations
THT	SOP01	A	Operate an Automated Information System
THT	FTO01	A	Conduct Pre-Departure Checks
THT	FME01	A	Co-ordinate Guest/Delegate Registration at Venue
THT	FTG01	A	Work as a Guide
THT	FAT01	A	Provide On-Site Information and Assistance
THH	GCS01	A	Develop and Update Local Knowledge
THH	GHS01	A	Follow Workplace Hygiene Procedures
THH	GGA01	A	Communicate on the Telephone
THH	GFAS01	A	Process Financial Transactions
THH	GCT01	A	Access and Retrieve Computer Data
THT	GTM01	A	Carry Out General Maintenance
WR	RS.1	A	Sell Merchandise
THH	GTR01	A	Coach Others in Job Skills
THH	GLE01	A	Monitor Work Operations

Please note that an individual unit of competence does not have a formal level. It is only when units are packaged together in a qualification that a level is determined.

USING THE STANDARDS

Here are a few pointers to help you use the standards:-

- The standards are statements about what people need to be able to do in the workplace - they are not designed to cover the details of training which may be needed for people to acquire the skills.
- The standards are written to be general enough to apply to the full range of situations in the tourism industry. Therefore you will see statements like 'in accordance with enterprise procedure' or 'as appropriate to the work situation'. The standards provide a guide which can then be taken and tailored to meet the needs of specific sectors and business enterprises.
- The standards must allow for flexible tailoring and targeting of training and assessment.
- When using the standards, take advantage of all the information provided. The Range of Variables and Evidence Guides provide essential information to enable you to achieve the standards.
- While individual units of competence define the skills and knowledge in a particular area of work, it is the combination of several units which creates a meaningful outcome in the workplace. Achievement of National Tourism Industry Qualifications requires certain combinations of units, however, you may mix and match the standards to meet other needs.

You will find further information and guidance on using competency standards and other components of the Tourism Training Package, in the “USER GUIDE” and “PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT KIT” produced by Tourism Training Australia. Contact your local Tourism Training office for details.

- understanding of teamwork principles.

Context of Assessment:

This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

The focus of this unit will vary depending upon the cultural context of the workplace. Assessment should take account of the cultural variances and special requirements that apply in particular situations.

Evidence of competency should relate to different communication and customer service contexts and may need to be collected over a period of time.

Look for:

- ability to communicate effectively with customers and colleagues (including those with special needs) within the range of situations required for the relevant job role.
- ability to work in a team
- ability to respond effectively to a range of different customer service situations
- understanding of communication and customer service and its importance in a tourism/hospitality context.

Linkages to Other Units:

This is a core unit that underpins effective performance in all other units. It is recommended that this unit is delivered/assessed in conjunction with other operational and service units.

Care should be taken in developing training to meet the requirements of this unit. For generic pre-vocational training, organisations should provide training which takes into consideration the full range of industry contexts with no bias towards individual sectors.

Competency Standards

The Range of Variables will assist in this regard. For sector-specific delivery, training should be tailored to meet the needs of that sector.

Unit THHCOR02A

Work in a Socially Diverse Environment

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the cultural awareness that is required by all people working in the tourism and hospitality industries. It includes the cultural awareness required for serving customers and working with colleagues from diverse backgrounds.
------------------------	---

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Communicate with customers and colleagues from diverse backgrounds	Customers and colleagues from all cultural groups are valued and treated with respect and sensitivity. Verbal and non verbal communication takes account of cultural differences. Where language barriers exist, efforts are made to communicate through use of gestures or simple words in the other person's language. Assistance from colleagues, reference books or outside organisations is obtained when required.
2 Deal with cross cultural misunderstandings	Issues which may cause conflict or misunderstanding in the workplace are identified. Difficulties are addressed with the appropriate people and assistance is sought from team leaders. When difficulties or misunderstandings occur, possible cultural differences are considered. Efforts are made to resolve the misunderstanding, taking account of cultural considerations. Issues and problems are referred to the appropriate team leader/supervisor for follow up.

Range of Variables

This unit applies to all tourism and hospitality sectors.

Cultural differences may include but are not limited to those of the following nature:

(examples only):

- race
- language
- special needs
- disabilities
- family structure
- gender
- age
- sexual preference

Possible cultural differences may include but are not limited to:

- language spoken
- forms of address
- levels of formality/informality
- non-verbal behaviour
- work ethics
- personal grooming
- family obligations
- recognised holidays
- customs
- special needs
- product preferences.

Attempts to overcome language barriers may be made to:

- meet and greet/farewell customers
- give simple directions
- give simple instructions
- answer simple enquiries
- prepare for, serve and assist customers
- describe goods and services

Outside organisations may include but are not limited to:

- interpretative services
- diplomatic services
- local cultural organisations

- appropriate government agencies
- educational institutions.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

- principles that underpin cultural awareness
- recognition of the different cultural groups in Australian society
- basic knowledge of the culture of Australia's indigenous and non indigenous peoples
- recognition of various international tourist groups (as appropriate to the sector and individual workplace)
- principles of Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) and anti-discrimination legislation as they apply to individual employees.

Context of Assessment:

This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

The focus of this unit will vary depending upon the cultural context of the workplace and the cultural background of the individual. Assessment should take account of the cultural variances and requirements that apply in particular situations.

Evidence of competence should relate to different communication and customer service contexts and may need to be collected over a period of time.

Look for:

- knowledge of what it means to be 'culturally aware'
- ability to communicate effectively with customers and colleagues from a broad range of backgrounds as required for the relevant job role.

Linkages to Other Units:

This is a core unit that underpins effective performance in all other units. It is recommended that this unit is assessed/trained in conjunction with other operational and service units. This unit also has a very strong link with THHCOR01A Work with Colleagues and Customers and repetition in training should be avoided.

Unit THHCOR03A

Follow Health, Safety and Security Procedures

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to follow health, safety and security procedures. This unit applies to all individuals working in the tourism and hospitality industries. It does not cover hygiene or first aid which are found in separate units.

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Follow workplace procedures on health, safety and security	Health, safety and security procedures are correctly followed in accordance with enterprise policy and relevant legislation and insurance requirements. Breaches of health, safety and security procedures are identified and promptly reported. Any suspicious behaviour or occurrences are promptly reported to the designated person.
2 Deal with emergency situations	Emergency and potential emergency situations are promptly recognised and required action is determined and taken within scope of individual responsibility. Emergency procedures are correctly followed in accordance with enterprise procedures. Assistance is promptly sought from colleagues and/or other authorities where appropriate. Details of emergency situations are accurately reported in accordance with enterprise policy.
3 Maintain safe personal presentation standards	Personal presentation takes account of the workplace environment and health and safety issues including: appropriate personal grooming and hygiene appropriate clothing and footwear
4 Provide feedback on health, safety and security	Issues requiring attention are promptly identified. Issues are raised with the designated person in accordance with enterprise and legislative requirements.

Range of Variables

This unit applies to all tourism and hospitality sectors.

Health, safety and security procedures may include but are not limited to procedures for:

- emergency, fire and accident
- hazard identification and control
- use of personal protective clothing and equipment
- safe sitting, lifting and handling
- security of documents, cash, equipment, people
- key control systems.

Emergency situations may include but are not limited to:

- bomb threats
- deranged customers
- accidents
- robbery
- fire
- armed hold up
- floods
- earthquakes.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

- industry/sector insurance and liability requirements in relation to individual staff responsibilities
- relevant State/Territory occupational health and safety legislation in relation to obligations of employers and employees
- common health, safety and activity procedures in tourism and hospitality workplaces
- major causes of workplace accidents relevant to the work environment.

Context of Assessment:

This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include a range of methods to assess skills and underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

Look for:

- ability to follow established procedures
- understanding of the implications of disregarding those procedures
- understanding of the legal requirement to work in accordance with health, safety and security procedures.

Linkages to Other Units:

This is a core unit that underpins effective performance in all other units. It is recommended that this unit is delivered/assessed in conjunction with other operational and service units.

Care should be taken in developing training to meet the requirements of this unit. Unit THTTCO01A

Develop and Update Tourism Industry Knowledge

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to access, increase and update knowledge of the tourism industry, including the role of different industry sectors and key legislation. This knowledge underpins effective performance in all sectors and applies to all people working in the tourism industry. In-depth knowledge is therefore not required.

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Seek information on the tourism industry	Sources of information on the tourism industry are correctly identified and accessed. Information to assist effective work performance within the industry is obtained, including information on: <ul style="list-style-type: none">economic and social significance of the tourism industry and the role of local communitiesdifferent tourism markets and their relevance to industry sectorsrelationships between tourism and other industriesdifferent sectors of the industry, their inter-relationships and the services available in each sectormajor tourism industry bodiesenvironmental issues for tourismindustrial relationsspecific features of the local/regional industrycareer opportunities within the industrythe roles and responsibilities of individual staff members in a successful tourism businesswork organisation and time managementquality assurance. Specific information on the sector of work is accessed. Industry information is correctly applied in day-to-day work activities.
2 Update tourism industry knowledge	Informal and/or formal research is used to update general knowledge of the tourism industry. Updated knowledge is shared with customers and colleagues as appropriate, and incorporated into day-to-day work activities.

This unit applies to all sectors of the tourism industry.

Information sources may include but are not limited to:

media

reference books

libraries unions

industry associations and organisations

industry journals

computer data, including Internet personal observations and experience.

Industries other than tourism may include but are not limited to:

arts

sports

agriculture

conservation

science and research

retail.

Environmental issues may include but are not limited to :

protection of natural and cultural integrity

minimal impact operations environmental sustainability

waste management

energy-efficient operations

land ownership

land access and usage.

Competency Standards

Economic and social issues may include but are not limited to:

- employment

- effect on local amenities/facilities

- population change due to tourism development

- community role in tourism.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

different sectors of the tourism industry and their inter-relationships, including a general knowledge of the roles and functions of the following sectors:

accommodation

tour operators

tour wholesalers

retail travel agents

information services sector (local, regional, national)

meetings and events.

overview of quality assurance in the tourism industry and the roles and responsibilities of individual staff members in quality assurance.

overview of how to organise time and work in different industry contexts.

tourism industry information sources.

basic research skills:

identification of relevant information questioning techniques to obtain information sorting and summarising information.

legislation (both State and Federal) which applies across the industry in the following areas (name, primary objective and impact on individual staff only):

consumer protection

duty of care

equal employment opportunity

anti-discrimination

workplace relations.

Context of Assessment:

This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include a form of practical demonstration, plus a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

The specific focus of this unit will depend upon the industry sector. Pre-vocational training programs may include coverage of all industry sectors.

Look for:

ability to source industry information

general knowledge of the tourism industry, including main roles, functions and inter-relationships of different sectors, with a more detailed knowledge of issues which relate to a specific sector or workplace.

Linkages to Other Units:

This is a core unit that underpins effective performance in all other units. It is recommended that this unit is delivered/assessed in conjunction with other operational and service units.

There is a strong link between this unit and unit THHGGA03A Source and Present Information, and combined training and assessment may be appropriate.

| 2 | Implement product development plans | The objectives and contents of product development plans are communicated in a timely fashion to all appropriate colleagues and customers. Actions detailed in the plans are implemented according to agreed timeframes. Where appropriate, new products and services are tested in the marketplace prior to full implementation. |
| 3 | Monitor and evaluate product development | Product development initiatives are regularly monitored in terms of: <ul style="list-style-type: none">progress against agreed objectives, schedule and evaluation criteriaresponse in the marketplacefeedback from the distribution networkfeedback from staffchanges in the internal or external environment which may impact on plans Cost effectiveness and profitability. Changes required are identified and actioned in a timely manner. Changes are communicated to all relevant colleagues and customers. |

This unit applies to all tourism industry sectors.

Product development refers both to the monitoring and development of existing facilities/services/products and to the creation of new facilities/services/products.

Product development covers a range of areas including but not limited to:

- tour development
- package programs
- new customer service features
- building of new facilities
- special interest programs
- guest activities and shows
- exhibits.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

- planning and project management
- insurance issues associated with product development
- legal issues and regulations that affect Australian tourism operations in specific relation to product development
- environmental regulations
- market knowledge as appropriate to specific enterprises – style of product/location/distribution network/limiting factors
- understanding of financial and profit issues and requirements.

Context of Assessment:

This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. Portfolios of evidence relating to workplace experience may be appropriate. Simulated activities must closely reflect the workplace and may need to take place over a period of time to allow the candidate to address the on-going implementation and monitoring aspects of this unit. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

Look for:

- ability to plan, implement and evaluate a tourism product development initiative
- knowledge of the range of issues to be considered in the product development process.

Linkages to Other Units:

This unit should be assessed with or after the following units:

- THHGGA09A Manage Projects.

There is also a very strong link between this unit and the following units:

- THTPPD02A Research Tourism Data
- THTPPD03A Source and Package Tourism Destinations and Products and Services
- THTPPD04A Plan and Implement Minimal Impact Operations
- THTPPD06A Plan and Develop Ecologically Sustainable Tourism Operations
- THTPPD07A Plan and Develop Culturally Appropriate Tourism Operations.

Depending upon the industry sector and workplace, combined training and/or assessment may be appropriate.

Care should be taken in developing training to meet the requirements of this unit. For generic pre-vocational training, organisations should provide training which takes into consideration the full range of industry contexts with no bias towards individual sectors. The Range of Variables will assist in this regard. For sector-specific delivery, training should be tailored to meet the needs of that sector.

Unit THTPPD02A

Research Tourism Data

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to conduct formal research in a tourism context. It applies to all tourism industry sectors.
------------------------	--

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Identify research needs	Specific research needs are identified based on current business focus and needs of the organisation. Objectives for the research are developed in consultation with relevant colleagues and authorities.
2 Conduct research	Research method is selected in accordance with objectives. Where appropriate, documentation required for the research program is prepared. Where appropriate, specialist assistance is obtained. Research is conducted within agreed timeframes and in accordance with agreed methodology.
3 Interpret and apply research results	Data collected is accurately analysed and interpreted. Results are used to inform current activities and future planning. Research results are communicated to appropriate colleagues and external agencies in a timely manner with appropriate recommendations and observations.

Range of Variables

This unit applies to all tourism industry sectors.

Research methods may include but are not limited to:

- questionnaires and surveys
- interviews (face-to-face and phone)
- focus groups
- electronic counters
- evaluation of secondary data
- desk research.

Research may be related to a range of data including but not limited to:

- customer preferences
- general visitation patterns
- success of marketing initiatives
- distribution network.

Information may be obtained through other industry sources or research direct with the final customer.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

- typical research methodologies
- role of research within the tourism industry and major research bodies
- sources of research data.

Context of Assessment:

This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

Look for:

- knowledge of research techniques and methodology
- ability to apply knowledge to the conduct of research within a specific tourism context.

Linkages to Other Units:

There is a strong link between this unit and the following units:

- THTGCS07A Coordinate Marketing Activities
- THHGLE12A Develop and Manage Marketing Strategies
- THHGLE11A Manage Quality Customer Service
- THHGLE19A Develop and Implement a Business Plan.

Depending upon the industry sector and workplace combined training and/or assessment may be appropriate.

Care should be taken in developing training to meet the requirements of this unit. For generic pre-vocational training, organisations should provide training which takes into consideration the full range of industry contexts with no bias towards individual sectors. Source and Package Tourism Products and Services

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to research and package tourism products to meet the needs of particular markets or customers.
------------------------	---

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Source products	Product initiatives are developed within the context of the organisation's overall business plan and marketing focus. Product objectives are identified in consultation with appropriate colleagues and customers. Potential destinations and products are identified and researched using the following methods as appropriate: <ul style="list-style-type: none">desk researchpersonal contact with tourism authorities/product suppliers/distribution networkdestination/site inspection. Destination and product details are assessed for suitability including: <ul style="list-style-type: none">costsavailability/accessibilityfeatures and benefitsprofit potential. Destinations and products are selected based on research conducted.

2 Package products

Programs are developed to meet the requirements of specific customers/markets in relation to: budget product/service preferences time-constraints practicality.

Program components are combined and integrated to create maximum value and saleability.

Where appropriate, agreements are made with suppliers and confirmed in writing in accordance with enterprise procedures.

Programs are costed in accordance with enterprise requirements to take account of the following as appropriate:

- commissions
- contract agreements
- mark up/profit margin requirements
- payment terms
- relevant exchange rate implications
- taxes
- staff costs.

Pricing structures are clearly presented and include full details of all inclusions, exclusions and add ons.

Details are confirmed and finalised in writing.

Legal requirements are checked and incorporated.

Programs are presented to appropriate colleagues/customers for approval prior to promotion in the marketplace and within required timeframes.

Range of Variables

This unit applies to all tourism industry sectors.

Please note that the precise context for this unit will vary according to the specific industry sector but could include sourcing and packaging destinations and products for:

- conference packages
- social events
- tour programs and packages (day, extended, eco, cultural, educational)
- special interest itineraries
- incentives
- series tours.

Products and services may include but are not limited to:

- accommodation
- transport (air, rail, bus /coach, shipping)
- hire car
- attractions
- tours
- catering
- entertainment
- conference facilities
- specialist services (Guides, interpreters etc).

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

- local and international regulations and legislation that impact on the packaging and development of tourism products in Australia
- industry information networks
- industry practices in packaging products as appropriate to different sectors
- market knowledge in relation to product being developed and potential customers.

Context of Assessment:

This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through simulation. Portfolios of evidence relating to workplace experience may be appropriate. Simulated activities must closely reflect the workplace and may need to take place over a period of time to allow the candidate to address the on-going implementation and monitoring aspects of this unit.

This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

Look for:

- ability to source and package a range of different products to meet a specific market need
- ability to develop and cost practical programs that meet both customer needs and enterprise business requirements
- knowledge of product packaging in the context of the tourism industry.

Linkages to Other Units:

This unit should be assessed with or after the following units:

- THTSOP03A Access and Interpret Product Information
- THTSOP05A Prepare Quotations.

Combined training may also be appropriate.

