PSP50116 Diploma of Government

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This qualification was released in PSP Public Sector Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This qualification supersedes and is equivalent to PSP50112 Diploma of Government. • PSP unit codes updated • Imported units updated

Qualification Description

This qualification allows for the attainment of competencies required for independent and self-directed work in the public sector. There may be supervisory responsibilities.

The generalist qualification is particularly suited to those working in an environment where there are a range of responsibilities which are diverse in nature rather than within a narrow specialisation and/or who work in small or regionally based organisations. Chosen elective units should reflect the responsibilities of the individual.

The injury management specialisation covers the skills required for working as injury management case manager in the public sector.

The workplace inspection specialisation covers the skills required for those responsible for the conduct of statutory investigation and enforcement requirements under any of the following legislative frameworks: work health and safety, workers' compensation, injury management or workplace relations.

The policy development specialisation covers the skills required to develop organisational and public policy within the public sector.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this qualification at the time of publication.

PSP50816 Diploma of Translating

Release	Comments
1	This qualification was released in PSP Public Sector Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This qualification supersedes and is not equivalent to PSP52312 Diploma of Translating. • PSP unit codes updated • Imported units updated • Units required to complete qualification increased to 12 • Core units updated • Elective unit list increased and groups added

Qualification Description

This qualification covers the competencies required to translate general purpose texts from one language to another, to convey information written in plain language to a limited and known audience in functionally equivalent translated texts that are appropriate to the context, target audience and end use.

The Diploma of Translating prepares translators to translate texts that contain limited equivalence problems between source and target text, plain language and concepts accessible to the general public, and limited requirement for research on the subject beyond client resources. Limited and known audiences include the clients of community services, educational institutions, community information services and businesses, or may relate to government client relationships.

The English to LOTE specialisation is applicable to candidates whose strongest language is their LOTE.

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2022 SkillsIQ

The LOTE-English both directions specialisation is applicable to candidates who have equal facility in both their LOTE and English.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this qualification at the time of publication.

Additional qualification advice

Where a SITXLAN unit is chosen from Group C, the qualification title on the resultant testamur must include the specific LOTE of the SITXLAN unit: Diploma of Translating (LOTE of chosen SITXLAN unit) e.g. Diploma of Translating (Hindi to English) or (English to Hindi).

Where PSPTIS026 is chosen from Group C, or the general LOTE to English specialisation is chosen, the resultant testamur must be titled: Diploma of Translating (LOTE to English) or (English to LOTE) or (LOTE-English both directions), and the following wording may be added: "This qualification was assessed in (language)."

Where SITXLAN3328 is chosen from Group C, the resultant testamur must be titled: Diploma of Translating (Australian Indigenous languages to English) or (English to Australian Indigenous languages) or (Australian Indigenous languages-English both directions), and the following wording may be added: "This qualification was assessed in (language)."

PSP50916 Diploma of Interpreting (LOTE-English)

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This qualification was released in PSP Public Sector Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This qualification supersedes and is not equivalent to PSP52412 Diploma of Interpreting. • PSP unit codes updated • Imported units updated • Units required to complete qualification increased to 12 • Core unit requirements increased and units updated • Elective unit list increased and groups added

Qualification Description

This qualification covers the competencies required to interpret from a source language to a target language, in general dialogue and monologue settings where the interpreter is able to physically control the discourse to assist retention and recall.

In a general setting the context is usually broad and routine, the content or complexity of the situation can usually be predicted and planned for. There are typically two or a few participants, to whom the interpreter has physical and visual access.

The Diploma of Interpreting prepares interpreters for work typically in the community and business domains, including sectors such as general health, welfare and community services, educational and social contexts, and tourism. As well as interactions such as initial police interviews, over the counter interviews in customer and community information services, non-complex disability assistance, and other informal business and workplace interactions. The interpreting takes place where miscommunication or the consequences of errors in communicative intent can be readily managed through consultation and preparation, and where there are opportunities for error correction.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this qualification at the time of publication.

This qualification supersedes and is not equivalent to PSP61012 Advanced Diploma of Translating. • PSP unit codes updated • Imported units updated • Units required to complete qualification increased to 13 • Core unit requirement decreased and units updated • Elective unit list increased and groups added

Qualification Description

This qualification covers the competencies required to translate special purpose texts from one language to another, to convey information written using specific terminology for a specific audience in functionally equivalent translated texts that are accurate and appropriate to the context, target audience and end use.

The Advanced Diploma of Translating prepares translators to translate texts where there may be significant equivalence problems between source and target text, the subject of the text has its own specific terminology, or there is need to undertake extensive research and translate complex language and concepts. Specific audiences may be found in commerce and marketing, government and international relations – including immigration, both regular and humanitarian – the media, and sectors generally considered to be professional, such as law, health and medicine, technology and science. Assignments may deal with material which requires significant quality assurance processes as the consequences of mistranslation can be far reaching.

The English to LOTE specialisation is applicable to candidates whose strongest language is their LOTE.

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2022 SkillsIQ

The LOTE to English specialisation is applicable to candidates whose strongest language is English.

The LOTE-English both directions specialisation is applicable to candidates who have equal facility in both their LOTE and English.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this qualification at the time of publication.

Additional qualification advice

Where a SITXLAN unit is chosen from Group C or D, the qualification title on the resultant testamur must include the specific LOTE of the SITXLAN unit: Advanced Diploma of Translating (LOTE of chosen SITXLAN unit to English) e.g. Advanced Diploma of Translating (Hindi to English) or (English to Hindi) or (Hindi-English both directions).

Where PSPTIS067 is chosen from Group D, or the general LOTE to English specialisation is chosen, the resultant testamur must be titled: Advanced Diploma of Translating (LOTE to English) or (English to LOTE) or (LOTE-English both directions), and the following wording may be added: "This qualification was assessed in (language)."

Where SITXLAN3328 is chosen from Group C, or SITXLN3428 is chosen from Group D, the resultant testamur must be titled: Advanced Diploma of Translating (Australian Indigenous languages to English) or (English to Australian Indigenous languages) or (Australian Indigenous languages-English both directions), and the following wording may be added: "This qualification was assessed in (language)."

PSP60916 Advanced Diploma of Interpreting (LOTE-English)

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This qualification was released in PSP Public Sector Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This qualification supersedes and is not equivalent to PSP61112 Advanced Diploma of Interpreting. • PSP unit codes updated • Imported units updated • Units required to complete qualification increased to 15 • Core units updated • Elective unit list increased and groups added

Qualification Description

This qualification covers the competencies required for independent and self-directed work as an interpreting practitioner. It reflects the skills and knowledge required to interpret from a source language to a target language in complex dialogue and monologue settings where the physical elements of the setting or number of parties involved can challenge the capacity of the interpreter to manage the discourse. The interpreter will require advanced skills in retention and recall and may be required to switch modes.

The Advanced Diploma of Interpreting prepares interpreters for work in all community, business and diplomatic domains, interpreting content that may not easily be predicted or planned for or that may require a high level of subject knowledge, or intense assignment specific preparation.

The community, business and diplomatic domains will include health and welfare, policing and courts, formal immigration hearings, education, the media, commerce, government and international relations, professional sectors such as the law, technology and science, and assignments involving formality, or participants with high status where the consequences of errors in communicative intent can have significant implications.

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2022 SkillsIQ

Interpreting in this setting typically requires high levels of accuracy and accountability; it is unlikely there will be opportunities for error correction.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this qualification at the time of publication.

Additional qualification advice

Where a SITXLAN unit is chosen from Group B for the spoken specialisation, the resultant testamur must be titled: Advanced Diploma of Interpreting (LOTE-English of chosen SITXLAN unit) e.g. Advanced Diploma of Interpreting (Hindi-English).

Where PSPTIS088 is chosen from Group B, the resultant testamur must be titled: Advanced Diploma of Interpreting (LOTE-English), and the following wording may be added: "This qualification was assessed in (language)".

Where SITXLAN3228 is chosen from Group B, the resultant testamur must be titled: Advanced Diploma of Interpreting (Australian Indigenous languages-English), and the following wording may be added: "This qualification was assessed in (language)".

Where the Auslan specialisation is undertaken, the resultant testamur must be titled: Advanced Diploma of Interpreting (Auslan-English).

Packaging Rules

15 units of competency are required for this qualification:

- 8 core units

BSBAUD503 Lead a quality audit

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to lead an audit team as it runs a quality audit. It covers conducting entry and exit meetings; identifying and gathering relevant information; managing audit team resources; and providing feedback to audit team members on their performance. The types of quality audit that may be covered by this unit include an external or internal systems audit or process or product/service audit.

It applies to individuals with a well-established theoretical knowledge base of quality auditing, who are proficient in using a wide range of specialised quality auditing and managerial techniques to carry out their own work and to supervise the quality audit team. It is relevant to audits where a lead auditor is responsible for a quality audit team.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 2.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- analyse and evaluate a range of databases
- adopt appropriate search techniques to source information in response to a range of customer needs
- use current industry systems and equipment efficiently and effectively
- respond effectively and appropriately to multiple and varied information requests.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- describe role of databases in context of the information services industry
- describe scope and type of databases available to information services providers
- define features of commonly used databases, including:
  - bibliographic information
  - downloadable records
  - in-print status
  - current prices
- describe differences between database and internet searching
- compare and contrast several database searching techniques and procedures
- identify relevant copyright, moral rights and intellectual property issues and legislation relevant to the use of information from databases.

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2022 SkillsIQ

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the Library – Information Services field of work and include access to:

- technology and databases to support information searching
- special purpose tools, equipment, materials and relevant industry software packages.

Assessors of this unit must satisfy the requirements for assessors in applicable vocational education and training legislation, frameworks and/or standards.

Assessment Requirements for BSBSUS401 Implement and monitor environmentally sustainable work practices

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 2.0. Version created to better align unit to AQF level.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- analyse information from a range of sources to identify current procedures, practices and compliance requirements in relation to environmental and resource sustainability
- consult and communicate with relevant stakeholders to seek input and encourage engagement with developing and implementing sustainability improvements, encourage feedback and suggestions and report on outcomes
- plan and organise work group activities to:
  - measure current resource usage
  - solve problems and generate ideas for improvements
  - evaluate and implement strategies to improve resource usage
  - plan, implement and integrate improvements into operations
  - meet environmental requirements
- apply continuous improvement approach to sustainability performance
- apply change management techniques to support sustainability performance.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- identify relevant internal and external sources of information and explain how they can be used to identify sustainability improvements

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2022 SkillsIQ

- explain the compliance requirements for the work area with reference to legislation, regulations, codes of practice and workplace procedures that relate to environmental and resource issues
- outline common environmental and energy efficiency issues within the industry
- give examples of benchmarks for environmental and resource sustainability that are relevant to the organisation
- outline organisational systems and procedures that relate to environmental and resource sustainability improvements including:
  - supply chain, procurement and purchasing
  - quality assurance
  - making recommendations and seeking approvals

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in the sustainability field of work and include access to:

- relevant legislation, regulations, standards and codes
- relevant workplace documentation and resources
- case studies or, where possible, real situations
- interaction with others.

Assessors of this unit must satisfy the requirements for assessors in applicable vocational education and training legislation, frameworks and/or standards.

BSBWHS201 Contribute to health and safety of self and others

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to work in a manner that is healthy and safe in relation to self and others and to respond to emergency incidents. It covers following work health and safety (WHS) and emergency procedures and instructions, implementing WHS requirements and participating in WHS consultative processes.

It applies to individuals who require a basic knowledge of WHS to carry out work in a defined context under direct supervision or with some individual responsibility, in a range of industry and workplace contexts.

NOTE: The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where the Model WHS Act has not been implemented RTOs are advised to contextualise the unit of competency by referring to the existing State/Territory OHS legislative requirements.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

BSBWHS401 Implement and monitor WHS policies, procedures and programs to meet legislative requirements

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package release 1.0

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to implement and monitor an organisation's work health and safety (WHS) policies, procedures and programs in the relevant work area in order to meet legislative requirements.

It applies to individuals with supervisory responsibilities for implementing and monitoring the organisation's WHS policies, procedures and programs in a work area. These individuals have a broad knowledge of WHS policies and contribute well developed skills in creating solutions to unpredictable problems through analysis and evaluation of information from a variety of sources. They provide supervision and guidance to others and have limited responsibility for the output of others.

NOTE: The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where the Model WHS Legislation has not been implemented RTOs are advised to contextualise the unit of competency by referring to the existing State/Territory OHS legislative requirements.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

BSBWHS501 Ensure a safe workplace

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to establish, maintain and evaluate the organisation's work health and safety (WHS) policies, procedures and programs in the relevant work area, according to WHS legislative requirements. It takes a systems approach and addresses compliance with relevant legislative requirements.

This unit applies to managers working in a range of contexts who have, or are likely to have responsibility for WHS as part of their broader management role. It is relevant for people with obligations under WHS legislation, for example persons conducting a business or undertaking (PCBUs) or officers, as defined by relevant legislation.

NOTE: The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where the Model WHS Legislation has not been implemented RTOs are advised to contextualise the unit of competency by referring to the existing State/Territory OHS legislative requirements.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

BSBWHS601 Apply legislative frameworks for WHS

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with BSB Business Services Training Package Version 1.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to assist with providing advice about the legislative duties, rights and obligations of individuals and parties prescribed in Work Health and Safety (WHS) and other relevant legislation.

It applies to individuals who assist with providing advice about the WHS legislative duties, rights and obligations of individuals and parties in a workplace.

NOTE: The terms 'occupational health and safety' (OHS) and 'work health and safety' (WHS) are equivalent and generally either can be used in the workplace. In jurisdictions where the Model WHS Legislation has not been implemented RTOs are advised to contextualise the unit of competency by referring to the existing State/Territory OHS legislative requirements.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The evidence guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the Performance Criteria, Required Skills and Knowledge, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for this Training Package.

Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate this unit of competency:

- The individual being assessed must provide evidence of specified essential knowledge as well as skills
- Assessment must ensure activities are conducted over a period of time in which the candidate provides mentoring support for a less experienced colleague

Access and equity considerations:

- All workers in community services should be aware of access, equity and human rights issues in relation to their own area of work
- All workers should develop their ability to work in a culturally diverse environment
- In recognition of particular issues facing Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities, workers should be aware of cultural, historical and current issues impacting on Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- Assessors and trainers must take into account relevant access and equity issues, in particular relating to factors impacting on Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander clients and communities

Context of and specific resources for assessment:

- This unit can be assessed independently, however holistic assessment practice with other community services units of competency is encouraged

Method of assessment:

- Assessment methods must be chosen to ensure that mentoring skills can be practically demonstrated
- Methods must include assessment of knowledge as well as practical skills and may include, for example:
  - evaluation of reports detailing mentoring activities undertaken by the candidate (taking account of confidentiality issues)

- interview with the mentoree to evaluate the mentor's skills
- oral or written questions to assess knowledge of the key concepts of mentoring
- review of portfolio's of evidence and third party workplace reports of on-the-job performance by the candidate

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The Range Statement relates to the unit of competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Add any essential operating conditions that may be present with training and assessment depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts.

Mentoree may work within the same or different organisations as the mentor and:
- The mentoring process may apply to any area of organisation or professional endeavour
- Expectation and goals for mentoring may include:
  - acquisition of specific skills
  - progress with overall development
  - individual professional and personal development

Changes in the mentoring relationship may include:
- Inability of one party to continue participation
- Identification of a need for assistance from others with different skills
- Achievement of goals and decision to conclude the relationship
- Changes in the dynamic of the relationship

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The evidence guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.

Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit

A person who demonstrates competency in this unit must be able to provide evidence of:

- evaluating and reflecting upon the effectiveness of the briefing and debriefing sessions and completing appropriate reports and documentation
- providing a safe environment to conduct the briefing and debriefing, and responding promptly to any identified risk or threat to personal safety of self and others
- selecting and using suitable interpersonal methods and strategies to facilitate effective discussion, and eliciting and encouraging team and individual contributions in a constructive and positive way

- structuring workplace briefing and debriefing sessions to incorporate suitable content and format to meet identified personnel and stress management requirements.

Context of and specific resources for assessment

Context of assessment includes:

- a setting in the workplace or environment that simulates the conditions of performance described in the elements, performance criteria and range statement.

Resource implications for assessment include:

- access to plain English version of relevant statutes and procedures
- access to a registered provider of assessment services
- access to a suitable venue and equipment
- assessment instruments including personal planner and assessment record book
- work schedules, organisational policies and duty statements.

Reasonable adjustments must be made to assessment processes where required for people with disabilities. This could include access to modified equipment and other physical resources, and the provision of appropriate assessment support.

Method of assessment

This unit of competency could be assessed using the following methods of assessment:

- observation of processes and procedures
- questioning of underpinning knowledge and skills.

Guidance information for assessment

Assessment processes and techniques must be culturally appropriate and suitable to the language, literacy and numeracy capacity of the candidate and the competency being assessed. In all cases where practical assessment is used, it should be combined with targeted questioning to assess the underpinning knowledge.

Oral questioning or written assessment may be used to assess underpinning knowledge. In assessment situations where the candidate is offered a choice between oral questioning and written assessment, questions are to be identical.

Supplementary evidence may be obtained from relevant authenticated correspondence from existing supervisors, team leaders or specialist training staff.

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in CSC Correctional Services Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This unit supersedes and is equivalent to CSCSAS201A Maintain security. • PC 1.2 and 2.4 removed • PC1.3 revised

Application

This unit describes the skills required to follow security procedures and maintain security of information.

This unit applies to those working in detention centres, correctional centres or prisons, community corrections officers, justice administration offices and on work sites where detainees or offenders are under statutory supervision. With contextualisation this unit may apply to those working in other work environments.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to, particularly those related to security.

Those undertaking this unit work with moderate support at all times and undertake tasks with a limited number of familiar steps.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment of this unit can be applied using a combination of training outcomes and performance in the workplace, with the principal evidence developed through performance in routine work functions in the workplace.

Evidence needs to be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and/or apply the principles in a different situation or change of environment. Where this unit specifies performance in areas with unpredictable and risk implications, assessment in simulations should be used as well as retrospective documentation and observation of performance working with high risk offenders and in a range of different environments where searches occur.

This unit has been identified by industry as suitable for holistic assessment with:

- CSCSAS001 Maintain security
- PUALAW001B Protect and preserve an incident scene

Refer to advice in the CSC Assessment Guide http://www.govskills.com.au/guides/correctional-services/assessment-guide.

Assessors must satisfy the NVR/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

1	This unit was released in CSC Correctional Services Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This unit supersedes and is equivalent to CSCSAS306A Manage conflict through negotiation. • PC 3.3 and 3.4 wording revised

Application

This unit describes the skills required to assess conflict, negotiate solutions and evaluate responses.

This unit applies to those working in detention centres, correctional centres or prisons, community corrections offices, justice administration offices and on work sites where detainees, prisoners or offenders are under statutory supervision.

The language used in this unit implies an institutional setting. Adaptation of the language will be necessary to reflect the practices of non-institutional settings and work sites. Customisation should occur through the introduction of specific organisation security equipment, functions and procedures.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to, particularly those related to security.

Those undertaking this unit work independently drawing upon support from familiar and unfamiliar resources.

Release	Comments
1	These Assessment Requirements were released in CSC Correctional Services Training Package release 1.0 and meet the Standards for Training Packages. • Assessment Requirements revised

Please refer to the advice in the CSC Assessment Guide.

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the candidate must demonstrate evidence of performance of the following on at least two occasions.

- interpreting and estimating level of conflict and degree of risk
- using effective communication and negotiation skills, especially under pressure, to calm, distract or change focus
- using observation techniques
- writing records and reports of incidents
- providing verbal warnings and clear directions and instructions
- using communication systems to request assistance if needed

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

- legal requirements and organisation's policies and procedures related to use of force, duty of care
- principles of effective communication and use of communication techniques under pressure
- negotiation techniques
- response options that are most effective for the degree and nature of risk
- stress management techniques

Assessment Conditions

Assessment of this unit can be applied using a combination of training outcomes and performance in the workplace, with the principal evidence developed through performance in routine work functions in the workplace. Where this unit specified performance in areas with unpredictable and high risk implications, assessment in simulations should be used as well as retrospective documentation and observation of performance working with high risk offenders.

Evidence needs to be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and/or apply the principles in a different situation or change of environment.

Valid assessment of this unit requires a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when managing conflict through negotiation, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine.

This unit has been identified by industry as suitable for holistic assessment with:

- CSCORG002 Communicate effectively
- CSCORG003 Prepare reports
- CSCSAS007 Operate central monitoring station

Refer to advice in the CSC Assessment Guide http://www.govskills.com.au/guides/correctional-services/assessment-guide.

Assessors must satisfy the NVR/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Assessment Requirements for CUAWRT401 Edit texts

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with CUA Creative Arts and Culture Training Package version 2.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- edit text material for publication that enhances clarity of original text while adhering closely to the author's voice
- logically structure edited material and maintain consistency when integrating additional material
- employ tone and language consistent with target audience and purpose of communication
- mark up text using industry or enterprise procedures
- employ a sound knowledge of grammar, punctuation and syntax and access relevant style guides and dictionaries
- evaluate own work and editing process for improvement.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- describe design principles involved in integration of visuals and text
- describe industry or enterprise text mark-up procedures
- describe copyright clearance procedures
- outline features of text that may indicate defamation, vilification or breaches of privacy
- outline health and safety requirements as they relate to working for periods of time on screens and keyboards.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment must be conducted in a safe environment where evidence gathered demonstrates consistent performance of typical activities experienced in creative arts industry environments. The assessment environment must include access to:

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2022 SkillsIQ

- texts appropriate for editing
- legislation and codes of practice relevant to media
- variety of information sources
- software packages.

Assessors of this unit must satisfy the requirements for assessors in applicable vocational educational and training legislation, frameworks and/or standards.

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with ICT Information and Communications Technology Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- connect to and access the internet
- send and receive emails
- secure internet access and email communications
- use search tools to locate information
- use different internet search techniques
- research and select appropriate website
- undertake online transactions
- assess the accuracy, currency, authority and reliability of the site and information located.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must :

- list basic technical terminology related to reading help files and prompts
- describe the basics of copyright and privacy statements
- explain different types of messages that occur, including error messages and messages to install plug-ins
- list different types of search engines and web browsers
- list procedures for using email applications
- list procedures for evaluating and assessing the authority, reliability and authenticity of information
- outline internet search functions
- describe internet speed and traffic loads related to times of accessing the internet
- describe the makeup and structure of internet addresses

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2022 SkillsIQ

- list organisational guidelines on internet and email use (web etiquette or netiquette)
- describe business process related to online transactions
- describe web browser update techniques
- explain what key words and bookmarks are used for.

Assessment Conditions

Gather evidence to demonstrate consistent performance in conditions that are safe and replicate the workplace. Noise levels, production flow, interruptions and time variances must be typical of those experienced in the general information and communications technology (ICT) industry, and include access to:

- a personal computer or digital device with internet
- search engines currently used in industry
- organisational policies on internet usage.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

Assessment Requirements for ICTICT203 Operate application software packages

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with ICT Information and Communications Technology Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- produce workplace documents using a minimum of three different software application packages
- open, amend and save files and documents according to organisational requirements
- apply workplace health and safety (WHS) principles and responsibilities for ergonomics, such as work periods and breaks
- use help manuals and online help.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- identify application software packages used by the organisation and list the purpose of each
- explain basic technical terminology related to reading help files and responding to system help prompts
- outline current business practices related to using software to prepare reports
- list features and functions of commercial computing packages
- describe import and export software functions
- describe the process of linking documents
- outline WHS principles and responsibilities for ergonomics, such as work periods and breaks
- explain the purpose of input and output devices.

MSATMINS401A Inspect a range of weighing instruments

Modification History

Not applicable.

Unit Descriptor

Unit descriptor	This unit of competency covers the ability to apply National Test Procedures to determine whether a non-automatic weighing instrument (<3 tonne) or catchweigher is suitable for trade and then mark it accordingly. It also involves auditing the performance of verifiers who have previously tested and marked limited weighing instruments for use.

Application of the Unit

Application of the unit	This unit of competency is applicable to trade measurement inspectors appointed under national measurement legislation who may inspect a wide range of limited weighing instruments as part of their allocated duties. For example, electronic weighing instruments are used to measure a wide range of products at the point of sale, as an order or as a pre-packaged article. The range of environments where these instruments is almost limitless. Some examples of these environments includes pharmaceutical laboratories, supermarkets, fresh food retailers, packing houses, chemical/petroleum industry, construction, mining and other extractive industry sectors. Industry representatives have provided case studies to illustrate the practical application of this unit of competency and to show its relevance in a workplace setting. These are found at the end of this unit of competency under the section 'This competency in practice'.

Employability Skills Information

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements describe the essential outcomes of a unit of competency.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the required skills and knowledge section and the range statement. Assessment of performance is to be consistent with the evidence guide.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
1. Prepare for inspection	1.1. Identify and evaluate the type of instrument to be inspected 1.2. Access and review any history of previous inspections at trader's premises 1.3. Access and correctly interpret appropriate documentation required for the inspection 1.4. Identify and access test equipment, products and consumables required for the inspection 1.5. Ensure specified test equipment is fit for purpose in accordance with applicable legislation and

	organisational procedures 1.6. Store and transport test equipment in accordance with organisational procedures and industry best practice 1.7. Identify workplace health and safety issues relevant to the inspection
2. Initiate inspection	2.1. Identify the site contoller, explain the purpose of the inspection and produce formal identification, if required 2.2. Identify relevant site health and safety issues and implement appropriate control strategies 2.3. Conduct a preliminary evaluation of the site's trading practices and prioritise activities to maximise inspection outcomes. 2.4. Identify trade measuring instruments and plan inspection to minimise disruption to the public and trader
3. Evaluate weighing instrument performance	3.1. Evaluate whether the operating environment will impact on the instrument performance 3.2. Modify the operating environment or implement alternative arrangements to ensure reliable test conditions as necessary 3.3. Identify the maximum permissible errors for the instrument from the legislative requirements 3.4. Use test equipment safely in accordance with applicable legislation and organisational procedures 3.5. Check instrument for compliance with the appropriate Certificates of Approval 3.6. Inspect the instrument in accordance with relevant National Test Procedure and appropriate National Measurement Institute policy 3.7. Evaluate results against prescribed performance criteria and determine if the instrument is suitable for trade use in accordance with legislative requirements
4. Conduct a verifier performance audit	4.1. Identify the scope of the verifier audit 4.2. Identify the expected outcomes of the verifier audit 4.3. Assess the verifier's performance against the expected outcome 4.4. Analyse any variances from the expected outcomes to identify isolated or systemic problems
5. Analyse and report	5.1. Analyse inspection data for unacceptable

inspection results	performance trends 5.2. Display the inspection result on the instrument in accordance with legislative requirements 5.3. Use test reports to present inspection results in the required format 5.4. Complete inspection documentation in accordance with legislative requirements and organisational procedures 5.5. Communicate inspection results within the specified time and in accordance with organisational guidelines 5.6. Recommend follow-up actions as appropriate.
6. Act on non-compliance	6.1. Select applicable enforcement action for the non-compliance in accordance with legislative requirements, organisational policy and procedures 6.2. Inform traders of non-compliances and consequences of failing to have them corrected 6.3. Implement enforcement action in accordance with legislative requirements, organisational policy and procedures 6.4. Maintain the rights of the trader at all times

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

- accessing, interpreting and applying a range of documents for the inspection of weighing instruments including:
  - national measurement legislation
  - routine National Test Procedures
  - Certificates of Approval
  - National Measurement Institute inspection policy
  - national and international design rules
  - pattern approval documents
- accessing and interpreting Certificates of Verification for a range of reference standards
- performing inspections over durations of up to one day in routine environments

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2022 SkillsIQ

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

- using advanced communication and negotiation skills to:
  - explain the purpose of inspection
  - inform traders of non-compliances and consequences of failing to rectify them
  - access external equipment and resources to complete the inspection
  - explain inspection procedures and outcomes to traders, verifiers and managers
- accessing, transporting, setting up, validating, using and maintaining a range of test equipment and reference standards
- identifying and evaluating environmental impacts on performance of a range of weighing instruments
- conducting tests and recording results with close attention to detail and accuracy
- performing calculations involving:
  - fractions, decimals, ratios, proportions and percentages
  - scientific notation, correct units and the correct number of significant figures
  - interpretation of statistical quantities, such as mean, median, mode, range, variance and standard deviation
- analysing performance results over a number of operating conditions
- identifying non-compliances with national measurement legislation relating to instrument or verifier performance and initiate appropriate enforcement action including warning, infringement notice, undertaking, injunction and prosecution
- identifying potential trading practice non-compliance with national measurement legislation and initiating an appropriate inspection strategy
- planning routine tasks
- developing/implementing an efficient inspection strategy that has a limited impact on traders, the public, employees and suppliers
- demonstrating professionalism and maintaining the rights of the trader at all times
- solving routine/expected problems
- working safely which may include applying basic first aid, confined space entry and working with heavy machinery

Required knowledge

- general chemical and physical principles and concepts including weight, mass and gravity
- knowledge of the operating procedures across a range of environments including laboratories, retail, manufacturing, industrial, mining, construction, medical, chemical, petroleum, farming and abattoirs
- knowledge of metrological terms and terminology specific to weighing instruments such as maximum permissible errors, traceability, uncertainty, maximum permissible difference, eccentricity, repeatability, error of measurement, error of indication and linearisation
- national measurement legislation applicable to weighing instruments
- detailed knowledge of National Test Procedures and operating procedures for equipment and reference standards used in job role including:

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2022 SkillsIQ

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE
• purpose of test • test conditions and possible environmental impacts on performance of the instrument • key preparation/measurement steps in test method • calculation steps to give results in appropriate units and precision • maximum permissible errors for weighing instruments under inspection • procedures for completing inspection documentation • organisational policy and procedures for verifying weighing instruments • safety principles and procedures relevant to instruments and test environment • basic first aid and site safety induction if required

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE
The Evidence Guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.
Overview of assessment	Competency must be demonstrated in the ability to perform consistently at the required standard for any class of weighing instrument listed in the Range Statement.
Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit	Assessors should ensure that candidates can: • identify, access and apply test procedures • identify and use suitable reference standards • evaluate and adjust the impact of the operating environment on the performance of the instrument • analyse test results to determine the instrument's suitability for verification (trade use) • identify the scope of a verifier performance audit and assess results with expected outcomes • audit the performance of verifiers of weighing instruments • identify and implement additional inspection strategies for non-instrument related breaches of national measurement legislation • recognise and act on non-compliance • maintain the security and confidentiality of data in accordance with organisational and regulatory requirements • report results in the required formats and expected timeframe.

Context of and specific resources for assessment	This unit of competency is to be assessed in the workplace or simulated workplace environment. This unit of competency may be assessed with: • MSATMREF301A Use and maintain reference standards. Resources may include: • limited weighing instruments, test equipment and reference standards • computer and relevant software and/or organisation information management system • Certificates of Approval for instruments • relevant legislative and organisational procedures.
Method of assessment	The following assessment methods are suggested: • questions to assess understanding of relevant procedures, licensing requirements, trader obligations and remedial actions • review of inspection reports and verifier performance audit reports prepared by the candidate • feedback from supervisors and peers regarding the candidate's ability to verify the performance of instruments in accordance with legislative and organisational procedures • observation of the candidate conducting an inspection. In all cases, practical assessment should be supported by questions to assess underpinning knowledge and those aspects of competency which are difficult to assess directly. Questioning techniques should suit the language and literacy levels of the candidate.

	preparation for this visit, the inspector accesses the organisation's database to establish the type of instrument to be tested and any previous history of the instrument or trader. The equipment required for this inspection is identified, accessed and stowed in the vehicle securely and safely. Particular attention is made to ensure the integrity of the reference standards is maintained and that they are still current according to their verification certificate. On arrival at the butcher's premises, the inspector introduces him/herself to the manager and explains the purpose of the visit and the process involved. During this discussion the inspector explains that he/she will inspect the instrument for compliance with its Certificate of Approval, assess the instrument's operating environment for factors that may impact on its performance and conduct the visual and performance tests in accordance with the National Test Procedure. If it complies with these requirements, he/she will mark the instrument as being acceptable for trade use and complete all the required inspection documentation. During the inspection the inspector finds that the instrument has a tare capacity greater than that stated in the Certificate of Approval and the weighing performance of the instrument exceeds the maximum permissible error stated in the national measurement regulations. As a result, the inspector removes the previous verification mark from the instrument and issues the butcher a warning that the instrument cannot be used for trade until it has been corrected and verified again. Before leaving the premises, the inspector examines a sample of prepacked articles and the trading practices used by the trader for compliance with trade measurement legislation.

The range statement relates to the unit of competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Bold italicised wording, if used in the performance criteria, is detailed below. Essential operating conditions that may be present with training and assessment (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) may also be included.

Prescribed performance criteria for instruments	Prescribed performance criteria for instruments may include: • design is in accordance with the appropriate Certificates of Approval • performance meets the criteria described in the Certificates of Approval, National Test Procedure and legislation
Appropriate documentation	Where reference is made to documentation, it is expected the latest version will be used. Appropriate documentation may include: • reference standards • Certificates of Verification • Certificates of Approval for limited weighing instruments • test procedures for verifying limited weighing instruments • organisational test reports • organisational procedures e.g. company quality assurance manual • National Measurement Act • occupational health and safety (OHS) regulations, guidelines and procedures and material safety data sheets (MSDS) • equipment manuals and warranty, supplier catalogues and handbooks
Certificates of Approval	Certificates of Approval may include: • any Certificate issued by the Chief Metrologist under Regulation 60 of the National Measurement Regulations approving the pattern of a limited weighing instrument as being suitable for trade
Enforcement action	Enforcement action may include: • formal warnings • infringement notice • formal undertaking • injunction • prosecution

RANGE STATEMENT
Test equipment	Test equipment may include: • reference standards of measurement
Legislation	Legislation may include: • national measurement legislation • applicable Commonwealth, state and territory OHS legislation
National Measurement Institute policy	National Measurement Institute policy may include: • test procedure variations between a verification, in-service or audit inspection • bulletin • instruction • determination
National Test Procedures for limited weighing instruments	National Test Procedures for limited weighing instruments may include: • non-automatic weighing machines tested without substitution loads • automatic Class Y(a) Catchweighers • automatic Class Y(b) Catchweighers • any other test procedure prescribed by the National Measurement Institute
OHS and environmental management requirements	OHS and environmental management requirements refers to: • all operations must comply with enterprise OHS and environmental management requirements, which may be imposed through state/territory or Federal legislation. These requirements must not be compromised at any time • all operations assume the potentially hazardous nature of samples and require standard precautions to be applied • where relevant, users should access and apply current industry understanding of infection control issued by the National Health and Medical Research Council and State and Territory Departments of Health
Operating environmental impacts	Operating environmental impacts may include:

MSATMINS402A Inspect a range of liquid measuring instruments using volume measures

Modification History

Not applicable.

Unit Descriptor

Unit descriptor	This unit of competency covers the ability to apply National Test Procedures to determine whether a liquid measuring instrument using volume measures is suitable for trade and then mark it accordingly. It also involves auditing the performance of verifiers who have previously tested and marked liquid measuring instruments for use.

Application of the Unit

Application of the unit	This unit of competency is applicable to trade measurement inspectors appointed under national measurement legislation who may inspect a wide range of liquid measuring instruments tested using a volume measure as part of their allocated duties. Liquid measuring instruments are used in a very wide range of commerce. For example, petrol bowsers measure fuel at the point of sale and flowmeters are used to measure bulk commodities such as milk, chemicals and petroleum products during production and distribution. Industry representatives have provided case studies to illustrate the practical application of this unit of competency and to show its relevance in a workplace setting. These are found at the end of this unit of competency under the section 'This competency in practice'.

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements describe the essential outcomes of a unit of competency.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the required skills and knowledge section and the range statement. Assessment of performance is to be consistent with the evidence guide.

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
1. Prepare for inspection	1.1. Identify and evaluate the type of instrument to be inspected 1.2. Access and review any history of previous inspections at trader's premises 1.3. Access and correctly interpret appropriate documentation required for the inspection 1.4. Identify and access test equipment, products and consumables required for the inspection 1.5. Ensure specified test equipment is fit for purpose in accordance with applicable legislation and organisational procedures 1.6. Store and transport test equipment in accordance with organisational procedures and industry best practice

	1.7. Identify workplace health and safety issues relevant to the inspection
2. Initiate inspection	2.1. Identify the site contoller, explain the purpose of the inspection and produce formal identification, if required 2.2. Identify relevant site health and safety issues and implement appropriate control strategies 2.3. Conduct a preliminary evaluation of the site's trading practices and prioritise activities to maximise inspection outcomes 2.4. Identify trade measuring instruments and plan inspection to minimise disruption to the public and trader
3. Evaluate liquid measuring instrument performance	3.1. Evaluate whether the operating environment will impact on the instrument performance 3.2. Modify the operating environment or implement alternative arrangements to ensure reliable test conditions as necessary 3.3. Identify the maximum permissible errors for the instrument from the legislative requirements 3.4. Use test equipment safely in accordance with applicable legislation and organisational procedures 3.5. Check instrument for compliance with the appropriate Certificates of Approval 3.6. Inspect the instrument in accordance with relevant National Test Procedure and appropriate National Measurement Institute policy 3.7. Evaluate results against prescribed performance criteria and determine if the instrument is suitable for trade use in accordance with legislative requirements
4. Conduct a verifier performance audit	4.1. Identify the scope of the verifier audit 4.2. Identify the expected outcomes of the verifier audit 4.3. Assess the verifier's performance against the expected outcome 4.4. Analyse any variances from the expected outcomes to identify isolated or systemic problems
5. Analyse and report inspection results	5.1. Analyse inspection data for unacceptable performance trends 5.2. Display the inspection result on the instrument in accordance with legislative requirements 5.3. Use test reports to present inspection results in the required format 5.4. Complete inspection documentation in accordance with legislative requirements and organisational procedures 5.5. Communicate inspection results within the specified time and in accordance with organisational guidelines 5.6. Recommend follow-up actions as appropriate

6. Act on non-compliance	6.1. Select applicable enforcement action for the non-compliance in accordance with legislative requirements, organisational policy and procedures 6.2. Inform traders of non-compliances and consequences of failing to have them corrected 6.3. Implement enforcement action in accordance with legislative requirements, organisational policy and procedures 6.4. Maintain the rights of the trader at all times

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE
This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.
Required skills

• accessing, interpreting and applying a range of documents for the inspection of liquid measuring instruments including:
  • national measurement legislation
  • intermediate National Test Procedures
  • Certificates of Approval
  • National Measurement Institute inspection policy
  • Australian Standards
  • industry codes of practice
  • correction tables for volume, density and pressure for a range of liquids
  • national and international design rules
  • pattern approval documents
• accessing and interpreting Certificates of Verification for a range of reference standards
• performing inspections over extended durations in non-routine and hazardous environments

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2022 SkillsIQ

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

- using advanced communication and negotiation skills to:
  - explain purpose of the verification
  - inform traders of non-compliances and consequences of failing to rectify
  - access external equipment and resources to complete the verification
  - explain verification procedures and outcomes to traders, verifiers and managers
- accessing, transporting, setting up, validating, using and maintaining a broad range of test equipment and reference standards
- identifying and evaluating environmental factors that may impact on performance of liquid measuring instruments
- organising large equipment to be dispatched ahead of verification visit
- conducting tests and recording results with close attention to detail and accuracy
- performing calculations involving:
  - fractions, decimals, ratios, proportions and percentages
  - evaluation of formulae containing powers, exponents and logarithms functions
  - use of scientific notation, correct units, correct number of significant figures
  - calculation of uncertainties
  - preparation and interpretation of linear, semi-log and log-log graphs
  - interpretation of statistical quantities, such as mean, median, mode, range, variance and standard deviation
  - determination of regression line equations, correlation coefficients
  - preparation and interpretation of more complex control charts and frequency distribution plots
- analysing performance results over a broad range of operating conditions
- identifying non-compliances with national measurement legislation relating to instrument or verifier performance and initiate appropriate enforcement action including warning, infringement notice, undertaking, injunction and prosecution
- identifying potential trading practice non-compliance with national measurement legislation and initiating an appropriate inspection strategy
- planning complex tasks
- developing/implementing an efficient verification strategy that minimises disruption to traders, the public, technicians, employees, colleagues and suppliers
- demonstrating professionalism and maintaining the rights of the trader at all times
- solving unexpected problems and non-routine issues
- working safely which may include applying basic first aid, confined space entry, working with hazardous materials, working safely in hazardous environments, working with heavy machinery, Australian Institute of Petroleum (AIP) cold work clearance permit, safety induction and working at heights

- general chemical and physical principles and concepts including:
  - physical states (solid, liquid gas), weight, mass, gravity and density

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2022 SkillsIQ

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

- pressure, pressure differential, backpressure and head pressure
- fluid flow
- flashpoint, boiling point and ice point
- viscosity
- temperature effects and coefficients of expansion

- basic knowledge of the design, application and function of components used in liquid measuring instruments
- knowledge of the operating procedures across a range of environments including laboratories, retail, commercial, office, manufacturing, industrial, mining, construction, medical, chemical and petroleum
- knowledge of metrological terms and terminology specific to liquid measuring instruments such as:
  - maximum permissible errors, maximum permissible difference and maximum permissible variation
  - traceability
  - repeatability
  - uncertainty, error of measurement and error of indication
  - meter creep
  - hose dilation
  - temperature correction
  - linearisation
  - gas elimination
- national measurement legislation applicable to liquid measuring instruments
- detailed knowledge of National Test Procedures and operating procedures for equipment and reference standards used in job role including:
  - purpose of test
  - test conditions and possible environmental impacts on performance of the instrument
  - key preparation/measurement steps in test method
  - calculation steps to give results in appropriate units and precision
  - maximum permissible errors for liquid measuring instruments under inspection
- procedures for completing inspection documentation
- organisational policy and procedures for inspecting instruments
- safety principles and procedures relevant to instruments
- basic first aid and site safety induction if required