Care should be taken in developing training to meet the requirements of this unit. For generic pre-vocational training, organisations should provide training which takes into consideration the full range of industry contexts with no bias towards individual sectors. Unit THTPPD04A

Plan and Implement Minimal Impact Operations

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to create and operate tourism activities which minimise negative environmental and social impacts. It is particularly relevant to ecotourism operations but should apply to all tourism operations.
------------------------	--

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Plan environmentally responsible activities	Experiences and activities are developed according to ecotourism codes of practice including: <ul style="list-style-type: none">combination of education and interpretation on the natural environmentenvironmental sustainabilityreturn to the local environment/communitycultural sensitivitymeeting of realistic client expectations. Tour procedures are developed to limit potential negative impacts and maximise positive impacts on the natural environment. Tour procedures are developed to limit potential negative impacts and maximise positive impacts on the local community.

3 Monitor impacts and changes

Changes in the environment are accurately monitored and recorded.

Where appropriate, environmental information is collected on behalf of environmental/social agencies and authorities.

Appropriate authorities are advised of environmental and social change.

Range of Variables

This unit applies to all tourism industry sectors.

Minimal impact techniques and procedures may include but are not limited to:

- education on appropriate behavioural patterns
- site hardening
- technological solutions
- education
- restricting or limiting access
- staged authenticity.

Environmental impacts may include but are not limited to:

- Positive
 - opportunities for conservation/protection
 - education of visitors
 - improvement of sites already impacted.
- Negative
 - disturbance of flora and fauna
 - physical damage
 - introduction of exotic/feral species
 - pollution
 - waste, energy and consumable demands and issues
 - visual impacts.

Social impacts may include:

- Positive
 - economic benefits to local community
 - improved local facilities
 - employment
 - visitor education
 - greater understanding between host and visitor cultures.
- Negative
 - trivialisation of culture
 - effect on social structures.

Methods of information collection may include but are not limited to:

- logbooks
- sighting forms
- basic measurements (temperature, weather conditions, estimations of % cover, water)
- photography.

Changes in the natural environment may include but are not limited to:

- breeding events
- erosion
- species sighting
- changes to flora
- changes to fauna.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

- basic general knowledge of global environmental issues
- local environmental and cultural issues
- basic general knowledge of environmental ethics
- relevant Federal/State/Territory/local legislation, regulations and by-laws
- minimal impact techniques
- environmental information collection techniques
- ecotourism codes of practice (as per Ecotourism Association of Australia)
- an understanding of the biophysical and sociocultural elements in an environment.

Context of Assessment:

This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. Portfolios of evidence relating to workplace experience may be appropriate. Simulated activities must closely reflect the workplace and may need to take place over a period of time to allow the candidate to address the ongoing implementation and monitoring aspects of this unit. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Assessment must take place in a setting where minimal impact activities (as detailed in the performance criteria), can be practically demonstrated and environmental changes can be monitored.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

Look for:

- knowledge of the environmental impacts and issues associated with tourism
- ability to apply knowledge to the planning and operation of tourism services in a specific industry context.

Linkages to Other Units:

There is a strong link between this unit and a range of other units. Depending upon the industry sector or workplace combined training and/or assessment may be appropriate.

Examples include but are not limited to:

Plan and Develop Interpretive Activities

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to plan and develop interpretive activities for different customer groups. It is particularly relevant for those developing activities within tour operations and attractions/theme parks. The actual presentation of activities is covered in Unit THTFTG09A Present Interpretive Activities.
------------------------	---

1 Establish need for activity	Need for activity is identified, based on customer requests, customer feedback, product development initiatives and wider community needs. Educational, interpretive and commercial objectives of the activity are established. If required, approval for the activity is obtained from the appropriate source.
2 Develop the activity	Possible themes and messages for the activity are identified and developed. A range of potential information and resources are identified and accessed in a manner which is culturally and environmentally appropriate, including other specialists as required. Risk audit is undertaken and incorporated into activity development. Breadth and depth of messages and supporting information selected is appropriate to the customer. Resources to support the activity are developed within designated timelines. Activity is developed within budget. Activity is developed to meet objectives. Activity is developed according to the principles of interpretation. Colleagues are consulted and kept informed during the development of the activity. Activity is promoted in conjunction with relevant colleagues and according to organisation marketing objectives.

3 Evaluate activity

Formal and informal feedback is obtained from customers and colleagues.
Activity is modified according to feedback received.
Ongoing review mechanisms are established and implemented to ensure continuous improvement of activity according to its objectives.

Range of Variables

This unit applies to all tourism industry sectors.

Activities may include but are not limited to:

- guided walks
- guided site activities
- touring activities.

One or more activities may be combined in a overall tour program.

Interpretive activities relate to an enormous range of subjects. A few examples are:

- wildlife
- domestic/farm animals
- birds
- history and heritage
- culture
- art
- natural environment
- built environment.

Resources may include:

- natural resources
- microphone
- AV equipment
- overhead projector/transparencies
- video & video monitor
- slides/slide projector
- handouts
- costumes
- props
- actors/performers
- guest speakers
- special interest organisations.

Other specialists may include:

- subject matter experts
- cultural advisers
- technical experts
- creative designers
- actors/performers
- marketers
- environmental educators
- interpretation consultants.

Evidence Guide

To demonstrate competence, evidence of knowledge and skill in the following areas is required:

- Interpretation principles (from Tilden, Interpreting Our Heritage)
 - interpretation that does not somehow relate what is being displayed or described to something within the personality or experience of the visitor will be sterile
 - information, as such, is not interpretation. Interpretation is revelation based upon information. But they are entirely different things. However, all interpretation includes information
 - interpretation is an art which combines many arts, whether the materials presented are scientific, historical or architectural
 - the chief aim of interpretation is not instruction, but provocation
 - interpretation should aim to present a whole rather than a part, and must address itself to the whole person rather than any phase
 - interpretation addressed to children should not be a dilution of the presentation to adults, but should follow a fundamentally different approach
- customer service skills
- technical/equipment procedures
- project planning
- written presentation skills
- activity design
- knowledge of subject matter to be presented.

Context of Assessment:

This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

Look for:

- subject knowledge
- ability to apply knowledge to the development of tourism related interpretive activities
- ability to apply the total development and evaluation process to an interpretive activity.

This unit may involve substantial knowledge of the subject around which the interpretive activity is based and this knowledge should be thoroughly assessed. Assessment should take account of the fact that individuals may have already acquired this knowledge either through formal study or life and work experience. Examples include the scientific qualifications of EcoGuides and the recognition systems in relation to cultural knowledge that exist in Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander societies.

Linkages to Other Units:

There is a strong link between this unit and a range of other units. Depending upon the industry sector and workplace combined training and/or assessment may be appropriate.

Examples include but are not limited to:

- THTFTG09A Present Interpretive Activities
- THTFTG03A Develop and Maintain the General Knowledge Required by Guides
- THTFTG10A Develop Interpretive Content for Ecotourism Activities.

Unit THTPPD06A

Plan and Develop Ecologically Sustainable Tourism Operations

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to undertake the strategic planning of ecologically sustainable tourism operations. It builds on unit THTPPD04A Plan and Implement Minimal Impact Techniques which is more operationally focused. It is also an extension of unit THTPPD01A Create and Implement Strategic Product Development Initiative which relates to general product development planning.

1 Plan for ecologically sustainable tourism operations	Relationships between tourism and the environment are considered as part of the planning process. Strategies to balance ecological sustainability and economic viability are developed as part of the planning process. The need for a return (economic or social) to the local community is considered. Site evaluations are conducted prior to the decision to commence the operation. Methods of managing tourism impacts and protecting vulnerable sites are investigated and incorporated into the planning process. All stakeholders are consulted and their views incorporated into the planning process. Development decisions take account of all information made available by the planning process.
2 Develop and implement ecologically sustainable tourism operations	Environmental standards are established for the operation. Codes of practice are developed for customers and colleagues. Environmental best practice is regularly incorporated into operations. Operations are conducted according to ecologically sustainable practices. Operations are conducted in accordance with ecotourism codes of practice. Environmental awareness is promoted within the tourism industry and to customers.

3 Monitor environmental impact of operations

Environmental impacts are monitored, assessed and followed up with appropriate action.
Courses of action are developed and implemented to limit negative impacts and damage.

Range of Variables

This unit applies to all tourism industry sectors.

Methods of managing tourism impacts may include but are not limited to:

- limits of acceptable change
- zoning
- exclusion
- community consultation and involvement
- tourism development plans
- scheduling
- consideration of optimal weather conditions/seasons
- selection of most appropriate transport modes
- education
- size of operation/group size.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

- general knowledge of global environmental issues
- local environmental and cultural issues
- ecotourism codes of practice (as per Ecotourism Association of Australia)
- impacts of tourism
- minimal impact techniques
- environmental management strategies
- tourism trends and developments
- relevant Federal/State/Territory/local legislation, regulations and by-laws.

Context of Assessment:

This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. Portfolios of evidence relating to workplace experience may be appropriate. Simulated activities must closely reflect the workplace and may need to take place over a period of time to allow the candidate to address the ongoing implementation and monitoring aspects of this unit. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

Look for:

- ability to integrate ecologically sustainable tourism practices into the overall product development process.

Linkages to Other Units:

This unit should be assessed with or after the following units:

- THTPPD01A Create and implement Strategic Product Development Initiatives.

There is also a link between this unit and a range of other units. Depending upon the industry sector and workplace, combined training and/or assessment may be appropriate.

Examples include but are not limited to:

- THTPPD04A Plan and Implement Minimal Impact Operations.

Unit THTPPD07A

Plan and Develop Culturally Appropriate Tourism Operations

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to plan culturally appropriate tourism operations. The unit applies to all tourism operations and is particularly relevant for operations that involve substantial cultural content, the inclusion of visits to culturally sensitive sites or a high level of interaction between people of different cultures. It is an extension of the unit Create and Implement Strategic Product Development Initiatives.

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Plan for culturally appropriate tourism operations	Cultural issues are identified at the commencement of the planning process. Individuals and communities are consulted in relation to cultural issues which may affect the operation. Where appropriate, economic and social impacts are considered in the planning process. Strategies to balance economic viability and cultural appropriateness are developed as part of the planning process. Economic returns to local communities are considered. Ways of managing and minimising negative tourism impacts and maximising positive impacts are investigated and developed as part of the planning process. Product development decisions take account of all information made available by the planning process including the need for culturally appropriate operations.

- 2 Develop and implement culturally appropriate tourism operations
- Codes of practice and procedures which show respect for cultural values are developed for customers and colleagues.
- Operations are conducted in accordance with codes of practice.
- Operational participation of individuals from the appropriate cultures is encouraged.
- All customer activities are culturally appropriate.
- Information shared with customers is culturally appropriate, accurate and avoids cultural stereotyping.
- Copyright and intellectual property issues are considered.
- Colleagues are educated about other cultures and societies.
- Culturally appropriate behaviours are encouraged through training and education.
- The need for culturally appropriate behaviour is promoted throughout the organisation and with customers.
- Where appropriate, promotional and other materials are used to inform colleagues and customers about cultural issues.
- 3 Monitor operations
- The standard of operations is regularly monitored to ensure culturally appropriate practices are maintained.
- Regular consultation is conducted with individuals and local communities as appropriate.
- Issues are dealt with promptly and changes are considered to continually improve organisation practices.

Range of Variables

This unit applies to all tourism industry sectors.

Cultural issues may include but are not limited to:

- appropriate activities
- use of cultural information
- access restrictions
- use of appropriate staff
- traditional/contemporary values and customs
- cultural differences in styles of negotiation and communication.

Impacts on communities may include but are not limited to:

- positive
 - economic benefits to local community
 - improved local facilities
 - employment opportunities
 - cultural benefits
 - visitor education
 - greater understanding between host and visitor cultures
- negative
 - trivialisation of culture
 - effect on social structures.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

- cultural/social impacts of tourism
- copyright and intellectual property issues
- cross cultural awareness and knowledge of the specific culture in question
- relevant Federal/State/Territory/local legislation, regulations and by-laws.

Context of Assessment:

This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. Portfolios of evidence relating to workplace experience may be appropriate. Simulated activities must closely reflect the workplace and may need to take place over a period of time to allow the candidate to address the ongoing implementation and monitoring aspects of this unit. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

Look for:

- ability to integrate culturally appropriate practices into the overall product development process.

Training and/or assessment should involve persons from the relevant cultures.

Linkages to Other Units:

This unit should be assessed with or after the following units:

- THTPPD01A Create and Implement Strategic Product Development Initiatives.

There is also a strong link between this unit and a range of other units. Depending upon the industry sector and workplace, combined training and/or assessment may be appropriate. Examples include but are not limited to:

Unit THTPPD08A

Plan and Develop Meeting/Event Proposals and Bids

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to plan and develop proposals and bids for the staging of meetings and events.
------------------------	---

1 Interpret brief	Contents of the brief are accurately interpreted and assessed in terms of the organisation's capacity to meet the stated requirements. Once decision is made to respond, the action required for development of the proposal/bid is identified and planned. Where appropriate, liaison is undertaken with the customer to clarify requirements.
2 Develop proposal/bid details	Details for inclusion in the proposal/bid are developed after consultation with suppliers and other relevant agencies. Options are developed to meet and where possible exceed the expectations of the customer. Support for the proposal/bid is sought from relevant individuals and agencies. Possible competitors are evaluated and strategies developed to address competitive issues.
3 Develop bid materials	Bid materials are prepared within the designated timelines in accordance with the requirements of the brief. Materials are presented in a format that maximises the use of presentation and promotional techniques.

This unit applies to sectors of the tourism industry where proposals and bids are developed.

Details to be included in the proposal/bid will vary but may include information on:

- general concepts and themes
- business program
- social program
- costs
- touring
- accommodation
- entertainment
- staging
- special features
- sample promotional materials
- references and details of other successful undertakings
- organisational information (structure, personnel etc)
- support statements, information from other organisations
- approach to environmental impacts and issues.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

- components required for meeting/event proposals and bids and product knowledge in relation to those components
- networks and interrelationships of different industry sectors in relation to meeting/event proposal/bids
- presentation techniques for proposal and bid materials.

Context of Assessment:

This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

Look for:

- ability to conduct the entire proposal/bidding process for a specific meeting/event, including effective assessment of the briefing, coordination of all details and resources to meet the bid requirements and presentation of bid materials and documents
- knowledge of typical bid/proposal requirements and formats.

Linkages to Other Units:

Unit THTPPD09ADevelop Conference Programs

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to design a conference program.
------------------------	--

1 Identify conference objectives	Overall context and scope of the conference is identified. Specific conference objectives are developed and agreed in consultation with relevant colleagues and/or customers.
2 Design conference program	Dates and times are selected to meet agreed objectives. A theme is developed to complement conference objectives. Overall conference format is developed within known budget, venue and staging constraints. Specific components of the program are designed and integrated including the following as appropriate: business program breaks food and beverage social program pre and post touring elements. Business program is developed based on principles of adult learning and incorporates an appropriate range of activities.
3 Finalise program details	Proposed conference program is presented to the appropriate people within required timeframe. Details are agreed/approved in accordance with agreed procedures.

Range of Variables

This unit applies to any tourism industry sector where there is a requirement for conference program development.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

- typical conference session formats
- range of options for conference staging and venue set ups
- principles of adult learning
- needs of different segments of the market in relation to conference activities (corporate, associations, government).

Context of Assessment:

This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

Look for:

- ability to design a practical conference program to meet overall objectives and the needs of the target audience within budget guidelines
- detailed knowledge of the range of options available to conference organisers in terms of venues, staging, format and pre/ post touring components.

| 3 | Implement sponsorship activities | Colleagues are briefed on details of sponsorship arrangements. Activities are organised in accordance with sponsorship agreement and all agreements made are honoured. Activities are monitored and evaluated and adjustments made accordingly. Feedback is provided to and requested from the sponsor. Wherever possible, opportunities are taken to enhance value of involvement for sponsors and benefits for the host organisation. Sponsor payments and other contract formalities are monitored and actioned throughout the project. |
| 4 | Follow up with sponsors | Follow up contact is made with the sponsor after the meeting/event. Reports and results are recorded/provided to the sponsor. |

Range of Variables

The unit applies to any tourism industry sector where sponsorship of meetings and events is required.

Items and activities to be sponsored may include but are not limited to:

- overall conference sponsorship
- physical items (satchels)
- meals
- morning and afternoon teas
- travel
- entertainment
- speaker sessions
- social events.

Potential sponsors may include but are not limited to:

- individuals
- private companies
- government agencies
- industry organisations/associations
- educational institutions.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

- typical sponsorship packages created for meetings/events
- sponsorship protocols
- research skills for different areas of the market.

Context of Assessment:

This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. Portfolios of evidence relating to workplace experience may be appropriate. Simulated activities must closely reflect the workplace and may need to take place over a period of time to allow the candidate to address the ongoing implementation and monitoring aspects of this unit. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

Look for:

- ability to manage the entire sponsorship process for a given meeting/event including identification of potential sponsors/activities to be sponsored, development of the sponsorship package and the implementation of sponsorship activities
- comprehensive knowledge of practices and protocols in relation to meeting/event sponsorship.

Linkages to Other Units:

This unit should be assessed with or after the following units:

Develop and Implement Meeting/Event Management Systems and Procedures

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to develop the specific procedures and systems required for the effective management of meetings and events. This unit equates to the general unit Plan and Establish Systems and Procedures.
------------------------	--

1 Identify procedural and system requirements	Procedural and system requirements for the meeting/event are identified in consultation with appropriate colleagues and customers. Procedural needs of participating suppliers are investigated.
2 Develop systems and procedures	Effective and efficient systems and procedures are developed to facilitate the management and administration of the meeting/event in relation to: registrations organising committee on site management systems including safety and risk assessment general record keeping and reporting special needs of particular meetings/events. Adequate resources are allocated for system set up and monitoring. Where appropriate, approval for systems is sought and obtained. Appropriate colleagues are fully briefed on the systems and procedures in a timely manner. Training and support is provided as required.
3 Monitor and review systems and procedures	Efficiency and effectiveness of procedures and systems are monitored. Suggestions for improvement are sought from colleagues. Adjustments are made and implemented.