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE
The Evidence Guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.
Overview of assessment	Competency must be demonstrated in the ability to perform consistently at the required standard for any class of liquid measuring instrument listed in the Range Statement.
Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit	Assessors should ensure that candidates can: • identify, access and apply test procedures • identify and use suitable reference standards • evaluate and adjust the impact of the operating environment on the performance of the instrument • analyse test results to determine the instrument's suitability for verification (trade use) • identify the scope of a verifier performance audit and assess results with expected outcomes • audit the performance of verifiers of liquid measuring instruments • identify and implement additional inspection strategies for non-instrument related breaches of national measurement legislation • recognise and act on non-compliance • maintain the security and confidentiality of data in accordance with organisational and regulatory requirements • report results in the required formats and expected timeframe.
Context of and specific resources for assessment	This unit of competency is to be assessed in the workplace or simulated workplace environment. This unit of competency may be assessed with: • MSATMREF301A Use and maintain reference standards. Resources may include: • liquid measuring instruments using volume measures, test equipment and reference standards • safety equipment • computer and relevant software and/or organisation information management system

EVIDENCE GUIDE
	• Certificates of Approval for instruments • relevant legislative and organisational procedures.
Method of assessment	The following assessment methods are suggested: • questions to assess understanding of relevant procedures, licensing requirements, trader obligations and remedial actions • review of inspection reports and verifier performance audit reports prepared by the candidate • feedback from supervisors and peers regarding the candidate's ability to verify the performance of instruments in accordance with legislative and organisational procedures • observation of the candidate conducting an inspection. In all cases, practical assessment should be supported by questions to assess underpinning knowledge and those aspects of competency which are difficult to assess directly. Questioning techniques should suit the language and literacy levels of the candidate.
This competency in practice	Industry representatives have provided the case studies below to illustrate the practical application of this unit of competency and to show its relevance in a workplace setting. An inspector arrives unannounced at a medium size service station to check the performance of a number of fuel dispensers. After introducing him/herself to the site manager, the inspector explains the purpose of the visit and asks for the location of the fuel return points. The inspector performs a safety check, completes an AIP form, places safety barriers around the work area and then prepares the test equipment and reference standards. There are seven fuel dispensers with a total of 38 hoses. The inspector tests a selection of dispensers visually. The National Test Procedure requires the inspector to dispense fuel into 15L reference measures and then return the fuel to storage. Approximately 90 litres are dispensed per hose. The inspector finds a number of non-compliances on site. Two hoses are dispensing fuel outside the allowable maximum permissible error, one dispenser has a faulty segment in its display and the lights are not working, the diesel dispenser failed the air elimination test and three hoses are badly worn. The inspector removes the verification mark from all non-compliant dispensers. While testing the fuel dispenser, the inspector notices a number of items displayed for sale outside the office. On closer inspection, some of the pre-packaged items are found not to be marked with a measurement statement. The inspector meets with the site manager to inform him of the non-compliant dispensers. He/she advises the manager not to use any unmarked dispensers, explains how they can be rectified and issues non- compliance notices. They also discuss the non-compliant pre-packaged articles. The inspector takes details for further action, completes the AIP form and fuel usage report and then departs.

RANGE STATEMENT
The range statement relates to the unit of competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Bold italicised wording, if used in the performance criteria, is detailed below. Essential operating conditions that may be present with training and assessment (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) may also be included.
Prescribed performance criteria for instruments	Prescribed performance criteria for instruments may include: • design is in accordance with the appropriate Certificates of Approval • performance meets the criteria described in the Certificates of Approval, National Test Procedure and legislation
Appropriate documentation	Where reference is made to documentation, it is expected the latest version will be used. Appropriate documentation may include: • reference standards • Certificates of Verification • Certificates of Approval for liquid measuring

	instruments • test procedures for verifying liquid measuring instruments • organisational test reports • organisational procedures e.g. company quality assurance manual • National Measurement Act • occupational health and safety (OHS) regulations, guidelines and procedures and material safety data sheets (MSDS) • equipment manuals and warranty, supplier catalogues and handbooks
Certificates of Approval	Certificates of Approval may include: • any Certificate issued by the Chief Metrologist under Regulation 60 of the National Measurement Regulations approving the pattern of a liquid measuring instrument as being suitable for trade
Enforcement action	Enforcement action may include: • formal warnings • infringement notice • formal undertaking • injunction • prosecution
Test equipment	Test equipment may include: • reference standards of measurement • equipment other than reference standards of measurement such as pumps, funnels and hoses
Legislation	Legislation may include • national measurement legislation • applicable Commonwealth, state and territory OHS legislation
National Measurement Institute policy	National Measurement Institute policy may include: • test procedure variations between a verification, in-service or audit inspection • bulletin • instruction

	• determination
National Test Procedures for liquid measuring instruments	National Test Procedures for liquid measuring instruments may include: • fuel dispensers other than LPG dispensers • bulk flowmetering systems for liquid hydrocarbons other than LPG tested using a volume measure • milk flowmeters tested using a volume measure • any other test procedure prescribed by the National Measurement Institute
OHS and environmental management requirements	OHS and environmental management requirements refer to: • all operations must comply with enterprise OHS and environmental management requirements, which may be imposed through state/territory or Federal legislation. These requirements must not be compromised at any time • all operations assume the potentially hazardous nature of samples and require standard precautions to be applied • where relevant, users should access and apply current industry understanding of infection control issued by the National Health and Medical Research Council and State and Territory Departments of Health
Operating environmental impacts	Operating environmental impacts may include: • vibration • wind • heat • dust • electromagnetic interference • out of level
Records	Records may include: • test reports • AIP form • safety procedures • a history of equipment calibration and test results

This competency in practice	Industry representatives have provided the case studies below to illustrate the practical application of this unit of competency and to show its relevance in a workplace setting. An inspector is allocated a file to investigate a consumer complaint alleging that a butcher is over charging on purchases of meat. During preparation for the inspection, the inspector notices that the trader was recently issued with an infringement notice for a similar offence. On arrival at the premises, the inspector observes the trading practices visible from outside the premises and develops a trial purchase plan. On entry, the inspector inspects the shop layout, staff actions, operation of the scales, advertising and the method of selling meat. He/she observes some cuts of meat are not being advertised and sold by weight as required by national measurement legislation and eye fillet is being advertised for sale at a price per 100 g without a reference to its price per kilogram. The inspector modifies the purchase plan to include an additional purchase of meat not apparently being sold by weight. The inspector conducts the trial purchase of two separate cuts of meat. The first cut of meat is weighed on a scale that indicates 0.050 kg without anything on the weigh platter. The second cut is being sold for a set price per item. After paying for the meat, the inspector identifies the site controller, introduces him/herself, explains a trial purchase had been completed and the process for the remainder of the inspection. The inspector weighs the first cut of meat on the same scale used by the butcher during the trial purchase. Before weighing the meat, he/she resets the scale to zero and finds the meat weighs 0.050 kg less than the weight he/she was charged for. The pre-packaged products being offered for sale are found to be correct weight and correctly marked as required by legislation. The inspector records notes of the trial purchase in his/her notebook, then tests the accuracy of the weighing instruments and notes that the scales had been verified last month. Before leaving the premises, the inspector informs the site controller of the non-compliances: i.e. selling an article with a short fall, using a weighing instrument incorrectly, selling meat other than by reference to its weight and not advertising meat for sale at a price per kilogram. He/she outlines the resulting enforcement actions and consequences for failing to correct the non-compliances. On returning to the office, the inspector disposes of the trial purchase, files his/her notes and photographs as evidence of the non-compliance and reports the inspection outcomes in accordance with organisational policy and procedures.

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

- accessing, interpreting and applying a range of documents for the inspection of pre-packaged products including:
  - national measurement legislation
  - National Test Procedures
  - National Measurement Institute inspection policy
- accessing and interpreting Certificates of Verification for a range of reference standards
- performing inspections over durations exceeding one day in non-routine environments
- using advanced communication and negotiation skills to:
  - explain the purpose of inspection
  - inform traders of non-compliances and consequences of failing to rectify them
  - access external equipment and resources to complete the inspection
  - explain inspection procedures and outcomes to traders, verifiers and managers
- accessing, transporting, setting up, validating, using and maintaining a range of test equipment and reference standards
- identifying and evaluating environmental impacts on performance of a range of measuring instruments
- identifying and evaluating impacts of trader procedures on the measurement of pre-packaged products
- evaluating pre-packaged product markings for compliance with legislative requirements
- conducting tests and recording results with close attention to detail and accuracy
- performing calculations involving:
  - fractions, decimals, ratios, proportions and percentages
  - scientific notation, correct units and the correct number of significant figures
  - interpretation of statistical quantities, such as mean, median, mode, range, variance and standard deviation
- identifying non-compliances with national measurement legislation relating to trading practices and measuring instruments
- initiating appropriate enforcement action for non-compliances including warning, infringement notice, undertaking, injunction and prosecution
- planning routine tasks
- developing/implementing an efficient inspection strategy that has a limited impact on traders, the public, employees and suppliers
- demonstrating professionalism and maintaining the rights of the trader at all times

• solving routine/expected problems • working safely which may include applying basic first aid
Required knowledge

• general physical principles and concepts including weight, mass, gravity, volume, length, area and displacement
• knowledge of the operating procedures across a range of environments including laboratories, retail, manufacturing, industrial, chemical, petroleum, farming, abattoirs and food processsing
• knowledge of metrological terms and terminology such as maximum permissible errors, traceability, uncertainty, inspection lot, deficiency and shortfall
• national measurement legislation applicable to pre-packaged products and measuring instruments
• detailed knowledge of National Test Procedures and operating procedures for equipment and reference standards used in job role including:
  • purpose of test
  • test conditions and possible environmental impacts on performance of the instrument
  • key preparation/measurement steps in test method
  • calculation steps to give results in appropriate units and precision
  • maximum permissible errors for weighing instruments under inspection
• procedures for completing inspection documentation
• organisational policy and procedures for inspecting pre-packaged products
• safety principles and procedures relevant to instruments and test environment
• basic first aid and site safety induction if required

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE
The Evidence Guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.
Overview of assessment	Competency must be demonstrated in the ability to perform consistently at the required standard for a wide range of pre-packaged products.
Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit	Assessors should ensure that candidates can: • identify, access and apply test procedures

	• identify and use suitable reference standards • evaluate and adjust the impact of the operating environment on the performance of the instrument • analyse test results to determine the instrument's suitability for verification (trade use) • inspect markings and net contents of pre-packaged articles • identify and implement additional inspection strategies for pre-packaged product related breaches of national measurement legislation • recognise and act on non-compliance • maintain the security and confidentiality of data in accordance with organisational and regulatory requirements • report results in the required formats and expected timeframe.
Context of and specific resources for assessment	This unit of competency is to be assessed in the workplace or simulated workplace environment. This unit of competency may be assessed with: • MSATMINS403AA Inspect a range of trading practices • MSATMINS301A Inspect a range of simple measures • MSATMINS302A Inspect a range of simple measuring instruments • MSATMINS401A Inspect a range of weighing instruments • MSATMINS402A Inspect a range of liquid measuring instruments using volume measures. Resources may include: • measuring instruments, test equipment and reference standards • computer and relevant software and/or organisation information management system • Certificates of Approval for instruments • relevant legislative and organisational procedures.
Method of assessment	The following assessment methods are suggested: • questions to assess understanding of relevant procedures, trader obligations and remedial actions • review of inspection reports prepared by the candidate • feedback from supervisors and peers regarding the candidate's ability to inspect pre-packaged products in accordance with legislative and organisational procedures • observation of the candidate inspecting pre-packaged products. In all cases, practical assessment should be supported by questions to assess underpinning knowledge and those aspects of competency which are difficult to assess directly. Questioning techniques should suit the language and literacy levels of the candidate.

This competency in practice	Industry representatives have provided the case studies below to illustrate the practical application of this unit of competency and to show its relevance in a workplace setting. An inspector is allocated a routine inspection at a factory which packs milk. When reviewing the trader's inspection history, the inspector notices that the trader was issued with an infringement notice 12 months ago for packing 2 L bottles of milk that had an average 4.5% shortfall.On arrival at the premises, the inspector enters the main office and explains the purpose of the visit. While waiting for the site controller to arrive, the inspector assesses the business registration documents on public display and notes they coincide with the pre-inspection documentation he/she retrieved earlier. When the site controller arrives, the inspector explains the purpose of the visit.The site controller provides a site induction and highlights the local workplace health and safety requirements. The inspector then outlines an inspection strategy that will minimise disruption to the trader and suppliers and satisfy the factory's health and hygiene requirements. The inspector collects the necessary equipment and documentation from his/her vehicle and validates the test equipment before proceeding with the inspection. Given the trader's history, he/she selects an inspection lot of 12 pre-packaged 2 L bottles of milk. On close examination, the inspector finds that the measurement and packer identification markings on this product do not comply with legislative requirements because the 2 L print height is too small.He/she then measures the volume of milk in each bottle and finds an average shortfall of 75 ml or 3.75%. The inspector conducts a detailed investigation of the trader's milk packaging process, measuring instruments, measurement procedure, and their methodology and frequency of measurement tests. He/she finds that the milk density used for setting volumetric fillers is incorrect and causing the shortfall. Before leaving the premises, the inspector informs the site controller of the non-compliances: i.e. packing pre-packaged products with an average shortfall which exceeded the prescribed performance criteria and a measurement marking print height smaller than the prescribed criteria. He/she outlines the resulting enforcement actions and consequences for failing to correct the non-compliances. On returning to the office, the inspector files his/her notes, test reports and photographs as evidence of the non-compliance and reports the inspection outcomes in accordance with organisational policy and procedures.

The range statement relates to the unit of competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Bold italicised wording, if used in the performance criteria, is detailed below. Essential operating conditions that may be present with training and assessment (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) may also be included.
Appropriate documentation	Where reference is made to documentation, it is expected the latest version will be used. Appropriate documentation may include: • reference standards • Certificates of Verification • measuring instrument Certificates of Approval • test procedures for inspecting pre-packaged products and measuring instruments • organisational test reports

	• organisational procedures e.g. company quality assurance manual • National Measurement Act • occupational health and safety (OHS) regulations, guidelines and procedures material safety data sheets • equipment manuals and warranty, supplier catalogues and handbooks
Certificates of Approval	Certificates of Approval may include: • any Certificate issued by the Chief Metrologist under Regulation 60 of the National Measurement Regulations approving the pattern of a measuring instrument as being suitable for trade
Enforcement action	Enforcement action may include: • formal warnings • infringement notice • formal undertaking • injunction • prosecution
Test equipment	Test equipment may include: • reference standards of measurement • weighing instruments • trolleys • cameras • video and audio recorders
Legislation	Legislation may include: • national measurement legislation • applicable Commonwealth, state and territory OHS legislation
National Measurement Institute policy	National Measurement Institute policy may include: • test procedure variations between a verification, in-service or audit inspection • bulletin • instruction • determination • policy documents

RANGE STATEMENT
National Test Procedures	National Test Procedures may include: • measuring instrument test procedures • article measurement procedures • any other test procedure prescribed by the National Measurement Institute
OHS and environmental management requirements	OHS and environmental management requirements refer to: • all operations must comply with enterprise OHS and environmental management requirements, which may be imposed through state/territory or Federal legislation. These requirements must not be compromised at any time • all operations assume the potentially hazardous nature of samples and require standard precautions to be applied • where relevant, users should access and apply current industry understanding of infection control issued by the National Health and Medical Research Council and State and Territory Departments of Health
Operating environmental impacts	Operating environmental impacts may include: • vibration • wind • heat • dust • electromagnetic interference • out of level • liquid being measured
Records	Records may include: • test reports • safety procedures • a history of equipment calibration and test results

MSATMINS501A Inspect a range of complex measuring instruments

Modification History

Not applicable.

Unit Descriptor

Unit descriptor	This unit of competency covers the ability to apply National Test Procedures to determine whether a complex measuring instrument is suitable for trade use. It involves the ability to perform lengthy calculations to assess instrument performance and conduct tests that may require coordination of a range of resources over long durations in hazardous environments. This unit also involves auditing the performance of verifiers who have previously tested and marked instruments for use.

Application of the Unit

Application of the unit	This unit of competency is applicable to trade measurement inspectors appointed under national measurement legislation who may inspect a range of complex measuring instruments as part of their allocated duties. Complex measuring instruments are used in a wide range of heavy industries. For example, automatic rail weighbridges, belt weighers, totalising hoppers and liquid petroleum gas (LPG) flow meters are used throughout the mining, road/rail freight and petroleum/gas industry sectors. Industry representatives have provided case studies to illustrate the practical application of this unit of competency and to show its relevance in a workplace setting. These are found at the end of this unit of competency under the section 'This competency in practice'.

	organisational procedures and industry best practice 1.6. Access and evaluate any previous test results for the trader 1.7. Identify workplace health and safety issues relevant to the inspection 1.8. Develop an inspection strategy to maximise resources and minimise time required for complex tests
2. Liaise with the trader to schedule complex tests	2.1. Discuss inspection arrangements with site controller where applicable 2.2. Identify relevant local workplace, health and safety issues and implement appropriate control strategies 2.3. Discuss the inspection strategy with the trader to minimise its impact on the trader's normal operations 2.4. Arrange site clearances and suitable scheduling for tests 2.5. Negotiate access to trader's equipment, materials and support personnel required for testing to be available on site 2.6. Arrange for any equipment to be provided by the trader, if required, by the National Test Procedure
3. Initiate inspection	3.1. Identify the site contoller, explain/review the purpose of the inspection and, if required, produce formal identification 3.2. Review inspection strategy to ensure there is minimal disruption to the public and/or trader 3.3. Communicate inspection strategy to all personnel involved 3.4. Identify locations for product return or disposal if applicable 3.5. Evaluate the impacts of the operating environment on the instrument performance or test results and, where applicable, implement corrective actions 3.6. Identify operational factors impacting on instrument performance or test result and, where applicable, implement corrective actions
4. Evaluate complex measuring instrument performance	4.1. Identify the maximum permissible errors for the instrument from the legislative requirements 4.2. Manage and review resources to maintain inspection timelines 4.3. Provide effective communication to ensure relevant

Inspect the instrument in accordance with relevant National Test Procedure and appropriate National Measurement Institute policy
5. Analyse inspection results	5.1. Perform specified calculations to determine a performance result for the instrument with appropriate accuracy, precision and significant figures 5.2. Use graphical and statistical analysis to determine unknowns as necessary 5.3. Ensure calculations are consistent with estimations and reasonable expectations 5.4. Evaluate results against prescribed performance criteria and determine if the instrument is suitable for trade use in accordance with legislative requirements
6. Conduct a verifier performance audit	6.1. Identify the scope of the verifier audit 6.2. Identify the expected outcomes of the verifier audit 6.3. Assess the verifier's performance against the expected outcome 6.4. Analyse any variances from the expected outcomes to identify any isolated or systemic problems
7. Report inspection results	7.1. Display the inspection result on the instrument in accordance with legislative requirements 7.2. Use test reports to present inspection results in the required format 7.3. Complete inspection documentation in accordance with legislative requirements and organisational procedures 7.4. Communicate inspection results within the specified time and in accordance with organisational guidelines 7.5. Recommend follow-up actions as appropriate.
8. Act on non-compliance	8.1. Select applicable enforcement action for the non-compliance in accordance with legislative requirements, organisational policy and procedures 8.2. Inform traders of non-compliances and consequences of failing to have them corrected 8.3. Implement enforcement action in accordance with legislative requirements, organisational policy and

- fractions, decimals, ratios, proportions and percentages
- evaluation of formulae containing powers, exponents and logarithms functions
- use of scientific notation, correct units and correct number of significant figures
- calculation of uncertainties
- preparation and interpretation of linear, semi-log and log-log graphs
- interpretation of statistical quantities, such as mean, median, mode, range, variance and standard deviation
- determination of regression line equations and correlation coefficients
- preparation and interpretation of more complex control charts and frequency distribution plots

- analysing performance results over a broad range of operating conditions
- identifying non-compliances with national measurement legislation relating to instrument or verifier performance and initiate appropriate enforcement action including warning, infringement notice, undertaking, injunction and prosecution
- identifying potential trading practice non-compliance with national measurement legislation and initiating an appropriate inspection strategy
- planning complex tasks
- developing/implementing an efficient inspection strategy that minimises disruption to traders, the public, technicians, contractors, employees, colleagues and suppliers
- demonstrating professionalism and maintaining the rights of the trader at all times
- solving unexpected problems and non-routine issues
- working safely which may include applying basic first aid, confined space entry, working with hazardous materials, working safely in hazardous environments, working with heavy machinery, Australian Institute of Petroleum (AIP) cold work clearance permit, safety induction, working at heights and biosecurity issues

- general chemical and physical principles and concepts including:
  - physical states (solid, liquid gas), weight, mass, gravity and density
  - pressure, pressure differential, backpressure and head pressure
  - fluid flow
  - flashpoint, boiling point and ice point
  - viscosity
  - temperature effects and coefficients of expansion
- basic knowledge of the design, application and function of components used in complex measuring instruments
- knowledge of the operating procedures across a range of environments including laboratories, retail, commercial, office, manufacturing, industrial, mining, construction, medical, chemical, petroleum, farming and abattoirs
- knowledge of metrological terms and terminology specific to complex measuring instruments such as:

In all cases, practical assessment should be supported by questions to assess underpinning knowledge and those aspects of competency which are difficult to assess directly. Questioning techniques should suit the language and literacy levels of the candidate.
This competency in practice	Industry representatives have provided the case studies below to illustrate the practical application of this unit of competency and to show its relevance in a workplace setting. An inspector has been given the task of inspecting a bulk flowmetering system at an oil company distribution terminal. In preparation, the inspector evaluates the instrument nominated for inspection, identifies and accesses appropriate documentation for the inspection, identifies and accesses equipment, evaluates previous inspection data and develops an inspection strategy.The inspector visits the terminal to discuss the proposed inspection strategy with the site controller. During this discussion, the inspector discovers that access to the instrument has been restricted and modifications will have to be made to the area surrounding the instrument. The site controller engages a contractor to make the necessary modifications and agrees on an inspection strategy that will minimise disruption to terminal operations. On completion of the modifications, the inspector returns to the terminal to inspect the bulk flowmetering system. The site controller has arranged for all the resources identified at the inspection strategy meeting to be available. Prior to commencing any testing, the inspector holds a meeting with all personnel involved in the inspection and describes the inspection strategy. A fitter who will be operating the instrument identifies a problem and offers a solution. The inspector agrees and adjusts the inspection strategy accordingly.At the completion of the testing, the inspector uses the recorded data in combination with a variety of data derived from correction tables and complex mathematical formulae to determine performance result for the instrument.These results confirm the instrument's performance is outside the acceptable maximum permissible errors. The inspector informs the site controller of the outcome and issues a formal warning explaining that the instrument cannot be used for trade until it has been corrected and verified by a licensed verifier. During a follow up visit, the inspector confirms the instrument has been repaired and verifies it.

MSATMVER403A Verify inspector's class reference standards

Modification History

Not applicable.

Unit Descriptor

Unit descriptor	This unit of competency covers the ability to calibrate reference standards to the inspector's class level in accordance with standard calibration procedures. These procedures specify all associated reference standards, equipment and methods to be used and the required parameters, quantities and ranges to be tested, including the criteria for validation or rejection. Standard calibration procedures are sometimes complex and lengthy but must be carried out in a methodical and standard manner. Personnel are not permitted to deviate from explicit instructions in any manner, nor modify the procedure, nor substitute alternative equipment.

Application of the Unit

Application of the unit	This unit of competency is applicable to laboratory and calibration technicians who carry out testing and/or calibrations using standard calibration methods in National Association of Testing Authorities (NATA) accredited laboratories. They work under limited supervision and their results are interpreted and checked by the laboratory supervisor, quality officer or designated signatory. Industry representatives have provided case studies to illustrate the practical application of this unit of competency and to show its relevance in a workplace setting. These are found at the end of this unit of competency under the section This competency in practice'.

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
1. Receive and schedule inspector's class reference standards for calibration	1.1. Identify the level of verification required by the client 1.2. Evaluate and implement appropriate strategies where the standard's suitability for purpose does not meet client expectations 1.3. Enter details for the inspector's class reference standard into the organisation's information management system and apply appropriate tracking mechanisms 1.4. Process 'urgent' calibration requests according to the organisation's policy and procedures 1.5. Maintain confidentiality of all client and organisation data and information 1.6. Ensure that information provided to clients is accurate, relevant and authorised for release 1.7. Deal with customers politely, efficiently and in accordance with organisational policy and procedures

2. Prepare for calibration	2.1. Identify and access the appropriate procedure for the calibration in accordance with organisational policy and procedures 2.2. Identify possible sources of measurement error during calibration and implement appropriate control strategies 2.3. Condition inspector's class reference standards and high order reference standards in accordance with calibration and organisational procedures where applicable 2.4. Identify hazards and use the specified personal protective equipment, safety equipment and procedures 2.5. Evaluate the suitability of high order reference standards and measuring equipment selected for the calibration against the organisation's specification requirements and calibration procedure 2.6. Document calibration status, report out-of-calibration test equipment/high order reference standards and quarantine where required
3. Perform calibration	3.1. Assess the design and appearance of an inspector's class reference standard against prescribed stadards 3.2. Perform calibration without variance according to the documented procedure to ensure repeatability of measurement 3.3. Confirm readings are the result of a valid measurement and record data as required 3.4. Adjust inspector's class reference standard if applicable
4. Analyse and report calibration results	4.1. Estimate and document uncertainty of measurement in accordance with organisation's policy and procedures, if required 4.2. Identify prescribed performance criteria for the inspector's class reference standard and evaluate against calibration results

	4.3. Analyse calibration results to confirm they are within the maximum permissible variation and uncertainty for the scope of calibration 4.4. Analyse any variances from the performance criteria to identify isolated or systemic problems with the inspector's class reference standards or calibration procedure 4.5. Record the results of each test/calibration accurately, unambiguously and objectively
5. Finalise calibration	5.1. Attach calibration labels, equipment stickers, quality control tags and tamper resistant seals as required by the organisation's procedures 5.2. Prepare and submit to the laboratory supervisor a final report on the calibration detailing procedure, traceability, results and all other required information 5.3. Store test equipment/high order reference standards and calibration records in accordance with organisational policy and procedures 5.4. Identify and report unserviceable equipment or high order reference standards to the laboratory supervisor 5.5. Clean equipment and high order reference standards in accordance with organisational policy and procedures

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE
This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.
Required skills

• accessing, interpreting and applying a range of documents for the verification of reference standards including:
  • national measurement legislation
  • National Measurement Institute laboratory operating procedures
  • National Measurement Institute monographs
• accessing and interpreting Certificates of Verification for a range of higher order reference standards
• maintaining very close attention to procedures, accuracy and precision of measurement to ensure integrity of test/calibration results (especially during lengthy tests)

• examining each calibration step critically to ensure repeatability and validity of data
• selecting, setting up, validating, using and maintaining a range of balances and reference standards
• operatingtest equipment correctly and safely
• applying all relevant procedures and regulatory requirements to ensure the quality and integrity of the services or data provided
• conducting tests and recording results with close attention to detail and accuracy
• performing calculations involving:
  • fractions, decimals, ratios, proportions and percentages
  • scientific notation, correct units and the correct number of significant figures
  • interpretation of statistical quantities, such as mean, median, mode, range, variance and standard deviation
• recognising problems or departures in systems and documentation and initiating actions to prevent or minimise them
• preparing test/calibration documentation that is accurate and complies with requirements
• recognising and reporting opportunities for improvements to procedures
• planning routine tasks
• solving routine/expected problems
• working safely which may include applying basic first aid