Range of Variables

This unit applies to any sector of the tourism industry where meetings and events are organised.

Systems and procedures may be manual or automated.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

- comprehensive knowledge of typical meetings management systems
- issues and problems relating to overall meetings/event management
- basic principles of planning.

Context of Assessment:

This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. Portfolios of evidence relating to workplace experience may be appropriate. Simulated activities must closely reflect the workplace and may need to take place over a period of time to allow the candidate to address the ongoing implementation and monitoring aspects of this unit. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

Look for:

- ability to develop a range of systems and procedures for the total management of a meeting or event
- knowledge of the range of procedures and systems that apply across a broad range of meetings/event styles.

Linkages to Other Units:

This unit should be assessed with or after the following units:

Develop Host Community Awareness of Tourism

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to develop host community awareness of tourism and its costs and benefits. It may apply in a local, regional, state or national context.
------------------------	---

1 Educate and inform the community on tourism	Objectives for the education of the local community are set in accordance with the overall goals of the organisation and the community. Strategies and programs are devised and implemented to maximise the opportunity to inform all sections of the community about tourism. Costs and benefits of tourism are clearly communicated on an ongoing basis.
2 Liaise with stakeholders	The main stakeholders in the host community are identified. Views and opinions of stakeholders are sought on an ongoing basis in relation to tourism activities. Input from stakeholders is assessed and applied in the planning and organisation of tourism activities. Potential conflicts relating to tourism are identified and solutions sought in consultation with relevant parties.

Range of Variables

This unit applies to the visitor information services sector of the tourism industry.

This unit applies in a local, regional, state or national context.

Stakeholders may include but are not limited to:

- general public
- elected officials
- senior bureaucrats
- community groups
- tourism operators
- tourism industry associations
- trade unions
- media.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

- community impacts of tourism, both costs and benefits
- typical structures for local, regional and state tourism organisations
- main stakeholders in local , regional, state and national tourism
- typical issues/problems in relation to host communities and tourism
- strategic and tactical community communications.

Context of Assessment:

This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through simulation. Portfolios of evidence relating to workplace experience may be appropriate. Simulated activities must closely reflect the workplace and may need to take place over a period of time to allow the candidate to address the on-going implementation and monitoring aspects of this unit. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

Look for:

- understanding of the role of tourism within host communities, the impacts of tourism and the role of major stakeholders
- ability to develop strategies to ensure effective communication about tourism issues to the broad community.

Unit THTPPD13A

Assess Tourism Opportunities for Local Communities

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to assess the general costs and benefits of tourism development for local communities. This unit could also be undertaken by a Tour Operator. It recognises the need for communities to make informed decisions about their potential involvement in tourism. Specific areas of business management are found in other units.
------------------------	--

1 Seek information about potential tourism opportunities	The local community is consulted about the possibility of community involvement in tourism and agreement is sought to investigate tourism opportunities. General information sources on tourism are accurately identified and accessed. Information of specific relevance to the community is gathered and used to make decisions about tourism. Information from other communities is obtained and used to make decisions about tourism.
2 Analyse issues relevant to tourism in local communities	Relevant tourism industry members are consulted on customer and tourism industry expectations for tourism products and services. Potential social and economic impacts on the community are identified and analysed. Current skill levels and the need for training or specialist expertise are identified and analysed. Potential conflicts between tourism and other community values are identified and analysed.
3 Liaise with external stakeholders	Contacts are established and maintained with relevant people outside the community. Information and advice are exchanged with external stakeholders. Assistance is sought from external individuals and organisations when required.

|----------|--|---|
| 4 | Consult with the community | The community is consulted about potential tourism opportunities. The community is provided with relevant, current and accurate information to facilitate informed debate and decisions. Where appropriate, external individuals and organisations are invited to talk to the community. |
| 5 | Make decisions in relation to tourism opportunities | Decisions about tourism opportunities are made within the appropriate timeframe, taking into account all information which has been gathered and analysed. Decisions reflect the wishes of the community. When decisions are made to pursue tourism opportunities, information collected in the assessment process is integrated into future planning. |

Range of Variables

This unit applies to those individuals who wish to assess potential for tourism in local communities. It is particularly relevant for the visitor information services sector, tour operators and those involved in developing tourism within Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities.

Potential tourism opportunities cover the full range of tourism development opportunities including:

- tourism retailing operations
- tour operations
- accommodation development
- visits to the community by invited external tour operators
- community involvement in providing staff for external operations
- community involvement in training for the tourism industry.

Sources of information may include but are not limited to:

- local, regional, state/territory, federal tourism organisations
- other government agencies
- research bodies
- reports on tourism
- privately owned tourism businesses
- national parks and land management agencies
- other local communities
- local people.

External stakeholders may include but are not limited to:

- the wider community
- local businesses
- local, regional, state/territory, federal tourism organisations
- other government agencies
- privately owned tourism businesses
- training agencies.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

- knowledge of tourism and the tourism industry
- tourism industry networks and information sources
- impacts of tourism
- research and analysis skills.

Context of Assessment:

This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

Look for:

- knowledge of the range of potential issues and impacts in relation to tourism development in a local community
- ability to identify and analyse the full range of potential impacts of proposed tourism development on a particular local community.

Linkages to Other Units:

There is a very strong link between this unit and the following units:

Unit THTPPD14A

Develop and Implement Local/Regional Tourism Plan

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to develop and implement a strategic tourism plan in a local or regional context.
------------------------	--

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Develop plans for local/regional tourism	Tourism plans are drafted within the context of the organisation's overall approach to the development of tourism within the region. Plans include an inventory of both tourism infrastructure and the carrying capacity of the region. Product and service 'gaps' are identified. Plans are drafted to take account of the level of community and industry resources available to implement the plan. Impacts on the community are considered and incorporated into the planning process including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> environmental factors social and cultural factors economic factors. Development initiatives within the plan are both culturally and environmentally appropriate for the region. Community is consulted throughout the tourism planning process. Plans are developed to include a clear strategic and tactical focus. Scheduled courses of action and evaluation methods are included. Plans are submitted for approval to the appropriate authority prior to implementation.
2 Implement local/regional tourism plans	Actions detailed in the plan are implemented according to schedule and contingencies. Community is consulted and involved in tourism issues on an ongoing basis.

3 Monitor and evaluate plans

Activities are monitored using the evaluation methods detailed in the plan on an ongoing basis to take account of the following factors:

progress towards objectives

evaluation of individual activities

the need for changes to the plan.

Any changes required are submitted for consideration and approval by the appropriate authority.

Agreed changes to plans are promptly implemented and communicated.

Range of Variables

This unit applies to the Visitor Information Services sector of the tourism industry.

This unit can apply to the following types of tourism plans:

- local
- regional.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

- strategic planning techniques and practices
- in-depth appreciation of the region for which the plan is being developed (physical, social, cultural and environmental characteristics)
- knowledge of the tourism industry in relation to distribution networks and opportunities
- tourism industry structures that apply to the specific regions.

Context of Assessment:

This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. Portfolios of evidence relating to workplace experience may be appropriate. Simulated activities must closely reflect the workplace and may need to take place over a period of time to allow the candidate to address the ongoing implementation and monitoring aspects of this unit. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

Look for:

- ability to apply the total planning process to the development of a specific local/regional tourism plan
- ability to implement and monitor the operation of the plan
- detailed knowledge of the full range of issues that apply to the development and administration of local/regional tourism.

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

- major categories of tourism products
- industry terminology and common abbreviations in relation to major product categories
- general procedures in relation to major product categories
- specific legal issues relating to different product categories.

Context of Assessment:

This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

For this unit simulated workplace activities must be undertaken using current industry product information services.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

Look for:

- ability to access and correctly interpret information on different categories of tourism products within enterprise acceptable timeframes.
- knowledge of product terminology and procedures. The range of products will vary according to the industry sector and workplace

Linkages to Other Units:

There is a strong link between this unit and the following units:

- THTSOP02A Source and Provide Destination Information and Advice
- THTSOP04A Sell Tourism Products and Services
- THTSOP05A Prepare Quotations.

Combined delivery/assessment may be appropriate.

Care should be taken in developing training to meet the requirements of this unit. For generic pre-vocational training, organisations should provide training which takes into consideration the full range of industry contexts with no bias towards individual sectors. The Range of Variables will assist in this regard. For sector-specific delivery, training should be tailored to meet the needs of that sector.

1 Report on air travel sales and refunds	Information and documentation required for BSP reports is compiled at the appropriate time. Documents are checked for accuracy, and discrepancies identified and included in reports. Document copies are correctly processed. Refund notices and refund applications are accurately completed when appropriate. BSP reports are accurately produced to include all transaction details.
2 Complete billing and settlement procedures	Payments are accurately calculated in accordance with BSP procedures and adjustment systems. Discrepancies are identified and actioned in accordance with BSP procedures. Payments are made within designated timelines.

Range of Variables

This unit applies to all tourism industry sectors where airline products are sold and ticketed.

Billing and Settlement Plan may be for domestic or international travel.

Billing and Settlement Plan procedure may change in accordance with IATA requirements.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

- knowledge of BSP procedures
- knowledge of BSP documentation
- general understanding of airfares and ticketing.

Context of Assessment:

This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

For this unit simulated workplace activities must be undertaken using current IATA documentation/systems.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

Look for:

- knowledge of BSP procedures and documentation
- ability to correctly apply BSP rules and procedures within enterprise acceptable timeframes.

Process and Monitor Meeting/Event Registrations

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to process and monitor registrations for a range of meetings and events
------------------------	--

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Process registrations	The database is established in accordance with agreed procedures and requirements for a specific meeting/event. Registrations are received and accurately processed in accordance with agreed procedures and timelines. Guest/delegate questions in relation to the meeting/event are correctly and politely answered. Accommodation and travel requirements are correctly actioned in accordance with agreed procedures. Special delegate requirements are reported to suppliers. Confirmations are issued in accordance with agreed procedures and within designated timelines. Documents and other materials are distributed to registered delegates/guests in accordance with requirements of the specific meeting/event.
2 Monitor registrations	Registration numbers are monitored and accurately reported on a regular basis to appropriate colleagues/customers/suppliers. Where necessary, action to boost numbers is undertaken in accordance with instructions.
3 Finalise registrations and produce materials	Registration details are finalised within designated timelines. Name tags and other individual delegate documentation are accurately produced and checked in accordance with agreed style for a specific meeting/event. Guest/delegate reports/lists are accurately produced to include all required information including the following as appropriate: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> payment status special requests further action required at venue.

Range of Variables

Competency Standards

This unit applies to all tourism industry sectors where registration systems for meetings/events are required.

Registration systems may be manual or automated.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

- general knowledge of the meetings sector of the tourism industry
- typical meeting/event registration procedures and systems
- general knowledge of customers for different types of meetings/events.

Context of Assessment:

This unit could be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. Portfolios of evidence relating to workplace experience may be appropriate. Simulated activities must closely reflect the workplace and may need to take place over a period of time to allow the candidate to address the ongoing implementation and monitoring aspects of this unit. This should be supported by assessment of underpinning knowledge.

For this unit simulated workplace activities must be undertaken using current systems and documentation.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

Look for:

- ability to accurately process registrations and produce accurate registration materials within enterprise acceptable timeframes.
- knowledge of typical meeting/event registration systems and the sorts of issues that arise in the administration of meeting/event registrations.

Linkages to Other Units:

This unit should be assessed with or after the following units:

- THHGGA02A Perform Clerical Procedures
- THHGFA01A Process Financial Transactions
- THHGCT01A Access and Retrieve Computer Data.

There is also a very strong link between this unit and the following units:

- THTSOP07A Book and Co-ordinate Supplier Services
- THTFME01A Co-ordinate Guest/Delegate Registrations at Venue
- THHGFA02 Maintain Financial Records.

Combined delivery/assessment may be appropriate.

Range of Variables

This unit applies to various tourism and hospitality sectors.

Functions may include but are not limited to:

- breakfasts
- lunches
- dinners
- seminars/conferences
- cocktail parties
- weddings
- product launches.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

- organisational skills in terms of event planning
- knowledge of typical function requirements including:
 - food and beverage
 - technical
 - typical function layouts.

Context of Assessment:

This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. Portfolios of evidence relating to workplace experience may be appropriate. Simulated activities must take allow the candidate to address the ongoing organisational and monitoring aspects of this unit. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

Look for:

- ability to conduct the entire function organisation process and ensure function services meet the agreed requirements of customers
- accuracy in the presentation of function information and the ability to tailor the services of the establishment to meet customer needs
- knowledge of the types and range of function services that may be required.

Linkages to Other Units:

There is a strong link between this unit and other meeting, sales, and food and beverage service units in both the tourism and hospitality training packages.

Depending upon the industry sector and workplace, combined delivery/assessment may be appropriate.

Maintain a Product Inventory

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to maintain an inventory of tourism products. It mainly applies to tour operators and tour wholesalers.
------------------------	--

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Obtain and interpret information for inventory	Information to be included in inventory is obtained from internal and external colleagues at the appropriate time. Information is correctly interpreted and reviewed prior to entry into inventory.
2 Enter data into inventory system	Where appropriate, information is accurately costed prior to entry in accordance with enterprise procedures and commercial agreements. Information is correctly formatted and entered into the inventory system in accordance with enterprise procedures and commercial agreements.
3 Update inventory	Inventory information is accurately updated at designated times in accordance with enterprise procedures. Bookings/allotments/requests are monitored. Out-of-date information is removed from the inventory within designated timelines.
4 Provide inventory information	Inventory information, updates and briefings are accurately produced within designated timelines. Reports and inventory information are distributed to appropriate colleagues in accordance with enterprise procedures. Assistance on inventory-related matters is provided to colleagues.

Range of Variables

This unit applies mainly to tour operators and tour wholesalers.

Inventory systems may be manual or automated.

Inventory may refer to products within an organisation or to the products of other organisations.

Inventory information may include but is not limited to:

- allotments of any type of tourism product
- rates/costs/tariffs
- general product information
- terms and conditions of sale
- special packages
- sales data.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

- the role of product inventories in the tourism industry
- inventory procedures and systems used in various sectors of the industry.

Context of Assessment:

This unit should be assessed on the job or in a simulated workplace environment where ongoing usage of an inventory management system can be demonstrated. Portfolios of evidence relating to workplace experience may be appropriate. Simulated activities must closely reflect the workplace and may need to take place over a period of time to allow the candidate to address the ongoing implementation and monitoring aspects of this unit. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

Look for:

- ability to accurately create, update and produce reports on a product inventory system within enterprise acceptable timeframes
- knowledge of the role played by inventory systems within the enterprise and the wider tourism industry.

Linkages to Other Units:

This unit should be assessed with or after the following unit:

- THTSOP03A Access and Interpret Product Information.

Care should be taken in developing training to meet the requirements of this unit. For generic pre-vocational training, organisations should provide training which takes into consideration the full range of industry contexts with no bias towards individual sectors. The Range of Variables will assist in this regard. For sector-specific delivery, training should be tailored to meet the needs of that sector.

Unit THTSOP17AAllocate Tour Resources

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to allocate human and physical resources to ensure efficient and effective tour operations.
------------------------	--

1 Identify resource requirements	Tour resource requirements are identified through timely liaison with appropriate colleagues/other departments. Reservations and sales data is correctly interpreted and applied in the application of resources.
2 Allocate resources to meet operational needs	Resources are organised to meet the needs of particular tours and specific customer requirements. Resource organisation complies with enterprise procedures for long and short term planning. Resources are allocated within budget constraints. Resources are allocated in accordance with maintenance, safety and other statutory requirements. Colleagues and customers are provided with resourcing information in a timely manner. Documentation is accurately prepared and distributed. Contingency plans are put in place and actioned when required. Changes in resource priorities are recognised and adjustments are made accordingly. Where necessary, additional or external resources are organised.
3 Monitor and adjust resource allocation	Efficiency and effectiveness of resources are monitored and adjusted where required. Feedback is regularly and accurately reported to colleagues to facilitate continuous improvement of the operation.

Range of Variables

This unit applies to the tour operations sector of the tourism industry.

Resources may include both human and physical resources.

Resource allocation may be completed with a manual or automated system.

Human resources may include but are not limited to:

- drivers
- tour guides
- driver/guides
- hostesses
- interpreters.

Physical resources may include but are not limited to:

- vehicles
- vessels
- camping equipment
- catering equipment
- maintenance equipment
- food and beverage.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:

- legal and statutory requirements in relation to both human and physical resource allocation (both State/Territory and Federal)
- principles of planning
- sales and reservations procedures as appropriate to particular sector or workplace
- typical systems and documentation used by tour operators to control resource allocation.

Context of Assessment:

This unit should be assessed on the job or in a simulated workplace environment where ongoing allocation of resources may be demonstrated. Portfolios of evidence relating to workplace experience may be appropriate. Simulated activities must closely reflect the workplace and may need to take place over a period of time to allow the candidate to address the ongoing implementation and monitoring aspects of this unit. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

Look for:

- ability to identify and allocate the full range of resources required for the effective and efficient operation of a tour or tours
- knowledge of the legal, safety and statutory requirements that impact on this aspect of tour operations.

Linkages to Other Units:

There is a link between this unit and the following unit:

4 Complete documentation	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Pre-departure documentation is accurately completed in accordance with enterprise and statutory requirements.

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to the tour operations sector of the tourism industry.
- Departures may be from original point of departure or from any departure point during tour.
- Equipment and supplies may include but are not limited to:
 - camping equipment
 - catering equipment
 - maintenance equipment
 - food and beverage
 - luggage
 - medication/first aid kit
 - commercial cargo.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - vehicle/vessel loading techniques as appropriate to workplace
 - legal and statutory requirements in relation to equipment and supplies
 - typical tour documentation.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit must be assessed on the job through practical demonstration or in a simulated environment where a full range of equipment, supplies and vehicles/vessels is provided. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - ability to check and safely load equipment and supplies for a given tour in accordance with supplied documentation
 - knowledge of the safety, legal and statutory requirements that apply to tour operators.

Drive Vehicles

Unit Descriptor

This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to drive cars and light vehicles safely, including the systematic, safe and efficient control of all vehicle functions and effective management of hazardous situations.