Required knowledge
• understanding of the purpose of metrology and calibration, including common terminology, concepts, principles, procedures and applications • detailed knowledge of specific metrology terms and principles such as uncertainty, maximum permissible variations, traceability and legal requirements for traceability • NATA's and the National Measurement Institute's role in the measurement and testing system in Australia, measurement standards laboratories • requirements for the competence of testing and calibration laboratories (for example, AS ISO/IEC 17025) as they affect job role and responsibilities • national measurement legislation applicable to verification of inspector's class reference standards • selection and application of appropriate test methods and calibration procedures • hierarchy and appropriate selection of reference instruments • detailed knowledge of calibration procedures (equipment, measurement steps, test conditions, environmental impacts, calculations, uncertainty treatment) to give results in appropriate accuracy, precision and units • use of calibration and correction charts • methods for statistical analysis (means, ranges, standard deviations) and estimation

of uncertainty of measurement (may include the use of software) • non-conformance/non-compliance procedures and protocols associated with equipment, reference material and calibration procedures • troubleshooting procedures for equipment and test methods • handling, transport, storage and operation of reference and working standards • laboratory environmental control requirements • organisation's policy and procedures for verifying inspector's class reference standards • lines of communication, reporting procedures and legislative requirements • relevant health, safety and environmental requirements safety principles and procedures relevant test environment, basic first aid and site safety induction if required

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE
The Evidence Guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.
Overview of assessment	Competency must be demonstrated in the ability to perform consistently at the required standard for any inspector's class reference standards listed in the Range Statement.
Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit	Assessors should ensure that candidates can: • identify, access and apply calibration procedures • identify and use high order reference standards of measurement • evaluate and adjust the impact of the operating environment on the results of the calibration • identify the scope of a calibration and compare results with expected outcomes • maintain the security and confidentiality of data in accordance with organisational and regulatory requirements • report results in the required formats and expected timeframe.
Context of and specific resources for assessment	This unit of competency is to be assessed in the workplace or simulated workplace environment.

EVIDENCE GUIDE
	This unit of competency may be assessed with: • MSATMREF301A Use and maintain reference standards. Resources may include: • reference standards, balances, weighing instruments and test equipment • computer and relevant software and/or organisation information management system • National Measurement Institute laboratory operating procedures • relevant legislative and organisational procedures.
Method of assessment	The following assessment methods are suggested: • questions to assess understanding of relevant metrology/calibration terms, principles and procedures • review of calibration reports prepared by the candidate • feedback from supervisors and peers regarding the candidate's ability to verify inspector's class reference standards in accordance with legislative and organisational procedures • observation of the candidate calibrating inspector's class reference standards. In all cases, practical assessment should be supported by questions to assess underpinning knowledge and those aspects of competency which are difficult to assess directly. Questioning techniques should suit the language and literacy levels of the candidate.
This competency in practice	Industry representatives have provided the case studies below to illustrate the practical application of this unit of competency and to show its relevance in a workplace setting. A customer delivers a 200 L Inspectors Class 1 Volume measure for calibration. Personnel in the laboratory's item reception area log the job and the laboratory supervisor assigns it to a calibration technician. He/she reads the work order and retrieves the approved calibration procedure. The procedure requires the measure to be tested gravimetrically. The technician accesses and validates the test equipment and high order

	reference standards. The density of the town water supply is determined using a verified hydrometer. The measure is visually inspected for defects and contamination. The volume of the measure is determined three times by filling the measure with town water to the capacity mark, recording the temperature of the water and recording the mass of water. This data is used, in conjunction with the town water density (determined previously) and thermal appropriate expansion/buoyancy corrections, to calculate the actual volume of the measure. The technician notes that some values are outside the allowable tolerance and adjustments will have to be made. He/she takes another set of readings after making the necessary adjustments and records them on the report. The technician applies the required calibration marks to the measure, updates the database, produces a test report and places the item in the despatch area for inspection by the supervisor. The supervisor visually inspects the item and checks the calibration data on the report. The job has taken four hours to complete.

The range statement relates to the unit of competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Bold italicised wording, if used in the performance criteria, is detailed below. Essential operating conditions that may be present with training and assessment (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) may also be included.
Appropriate documentation	Where reference is made to documentation, it is expected the latest version will be used. Appropriate documentation may include: • high order reference standard Certificates of Verification • test methods, calibration procedures and monographs (validated and authorised) • organisational test reports • organisational procedures e.g. company quality assurance manual

	• National Measurement Institute laboratory operating procedures • National Measurement Act • occupational health and safety (OHS) regulations, guidelines and procedures • equipment manuals and warranty, supplier catalogues and handbooks • quality manuals, equipment and operating/technical manuals • enterprise recording and reporting procedures and standard operating procedures (SOPs)
Hazards	Hazards may include: • electric shock • disturbance or interruption of services • manual handling of heavy equipment boxes
Safety procedures	Safety procedures may include: • use of personal protective equipment, such as hearing protection, gloves, safety glasses and coveralls • ensuring access to service shut-off points • regular cleaning of equipment and work areas
Inspectors Class Reference standards	Inspectors Class Reference standards may include: • inspector's class of reference standards as defined in the National Measurement Regulations
Operating procedures	Operating procedures may include: • manufacturers' specifications • industry guidelines • Australian standards • procedures and guidelines based on national measurement legislation
Legislation	Legislation may include: • national measurement legislation • applicable Commonwealth, state and territory OHS legislation
OHS and environmental management requirements	OHS and environmental management requirements refer to: • all operations must comply with enterprise

	OHS and environmental management requirements, which may be imposed through state/territory or Federal legislation. These requirements must not be compromised at any time • where relevant, users should access and apply current industry understanding of infection control issued by the National Health and Medical Research Council and State and Territory Departments of Health
Operating environmental impacts	Operating environmental impacts may include: • vibration • wind • heat • dust • electromagnetic interference • out of level • liquid being measured
Records	Records may include: • test reports • safety procedures • a history of equipment calibration and test results
Standard calibrations	Standard calibrations may involve testing and/or calibrating the following equipment and reference materials using standard methods and procedures: • common types of test equipment such as balances, calipers, masses, micrometers, tape measures, rules, temperature (digital) indicating systems, thermometers, timing devices, weighing instruments and volume measures

MSL924001 Process and interpret data

Modification History

Release 1. Supersedes and is equivalent to MSL924001A Process and interpret data

Application

This unit of competency covers the ability to retrieve data, evaluate formulae and perform scientific calculations, present and interpret information in tables and graphs and keep accurate records. The unit requires personnel to solve problems of limited complexity where the information may be less obvious, but not contradictory, and can be determined by direct reasoning.

This unit of competency is applicable to laboratory assistants, field/laboratory technicians and instrument operators in all industry sectors.

While no specific licensing or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication, laboratory operations are governed by relevant legislation, regulations and/or external accreditation requirements. Local requirements should be checked.

2	Calculate scientific quantities	2.1	Calculate statistical values for given data
		2.2	Calculate scientific quantities using given formulae and data and estimate uncertainties
		2.3	Ensure calculated quantities are consistent with estimations and expectations
		2.4	Report all calculated quantities using the appropriate units and correct number of significant figures
3	Present data	3.1	Present data in clearly labelled tables, charts and graphs
		3.2	Graph data using appropriate scales to span the range of data or display trends
		3.3	Report all data using the appropriate units and number of significant figures
4	Interpret data	4.1	Interpret significant features of tables, charts and graphs, including gradients, intercepts, maximum and minimum values, and limit lines
		4.2	Recognise and report trends in data
5	Keep accurate records and maintain confidentiality	5.1	Transcribe information accurately
		5.2	Verify the accuracy of records following workplace procedures
		5.3	File and store workplace records in accordance with workplace procedures
		5.4	File all reference documents logically and keep them up-to-date and secured
		5.5	Observe workplace confidentiality standards

Foundation Skills

This section describes those language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills that are essential to performance.

Range of Conditions

This field allows for different work environments and conditions that may affect performance. Essential operating conditions that may be present (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) are included.

Standards, codes, procedures and/or workplace requirements

Standards, codes, procedures and/or enterprise requirements include the latest version of one or more of:

- Australian and international standards, guides and the National Association of Testing Authorities (NATA) Technical Notes that cover the application of international system of units (SI), accuracy of measurement methods and results, and quantifying uncertainty in measurement
- national measurement regulations and guidelines
- validated sampling and test procedures and spreadsheets developed in-house for assay and process calculations where applicable
- workplace procedures, manuals and/or plans covering quality assurance, customer service, material safety data sheets (MSDS), equipment, supplier catalogues and handbooks

Data

Data includes:

- worksheets, spreadsheets and/or databases linked to information management systems
- results of observations, tests and measurements, analyses, surveys and/or quality assurance and control assessments

Calculations

Calculations are performed with or without a calculator and using computer software, spreadsheets, databases and statistical packages

Records

Records include information associated with one or more of:

- purchase of equipment and materials, service records

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2022 SkillsIQ

- safety procedures
- history of calibration and test results

Work health and safety (WHS) and environmental management requirements

WHS and environmental management requirements include:

- complying with WHS and environmental management requirements at all times, which may be imposed through state/territory or federal legislation. These requirements must not be compromised at any time
- applying standard precautions relating to the potentially hazardous nature of samples
- accessing and applying current industry understanding of infection control issued by the National Health and Medical Research Council (NHMRC) and State and Territory Departments of Health, where relevant

Assessment Requirements for MSL924001 Process and interpret data

Modification History

Release 1. Supersedes and is equivalent to MSL924001A Process and interpret data

Performance Evidence

Evidence of competence in this unit must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria, and include demonstration of:

- retrieving coding, recording and checking data
- calculating scientific and statistical quantities with or without a calculator or computer software, including the following items:
  - converting units involving multiples and submultiples
  - scientific notation, significant figures, round off, estimate and approximate
  - transposing and evaluating formulae
  - fractions, decimals, proportions and percentages
  - mean
  - median
  - mode
  - standard deviation
- performing at least five (5) of the following calculations:
  - perimeters and angles
  - percentage and absolute uncertainties in measurements and test results
  - areas (m^2) and volumes (mL, L, m^3) of regular shapes, such as packaging
  - dose (mg), average mass, mass percentage, density, specific gravity, moisture, relative and absolute humidity, viscosity and permeability
  - ratios, such as mass to mass, mass to volume and volume to volume percentages
  - concentration, such as molarity, g/100mL, mg/L, mg/L, ppm, ppb, dilution mL/L
  - average count, colonies per swab surface and cell counts, such as live and dead/total
  - process variables, such as pressure, gauge pressure, velocity and flow rates
  - biological oxygen demand (BOD), chemical oxygen demand (COD) and total organic carbons (TOC)
  - food properties, such as % concentration (dry), friability, bitterness, brix, free amino nitrogen, diastatic power, calorific content and yeast viability, % content of moisture, ash, fat, protein, alcohol, sulphur dioxide and trace metals, such as calcium or zinc
  - mechanical properties, such as stress, strain, moduli and force
  - presenting accurate results in the required format (significant figures, uncertainty units)
- preparing and presenting data in the following formats:

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2022 SkillsIQ

  - tables
  - graphs
  - line graphs
  - histograms
  - pie charts, bar charts and control charts
  - semi-quantitative observations expressed on a scale (e.g. 1 to 4 or + to ++++)
- recognising and interpreting significant points, anomalies and trends in data
- maintaining the confidentiality of data in accordance with workplace and regulatory requirements
- keeping accurate records that are up-to-date and secure.

Knowledge Evidence

Must provide evidence that demonstrates knowledge of:

- concepts of metrology, including:
  - that all measurements are estimates
  - measurements belong to a population of measurements of the measured parameters
  - repeatability, precision, accuracy and significant figures
  - sources of error, and uncertainty associated with measurement steps
  - traceability
- the international system of units (SI)
- scientific and technical terminology relevant to job role
- procedures for coding, entering, storing, retrieving and communicating data
- procedures for verifying data and rectifying mistakes
- procedures for maintaining and filing records, and maintaining security of data
- work health and safety (WHS) and environment requirements.

Assessment Conditions

- Judgement of competence must be based on holistic assessment of the evidence. Assessment methods must confirm consistency of performance over time, rather than a single assessment event.
- This unit of competency is to be assessed in the workplace or a simulated workplace environment. A simulated workplace environment must reflect realistic operational workplace conditions that cover all aspects of workplace performance, including the environment, task skills, task management skills, contingency management skills and job role environment skills.
- Foundation skills are integral to competent performance of the unit and should not be assessed separately.
- Assessment processes and techniques must be appropriate to the language, literacy and numeracy requirements of the work being performed and the needs of the candidate.

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2022 SkillsIQ

- Knowledge evidence may be collected concurrently with performance evidence or through an independent process, such as workbooks, written assessments or interviews (provided a record is kept in each case).
- This unit of competency may be assessed with:
  - MSL924002 Use laboratory application software
  - technical units, such as:
  - relevant MSL973000 series units of competency
  - relevant MSL974000 series units of competency.
- Holistic assessment methods include:
  - review of data worksheets, calculations, computer files (such as spreadsheets, databases and statistical analysis), graphs, tables and/or charts prepared by the candidate
  - review of records transcribed, maintained or stored by the candidate
  - feedback from supervisors and peers
  - questions to assess understanding of calculations, relevant procedures and trends in data
  - observation of the candidate as they process data, file and store records.
- Access is required to instruments, equipment, materials, workplace documentation, procedures and specifications associated with this unit, including, but not limited to:
  - data sets and records
  - a calculator
  - spreadsheets, computer software, databases and statistical packages
  - computer and relevant software or laboratory information system
  - relevant workplace procedures.
- Assessors must satisfy the assessor competency requirements that are in place at the time of the assessment as set by the VET regulator.
- The assessor must demonstrate both technical competency and currency.
- Technical competence can be demonstrated through:
  - relevant VET or other qualification/Statement of Attainment AND/OR
  - relevant workplace experience
- Currency can be demonstrated through:
  - performing the competency being assessed as part of current employment OR
  - having consulted with a laboratory about performing the competency being assessed within the last twelve months.

MSL925002 Analyse measurements and estimate uncertainties

Modification History

Release 1. Supersedes and is equivalent to MSL925002A Analyse measurements and estimate uncertainties

Application

This unit of competency covers the ability to use statistical analysis to estimate and report measurement uncertainty in accordance with the ISO Guide to the Expression of Uncertainty in Measurement (or its replacement Standard). Personnel are required to review their estimates of measurement uncertainty to assist with making decisions on the fitness for purpose of the measurements.

This unit of competency is applicable to laboratory personnel who work in calibration and testing facilities, process and interpret data and are required to determine uncertainties using standard methods. The rigour required in estimating uncertainty will depend on the required accuracy of the particular calibration, test or measurement.

While no specific licensing or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication, laboratory operations are governed by relevant legislation, regulations and/or external accreditation requirements. Local requirements should be checked.

Assessment Requirements for MSL925002 Analyse measurements and estimate uncertainties

Modification History

Performance Evidence

Evidence of competence in this unit must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria, and include demonstration of:

- using scientific notation, correct units and correct number of significant figures
- evaluating formulae containing powers, exponents and logarithms functions
- preparing and interpreting linear graphs
- using statistical analysis to estimate and report measurement uncertainty in accordance with the ISO Guide to the Expression of Uncertainty in Measurement
- preparing a fully documented, realistic uncertainty budget that is appropriate for the application
- calculating a combined standard uncertainty using root-sum-of-squares, accounting for correlations where necessary
- gathering information about uncertainty components from calibration reports or reference material report
- calculating sensitivity coefficients either experimentally or by partial differentiation
- calculating expanded uncertainty
- using spreadsheets to calculate uncertainties
- deciding if the uncertainty is suitable for the accuracy required for the test and establishing whether it is fit for purpose using the tolerance to uncertainty ratio (TUR)
- using and interpreting mean, standard deviation, standard deviation of the mean, degrees of freedom, histograms and frequency plots, probability, normal probability plots and control charts
- using the student's t-table to get a coverage factor for a particular level of confidence
- using and interpreting significance tests, such as t-test, f-test and analysis of variance (ANOVA), variances, standard deviation of prediction and linear regression
- using regression methods for calibration, linearity checks and comparing analytical methods
- using and interpreting normal, rectangular, triangular distributions and the factors used to reduce each to a standard uncertainty
- allocating degrees of freedom to each uncertainty component using the Welch-Satterthwaite equation
- reporting results and uncertainties in the required formats.

Knowledge Evidence

Must provide evidence that demonstrates knowledge of:

- the steps in the measurement, test or calibration involved
- the difference between errors, corrections and uncertainties
- uncertainty in the uncertainty estimation process
- uncertainty components that are common to the use of an instrument
- uncertainty components that arise due to the instrument being used under different conditions to those when it was calibrated
- uncertainty components, such as:
  - calibration uncertainty
  - instability or drift in the calibrated instrument
  - repeatability of the results
  - resolution or readability of the instrument
  - environmental influences, such as temperature, air pressure, humidity, vibration, electrical noise and gravity
  - reference material uncertainty
  - factors arising from using an instrument under a different operating environment or procedures (e.g. orientation of a transducer and immersion depth of a temperature probe)
  - reproducibility of quality control data
- procedures for determining the uncertainty components associated with each of the inputs and whether they are significant and for applying appropriate corrections
- manufacturer's specifications (e.g. instrument drift specification and reference materials)
- procedures for determining uncertainty components from quality control data
- the concept of degrees of freedom
- the characteristics of a valid measurement
- reporting requirements, such as the uncertainty in measurement (GUM), National Association of Testing Authorities (NATA) or other applicable reference material
- confidence levels required by the National Measurement Act 1960 (e.g. 95% for most applications, but others may require a higher confidence level).

Assessment Conditions

- Judgement of competence must be based on holistic assessment of the evidence. Assessment methods must confirm consistency of performance over time, rather than a single assessment event.

- This unit of competency may be assessed with:
  - MSL904001 Perform standard calibrations
  - MSL905001 Perform non-standard calibrations
- Holistic assessment methods include:
  - review of data worksheets, calculations, spreadsheets, databases, statistical analysis, graphs and/or tables prepared by the candidate
  - questions to assess understanding of relevant procedures, trends in data and sources of uncertainty
  - review of reports and records prepared by the candidate
  - feedback from supervisors and peers regarding the candidate's ability to estimate uncertainty in accordance with workplace procedures.
- Access is required to all instruments, equipment, materials, workplace documentation, procedures and specifications associated with this unit, including, but not limited to:
  - data sets and records
  - test methods and description of test set-up

MSL934002 Apply quality system and continuous improvement processes

Modification History

Release 1. Supersedes and is equivalent to MSL934002A Apply quality system and continuous improvement processes

Application

This unit of competency covers the exercise of good laboratory practice (GLP) and effective participation in quality improvement teams. Personnel are required to ensure the quality and integrity of their own work, detect non-conformances and work with others to suggest improvements in productivity and quality.

This unit of competency is applicable to laboratory technicians working in all industry sectors who contribute to quality improvements in areas or processes associated with their own job function and/or specialisation. This unit of competency is relevant to experienced technical officers who may work individually or as part of a team.

While no specific licensing or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication, laboratory operations are governed by relevant legislation, regulations and/or external accreditation requirements. Local requirements should be checked.

5	Participate in the development of continuous improvement strategies	5.1	Review all relevant features of work practice to identify possible contributing factors leading to sub-optimal performance
		5.2	Identify options for removing or controlling the risk of sub-optimal performance
		5.3	Assess the adequacy of current controls, quality methods and systems
		5.4	Identify opportunities to continuously improve performance
		5.5	Develop recommendations for continual improvements of work practices, methods, procedures and equipment effectiveness
		5.6	Consult with appropriate personnel to refine recommendations before implementation of approved improvement strategies
		5.7	Document outcomes of strategies and communicate them to relevant personnel

Foundation Skills

This section describes those language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills that are essential to performance.

Range of Conditions

This field allows for different work environments and conditions that may affect performance. Essential operating conditions that may be present (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) are included.

Standards, codes, procedures and/or workplace requirements

Standards, codes, procedures and/or workplace requirements include the latest version of one or more of:

- Australian and international standards covering the requirements for the competence of testing and calibration laboratories,

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2022 SkillsIQ

quality management systems and plans, measurement management, and sampling and testing
- national work health and safety (WHS) standards and codes of practice, and National Association of Testing Authorities (NATA) accreditation program requirements
- national measurement regulations and guidelines
- specific codes, regulations guidelines, procedures and methods, such as Australia New Zealand Food Standards (ANZFS) Code, Australian code of good manufacturing practice for medicinal products (GMP), principles of good laboratory practice (GLP), National Health and Medical Research Council (NHMRC) Guidelines, and Therapeutic Goods Regulations
- workplace documents, such as standard operating procedures (SOPs); quality and equipment manuals; calibration and maintenance schedules; material safety data sheets (MSDS) and safety procedures; material, production and product specifications; production and laboratory schedules; workplace recording and reporting procedures; and waste minimisation and safe disposal procedures
- customer-specific requirements/standards

Quality control procedures

Quality control procedures include one or more of:

- standards imposed by regulatory and licensing bodies
- working to a customer brief or batch card and associated quality procedures
- checklists to monitor job progress against agreed time, costs and quality standards
- preparation of sampling plans
- the use of hold points to evaluate conformance
- the use of inspection and test plans to check compliance

Sustainable work practices

Sustainable work practices include, but are not limited to, one or more of:

- examining work practices that use excessive electricity
- switching off equipment when not in use
- regularly cleaning filters
- insulating rooms and buildings to reduce energy use
- recycling and reusing materials wherever practicable
- minimising process waste

Quality improvement

Quality improvement tools and techniques include using one or tools and techniques

more of:

- plan, do, check, act (PDCA)
- Ishikawa fishbone diagrams and cause and effect diagrams, logic tree, similarity/difference analysis, Pareto charts and analysis, force field/strength, weakness, opportunities, threats (SWOT) analysis
- run charts, control charts, histograms and scattergrams to present routine quality control data
- statistical analysis of quality control data, mean, median, mode, ranges and standard deviations

Communication

Communication includes interactions with one or more:

- supervisors, managers and quality managers
- administrative, laboratory and production personnel
- internal/external contractors, customers and suppliers

Quality improvement opportunities

Quality improvement opportunities include, but are not limited to, one or more of:

- production processes
- hygiene and sanitation procedures
- reductions in waste and re-work
- laboratory layout and work flow
- safety procedures
- communication with customers
- methods for sampling, testing and recording data

Documenting and reporting information about quality

Documenting and reporting information about quality includes, but are not limited to, one or more of:

- verbal responses
- data entry into laboratory or workplace database
- brief written reports using workplace proformas

WHS and environmental management requirements

WHS and environmental management requirements include:

- complying with WHS and environmental management requirements at all times, which may be imposed through state/territory or federal legislation. These requirements must not be compromised at any time
- applying standard precautions relating to the potentially

Modification History

Release 1. Supersedes and is equivalent to MSL934002A Apply quality system and continuous improvement processes

Performance Evidence

- Evidence of competence in this unit must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria, and include demonstration of:
- applying relevant quality control procedures and regulatory requirements to ensure the quality and integrity of the products/services or data provided in work area
- applying and promoting sustainability principles and work practices in work area
- detecting non-conforming products or services and recognising opportunities for improvements in work area
- using at least three (3) quality improvement tools and techniques to analyse performance in work area
- applying effective problem-solving strategies, such as identifying inputs and outputs, sequencing a process, identifying and rectifying a problem step, and root cause analysis
- following workplace procedures for recording and reporting information about quality
- implementing and monitoring approved actions, changes and improvement strategies consulting and working with other team members to suggest improvements in productivity and quality.

Knowledge Evidence

Must provide evidence that demonstrates knowledge of:

- business goals and quality requirements associated with job function and/or work area as a basis for decision making and action
- scientific and technical requirements of the processes, procedures, equipment and instrumentation associated with the candidate's work tasks and duties
- specifications for laboratory products and services in the work area
- sustainable energy principles
- workplace procedures associated with the candidate's regular technical duties
- layout of the workplace, divisions and laboratory
- organisational structure of the workplace
- lines of communication
- role of laboratory services to the workplace and customers
- work health and safety (WHS) and environment requirements.

Assessment Conditions

- Judgement of competence must be based on holistic assessment of the evidence. Assessment methods must confirm consistency of performance over time, rather than a single assessment event.
- This unit of competency is to be assessed in the workplace or a simulated workplace environment. A simulated workplace environment must reflect realistic operational workplace conditions that cover all aspects of workplace performance, including the environment, task skills, task management skills, contingency management skills and job role environment skills.
- Foundation skills are integral to competent performance of the unit and should not be assessed separately.
- Assessment processes and techniques must be appropriate to the language, literacy and numeracy requirements of the work being performed and the needs of the candidate.
- Knowledge evidence may be collected concurrently with performance evidence or through an independent process, such as workbooks, written assessments or interviews (provided a record is kept in each case).
- This unit of competency may be assessed with:
  - MSL924001 Process and interpret data
  - MSL954001 Obtain representative samples in accordance with sampling plan
  - relevant MSL974000 series units of competency
  - relevant MSL975000 series units of competency
- Holistic assessment methods include:
  - review of documentation completed by the candidate as part of regular quality control
  - feedback from supervisors and/or customers regarding quality of products/services and/or data regularly provided by the candidate
  - observation of the candidate's performance and participation in quality improvement teams over time in the workplace
  - review of reports from quality improvement teams where the candidate's role is clearly outlined and verified
  - verified reports of improvements suggested and implemented by the candidate individually
  - use of suitable simulations and/or a pilot plant and/or a range of quality improvement case studies and scenarios.
- Access is required to instruments, equipment, materials, workplace documentation, procedures and specifications associated with this unit, including, but not limited to:
  - workplace quality manual and procedures, quality control data/records
  - customer complaints and rectifications.
- Assessors must satisfy the assessor competency requirements that are in place at the time of the assessment as set by the VET regulator.
- The assessor must demonstrate both technical competence and currency.
- Technical competence can be demonstrated through:
  - relevant VET or other qualification/Statement of Attainment AND/OR
  - relevant workplace experience.

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2022 SkillsIQ

- Currency can be demonstrated through:
  - performing the competency being assessed as part of current employment OR
  - having consulted with a laboratory about performing the competency being assessed within the last twelve months.

MSL944001 Maintain laboratory or field workplace safety

Modification History

Release 1. Supersedes and is equivalent to MSL944001A Maintain laboratory/field workplace safety

Application

This unit of competency covers the ability to monitor and maintain work health and safety (WHS) and environmental programs within a work area where the person has supervisory responsibility for others.

This unit is applicable to laboratory technicians, senior technicians and laboratory managers in all industry sectors.

While no specific licensing or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication, laboratory operations are governed by relevant legislation, regulations and/or external accreditation requirements. Local requirements should be checked.

Assessment Requirements for MSL944001 Maintain laboratory or field workplace safety

Modification History

Performance Evidence

- Evidence of competence in this unit must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria, and include demonstration of:
- monitoring and maintaining work health and safety (WHS) and environmental programs within a work area
- working safely at all times and following procedures for hazard identification and risk control
- ensuring others in the workgroup work safely and follow procedures for hazard identification and risk control
- ensuring that workplace procedures for dealing with incidents and emergencies are available and known by work group members
- communicating effectively with others, including reporting WHS and environmental issues to designated personnel
- participating in risk assessment audits to identify, analyse and assess risks and evaluate the effectiveness of existing controls
- completing incident reports and risk assessment documentation
- participating in investigations of hazardous incidents to identify their cause preparing brief reports for WHS committees, WHS representatives, managers and/or supervisors.