Assessment of this unit will usually be undertaken within a licensing examination conducted by, or under the authority of, the relevant State/Territory Road Traffic Authority. This unit is the National Road Transport standard Drive Vehicles. Users should consult Tourism Training Australia or their local Tourism Training office to ensure usage of the most up-to-date version of this unit.

Element

Performance Criteria

1 Drive the vehicle

- The vehicle is started, steered, manoeuvred, positioned and stopped in accordance with traffic regulations and manufacturer's instructions.
- Engine power is managed to ensure efficiency and performance and to minimise engine and transmission damage.
- Driving hazards are identified and/or anticipated and avoided or controlled through defensive driving.
- The vehicle is driven in reverse, maintaining visibility and achieving accurate positioning.
- The vehicle is parked, shutdown and secured in accordance with manufacturer's specifications, traffic regulations and company procedures.

2 Monitor traffic and road conditions

- The most efficient route of travel is taken through monitoring and anticipation of traffic flows and conditions, road standards and other factors likely to cause delays or route deviations.
- Traffic and road conditions are constantly monitored and acted upon to enable safe operation and ensure no injury to people or damage to property, equipment, loads and facilities.

3 Monitor and maintain vehicle performance

- Vehicle performance is maintained through pre-operational inspections and checks of the vehicle.
- Performance and efficiency of vehicle operation is monitored during use.
- Defective or irregular performance or malfunctions are reported to the appropriate authority.
- Vehicle records are maintained/updated and information is processed in accordance with company procedures.

Range of Variables

- Type of vehicle includes all cars and vehicles equal to or less than 4.5 tonnes GVM and seating up to 12 adults including the driver and all types of transmission.
- Workplace environment includes all road transport situations, for example:
 - operations conducted at day or night
 - work conducted in confined spaces, exposed conditions and controlled or open environment
 - in the warehouse and at the depot
 - in the vehicle on the road
 - at the client's workplace
 - in a range of typical weather conditions.
- The level of supervision may be limited or minimum supervision.
- OH&S standards as per company and statutory requirements.
- Regulations/legislation including:
 - license category information
 - traffic laws and regulations
 - special regulatory requirements
 - emergency procedures.
- Documentation and reporting systems as per company requirements.
- Procedures are those for prescribed by the relevant traffic authority and company.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - road laws
 - vehicle handling procedures
 - vehicle controls and indicators
 - difference between transmission types
 - defensive driving
 - map reading
 - reading
 - monitoring and anticipating traffic hazards
 - stress management.

Context of Assessment:

- Competence must be demonstrable for the relevant work situation, by day or night and in varied weather conditions in a real or simulated road transport environment.
- Assessment of this unit of competence will usually include observation of real or simulated work processes and procedures; quality projects, questioning on underpinning knowledge and skills and consideration of evidence of required attitudes.
- Competence in this unit needs to be assessed over a period of time to ensure consistency of performance in a range of contexts.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Assessment must confirm sufficient knowledge of the road rules; vehicle controls, instruments and indicators, defensive driving techniques, engine power management and safe driving strategies.
- Assessment must confirm the ability to start, steer, manoeuvre, position and stop a light vehicle; as well as to correctly apply the candidate's knowledge of road rules; vehicle controls, instruments and indicators; defensive driving techniques, engine power management and safe driving strategies.
- Assessment of this competency will require access to a relevant vehicle.

Linkages to Other Units:

- This unit usually is assessed in conjunction with any of the specialised relevant units in the Driving Vehicles field of the National Road Transport Standards. In a tourism context this could be with the following units from the Tourism Training Package:
TDTC197 Drive Buses/Coaches
THTFTO02A Operate and Maintain a 4WD Vehicle.

Drive Coaches/Buses

Unit Descriptor

This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to drive a coach/bus safely, including systematic and efficient control of all vehicle functions and effective management of hazardous situations. Assessment of this unit will usually be undertaken within a licensing examination conducted by or under the authority of, the relevant State/Territory Road Traffic Authority. This unit is the National Road Transport standard Drive Coaches/Buses plus Element 1 of Use Vehicle Communication Systems. Users should consult Tourism Training Australia or their local Tourism Training office to ensure usage of the most up-to-date version of this unit.

Element

Performance Criteria

1 Drive the coach

- The coach/bus is started, steered, manoeuvred, positioned and stopped in accordance with traffic regulations and manufacturers instructions.
- Engine power is managed to ensure efficiency and performance and to minimise engine and transmission damage.
- Engine operation is maintained within manufacturer's specified torque range and temperature through effective transmission use.
- The braking system of coach/bus is managed and operated to ensure effective control of the vehicle under all conditions.
- Driving hazards are identified and/or anticipated and avoided or controlled through defensive driving.
- The coach/bus is driven in reverse, maintaining visibility and achieving accurate positioning.
- The coach/bus is parked, shutdown and secured in accordance with manufacturer's specifications, traffic regulations and company procedures.

| 4 | Operate radio communication system | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• System checks are carried out to confirm radio communication system is operational in accordance with manufacturer's instructions and company procedures.• Communication system is used safely in accordance with company procedures and relevant safety legislation.• Messages are transmitted clearly and precisely with due observation of ethics and protocols required of users.• Received messages are interpreted and recorded in accordance with company procedures. |

Range of Variables

- Type of vehicle includes all coaches and buses relevant to specific license classifications.
- Workplace environment includes all road transport situations, for example:
 - operations conducted at day or night
 - work conducted in confined spaces, exposed conditions and controlled or open environment
 - in the warehouse and at the depot
 - in the vehicle on the road
 - at the client's workplace
 - in a range of typical weather conditions.

 - road laws
 - coach handling procedures
 - coach controls and indicators
 - efficient driving techniques
 - air brake systems
 - defensive driving
 - map reading
 - reading

Competency Standards

monitoring and anticipating traffic hazards
stress management.

Context of Assessment:

- Competence must be demonstrable for the class of vehicle concerned in usual operational situations by day and night and in varied weather conditions, with passengers. Assessment should include both loaded and unloaded vehicles.
- Assessment of this unit of competence will usually include observation of real or simulated work processes and procedures; quality projects, questioning on underpinning knowledge and skills and consideration of evidence of required attitudes.
- Assessment of this competency will require access to a coach/bus in working hours.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Assessment must confirm sufficient knowledge of the requirements for the transport of special loads.
- Assessment must confirm the ability to apply this knowledge for the special types of load and vehicle concerned in a real or simulated road transport environment.
- Competence in this unit needs to be assessed over a period of time to ensure consistency of performance in a range of contexts.

Unit TDTB397Carry Out Vehicle Maintenance and Minor Repairs

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the core skills and knowledge required to undertake routine maintenance and minor repairs on vehicles which result from routine inspections. This unit is the National Road Transport Standard Carry Out Vehicle Maintenance and Minor Repairs. Users should consult Tourism Training Australia or their local Tourism Training office to ensure usage of the most up to date version of this unit.
------------------------	--

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Diagnose vehicle faults and undertake repairs for the safe operation of a vehicle	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Faults in the vehicle electrical system are identified, diagnosed and repaired following manufacturer's specifications and company procedures. Faults in the fuel system are identified, diagnosed and repaired following manufacturer's specifications and company procedures.
2 Maintain the vehicle systems	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Fluid levels are checked and adjusted following manufacturer's specifications and enterprise procedures. Air levels are checked and adjusted following manufacturer's specifications and company procedures.
3 Carry out minor repairs to a vehicle	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Vehicle components are removed, repaired or replaced and refitted to the vehicle using the correct tools and following manufacturer's instructions and company procedures. Tyres are repaired or replaced as on vehicle following company procedures and manufacturer's instructions. The need for more complex maintenance procedures is identified and the problem correctly referred following company procedures.
4 Complete documentation	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Records of routine maintenance and repairs are kept in accordance with company procedures.

Range of Variables

- Type of vehicle includes all commercial road transport vehicles for example, light vehicles, heavy vehicles, combination vehicles.
- Type of minor repairs includes all minor repairs, for example, the replacement of headlights, door mirrors, coolant hose, fuse, fan belt, rear tail-light lens, tyres and repair of tyre punctures.
- Type of service includes all minor services, for example, replacement of oils and replacement of air in tyres.
- Workplace environment includes all road transport situations, for example:
 - operations conducted at day or night
 - work conducted in confined spaces, exposed conditions and controlled or open environment
 - in the warehouse and at the depot
 - in the vehicle on the road
 - at the client's workplace
 - in a range of typical weather conditions.
- The level of supervision may be limited or minimum supervision.
- OH&S standards as per company and statutory requirements.
- Regulations/legislation includes:
 - occupational health and safety legislation
 - company policies and procedures.
- Documentation and reporting systems as per company requirements.
- Procedures are those prescribed for the specific vehicle by the relevant traffic authority and company policies.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - OH&S requirements
 - inspection procedures
 - service procedures
 - operation of electrical system
 - operation of fuel system

- basic fault finding procedures
- reporting and documentation requirements
- reading and comprehension of simple statements in English
- writing of simple reports
- ability to apply housekeeping standards
- ability to use and maintain all required materials, tools and parts recognition and diagnosis of faults and vehicle irregularities
- ability to perform work under the required level of supervision
- ability to minimise waste.

Context of Assessment:

- Competence must be demonstrated for the relevant classification of vehicle, by day and night and in varied weather conditions.
- Assessment of this unit of competence will usually include observation of work processes and procedures; measurement and evaluation of products or work outcomes; oral and/or written questioning on underpinning knowledge and skills and consideration of evidence of required attitudes.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Assessment must confirm sufficient knowledge of the inspection procedures and regulations for the type of vehicle designed to carry the special load concerned.
- Assessment must confirm the ability to apply this knowledge in a real or simulated road transport environment.

Linkages to Other Units:

- This unit should be assessed alone.

Operate and Maintain a 4WD Tour Vehicle

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to utilise features of a 4WD vehicle and perform simple maintenance on a 4WD vehicle. It relates only to the specialist skills and knowledge for 4WD vehicles. General driving and maintenance skills are covered in other units.
------------------------	---

1 Use the features of a 4WD vehicle	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• 4WD vehicles are correctly and safely operated both on and off road.• Situations where the engagement of 4WD is required are correctly identified.• Customers are advised of any special safety precautions to be taken when traversing rough terrain.• The special features of a 4WD vehicle are correctly, safely and responsibly used to navigate a range of terrain types including:<ul style="list-style-type: none">• steep inclines• very soft ground• rocky areas• sand• water crossings• mud/black soil.
2 Recover 4WD vehicles	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• A range of techniques are correctly and safely used to recover vehicles from adverse terrain including:<ul style="list-style-type: none">• sand• rock areas• water crossing.• Customer safety is considered throughout the recovery exercise.• Post-recovery repairs are correctly performed.

3 Perform maintenance and minor repairs on 4WD vehicles

- Maintenance equipment, including spares and fluids is correctly selected/accessed prior to tour departure in accordance with:
 - duration of tour
 - type of terrain to be covered
 - remoteness of area to be visited.
- Vehicles are regularly checked prior to and during tour and routine maintenance/repair tasks are correctly performed.
- Vehicle performance reports are promptly made to the designated person.

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to the tour operations sector of the tourism industry.
- This unit covers the specialist skills required of 4WD tour operators.
- Routine maintenance/repair tasks may include but are not limited to:
 - changing wheels in uneven terrain
 - puncture repairs
 - bleeding a diesel engine.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - features and handling characteristics of 4WD vehicles
 - differences between 2WD and 4WD vehicles and their impacts on vehicle operation and capability
 - legal and safety issues of particular relevance to 4WD tours in Australia.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit must be assessed on the job through practical demonstration or through simulation with a 4WD vehicle in environments where 4W driving skills may be demonstrated. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - ability to safely and correctly use the features of a 4WD to navigate a range of terrain (terrain will vary according to enterprise location)
 - ability to safely apply recovery techniques to 4WD vehicles
 - knowledge of and ability to apply maintenance and repair techniques specific to 4WD vehicles
 - knowledge of the legal and safety issues that apply to 4WD tours in Australia.

Linkages to Other Units:

- This unit should be assessed with or after the following units:

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to guides working in all sectors of the tourism industry.
- This unit covers all the different types of tours which include multiple products and services including:
 - half and full day tours
 - extended tours
 - city or rural tours
 - cultural
 - ecotours
 - adventure tours
 - special interest tours.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - general tourism industry knowledge
 - industry confirmation and booking procedures
 - legal and liability issues affecting guides
 - tour planning and management
 - communication skills
 - problem solving.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through simulation. The simulation must cover both tour planning and implementation and include opportunities to apply problem solving and contingency management skills. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge. Access to all resources for the running of a tour is required.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - ability to plan and operate a tour which comprises multiple products and services (must be a fully simulated tour situation)
 - knowledge of the range of potential 'on tour' situations and problems that may arise. The focus of this range will vary according to the sector in which the guide operates
 - ability to effectively respond to potential 'on tour' situations.

Linkages to Other Units:

- There is a strong link between this unit and other guiding units.
- Combined delivery/assessment may be appropriate especially with units such as:
 - THTFTG05A Lead Tour Groups
 - THTFTG11A Manage Extended Touring Programs.

Lead Tour Groups

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to undertake the group co-ordination role played by the guide.
------------------------	---

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Co-ordinate group movements	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The importance of keeping the tour on schedule is fully conveyed to the tour group. • The schedule is maintained by the entire group wherever possible. • Techniques are used promptly to attract group attention when required. • The group is fully advised of procedures which assist in causing minimum disruption and disturbance to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • other tour members • host communities • the environment. • Physical movement of the groups is completed in an orderly manner. • Customers are advised of appropriate procedures if they become separated from the group. • Group instructions are given in a manner and pace appropriate to the particular group. • Customers are encouraged to seek clarification of instructions where necessary.
2 Encourage group morale and goodwill	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Techniques are used to build group cohesion during the tour. • Balance between the needs of individuals and the group is taken into consideration.
3 Deal with conflicts and difficulties	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Potential for conflict is quickly assessed and appropriate action is taken to prevent and/or resolve the conflict. • Appropriate action is taken to deal with difficult tour members. • Action is taken in a manner likely to optimise the goodwill and morale of the group. • Procedures for controlling drug or alcohol-affected customers are accurately followed according to company guidelines and legal requirements.

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to guides working in all sectors of the tourism industry.
- Conflicts and difficulties may include but are not limited to:
 - personal conflict between customers
 - dominant or disruptive customers
 - negative customers
 - sub groups or 'cliques' within the group
 - perception of favoritism by guide
 - dissatisfaction with the tour.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - communication and leadership skills
 - conflict resolution
 - group management and dynamics.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through simulation. Simulation should reflect the workplace and include a range of people management situations that may arise during the conduct of tours. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - ability to use techniques to build group cohesion
 - knowledge of the range of ‘people management’ issues which could arise during group tours. The focus of this range will vary according to the sector in which the guide operates
 - ability to use techniques to respond to ‘people management’ problems and issues.

Linkages to Other Units:

- There is a strong link between this unit and other guiding units.

 - optional activities.
- Equipment may include but is not limited to:
 - microphone
 - audio visual equipment
 - videos
 - props.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - presentation skills
 - knowledge of subject matter being presented.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through simulation. Simulation should be conducted in an environment where commentaries are actually presented and resources are available. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - ability to select and prepare commentary information to meet a specific need
 - ability to use appropriate presentation techniques in the delivery of a commentary.

Linkages to Other Units:

- There is a strong link between this unit and a range of other guiding units.

 - history, pre and post European contact
 - traditional life and culture
 - contemporary indigenous life and culture
 - art and music
 - dance
 - bushcraft/bushfood/bush medicine
 - tools and implements
 - land ownership
 - cultural sites.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - methods of researching and recording information generally available about Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander societies
 - protocols for sharing information about Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander societies
 - copyright and intellectual property issues
 - communication skills, including cross cultural skills and awareness of communication from an indigenous perspective.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - knowledge of the protocols that apply to researching and sharing information generally available about Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultures
 - ability to research and share information in a culturally appropriate way
 - general knowledge of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultures as appropriate to the region.
- Assessment should take account of the fact that some guides may have gained all of their knowledge and skill in this unit through general life experience.
- Delivery/assessment in this unit should involve appropriate people accepted by the local community.

Linkages to Other Units:

- There is a strong link between this unit and a range of other guiding and tour operations units.

Unit THTFTG08A

Interpret Aspects of Local Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Culture

Unit Descriptor

This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to interpret different aspects of local Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultures in a tourism context. This unit focuses on an in-depth interpretation of a specific local culture. It is this in-depth, localised interpretation that distinguishes this unit from Unit THTFTG07A.

The unit recognises that there is no single Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander culture and emphasises the importance of in-depth local cultural knowledge, appropriate behaviour and local community consultation. The local cultural knowledge necessary to achieve competency in this unit may only be accessible to those individuals who identify as elders and who are authorised by local elders on behalf of their communities.

Element

Performance Criteria

1 Consult with the local community

- Appropriate community members are consulted about cultural tourism activities including:
 - information which can be shared
 - who can give information to whom
 - who can receive the information
 - what activities are appropriate and who should be involved.
- Tourism activities are planned and conducted in accordance with the needs and wishes of the local community.

2 Interpret aspects of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander culture for customers

- Cultural aspects are interpreted for customers to the level of depth which is appropriate for the guide and the particular customer.
- Cultural interpretation takes account of any copyright and intellectual property requirements.
- Customers are briefed on culturally appropriate behaviour.
- Customers are made aware of copyright and intellectual property issues which may affect their own future behaviour.
- Individual guide behavior during activities shows respect for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander culture and values.
- Where appropriate, traditional and contemporary practices are shown to customers in a manner which enhances their understanding of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander culture.
- Where appropriate, local language is used correctly and shared with customers.
- Where appropriate, customers are invited to actively participate and share in the cultural experience.

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to guides working in all sectors of the tourism industry.
- There are many different indigenous language groups in Australia, therefore focus of cultural interpretation will vary and should ultimately be decided in consultation with elders on behalf of the local community. It may include but is not limited to:
 - art
 - dance
 - music
 - storytelling
 - tools and Implements
 - bush foods and medicine
- This unit deals with complex and interrelated elements of indigenous culture which are the cultural and intellectual property of specific communities. These may only be interpreted by persons authorised by a local tribal elder, on behalf of their community.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - in-depth knowledge and understanding of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander culture as it relates to the region of work
 - protocols for the sharing of information about specific local Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultures
 - copyright and intellectual property issues
 - communication skills, from an indigenous and non-indigenous perspective.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - in-depth knowledge and understanding of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultures as appropriate to the region
 - ability to provide cultural interpretation for customers in a culturally appropriate and respectful manner.

Competency Standards

- Training and/or assessment in this unit must be conducted by persons approved of by elders of the relevant local community.
- Assessment should take account of the fact that some guides may have gained all of their knowledge and skill in this unit through general life experience.

Linkages to Other Units:

- There is a strong link between this unit and a range of other units.
- Combined training/assessment may be appropriate especially with units such as:

Unit THTFTG09A

Present Interpretive Activities

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to present a range of educational or interpretive activities for different customer groups in all sectors of the tourism industry. It has particular relevance for guides and reflects the importance of interpretation in all tourism activities. This unit is closely linked with THTPPD05A which focuses on the development of interpretive activities.
------------------------	---

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Make preparations for interpretive activity	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Time is allocated for activity preparations.• Where appropriate, preparatory research is undertaken and interpretive themes are selected and developed.• All required resources and support materials are obtained, checked and assembled.• Where appropriate, location is checked for safety, cleanliness and customer comfort.• Operational details and timings are confirmed with appropriate colleagues.• Customers are welcomed to the activity in a friendly manner and opportunities are taken to interact with customers prior to commencement of the activity.

2 Present interpretive activity to customers

- Customers are welcomed and provided with information to prepare them for the activity.
- Material presented is accurate, current, relevant and in a logical order.
- Interpretive and presentation techniques are used to enhance the understanding and quality of the experience for the customer including as appropriate:
 - interpretive themes
 - humour
 - body language
 - role playing
 - voice techniques
 - story telling
 - games and activities
 - sensory awareness exercises
 - use of visual aids and props.
- Interpretation combines learning and entertainment
- Audience participation and interaction is encouraged within safety guidelines.
- Customer questions are correctly answered in a polite, friendly and welcoming manner.
- Where the requested information falls outside the individual's area of knowledge, the answer is found from another source or the customer is referred to the other source of information.
- Presentation of the activity takes account of environmental, cultural and social sensitivities.
- Educational messages are included in the presentation
- Interpretive style is adapted to meet the needs of different customer groups.

3 Liaise with team members

- Communication with colleagues is maintained on operational and technical aspects to ensure smooth running of the activity as appropriate to the location and circumstances.
- Assistance is requested and offered to colleagues as appropriate.

4 Deal with Unexpected Events

- When unexpected events occur, contingency plans are implemented without delay.
- The situation is quickly assessed and appropriate action is promptly taken.
- Presentation format, order or structure is amended to minimise impact on customer enjoyment.
- Unexpected events are used constructively and creatively to enhance the experience.
- Where safety of customers or colleagues may be threatened, organisation procedures are strictly followed.
- Sources of assistance are promptly identified and accessed.

5 Wind up the activity

- The activity is brought to a close in a manner which takes account of the need to leave customers with positive impressions and feelings.
- Colleagues are informed of completion of activity as required.
- Resources are made ready for the next customer group or stored as appropriate.
- Any defects in equipment and resources are recorded and/or reported according to organisation procedures.
- Activity location and/or resources are prepared for next customer group or closed down according to organisation procedures.

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to guides working in all sectors of the tourism industry.
- Activities may include but are not limited to:
 - guided walks
 - guided site activities
 - touring activities.
- One or more activities may be combined in a overall tour program.
- Interpretive activities relate to an enormous range of subjects. A few examples are:
 - wildlife
 - domestic/farm animals
 - birds
 - history and heritage
 - culture
 - art
 - natural environment
 - built environment.
- Resources may include but are not limited to:
 - natural resources
 - microphone
 - AV equipment
 - overhead projector/transparencies
 - video & video monitor
 - slides/slide projector
 - handouts
 - costumes
 - props
 - actors/performers
 - guest speakers
 - special interest organisations.
- Operational details may include but are not limited to:
 - timings
 - final numbers
 - additional information on customers
 - last minute changes

- special requirements.
- Unexpected events may include but are not limited to:
 - systems failure
 - technical/equipment failure
 - injury or accident
 - adverse weather conditions
 - inappropriate customer behaviour
 - unpredictable animal behaviour
 - cultural considerations
 - sudden closures
 - change of access
 - reassessment of customers' physical abilities.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of knowledge and skill in the following areas is required:
 - interpretation principles (from Tilden, Interpreting Our Heritage)
 - interpretation that does not somehow relate what is being displayed or described to something within the personality or experience of the visitor will be sterile
 - information, as such, is not interpretation. Interpretation is revelation based upon information. But they are entirely different things. However, all interpretation includes information
 - interpretation is an art which combines many arts, whether the materials presented are scientific, historical or architectural
 - the chief aim of interpretation is not instruction, but provocation
 - interpretation should aim to present a whole rather than a part, and must address itself to the whole person rather than any phase
 - interpretation addressed to children should not be a dilution of the presentation to adults, but should follow a fundamentally different approach
 - customer service skills
 - safety procedures
 - emergency procedures
 - technical/equipment procedures
 - presentation techniques
 - creative communication techniques including:
 - story telling
 - role playing
 - games and activities
 - sensory awareness exercises
 - illustrated talks
 - knowledge of subject matter to be presented.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through simulation. The simulation should take place in an environment where interpretive activities are actually conducted and appropriate resources are available. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment

- Look for:
 - ability to prepare and conduct a complete interpretive activity as appropriate to the industry sector or workplace
 - ability to integrate interpretation principles into the activity
 - ability to use interpretive and presentation techniques.
- Interpretation is an interactive process and assessment should include this aspect.
- This unit may involve substantial knowledge of the subject around which the interpretive activity is based and this knowledge should be thoroughly assessed. Assessment should take account of the fact that individuals may have already acquired this knowledge either through formal study or life and work experience. Examples include the scientific qualifications of ecoguides and the community recognition of cultural knowledge which exists in Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander societies.

Linkages to Other Units:

- There is a strong link between this unit and a range of other units.
- Combined delivery/assessment may be appropriate especially with units such as:
 - THTFTG03A Develop and Maintain the General Knowledge Required by Guides
 - THTFTG10A Develop Interpretive Content for Ecotourism Activities
 - THTPPD05A Plan and Develop Interpretive Activities.

| 1 | Research specialist ecological information | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Research techniques are used to access current, accurate and relevant information on specialist ecological topics.• Subjects of potential customer interest are made the focus of research activities. |
| 2 | Prepare interpretive content | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Educational and interpretive themes and messages are identified from research and incorporated into ecotourism activities.• Activities are developed to include focus on the relationship between key themes and other parts of the eco-system.• Content is prepared according to the principles of interpretation.• Activities incorporate biological knowledge and ecological principles.• Themes and activities are generated in accordance with ecotourism codes of practice. |

- This unit applies to guides working in all sectors of the tourism industry.
- The focus of specialist ecotourism activities may include the following, however, interpretation should draw out the links between the different components of the ecosystem:
 - Australian geology and physical geography
 - Australian history and human geography
 - Australian flora and fauna
 - preservation and conservation issues
 - fire ecology
 - impact of human history on environment.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - research skills
 - in-depth knowledge of specialist topics
 - ecotourism codes of practice (as per Ecotourism Association of Australia)
 - interpretation principles (from Tilden, Interpreting Our Heritage)
 - interpretation that does not somehow relate what is being displayed or described to something within the personality or experience of the visitor will be sterile

 - interpretation addressed to children should not be a dilution of the presentation to adults, but should follow a fundamentally different approach
 - knowledge of environmental best practice and principles
 - knowledge of global and regional environmental issues.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- The focus of this unit is on specialist ecological knowledge and research skills. Presentation is covered in THTFTG09A Present Interpretive Activities.
- Some individuals may possess qualifications in particular subjects and these should be taken into consideration in the assessment process. Others may have gained their knowledge through life experience.
- Look for:
 - in depth knowledge of the subject area
 - ability to research and apply specialist information to a tourism activity.

Linkages to Other Units:

- This unit should be assessed with or after the following unit:
 - THTFTG09A Present Interpretive Activities.
- There is also strong link between this unit and a range of other units.

Unit THTFTG11A

Manage Extended Touring Programs

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to manage and co-ordinate an extended touring program of more than one day's duration. It applies to those who lead extended tours both within Australia and overseas. It focuses only on the additional skills for extended touring and must be combined with other guiding units such as THTFTG04A Co-ordinate and Operate a Tour. The name of the person who manages extended touring varies according to the industry sector and business - for example tour manager, guide, tour escort.
------------------------	--

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Manage touring arrangements	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• The touring program is conducted according to the agreed itinerary.• Operational details are re-confirmed progressively throughout the program.• Touring arrangements are re-organised and adjusted when required within the scope of individual responsibility.• Major adjustments are made within budget according to controlling office guidelines.• Adjustments to touring arrangements are made in the context of the whole program.• Ongoing contact is maintained with controlling office and forward suppliers as required.

- 2 Liaise and negotiate with others
- Operational efficiency and customer service levels are maximised by effective liaison and negotiation with all those who contribute to the operation of the program.
 - Negotiations are conducted in a businesslike and professional manner within the relevant cultural context.
 - Negotiations are conducted in the context of the entire touring program.
 - Negotiations are conducted to take account of the overall relationship between the organisation and the other party.
 - Communication/negotiation style is appropriate to the circumstance.
 - Negotiation and communication techniques are used to maximise the chances of an acceptable outcome for all parties.
 - Agreements are noted and confirmed in writing as required.
 - Relevant information is passed to the controlling office.
- 3 Develop and maintain group rapport
- A team spirit is developed and maintained for the duration of the program.
 - Trust and confidence of the group is gained through the demonstration of professional competence and integrity.
 - Leadership and communication skills are used to foster group cohesion.
 - Customer participation and group interaction is encouraged.
 - Potential conflict within the group is promptly identified and assessed, and action taken to resolve the issue(s).

4 Solve problems which arise on tour

- Problems are promptly identified and considered from an operational and customer service perspective in the context of the entire touring program.
- Short term action is initiated to resolve the immediate problem where appropriate.
- Problems are analysed for any long term commercial impact and potential solutions are assessed and actioned.
- A positive image of the organisation and its contracted suppliers is presented at all times.
- Responsibility is taken for resolving the problem within the scope of individual authority.
- The controlling office is consulted as required.
- Follow up action is taken to monitor the effectiveness of chosen solutions.

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to guides working in all sectors of the tourism industry.
- An extended touring program is any tour of more than one day's duration.
- Types of extended touring programs may include:
 - general sightseeing tours
 - ecotours
 - adventure tours
 - cultural and historical tours
 - cruise programs.
- Operational details may include but are not limited to:
 - luggage co-ordination
 - documentation preparation
 - group currency requirements
 - seat rotation
 - check in/check out procedures
 - immigration and customs procedures
 - local touring liaison
 - booking confirmations (transport, accommodation, attractions, tours).
- Re-organisation and adjustment of touring arrangements may include but are not limited to:
 - development of alternative routes
 - re-booking of one or multiples services
 - organisation of new documentation
 - cost re-negotiations.
- Problems may include but are not limited to:
 - unexpected delays
 - passenger sickness, injury and death
 - loss of personal valuables and documents
 - equipment and transportation breakdown
 - lost passengers
 - group conflict or dissatisfaction
 - service complaints
 - poor supplier performance
 - political unrest in area of tour

Competency Standards

- inclement weather conditions
- lack of access to tour areas.
- Liaison and negotiation may be with:
 - coach drivers
 - local guides
 - tour leaders accompanying group from home country
 - interpreter guides
 - traditional owners
 - airlines
 - tour operators
 - hotels
 - restaurants
 - attractions
 - retail locations
 - government authorities.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - tourism industry and other networks that affect the role of the tour manager
 - team building
 - leadership and motivation
 - problem solving
 - communication and negotiation.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through simulation. The simulation must include opportunities to apply communication, problem solving and contingency management skills over time in realistic workplace situations. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - ability to effectively deal with the range of practical and people related issues which arise during the operation of an extended tour
 - ability to solve problems in a range of different contexts as appropriate to the individual workplace
 - knowledge of a typical range of issues and problems that may arise during extended touring programs.

 - turnstile entrance and exit
 - doors – sliding or mechanical opening.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - procedures for monitoring of entry areas as appropriate to the enterprise
 - health and safety implications in the monitoring of entry areas.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit must be assessed through practical demonstration on-the-job or in a simulated workplace environment where entry areas and crowds may be monitored. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Evidence of competency in this unit may need to be collected on several occasions and over a period of time.
- Look for:
 - knowledge of procedures for monitoring entry areas
 - ability to apply procedures consistently.

Linkages to Other Units:

- There is a link between this unit and many other Attractions/Theme parks units.
- Combined training/assessment may be appropriate.

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to attractions/theme parks sector of the tourism industry.
- Animals refers to all types of animals which are exhibited in theme parks and attractions including marine species.
- Routine maintenance may include but is not limited to:
 - simple repairs/improvements to enclosure structure or equipment
 - basic gardening or landscaping.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - animal types within the organisation
 - animal escape procedures
 - animal welfare and ethics policies
 - animal feeding procedures
 - cleaning procedures in specific relation to animal enclosures
 - equipment procedures for animal husbandry and general enclosure equipment
 - health & safety requirements for animal enclosures
 - basic maintenance routines
 - record-keeping in relation to animal enclosures.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit must be assessed on-the-job or in a simulated work environment where access to animal enclosures, enclosure equipment and animals is provided. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Competence must be demonstrated in the operation of a range of different animal enclosures. The focus of this range will vary according to the needs of the particular workplace.
- Look for:
 - general knowledge of animals in the enclosure and procedures to be followed
 - knowledge of health and safety issues related to animal enclosures
 - ability to follow procedures correctly for the opening, closing and monitoring of an enclosure / exhibit open to the public

Competency Standards

- ability to use animal husbandry and general enclosure equipment correctly
- ability to undertake routine cleaning and maintenance duties
- ability to complete enclosure documentation accurately.

Linkages to Other Units:

- There is a strong link between this unit and all other animal handling units.
- Combined training/assessment may be appropriate.

| 3 | Assist with animal health care | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Disease prevention procedures are carried out according to instructions and appropriate quarantine procedures.• Pests and toxic substances are accurately identified.• Obvious signs of illness are promptly recognised and reported, according to procedures.• Routine treatments are administered under supervision.• Samples are correctly collected when required. |
| 4 | Identify and act on potential risks in animal enclosures | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Physical/behavioural hazards are correctly identified.• Risks associated with specific animals are identified.• Day-to-day duties are conducted in a manner which minimises risk in the enclosure.• Potential risks are promptly reported to supervisor. |
| 5 | Update and maintain animal records | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Issues, behaviour and events requiring written notation are promptly and accurately identified.• Accurate notations are made on animal records, using correct terminology. |

- This unit applies to attractions/theme parks sector of the tourism industry.
- Animals refers to all types of animals which are exhibited in theme parks and attractions, including marine species.
- Samples may include but are not limited to:
 - urine
 - faeces
 - fur
 - feathers
 - scales.
- Animal behaviours may include but are not limited to:
 - courtship
 - copulation
 - combat.
- Grooming and general care will vary according to the nature and type of the animal.
- Hazards and risks may include but are not limited to:
 - animal behaviour
 - human behaviour
 - defects in enclosure structure or equipment.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - animal observation skills
 - feeding procedures
 - chemical types and usage in animal care
 - quarantine requirements
 - general knowledge of animal diseases and pests
 - health & safety requirements relating to the care of animals.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit must be assessed through practical demonstration on-the-job or in a simulated workplace environment where animals and animal care equipment are provided. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Competence must be demonstrated in the care of a range of different animals. The focus of this range will vary according to the needs of the particular workplace.
- Look for:
 - knowledge of procedures to be applied in day-to-day animal care – including feeding watering, grooming, disease prevention, routine health treatments and capture/restraint
 - ability to apply safely procedures to selected animal groups
 - knowledge of correct terminology and record-keeping procedures in relation to animal care.

Unit THTFAT13A

Provide Customers With Information On Animals

Unit Descriptor This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to provide information to customers about the animals in theme parks and attractions. It does not include presentation skills which are found in other units.

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Offer information to customers	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Opportunities are taken to talk to customers about animals.• Interactions with customers are conducted in a polite, friendly and welcoming manner.• Information offered is current and accurate.• Complexity of information is appropriate to customer needs.• Available resources are used to enhance the presentation of information.• Demonstration with actual animals is used as appropriate and within safety and animal welfare/ethics guidelines.• Customers are given opportunities to observe and interact with animals in accordance with safety and animal welfare/ethics guidelines.• Customers are invited to ask questions.
2 Respond to customer questions about animals	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Customer questions are correctly answered in a polite, friendly and welcoming manner.• Opportunities are taken to provide additional information to enhance the customer understanding and experience.• Where possible, answers are enhanced by showing examples in real animals.• Where the requested information falls outside the individual's area of knowledge, the answer is found from another source or the customer is referred to the other source of information.

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to attractions/theme parks sector of the tourism industry.
- Animals refers to all types of animals which are exhibited in theme parks and attractions including marine species.
- Information may include:
 - general animal characteristics
 - animal behaviour patterns
 - individual animal characteristics
 - feeding information.
- Resources may include:
 - slides
 - videos
 - pictures and charts
 - animal models
 - handouts.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of knowledge and skills in the following is required:
 - knowledge of animals as appropriate to the enterprise
 - customer service skills.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit must be assessed through practical demonstration on-the-job or in a simulated workplace environment where animals and other exhibit resources are available. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Evidence of competence must include knowledge of a range of different animals. The focus of this range will vary according to the needs of the particular workplace.
- Look for:
 - knowledge of animals
 - ability to communicate information about animals to customers effectively.

| 4 | Administer animal health treatments | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Treatments are administered within scope of individual responsibility.• Internal and external medications are administered in consultation with a veterinarian.• Treatments are administered in a manner which minimises animal stress and maximises the safety of the operation.• Critical and special care procedures including pre and post natal care are correctly carried out under direction from an appropriate specialist. |
| 5 | Monitor and modify animal behaviour | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Individual and group animal behaviour is observed and recorded for research purposes.• Behavioural changes are recognised and assessed for potential risks.• Causes of behaviour changes are determined or reported to the appropriate person for determination.• Action is taken to remedy any undesirable behaviour.• Enterprise conditioning programs are correctly applied.• Behavioural changes are promptly reported to the appropriate supervisor. |
| 6 | Operate and maintain controlled environments | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Breeding control procedures are correctly implemented.• Specialist equipment is used correctly, as dictated by breeding and growth patterns.• Equipment is maintained according to enterprise and manufacturer instructions.• Maintenance assistance is sought from internal and external sources as required. |
| 7 | Capture, restrain and transport animals | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Appropriate capture, restraint and transport equipment is accurately identified.• Equipment is checked and any faults promptly reported.• Capture and restraint procedures are carried out to minimise risk to animals and humans, using techniques required for specific animals.• Animals are transported according to transport protocol and enterprise guidelines. |

|----------|--|--|
| 8 | Use animal identification techniques | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Species are correctly identified through correct application of morphology, dentition, reproduction and behaviour.• Appropriate identification methods are selected for animal type.• Identification techniques are applied correctly, including microchips, tattoos, ear tags, brands. |
| 9 | Monitor quality in the animal enclosure | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Quality of animal care in the enclosure is monitored daily and action promptly taken to remedy any problems.• The effects of new programs/exhibits on animals are assessed and communicated to the appropriate supervisor.• Maintenance and renovation work conducted in the enclosure is undertaken and monitored to ensure minimum distress to animals.• Opportunities are taken to suggest animal care improvements to the appropriate supervisor. |

- This unit applies to attractions/theme parks sector of the tourism industry.
- Animals refers to all types of animals which are exhibited in theme parks and attractions including marine species.
- Identification techniques may include but are not limited to:
 - microchips
 - ear tags
 - brands
 - bands
 - colour markings.
- Routine health care may include but is not limited to:
 - routine injections
 - adding vitamins
 - fresh foods
 - pest control.
- Capture, restraint and movement methods will vary according to the type of animal and circumstances of capture.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of knowledge and skills in the following is required:
 - feeding requirements for different animals
 - capture, restraint and transport techniques, including knots and lashings
 - record-keeping procedures for animals
 - animal record-keeping terminology
 - critical and special care procedures
 - dietary requirements for animals
 - young animal handling
 - general animal health
 - animal behaviour modification.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit must be assessed through practical demonstration on-the-job or in a simulated workplace environment where animals and animal care equipment are provided. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Competence must be demonstrated in the care of a range of different animals. The focus of this range will vary according to the needs of the particular workplace.
- Look for:
 - detailed knowledge of animal care procedures
 - ability to co-ordinate and monitor the overall day-to-day care of animals in an attraction/theme park environment including diet/feeding, young animal care, health care, breeding, capture/restraint.

Linkages to Other Units:

- This unit should be assessed with or after the following units:

Train and Condition Animals

Unit Descriptor This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to train and condition animals in attractions and theme parks.

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Develop animal training plan	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• A program to train and condition each animal is created in consultation with appropriate experts.• Animal training plans take account of all safety and animal welfare/ethics policies.• The required degree of human/animal interaction is taken into consideration in developing the training plan.
2 Train and condition animals	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Animals are trained and conditioned according to plan and in consultation with appropriate experts.• Safety procedures are strictly followed for all animals and animal training equipment.• Procedures for dealing with trained and conditioned animals are followed and communicated correctly to all other personnel involved in animal care.• Progress of training is documented accurately.• Progress of training is communicated to colleagues to facilitate planning of animal exhibits and shows.
3 Design and present animal shows	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Animal shows are designed and presented, taking account of training and conditioning.• Shows are presented in a manner which causes minimum distress to animals.

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to attractions/theme parks sector of the tourism industry.
- Animals refers to all types of animals which are exhibited in theme parks and attractions, including marine species.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of knowledge and skills in the following is required:
 - in-depth knowledge of behaviour patterns of animal to be trained
 - animal training techniques
 - training plan design
 - animal training documentation
 - show presentation techniques.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit must be assessed through practical demonstration on-the-job or in a simulated workplace environment where animals and animal care equipment are provided. The ongoing nature of training/conditioning should be incorporated into assessment activities. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Competence may be demonstrated in the training of one or more different animals. This will vary according to the needs of the particular enterprise.
- Look for:
 - knowledge of animal welfare/ethics policies in relation to training of animals
 - ability to safely apply detailed animal knowledge to the training/conditioning process
 - ability to design animal and present animal shows within ethical guidelines.
- This unit should be assessed with or after the following units:
 - THTFAT10A Operate Animal Enclosure/Exhibit
 - THTFAT11A Provide General Animal Care
 - THTFAT12A Rescue Animals
 - THTFAT13A Provide Customers with Information on Animals

Unit THTFAT16A

Supervise Animal Enclosures / Exhibits

Unit Descriptor This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to supervise one or more types of animal exhibits in attractions and theme parks.

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Monitor and evaluate animal exhibit/enclosure	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Communication is established with animal handling staff at commencement of duty period. • Regular liaison is undertaken with all handlers. • Technical assistance with animal care is provided to handlers where required. • Quality of the overall exhibit is evaluated regularly, from the perspective of customer, animal and staff and appropriate action is initiated.
2 Monitor animal care	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Animal care strategies are evaluated in consultation with relevant colleagues and specialists. • Possible improvements to animal care are identified and introduced. • Preventative pest control procedures are implemented and monitored.
3 Monitor enclosure/exhibit safety	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Safety of all exhibits/enclosures for customers, staff and animals is monitored and prompt action taken to rectify deficiencies. • Design improvements are implemented and approval sought as required by enterprise policies. • Animal containment strategies are monitored and improved where appropriate.
4 Maintain animal husbandry manuals	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Information in animal husbandry manuals is monitored for accuracy, relevance and currency. • Manuals are developed and improved as required in consultation with colleagues. • Manuals are stored and/or distributed to all relevant colleagues. • New information is highlighted.

5 Provide technical and specialist advice to management

- Husbandry and technical management advice is provided to management to facilitate informed management decisions on animal exhibits.
- Assistance with exhibit design is provided.
- Advice provided takes account of feedback from animal handlers.
- Reports on animal exhibits are provided to management as required.

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to attractions/theme parks sector of the tourism industry.
- Animals refers to all types of animals which are exhibited in theme parks and attractions including marine species.
- Animal exhibits/shows includes existing species, new single species, multi species.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of knowledge and skills in the following areas is required:
 - quality control procedures in specific relation to animal exhibits/enclosures
 - animal management techniques
 - development and maintenance of animal husbandry manuals
 - supervisory skills (refer to THHGLE01A Monitor Work Operations).

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment of technical skills should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through simulation. Simulated activities must closely reflect the workplace and may need to take place over a period of time to allow the candidate to address the ongoing implementation and monitoring aspects of this unit. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess other skills and underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Evidence of competence must include knowledge of a range of different animals. The focus of this range will vary according to the needs of the particular workplace.
- Look for:
 - technical and specialist knowledge in relation to animal care and the operation of animal exhibits/enclosures
 - ability to integrate technical and specialist knowledge with general operational monitoring and quality control of animal enclosure/exhibit.

Linkages to Other Units:

- This unit should be assessed with or after the following units:
 - THTFAT10A Operate Animal Enclosure/Exhibit
 - THTFAT11A Provide General Animal Care
 - THTFAT12A Rescue Animals
 - THTFAT13A Provide Customers with Information on Animals

Manage Animal Enclosures/Exhibits

Unit Descriptor This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to manage all types of animal exhibits and shows in attractions and theme parks.

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Develop animal care and management strategies	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Animal care strategies are planned and implemented in consultation with all relevant colleagues for:<ul style="list-style-type: none">• general care• breeding• diets and feeding• handling, restraint and transport• health• artificial rearing.• Strategies are developed to meet all requirements of animal welfare and ethics guidelines.• Regimes and procedures for animal enclosures are created as an integral part of the animal care strategy.• Administration systems are created and maintained.• Animal care strategies are communicated clearly to relevant colleagues.• Strategies are evaluated and action taken accordingly.
2 Plan animal exhibits and shows	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• The need for a new exhibit/show is identified in a timely manner.• Objectives for a new exhibit/show are developed and agreed upon with colleagues.• Requirements are considered from all perspectives including animal, keeper and customer.• An action plan for an exhibit/show development is created and implemented in consultation with relevant colleagues.• Information on a new exhibit/show is created and distributed as appropriate.

- 3 Integrate animal exhibits and shows with other features and attractions
- Contact is maintained with other departments to facilitate effective co-ordination of all shows and exhibits.
 - Other departments are given the opportunity to provide input into the management of animal exhibits/shows.
 - Animal exhibits/shows are developed and maintained in accordance with the overall goals and objectives of the organisation.

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to attractions/theme parks sector of the tourism industry.
- Animals refers to all types of animals which are exhibited in theme parks and attractions including marine species.
- Animal exhibits/shows includes existing species, new single species, multi species.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of knowledge and skills in the following areas is required:
 - strategic animal management techniques and practices
 - knowledge of State/Territory legislation regarding exhibited animals
 - planning
 - enterprise marketing strategies.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. Portfolios of evidence relating to workplace experience may be appropriate. Simulated activities must closely reflect the workplace and may need to take place over a period of time to allow the candidate to address the ongoing implementation and monitoring aspects of this unit. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Evidence of competence must include knowledge of a range of different animals. The focus of this range will vary according to the needs of the particular workplace.
- Look for:
 - detailed knowledge of animal management strategies, their development, implementation and monitoring
 - ability to develop and apply animal management strategies in an attraction/theme park environment
 - ability to plan and implement new animal exhibits/shows.

Linkages to Other Units:

- This unit should be assessed with or after the following units:

TOURISM INDUSTRY NATIONAL COMPETENCY STANDARDS

GENERAL CUSTOMER SERVICE

Unit THHGCS01A

Develop and Update Local Knowledge

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to build and maintain the local knowledge that is required to effectively respond to customer information requests in a range of tourism and hospitality enterprises. This unit reflects a situation where the provision of information is not the primary job role. The unit has a link to unit THTSOP02A Source and Provide Destination Information and Advice, (Tourism Training Package) where the provision of advice is the primary job role.
------------------------	--

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Develop local knowledge	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Sources for information on the local area are correctly identified and accessed. • Information is recorded and filed for further use as appropriate. • Information commonly requested by customers is correctly identified and obtained including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • enterprise information • local transport • local attractions • local customs.
2 Update local knowledge	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Informal and/or formal research is used to update local knowledge. • Updated knowledge is shared with customers and colleagues as appropriate and incorporated into day-to-day working activities.

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to all tourism and hospitality sectors.
- The range of local information required will vary according to the particular industry sector and individual workplace.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - sources of information for enterprise and local knowledge.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - ability to source accurate and current information on the local area.

Linkages to Other Units:

- This unit underpins effective performance in a range of other units and combined delivery/assessment may be appropriate. Examples may include but are not limited to:
- Hospitality:
 - THHBH01A Provide Housekeeping Services to Guests
 - THHBF010A Provide Porter Services
 - THHBF02/3A Provide Accommodation Reception Services.
- Tourism:
 - WRRS.2A Advise on Products and Services
 - Many other units in the Attractions and Theme Parks Section.
- Care should be taken in developing training to meet the requirements of this unit. For generic pre-vocational training, organisations should provide training which takes into consideration the full range of industry contexts with no bias towards individual sectors. The Range of Variables will assist in this regard. For sector-specific delivery, training should be tailored to meet the needs of that sector.

Unit THHGCS02A

Promote Products and Services to Customers

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to promote products and services to customers. It relates to situations where the sales function is not the primary focus of work activity. This unit has a link to unit THTSOP04A, Sell Tourism Products and Services, where this sales function is a primary focus of work activity.
------------------------	---

1 Develop product/service and market knowledge	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Opportunities are taken to develop product/service knowledge. • Informal and formal research is used to update knowledge. • Customer feedback and workplace observation is used to evaluate products, services and promotional initiatives. • Knowledge obtained is shared with colleagues to enhance the sales-effectiveness of the team. • Information gained from workplace experience and direct customer contact is passed to the appropriate person for consideration in future planning. • Changes in customer preferences are identified. • Ideas for product and service adjustments to meet customer needs are suggested to the appropriate person in accordance with enterprise policy.
2 Encourage customers to use and buy products and services	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Accurate information about products and services is offered to customers. • Selling techniques are employed to encourage usage and purchase. • Customers are made aware of possible 'extras' and 'add-ons'. • Products and services are promoted in accordance with current enterprise goals and promotional focus.

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to all hospitality and tourism sectors.
- Informal and formal research may include but is not limited to:
 - discussions with colleagues
 - reading enterprise information
 - research of product and service information brochures
 - general media.
- Products and services may include but are not limited to:
 - tours and transport
 - conferences and conventions
 - function facilities
 - entertainment
 - shopping services
 - restaurant facilities
 - food and beverage
 - 'add-on' services.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - any legal issues which impact on the sale of products and services
 - in-depth knowledge of enterprise products and services
 - selling techniques.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - ability to use selling techniques to promote products and services within a specific tourism or hospitality context
 - knowledge of contexts in which this promotion could apply.

Linkages to Other Units:

- This unit should be assessed with or after the following units:
 - THHGGA01A Communicate on the Telephone
 - operational/service skills units which apply to particular industry sectors.
- Depending upon the industry sector and workplace, combined training may also be appropriate.
- Care should be taken in developing training to meet the requirements of this unit. For generic pre-vocational training, organisations should provide training which takes into consideration the full range of industry contexts with no bias towards individual sectors. The Range of Variables will assist in this regard. For sector-specific delivery, training should be tailored to meet the needs of that sector.

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - principles of stock control
 - common examples of stock control documentation and systems in the tourism and hospitality industries
 - stock security systems
 - safe lifting and handling procedures
 - basic knowledge of relevant stock.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit must be assessed through practical demonstration on-the-job or in a simulated workplace environment where actual receipt and storage of stock can be demonstrated. This should be supported by assessment of underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - ability to efficiently and safely receive and store stock in the appropriate industry context
 - knowledge of safety and security issues.
- For those individuals working in an environment dealing with the storage of food and beverage, evidence must also include a demonstrated understanding of the relevant health and hygiene issues to be considered.

Linkages to Other Units:

- This unit has a very strong link to a wide number of other operational units. Receipt and storage of stock is undertaken by people working in all sectors of the tourism and hospitality industry. As such combined assessment/training with a range of other units may be appropriate. These units should be selected to suit the specific industry sector and workplace.
- In a kitchen, restaurant or bar environment this unit should be assessed with or after the following unit:

THHHS01A Follow Workplace Hygiene Procedures.

Competency Standards

- Care should be taken in developing training to meet the requirements of this unit. For generic pre-vocational training, organisations should provide training which takes into consideration the full range of industry contexts with no bias towards individual sectors. The Range of Variables will assist in this regard. For sector-specific delivery, training should be tailored to meet the needs of that sector.

Control And Order Stock

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to control and order stock in a range of tourism and hospitality enterprises.
------------------------	--

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Maintain stock levels and records	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Stock levels are monitored and maintained at levels prescribed by enterprise levels. • Stock security systems are monitored and adjusted as required. • Stock re-order cycles are maintained, monitored and adjusted as required. • Colleagues are informed of their individual responsibilities in regard to recording of stock. • Stock storage and movement records are maintained in accordance with enterprise procedures. • Stock performance is monitored and fast/slow selling items are identified and reported in accordance with enterprise procedures.
2 Organise and administer stocktakes	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Stocktakes are organised at the appropriate time and responsibilities allocated to staff. • Accurate reports on stocktake data are produced within designated timelines.
3 Identify stock losses	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Losses are accurately identified, recorded and assessed against potential loss forecast on a regular basis. • Losses are reported in accordance with enterprise procedure. • Avoidable losses are identified and reasons are established. • Solutions are recommended and implemented to prevent future avoidable losses.
4 Process stock orders	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Orders for stock are accurately processed in accordance with enterprise procedures. • Stock ordering and recording systems are accurately maintained. • Purchase and supply agreements are correctly used and appropriate details recorded.

5 Follow up orders

- Delivery process is monitored to meet agreed deadlines.
- Liaison is undertaken with colleagues and suppliers to ensure continuity of supply.
- Routine supply problems are followed up or referred to the appropriate person in accordance with enterprise policy.
- Stock is distributed in accordance with agreed allocations.

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to all tourism and hospitality sectors.
- This unit may apply to stock from both internal and external suppliers.
- Stock control systems may be:
 - manual
 - computerised.
- Stock may include but is not limited to:
 - food
 - beverage
 - equipment
 - linen
 - stationery
 - brochures
 - vouchers and tickets
 - souvenir products.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - stock level maintenance techniques as appropriate to industry sector
 - typical stocktaking procedures as appropriate to industry sector
 - stock recording systems
 - stock security systems.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit must be assessed through practical demonstration on the job or in a simulated workplace environment where the candidate is able to demonstrate ongoing control of stock. This should be supported by assessment of underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - ability to maintain continuous stock supply within a specific tourism and hospitality context
 - ability to meet accuracy and speed requirements for completion and maintenance of stock records.

Linkages to Other Units:

- This unit should be assessed with or after the following unit:
 - THHGGA06A Receive and Store Stock.
- In many situations a range of other area specific operational units would be required in order to successfully complete this unit. These will vary according to the industry sector and individual workplace.
- This unit also has a very strong link to a wide number of other operational units. Stock control and ordering is undertaken by people working in all sectors of the tourism and hospitality industry. As such combined assessment/training with a range of other units may be appropriate. These units should be selected to suit the specific industry sector and workplace.
- In some industry sectors this unit is carried out by team leaders or supervisors, and in these instances combined assessment/training with units such as THHGLE01 Monitor Work Operations may be appropriate.
- Care should be taken in developing training to meet the requirements of this unit. For generic pre-vocational training, organisations should provide training which takes into consideration the full range of industry contexts with no bias towards individual sectors.

The Range of Variables will assist in this regard. For sector-specific delivery, training should be tailored to meet the needs of that sector.

Plan and Establish Systems and Procedures

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to develop and implement new ways of doing things in the workplace. While it involves elements of planning, the focus of this planning is on short term operational strategies to achieve workplace goals.
------------------------	---

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Plan systems and procedures	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• System and procedural requirements are identified and clarified through workplace monitoring and ongoing consultation with colleagues and customers.• Problem areas are identified and prompt action is taken.• Possible responses are identified and developed in consultation with colleagues.• Responses take account of immediate operational needs and enterprise goals.• Human and financial resources issues are taken into consideration.
2 Establish systems and procedures	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Advance notice of new systems and procedures is provided to colleagues.• Systems and procedures are introduced to the workplace in a manner which causes minimum disruption to customers and colleagues.• Training and support are provided as required.
3 Review systems and procedures	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Efficiency and effectiveness of systems are monitored in the workplace.• Suggestions for improvements are sought from colleagues at all levels.• Adjustments are promptly made.

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to all tourism and hospitality sectors.
- Systems and procedures may include but are not limited to:
 - customer service procedures
 - bar or restaurant procedures
 - kitchen systems
 - housekeeping systems
 - office administration systems
 - reservations procedures.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - basic principles of planning
 - in-depth knowledge of the area in which systems/procedures are to be introduced
 - legislative framework within which the enterprise must operate.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. Portfolios of evidence relating to workplace experience may be appropriate. Simulated activities must reflect closely the workplace and may need to take place over a period of time to allow the candidate to address the ongoing implementation and monitoring aspects of this unit. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - ability to develop and implement system/procedures within a specific tourism and hospitality context
 - knowledge of the process to be applied for successful development and implementation
 - knowledge of the issues that may arise in the development and implementation of systems and procedures.

Linkages to Other Units:

- This is a unit that underpins effective performance in a range of other units. As such this unit could be delivered/assessed in conjunction with appropriate units. Examples may include but are not limited to:
 - THHGLE01A Monitor Work Operations
 - THHGTR03A Prepare For Training
 - THHGLE07A Recruit And Select Staff
 - THHGLE08A Lead and Manage People.
- Care should be taken in developing training to meet the requirements of this unit. For generic pre-vocational training, organisations should provide training which takes into consideration the full range of industry contexts with no bias towards individual sectors. 3 Evaluate project

- Agreed evaluation methods are used to assess the effectiveness of the project at specified stages.
- Evaluation takes account of agreed goals and priorities.
- Project evaluation involves project team members, appropriate colleagues and customers.
- Results of evaluation are incorporated into ongoing project management.
- Information from project evaluation is shared with appropriate colleagues and incorporated into future planning.

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to all hospitality and tourism sectors.
- Projects may include but are not limited to:
 - conferences and meetings
 - promotional or other events
 - introduction of new technology or systems
 - product development
 - research projects
 - ongoing business projects.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - project management processes and systems
 - in-depth knowledge of nature of the project being managed including internal and external issues to be considered
 - skills in the areas of planning, leadership, finance and administration (covered in other units).

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. Portfolios of evidence relating to workplace experience may be appropriate. Simulated activities must closely reflect the workplace and may need to take place over a period of time to allow the candidate to address the ongoing implementation and monitoring aspects of this unit. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - ability to effectively plan, administer, monitor and evaluate a tourism/hospitality based project. This will include evidence of skills in planning, administration, financial management and leadership
 - understanding of the critical elements of effective project management.

Linkages to Other Units:

- This unit should be assessed with or after the following units:
 - THHGLE03A Develop and Implement Operational Plans
 - THHGLE08A Lead and Manage People
 - THHGLE14A Prepare and Monitor Budgets.
- Combined training/assessment may be appropriate.
- Please note that because this unit integrates a number of skills found in other units, care should be taken to avoid duplication in training/assessment.
- Care should be taken in developing training to meet the requirements of this unit. For generic pre-vocational training, organisations should provide training which takes into consideration the full range of industry contexts with no bias towards individual sectors. The Range of Variables will assist in this regard. For sector-specific delivery, training should be tailored to meet the needs of that sector.

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with skills and knowledge required to take responsibility for the set up and production of computer documents using a range of software applications. Applications may be word processing, desktop publishing or spreadsheet applications.
------------------------	--

1 Determine presentation and format of document	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Software most appropriate to the nature of the document is selected from a range of options.• Layout and style of document are selected according to particular information and presentation requirements.• Document design is consistent with enterprise guidelines.• Document format is created ready for the entry of information.• Format and presentation are discussed and clarified with the person requesting the document.• Format and presentation take account of the audience for whom the document is intended.
2 Produce document	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• The keyboard/mouse is operated within the design speed and accuracy requirements.• Documents are produced in required style and format.• Documents are produced within designated timelines.• Documents are saved regularly to avoid loss of data.• Spelling and grammar is checked.• Drafts are proof-read prior to printout.

3 Print and deliver document

- The keyboard/mouse is operated within the designated speed and accuracy requirements.
- All information is clearly and accurately presented using a broad range of software package functions.
- Information from other documents within same software packages, or printed material is inserted as required.
- Information from other software packages is integrated as required.
- Documents are proof-read for accuracy and consistency.
- Documents are edited as required.
- Documents are saved regularly to avoid loss of data.
- Layout is modified to improve appearance and meet required specification.
- Documents are printed and presented according to requirements.

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to all tourism and hospitality sectors.
- This unit relates to the use of word processing, desktop publishing or spreadsheet software applications.
- Computer systems and software programs will vary depending upon the individual enterprise.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - appropriate computer systems
 - OHS guidelines relating to computer equipment
 - application of standard software programs for word processing, database and spreadsheet functions.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - ability to develop and produce professional, accurate, user friendly documents for a range of situations and contexts
 - appropriate formatting of documents.

Linkages to Other Units:

- This unit should be assessed with or after the following units:
 - THHGCT01A Access and Retrieve Computer Data
 - THHGCT02A Produce Documents On Computer.
- There is a strong link between this unit and a range of other general and area specific units. Depending upon the industry sector and workplace combined training/assessment may be appropriate. Examples may include but are not limited to:
 - THHGGA03A Research and Present Information
 - THHGGA04A Prepare Business Documents.

1 Perform maintenance tasks	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Prompt response is made to requests for maintenance assistance. • Maintenance tasks are carried out correctly, promptly, in accordance with company policy and procedures. • Tasks are carried out according to schedule. • Tasks are carried out with minimum disruption to customers. • Work areas are enclosed where appropriate to ensure safety of customers. • Completed work meets quality requirements. • Work areas are cleaned at completion of work. • Problems requiring specialist assistance are identified, and help is sought from the appropriate tradesperson or supervisor.
2 Use and care for equipment	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Problems or faults are identified and reported to appropriate personnel. • Basic maintenance is carried out on equipment on a regular basis according to company practice. • Equipment is stored in the designated area. • Equipment is stored safely according to manufacturer's specifications and occupational health and safety standards.
3 Perform administrative tasks	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Maintenance request forms are accurately interpreted. • Instructions are clarified with the person making a request, when required. • Work report forms are accurately completed and forwarded to the appropriate person.
4 Assist in special projects	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Work on special projects is correctly carried out under direction from the appropriate specialist or supervisor. • Liaison with other project members is undertaken to ensure effective co-ordination of tasks in the total project.

5 Liaise with contractors

- Contact is established and maintained with appropriate contractors to ensure effective co-ordination of maintenance work.
- Assistance and information is provided to contractors when required.
- Accurate information is relayed between contractors and maintenance supervisors when required.

Range of Variables

- This unit may apply to any sector of the tourism industry but has particular relevance for attractions and theme parks.
- Maintenance tasks may include:
 - simple repairs
 - servicing equipment
 - painting & decorating
 - minor demolition.
- Special projects may include:
 - construction of new attractions
 - landscaping
 - major demolition.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - customer service skills
 - safety and emergency procedures in relation to general maintenance activities
 - technical/equipment procedures for commonly used maintenance tools and equipment.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit must be assessed through practical demonstration on-the-job or in a simulated workplace environment where access to items requiring maintenance and maintenance equipment are provided. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - ability to safely and correctly use equipment
 - ability to perform a range of routine maintenance tasks within enterprise acceptable timeframes
 - knowledge of general procedures and requirements that apply to routine maintenance work.

Linkages to Other Units:

- There is a link between this unit and the following unit:

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to all tourism industry sectors where merchandise sales form part of the overall business operation.
- The following variables may be present:
 - enterprise policies and procedures in regard to operation of point of sale equipment, security and sales transactions
 - enterprise facilities in regard to customer service
 - size, type and location of enterprise
 - enterprise merchandise range including size and weight
 - enterprise services range
 - regular and new customers
 - customers may include cash or non-cash transactions including EFTPOS, cheques, credit cards, smart cards, lay-by, credits and returns, and gift vouchers.
 - point of sale equipment may be manual or electronic
 - point of sale transactions may include but are not limited to:
 - cash or non-cash transactions including
 - EFTPOS
 - cheques
 - credit cards/smart cards
 - lay-by
 - credits and returns
 - gift vouchers
 - wrapping techniques may vary according to merchandise range
 - levels of staffing, eg. staff shortages
 - varying levels of staff training
 - routine or busy trading conditions
 - full-time, part-time or casual staff
 - customers with routine or special requests
 - handling techniques may vary according to stock characteristics and industry codes of practice
 - bag checking procedures.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - enterprise policies and procedures in regard to customer service and point of sale techniques
 - relevant legislation and statutory requirements including consumer law
 - industry codes of practice
 - stock availability
 - range of services provided by the store
 - questioning/listening techniques
 - wrapping and packing techniques
 - store bag checking procedures
 - time management
 - operation of point of sale equipment
 - merchandise handling techniques
 - literacy skills in regard to written sales and delivery documentation
 - numeracy skills in regard to handling of cash
 - use of point of sale equipment and procedures including:
 - registers
 - numerical display boards
 - calculators
 - electronic scales
 - scanners
 - EFTPOS
 - credit cards
 - lay-by
 - credits and returns.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - ability to correctly operate point of sale equipment and apply other point of sale procedures in accordance with enterprise procedures and within enterprise acceptable timeframes.

Linkages to Other Units:

- There is a strong link between this unit and the following units:
 - WRRS.1A Sell Merchandise
 - WRRS.2A Advise on Products and Services
 - WRRLP.2A Minimise Theft.
- Combined training/assessment may be appropriate.
- Please note that the content of this unit also overlaps with unit THHGFA01A Process Financial Transactions and care should be taken to avoid duplication in training and assessment.

- Security of cash, cash register and keys is maintained according to enterprise policy.
- Security of stock, cash and equipment in regard to customers, staff and outside contractors is maintained according to enterprise policy.
- Suspected or potential thieves are dealt with according to enterprise policy and procedures.

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to all tourism industry sectors where merchandise sales form part of the overall business operation.
- The following variables may be present:
 - enterprise policies and procedures in regard to security
 - enterprise policies will take into account local and state security legislation and industry codes and practice
 - size and type and location of enterprise
 - enterprise merchandise and service range
 - special security requirements covering merchandise
 - types of security equipment
 - security procedures may deal with:
 - customers
 - staff
 - keys
 - visitors, sales representatives, contractors, vendors
 - stock
 - records
 - cash, credit
 - equipment
 - premises
 - armed hold-up
 - security equipment used eg. alarm systems, video surveillance, mirrors, locked and secure areas
 - levels of staffing, eg. staff shortages
 - varying levels of staff training
 - routine or busy trading conditions
 - full-time, part-time or casual staff.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - enterprise policies and procedures in regard to security
 - relevant legislation and statutory regulations including industry codes of practice particularly in regard to checking of customers' bags and purchases
 - enterprise merchandising system including price tags, labels, bar codes, price lists/catalogues
 - enterprise policies regarding checking of customers' bags and purchases
 - security procedures relating to cash handling, credit card, EFTPOS and cheque transactions
 - enterprise security equipment
 - reporting procedures for external/internal theft or suspicious circumstances.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - ability to correctly follow security procedures
 - knowledge of measures that can be taken to prevent theft and the range of security issues that apply in a retail environment.

Linkages to Other Units:

- There is a strong link between this unit and all other merchandise sales units.
- Combined delivery/assessment may be appropriate.

 - merchandise range
 - use of electronic labelling/ticketing equipment
 - availability and use of display materials
 - time management for building and rotating displays
 - correct handling techniques for protection of self and merchandise
 - stock rotation
 - stock replenishment
 - literacy and numeracy skills in relation to machine or manual preparation of labels/tickets
 - manufacturer's specifications in the use of electronic labelling/ticketing equipment
 - correct storage procedures for labelling/ticketing equipment and materials
 - safety requirements.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - ability to follow correct procedures for the merchandising of products in accordance with enterprise procedures
 - knowledge of techniques for the arrangement and presentation of merchandise.

Linkages to Other Units:

- This unit should be assessed alone.

Unit THHGTR01A

Coach Others in Job Skills

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to provide on-the-job coaching to colleagues. This unit has no parity with National Workplace Trainer standards, but reflects the situation in many tourism and hospitality workplaces where ‘buddy’ systems and on job coaching are extremely common.
------------------------	---

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Prepare for on job coaching	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The need for coaching is identified based on a range of factors which could include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • request for coaching from colleague to be coached • own observation and workplace experience • direction from other colleagues. • Specific coaching needs are identified through discussion with the colleague to be coached. • Where appropriate, a specific time and place for coaching is organised with the colleague in accordance with enterprise policy.
2 Coach colleagues on-the-job	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The overall purpose of coaching is explained to the colleague. • Specific skills to be coached are explained and demonstrated. • Any underpinning knowledge required is clearly communicated. • The colleague’s understanding is checked. • The colleague is given the opportunity to practise the skill and ask questions. • Feedback is provided in a constructive and supportive manner.
3 Follow up coaching	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Progress with new skills is monitored in the workplace and supportive assistance is provided as required. • Progress is reported to the appropriate person as required. • Performance problems or difficulties with the coaching are identified and referred to the appropriate person for follow-up.

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to all tourism and hospitality sectors.
- Coaching sessions could be conducted in a range of contexts including but not limited to:
 - on-the-job during work hours
 - before or after work
 - in a simulated location away from the actual workplace.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - competency in the skill being coached
 - basic principles of training (explanation, demonstration, review, trainee explanation, trainee demonstration, feedback)
 - communication skills, specifically the use of questioning techniques and clarity in oral communication.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - ability to provide supportive on job coaching with constructive and supportive feedback
 - clarity in communication
 - knowledge of basic training principles.

Linkages to Other Units:

- There is a link between this unit and other training units and combined assessment/training may be appropriate.
- Please note that training delivery and training resources developed to support this unit must address specific workplace contexts.

Train Colleagues in the Workplace

Unit Descriptor	This unit describes the preparation, delivery and review of training in the workplace. The competencies identified in this unit are based on and equivalent to the National Workplace Trainer Competency Standards, Category 1, Units 1 – 3. Users should consult with Tourism Training Australia or their local Tourism Training office to ensure usage of the most up-to-date version of this unit.
------------------------	--

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Confirm the need for training	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The specific training need is identified. • The trainee is clearly informed of the competencies required. • Other relevant personnel are informed of the training need.
2 Plan and document one-to-one training sessions	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Training sessions are planned and defined to include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • a clear statement of training objectives and measurable outcomes • evidence required for assessment and how it will be collected. • Steps in the training session follow a logical sequence. • The training method(s) selected are appropriate for: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the training outcomes • the trainee • availability of equipment and resources.
3 Arrange locations and resources	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Resources required for training are identified and approved. • Suitable, safe and accessible locations for the training are arranged. • Equipment, tools and other resources are organised. • Any required assistance for training or follow-up session is arranged.

| 5 Conduct one-to-one training sessions | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• A systematic approach is taken to instruction, taking into account:<ul style="list-style-type: none">• explanation• demonstration• review• trainee explanation• trainee demonstration• feedback.• The level of experience, prior learning, language proficiency and other key personal trainee factors are sensitively taken into consideration during the instruction process.• Opportunities for practice are provided.• Constructive feedback and reinforcement during training and practice sessions are given to encourage trainees.• Trainees are encouraged to evaluate own performance.• Trainees' readiness for assessment is monitored. |
| 6 Assess one-to-one training session | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Appropriate assessment techniques are selected and applied, and evidence is collected in accordance with the plan.• The trainee is sensitively informed of the outcomes of the assessment.• Where appropriate, remedial training requirements are identified.• Results of training are recorded according to organisation requirements. |

|----------|--|---|
| 7 | Evaluate one-to-one training sessions | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• The training session is evaluated based on:<ul style="list-style-type: none">• performance of the trainee• feedback from the trainee• own performance.• Evaluation includes:<ul style="list-style-type: none">• clarity of presentation• any problems encountered• opportunities to practise• ability to apply outcomes.• Adjustments to training are made on the basis of evaluation. |
| 8 | Follow up training in the workplace | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Relevant records are made and kept according to legislative and enterprise requirements.• Trainees' performance is followed up in the workplace to assess the effectiveness of the training.• Information on proposed and available training is provided to other personnel in the workplace. |

- This unit applies to all tourism and hospitality sectors.
- Category 1 applies to those people, who provide training in the workplace but for whom the training function is not a major part of their job. They may provide training infrequently or regularly within a structured training context.
- Training is provided on a one-to-one basis or to small groups of trainees.
- This unit can be applied to either induction or on-the-job training, and to formal or informal training situations.
- Training may be related to any of the competencies required in tourism and hospitality establishments.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - principles of adult learning
 - basic training methods.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Evidence of competency should be obtained by observation of training delivery on at least one occasion. If this is not possible, then at least one direct observation should be supported by supplementary evidence, such as confirmation by a supervisor or discussions with trainees.
- Evidence of preparation, record keeping and review of the training session must be obtained.

Linkages with Other Units:

- This unit should be assessed alone.
- Please note that training delivery and training resources developed to support this unit must address specific workplace contexts.

Unit THHGTR03A

Prepare for Training

Unit Descriptor

This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to identify training needs and develop training to meet those needs. In many tourism and hospitality enterprises, this is a function of specialist training managers.

This unit equates to National Workplace Trainer Standards Category 2, Unit 1. Users should consult with Tourism Training Australia or their local Tourism Training office to ensure usage of the most up-to-date version of this unit.

Element

Performance Criteria

1 Confirm the need for training

- Information on training needs is collected using appropriate investigation methods.
- Appropriate methods of analysis are used to interpret the information.
- Conclusions about the need for training are verified with appropriate personnel.

2 Define training requirements

- Competencies that relate to specific jobs, roles or functions are identified.
- Applicable endorsed competency standards are obtained and used.
- Competencies held by individuals are correctly compared with competencies required for the job role or function.
- Training outcomes are identified in consultation with relevant parties.
- Barriers to learning are identified.

3 Develop training programs

- Learning outcomes clearly specify performance requirements and underpinning knowledge requirements.
- Sequence and timing of the learning outcomes are recorded.
- Strategies are adopted to make training accessible and effective for all trainees.
- Strategies to overcome barriers to learning are developed.
- Training methods are identified which are appropriate for:
 - training outcomes
 - trainee characteristics
 - availability of equipment and resources.
- Training is designed and developed so that learning will be confirmed and feedback provided at appropriate stages.
- Opportunity is provided for trainees to relate learning to their work situation.
- Trainees are given the opportunity to manage their own learning.
- Learning materials are identified.
- Evidence required for assessment and how it will be collected is stated.
- Training costs are identified and confirmed with appropriate personnel.

4 Prepare learning materials

- Learning outcomes are listed.
- Design decisions are taken to overcome barriers to learning.
- Subject matter required to achieve the learning outcomes is specified.
- Formats for the material are selected which enhance the learning capability of trainees.
- Text is appropriate in terms of language, style and level.
- Clear, accurate visual materials are used.
- Instructions for use of required equipment are provided.
- Copyright laws are observed.

- | | | |
|----------|-------------------------------------|--|
| 5 | Manage training events | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Resources required for training are identified and approved by appropriate personnel.• A training location is identified and arranged to support the learning opportunities specified.• The required equipment, tools and other resources are identified and arranged.• Arrangements are made with any people who are required to help in the training program.• The training environment arranged is safe and accessible. |
| 6 | Establish training data bank | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• A list of internal training resource people is maintained.• External people from whom information on training can be obtained are identified and their names recorded in an accessible form.• Training materials and information on training and assessment are held in an accessible form.• An up-to-date register of likely external courses and providers is maintained. |

- This unit applies to all tourism and hospitality sectors.
- Training provision may range from one-to-one, small or large group training. It may include both on and off the job training provision.

Evidence Guide

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- In Element 1 look for -
 - knowledge of investigation methods
 - acceptable rationale for choice of investigation methods
 - necessary range of investigations.
- In Element 2 look for -
 - justification for choice of methods to determine competencies if endorsed competency standards are not available
 - recognition of barriers to learning among trainees such as language, literacy, and numeracy skills, or barriers arising from cultural background, physical impairment or previous experience of the trainees.
- In Element 3 look for -
 - knowledge of a variety of presentation/training methods
 - explanation of training methods selected
 - recognition of barriers to learning (see above).
- In Element 4 look for -
 - criteria employed for selecting media, text and visual materials
 - basic knowledge of display conventions
 - knowledge of the import of copyright laws.
- In Element 5 look for -
 - record of venues
 - knowledge of relevant safety and health standards to be observed.
- In Element 6 look for -
 - indexed, annotated records of internal and external training resources.

Linkages to Other Units:

- This unit could be assessed in conjunction with other Category 2 training units.
- Please note that training delivery and training resources developed to support this unit must address specific workplace contexts.

Deliver Training

Unit Descriptor	This unit deals with the skills and knowledge required to effectively deliver group training. This unit equates to of the National Workplace Trainer standards Category 2, Unit 2. Users should consult with Tourism Training Australia or their local Tourism Training office to ensure usage of the most up-to-date version of this unit.
------------------------	---

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Prepare trainees for the learning experience	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Training objectives and learning outcomes are explained and discussed. • Any barriers to learning are explored. • The sequence of activities to be followed in the training program is explained. • Ways in which competencies are to be developed and assessed are explained and discussed.
2 Deliver training session	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Presentation and training methods are structured appropriately for the development of competencies. • Presentation and training methods provide variety, encourage participation and reinforce key points. • Presentation processes are reviewed and modified as necessary to meet trainees learning needs. • Training equipment and materials are used in a way which improves the trainees' learning. • Information is clear, accurate and presented in correct sequence. • Trainees are encouraged to participate by asking questions, clarifying points of concern and contributing comments at appropriate and identified stages. • Supplementary information is provided to enhance and clarify understanding as required. • Summaries of key points are used at appropriate times in the presentation session to reinforce learning.

|----------|--|--|
| 3 | Support trainees in managing their own learning | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Resource materials suitable for self-managed learning are provided.• Trainees are briefed in their role.• Health and safety hazards are highlighted.• Timely information and advice is given to trainees during the learning process.• Assistance is provided to those who require help.• Opportunities to make choices and decisions are provided. |
| 4 | Facilitate group learning | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Trainees are briefed on the rationale, process and outcomes of a group approach.• Group training methods are used to maximise learning effectiveness.• Individuals are assigned to groups in which they can work effectively.• Groups are provided with clear directions, and guidance on content and process as required.• Groups are assisted to recognise the needs and requirements of individual members.• Interventions by the trainer in group discussions are properly managed.• Review of group processes is shared between the participants and the trainer. |
| 5 | Provide opportunities for practice | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Practice opportunities are provided according to the specific learning situation and the training program.• Trainees readiness for assessment is monitored and discussed with trainees.• Process, rationale and outcomes of practice are discussed with trainees.• Constructive feedback and reinforcement are provided during practice. |
| 6 | Provide feedback on progress to trainees | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Trainees' progress is evaluated against learning outcomes, organisation and trainee goals.• Feedback is given to trainees on the outcomes of progress review.• Trainees are helped to consider their progress.• Progress results are diagnosed to provide a guide for the approach to next steps in training. |
| 7 | Review delivery experience | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Trainees' reaction to the delivery is sought and discussed at appropriate times.• The trainer's performance is self-assessed against predetermined goals.• Adjustments to delivery practices are considered and incorporated. |

- 8 Report on the conduct of assessment
- Positive or negative features are reported to those responsible for assessment procedure.
 - Assessment decisions disputed by participants are recorded and reported promptly.
 - Suggestions for improvement are made to those responsible for the assessment procedure.

Range of Variables

- This unit applies to all tourism and hospitality sectors.
- Training provision may range from one-to-one, small group or large group training. It may include both on and off the job training provision.

Evidence Guide

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Evidence of satisfactory performance in this unit is best gathered from observation of training delivery in a number of settings, with different training programs. Discussion with the trainer will be necessary.
- In Element 1 look for -
 - ways of addressing any barriers to learning among trainees such as language, literacy and numeracy levels, or barriers arising from the cultural background, physical impairment or previous experience of the trainees.
- In Element 3 look for -
 - explanation of the criteria for selection of resource materials.
- In Element 4 look for -
 - understanding of group processes and dynamics.
- In Element 7 look for -
 - evidence of changes made to subsequent delivery practices based on feedback from trainees.

Linkages to Other Units:

Conduct Assessment

Unit Descriptor

This unit deals with the skills and knowledge to assess trainees.

This unit equates to the National Workplace Trainer standards Category 2, Unit 3, the National Assessment Standard and the extension unit in the National Assessment Standards. Users should consult with Tourism Training Australia or their local Tourism Training office to ensure usage of the most up-to-date version of this unit.

Element

Performance Criteria

1 Establish evidence required and assessment methods

- The evidence required to infer competence from the endorsed competency standards, learning outcomes of the training program or other performance measures used is established.
- Evidence requirements for the assessor to authenticate the performance/product of persons being assessed are specified.
- Sufficient evidence on which to base valid inferences is specified.
- Evidence requirements which will confirm that competence is current are specified.
- Sufficient evidence to show consistent achievement of the specified standards is specified.
- Opportunities to consolidate evidence-gathering activity are identified.
- The cost of gathering the required evidence is established.
- Assessment methods which are appropriate for gathering the type and amount of evidence required are selected.
- Suitable adjustments in the assessment method are proposed to cater for those persons being assessed who have special needs.

2 Develop simple assessment tools

- Assessment tools are designed which gather:
 - valid evidence
 - reliable evidence
 - sufficient evidence, or complement the use of other assessment tools in gathering sufficient evidence.
- Assessment tools are designed which are clear and comprehensible both to those conducting the assessment and to those being assessed.
- Assessment tools are verified to ensure that they permit flexible, fair and safe assessment to occur.
- Assessment tools are verified to ensure that they are cost-effective in gathering required evidence.
- Accompanying instructions for use are prepared, specifying any adjustments which can be made to address the requirements of people being assessed who have special needs.

3 Review evidence requirements, assessment methods and assessment tools

- Assessment methods and assessment tools are trialed with people similar to those who will ultimately be assessed.
- The assessment methods and tools are evaluated for:
 - clarity
 - reliability
 - validity
 - fairness
 - cost effectiveness.
- Improvements and changes to the assessment methods and assessment tools are made in the light of the evaluation of the pilot exercise.
- Procedures are ratified with relevant people in the industry/enterprise or training establishment, of the evidence requirements, assessment methods and assessment tools and the process used in developing them.

|---|---|
| 4 Identify and explain the context of assessment | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• The context and purpose of assessment are discussed with the persons being assessed, and understanding is confirmed.• The relevant performance measures applying to assessment (eg. competency standards, learning outcomes of the training program) are obtained and explained to persons being assessed. Instructions are verified by persons being assessed.• The assessment procedure is obtained and explained.• Any legal and ethical responsibilities associated with assessment are identified and explained to the persons being assessed.• Checks are made to determine whether the persons being assessed require the allowable adjustments in the assessment procedure applying to those with special needs. |
| 5 Plan evidence gathering opportunities | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Opportunities to gather evidence of competence which occur as part of workplace or training activities are identified.• The need to gather additional evidence which may not occur as part of workplace or training activities is identified.• All evidence gathering activity is planned and scheduled in accordance with the assessment procedure.• Checks are made to ensure that the planned approach to gathering evidence provides sufficient, valid and fair evidence of competence.• Checks are made to ensure that the planned approach to gathering evidence covers the four key dimensions of competence:<ul style="list-style-type: none">• task skills• task management skills• contingency management skills• job/role environment skills. |

- This unit applies to all tourism and hospitality sectors.
- Training provision may range from one-to-one, small group or large group training. It may include both on and off the-job training provision.

Evidence Guide

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Evidence of satisfactory performance in this Unit should be obtained by an examination of the plans and documents prepared by the “assessor” and discussion with the “assessor” about the selection of evidence required, choice of assessment methods and proposed assessment tool(s). Evidence should be obtained by observation of the “assessor” preparing for and conducting assessment as well as examination of completed assessment records. This should be supplemented by discussion about the assessment procedure with the “assessor” and the person being assessed. Evidence of satisfactory performance of review function should be obtained by examining review documentation including data gathering exercises, analysis/reporting of data, and quality of contributions to process improvements.
- Look for demonstration of:
 - understanding of the range of assessment purposes and assessment contexts and the implications of these for the person being assessed
 - understanding of the concepts of validity, reliability, authenticity, sufficiency, currency, cost effectiveness and consistency as they apply to evidence gathering
 - knowledge of different types of assessment methods, their suitability for gathering various types of evidence and the cost and other implications of their use
 - knowledge of the assessment principles included in the National Framework for Recognition of Training Agreement
 - knowledge of all aspects of the assessment system and assessment procedure(s) established by the industry, enterprise or training authority
 - knowledge of any legal and ethical responsibilities associated with the assessment system and assessment procedure(s) such as licensing requirements, Equal Employment Opportunity, disability discrimination and occupational health and safety
 - knowledge of relevant health and safety standards to be observed in the assessment procedure

Competency Standards

- knowledge of modifications in the assessment procedure(s) to be applied in the assessment of a person with special needs
 - use of appropriate communication and interpersonal skills
 - knowledge of review process/procedures established by industry, enterprise or training authority
 - knowledge of basic evaluation methodologies suitable for reviewing the implementation, appropriateness, efficiency and effectiveness of the assessment process.
- This unit may be assessed in conjunction with other related units.

Linkages to Other Units:

- This unit could be assessed in conjunction with other category 2 training standards.
- Please note that training delivery and training resources developed to support this unit must address specific workplace contexts.

Element	Performance Criteria
1 Monitor and improve workplace operations	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Efficiency and service levels are monitored on an ongoing basis. • Operations in the workplace support overall enterprise goals and quality assurance initiatives. • Quality problems and issues are promptly identified and adjustments are made accordingly. • Procedures and systems are changed in consultation with colleagues to improve efficiency and effectiveness. • Colleagues are consulted about ways to improve efficiency and service levels.
2 Plan and organise workflow	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Current workload of colleagues is accurately assessed. • Work is scheduled in a manner which enhances efficiency and customer service quality. • Work is delegated to appropriate people in accordance with principles of delegation. • Workflow is assessed against agreed objectives and timelines. • Colleagues are assisted in prioritisation of workload. • Input is provided to appropriate management regarding staffing needs.
3 Maintain workplace records	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Workplace records are accurately completed and submitted within required timeframes. • Where appropriate, completion of records is delegated and monitored prior to submission.

4 Solve problems and make decisions

- Workplace problems are promptly identified and considered from an operational and customer service perspective.
- Short-term action is initiated to resolve the immediate problem where appropriate.
- Problems are analysed for any long-term impact, and potential solutions are assessed and actioned in consultation with relevant colleagues.
- Where problem is raised by a team member, he or she is encouraged to participate in solving the problem.
- Follow-up action is taken to monitor the effectiveness of solutions in the workplace.

Range of Variables

- This unit may apply to various staff in all tourism and hospitality sectors.
- Problems may include but are not limited to:
 - difficult customer service situations
 - equipment breakdown/technical failure
 - delays and time difficulties.
- Workplace records may include but are not limited to:
 - staff records
 - regular performance reports.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - the roles and responsibilities of those involved in monitoring work operations
 - overview of leadership and management responsibilities
 - principles of work planning
 - typical work organisation methods appropriate to the industry sector
 - quality assurance principles
 - time management
 - principles of delegation
 - problem solving and decision making processes
 - industrial and/or legislative issues which affect short term work organisation as appropriate to industry sector.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through a simulation. Portfolios of evidence relating to workplace experience may be appropriate. Simulated activities must closely reflect the workplace and may need to take place over a period of time to allow the candidate to address the ongoing implementation and monitoring aspects of this unit. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - ability to monitor effectively and respond to a range of common operational and service issues in the workplace
 - understanding of the role of staff involved in workplace monitoring
 - knowledge of quality assurance, principles of workflow planning, delegation and problem solving.

Linkages to Other Units:

- There is a strong link between this unit and a range of other units. Depending upon the industry sector and workplace, combined delivery/assessment may be appropriate. Examples include but are not limited to:
 - THHGGA08A Plan And Establish Systems and Procedures
 - THHGLE02A Monitor Workplace Health, Safety and Security
 - THHGLE03A Develop and Implement Operational Plans.
- Note that problem solving is included in both this unit and unit THHGCS03A Deal with Conflict Situations. Care should be taken to avoid duplication in assessment and training.
- Care should also be taken to avoid duplication with unit THHGLE20A Develop and Maintain the Legal Knowledge Required for Business Compliance.
- Care should be taken in developing training to meet the requirements of this unit. For generic pre-vocational training, organisations should provide training which takes into consideration the full range of industry contexts with no bias towards individual sectors. The Range of Variables will assist in this regard. For sector-specific delivery, training should be tailored to meet the needs of that sector.

Evidence Guide

Underpinning Skills and Knowledge:

- To demonstrate competence, evidence of skills and knowledge in the following areas is required:
 - detailed knowledge of relevant state/territory occupational health and safety legislation as it affects workplace operations
 - knowledge of links between other management systems and procedures on health safety and security
 - equal employment opportunity in relation to occupational health and safety
 - other legal issues which impact on health and safety in particular industry contexts.

Context of Assessment:

- This unit may be assessed on or off the job. Assessment should include practical demonstration either in the workplace or through simulation. Portfolios of evidence relating to workplace experience may be appropriate. Simulated activities must closely reflect the workplace and may need to take place over a period of time to allow the candidate to address the ongoing implementation and monitoring aspects of this unit. This should be supported by a range of methods to assess underpinning knowledge.

Critical Aspects of Assessment:

- Look for:
 - ability to develop a framework for a health, safety and security system within a specific tourism or hospitality context. This should include the creation of procedures and processes to guide all facets of the system
 - knowledge of specific and relevant legislative requirements.

Linkages to Other Units:

- There is a strong link between this unit and other units that deal with health, safety and security issues and general management competencies. Depending upon the industry sector and workplace, combined delivery/assessment may be appropriate. Examples may include but are not limited to:
 - THHGLE01A Monitor Workplace Health, Safety and Security
 - THHGLE03A Develop and Implement Operational Plans
 - THHGLE08A Lead and Manage People.
- This unit has a strong planning focus and repetition should be avoided with unit THHGLE03A Develop and Implement Operational Plans in the development of training programs.
- Care should also be taken to avoid duplication with unit THHGLE20A Develop and Maintain the Legal Knowledge Required for Business Compliance.

- Care should be taken in developing training to meet the requirements of this unit.