Knowledge Evidence

Must provide evidence that demonstrates knowledge of:

- common WHS terminology, such as hazard, physical hazard, risk and risk management
- principles and procedures for WHS and environmental management, including hazard identification, risk assessment and hierarchy of risk control
- how the characteristics and composition of the workforce impact on WHS management
- roles and responsibilities under WHS legislation of employers and employees, including supervisors and contractors
- key workplace personnel who can provide WHS information
- signage, symbols and signals relating to WHS
- examples of hazards relevant to the work area and ways of addressing these using the hierarchy of control

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2022 SkillsIQ

- location and purpose of personal protective equipment (PPE) and emergency/hazard control equipment in the work area, including first aid facilities
- use, care and storage requirements for PPE used in work areas
- examples of possible workplace incidents/emergencies and response procedures
- requirements for record keeping that address WHS, privacy and other relevant legislation.

Assessment Conditions

- Judgement of competence must be based on holistic assessment of the evidence. Assessment methods must confirm consistency of performance over time, rather than a single assessment event.
- This unit of competency is to be assessed in the workplace or a simulated workplace environment. A simulated workplace environment must reflect realistic operational workplace conditions that cover all aspects of workplace performance, including the environment, task skills, task management skills, contingency management skills and job role environment skills.
- Foundation skills are integral to competent performance of the unit and should not be assessed separately.
- Assessment processes and techniques must be appropriate to the language, literacy and numeracy requirements of the work being performed and the needs of the candidate.
- Knowledge evidence may be collected concurrently with performance evidence or through an independent process, such as workbooks, written assessments or interviews (provided a record is kept in each case).
- Holistic assessment methods include:
  - feedback from peers and supervisors about the candidate's ability to maintain workplace safety
  - review of documentation prepared by candidate, such as WHS committee minutes, risk assessments and incident reports
  - review of candidate's responses to WHS case studies, scenarios and/or 'what ifs'
  - written and/or oral questioning to assess underpinning knowledge of principles and practices of effective WHS management and management systems, WHS policies and procedures
  - observation of the candidate preparing for and safely undertaking a range of work tasks.
- Access is required to instruments, equipment, materials, workplace documentation, procedures and specifications associated with this unit, including, but not limited to:
  - laboratory/field work environment, equipment and materials
  - PPE and other safety equipment
  - workplace WHS documentation, management system, policies and procedures.
- Assessors must satisfy the assessor competency requirements that are in place at the time of the assessment as set by the VET regulator.
- The assessor must demonstrate both technical competence and currency.
- Technical competence can be demonstrated through:
  - relevant VET or other qualification/Statement of Attainment AND/OR

POLINV005 Coordinate multi-agency investigations

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in POL Police Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This unit supersedes and is equivalent to PUAPOLIV005A Coordinate multi-agency investigations. • Content and formatting updated to comply with new standards • Unit recoded POL • Element 1 reworded • New PC added to Element 1 • Element 2 and 3 reordered • Four new PC added to Element 2 • PC 3.4 and 3.5 revised • New Element added

Application

This unit describes the skills required to coordinate multi-agency investigations. The content includes the strategic planning and coordination of a multi-agency investigation, its budget and other resources, the identification and provision for operational security of an investigation, and the post-investigation evaluation of the outcomes of such a collaborative investigative exercise.

This unit applies to those working as a police officer in a designated investigation role, in complex police operating environment where multi-agency cooperation is essential to performing a criminal investigation. The working environment would be highly sensitive to multiple risks to operations, participants and assets deployed in the investigation.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to, particularly those related to case management, work health and safety (WHS), information management, collaborative relationships, inter-agency contractual arrangements, operational security, financial and people resource management, authority delegations and communications and presentations.

Those undertaking this unit would work autonomously in the management of complex investigations, while collaborating with others in an investigation team. They would be required to possess strong decision making and problem solving skills, leadership abilities and robust communicative competence. They would perform sophisticated tasks in a range of highly sensitive contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the range of conditions section.
1. Plan multi-agency investigations	1.1 Identify external agencies relevant to investigations to inform planning. 1.2 Negotiate with external agencies to determine scope, direction, capabilities and roles within investigations. 1.3 Identify investigation objectives and scope to maintain operational focus. 1.4 Develop investigation plans with identified objectives, roles and responsibilities of stakeholders. 1.5 Confirm inter-agency agreements to formalise communication channels and promote shared understanding. 1.6 Address cross-agency enquiries to facilitate coordination.
2. Plan multi-agency budget and resource allocation	2.1 Identify and document resources required for planning purposes. 2.2 Identify access strategies to obtain resources available from external agencies. 2.3 Negotiate with decision makers to access workforce and deployment resources. 2.4 Develop resource management plan to guide multi-agency investigations.
3. Coordinate agencies in crime investigations	3.1 Formalise communication channels between agencies to facilitate flow of information during investigation. 3.2 Formalise command structures, roles and areas of responsibility

Assessment Requirements for POLINV005 Coordinate multi-agency investigations

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	These Assessment Requirements were released in POL Police Training Package release 1.0 and meet the Standards for Training Packages. • Assessment Requirements created drawing upon specified assessment information from superseded unit

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the candidate must demonstrate evidence of performance of the following on at least one occasion.

- designing a multi-agency investigation plan(s) for disclosure to partner agencies
- negotiating and documenting multi-agency engagement in investigation(s)
- accessing multi-agency resources to implement an investigation(s)
- communicating with stakeholders and participants in multi-agency investigation using multiple techniques and tools
- delivering reports, presentations and plans within a multi-agency context according to multi-agency protocols and procedures
- managing multi-agency information (manually and electronically) in a structured manner for access by all cooperating agencies
- coordinating multi-agency personnel to complete an investigation, including adjustment methods to accommodate changing circumstances
- demonstrating strategic and operational leadership to complete an investigation
- managing a multi-agency investigation budget
- conducting, constantly reviewing and reporting on a risk analysis of a multi-agency investigation
- identifying and resolving issues to prevent the disruption of a multi-agency investigation
- planning and organising work in a multi-agency investigation environment
- evaluating the effectiveness of a multi-agency investigation

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2022 SkillsIQ

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

- jurisdictional policies and procedures relating to inter-agency collaboration, agreements, resource sharing, privacy, confidentiality, work health and safety, risk management, information management, human resources, financial planning, case management and human resource management
- cross jurisdictional legislation that impacts upon the conduct of investigations
- high level leadership theory, principles and techniques
- complex decision making theory and methods
- duty of care and workplace safety responsibilities
- resource management principles
- operational security principles and practices
- advanced project management methods and techniques
- internal auditing principles and methods
- risk analysis and management theory and practices
- advanced investigation planning theory and methods
- advanced interpersonal skills including dispute resolution methodology
- opportunities, risks and constraints which may hamper the investigation
- risk assessment and management techniques
- security classifications and requirements

Assessment Conditions

This unit contains no specific industry-mandated assessment conditions. Guidance on suggested and recommended conditions and methods can be found in the Implementation Guide.

Consideration must be given to holistic assessment for this unit. Refer to advice in the companion volumes.

Assessors must satisfy the NVR/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

PSPBDR001 Conduct patrols

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in PSP Public Sector Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This unit supersedes and is equivalent to PSPBORD301A Conduct patrols. • Unit code updated • Content and formatting updated to comply with the new standards • All PC transitioned from passive to active voice

Application

This unit describes the skills required to undertake all patrol functions, excluding marine. It includes preparing to patrol, conducting the patrol, gathering and reporting information, and reporting on and reviewing patrol activities.

This unit applies to those working in border protection roles.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work supervising a team, performing routine tasks in a range of contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

PSPBDR002 Use border protection technology equipment

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in PSP Public Sector Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This unit supersedes and is equivalent to PSPBORD302A Use border protection technology equipment. • Unit code updated • Content and formatting updated to comply with the new standards • All PC transitioned from passive to active voice

Application

This unit describes the skills required to use specialist technology to support border protection operations including surveillance, remote operations, passenger operations, cargo, post, and waterfront. It includes deploying equipment, operating and maintaining equipment, gathering and reporting information, and reporting on and reviewing technology activities.

This unit applies to those working in various border protection fields where their role involves use of specialist technology.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently within a larger team, performing routine tasks in a range of contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

PSPBDR007 Develop surveillance flight routes

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in PSP Public Sector Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This unit supersedes and is equivalent to PSPBORD402A Develop surveillance flight routes. • Unit code updated • Content and formatting updated to comply with the new standards • All PC transitioned from passive to active voice

Application

This unit describes the skills required to review and develop new surveillance flight route programs to ensure that these continue to meet operational requirements. It includes reviewing established flight routes, establishing new flight routes, deleting non-current routes, obtaining flight crew input into flight route review and development, and obtaining approvals for changes to flight routes.

This unit applies to those working in roles responsible for the development and review of flight surveillance routes.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently in consultation with others, performing complex tasks in a range of contexts.

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the range of conditions section.
1. Review established flight routes	1.1 Check flight routes regularly against requirements. 1.2 Use risk management techniques in checking effectiveness of established flight routes. 1.3 Confirm suitability of flight routes. 1.4 Assess overall effectiveness of the route. 1.5 Identify and analyse changes/trends in effectiveness.
2. Establish new flight routes	2.1 Plan new routes based upon analysis of client need and the application of a risk identification and assessment. 2.2 Plan route for maximum effectiveness. 2.3 Validate the new route to assess effectiveness. 2.4 Change to new route based upon evaluation.
3. Delete non-current flight routes	3.1 Identify and assess flights as being ineffective. 3.2 Prepare proposal to delete the flight route. 3.3 Advise relevant personnel.
4. Obtain flight crew input into flight route review and development	4.1 Seek feedback on route plans from flight crew. 4.2 Consider flight crew input. 4.3 Provide feedback to flight crew.
5. Obtain approvals for changes to flight routes	5.1 Submit proposed changes to flight routes to relevant personnel for approval.

PSPCRT013 Record court proceedings using shorthand

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in PSP Public Sector Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This unit supersedes and is equivalent to PSPCRT412B Record court proceedings. • Unit code updated • Content and formatting updated to comply with new standards • Unit title changed to better reflect unit outcomes • All PC transitioned from passive to active voice • PC 1.2 and 1.3, PC 3.2 and 3.3 merged • PC 2.2 removed

Application

This unit describes the skills required to report verbatim and transcribe court proceedings of a straightforward nature using high-speed shorthand or machine shorthand with speed and accuracy set at jurisdictional level. The unit includes preparing for hearings, setting up court arrangements, and producing transcripts.

This unit applies to those working within the court system operating under procedures set by the court.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to, particularly those set by the court.

Those undertaking this unit would generally work independently with occasional supervisory responsibilities. They would perform complex tasks in a range of familiar and unfamiliar contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

PSPFRU012 Review fraud control activities

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in PSP Public Sector Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This unit supersedes and is equivalent to PSPFRAU605B Review fraud control activities. • Unit code updated • Content and formatting updated to comply with new standards • All PC transitioned from passive to active voice

Application

This unit describes the skills required to review the breadth of activities in fraud/corruption control in an organisation. The review cycle is determined according to organisational needs and any external reporting requirements, though this cycle could be interrupted in particular circumstances including changes in service delivery or significant increases in fraudulent activities. This includes preparing for review, assessing the ability of fraud/corruption control activities to minimise fraud and corruption, and providing advice and recommendations for action to improve effectiveness of controls.

This unit applies to those working in roles involved in fraud control activities, in particular the review of activities within their organisation.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently, performing complex tasks in a range of familiar contexts.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to unit at the time of publication.

PSPGEN059 Benchmark performance

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in PSP Public Sector Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This unit supersedes and is equivalent to PSPGOV518A Benchmark performance. • Unit code updated • Content and formatting updated to comply with new standards • All PC transitioned from passive to active voice

Application

This unit describes the skills required to benchmark performance of a functional area or business unit of an organisation. It includes designing a benchmarking approach, establishing benchmarks, establishing and managing a benchmarking exercise, gathering and analysing information, reporting on and acting on benchmarking outcomes.

This unit applies to those working in generalist and specialist roles within the public sector.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work autonomously, performing complex tasks in a range of familiar contexts.

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the range of conditions section.
1. Design benchmarking approach	1.1 Confirm the organisation's core business, functions, and purpose to provide a context for the benchmarking exercise. 1.2 Analyse the organisation's strategic and organisational context to identify factors with current or future impact on the organisation. 1.3 Establish the scope of the benchmarking exercise and determine objectives, desired outcomes, timeframes and resources. 1.4 Prepare a project plan and have it approved.
2. Establish benchmarks	2.1 Identify key result areas for benchmarking in accordance with determined scope and objectives. 2.2 Conduct consultation with key stakeholders to consider and confirm the validity and usefulness of the established benchmarks. 2.3 Confirm benchmarks or make arrangements to develop and/or use them.
3. Undertake benchmarking exercise	3.1 Establish and resource staffing arrangements. 3.2 Include consultation, communication with stakeholders and ongoing progress reports as a feature of the management of the exercise to ensure the engagement and cooperation of those people in the areas being benchmarked. 3.3 Manage benchmarking exercise in accordance with timeframes and budgetary constraints.
4. Gather and analyse information	4.1 Undertake networking and consultation with staff in the areas to be benchmarked, to gather tacit knowledge. 4.2 Encourage input to ensure outcomes are valid, reliable and useful for improving performance. 4.3 Gather organisational data, collate with information from consultation and analyse against benchmarks. 4.4 Discuss benchmarking findings with staff and management, and incorporate feedback into final results.
5. Report on and/or act on benchmarking outcomes	5.1 Write and present benchmarking report to meet audience needs. 5.2 Identify areas of excellence, strengths and recommendations for improvement in the report. 5.3 Develop a strategy for phased implementation of recommendations when required. 5.4 Preserve and store research information to provide historical data

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the range of conditions section.
1. Prepare for data collection	1.1 Study the project or survey question and clarify where necessary. 1.2 Define expected data outputs. 1.3 Familiarise yourself with proposed technology and customise where necessary. 1.4 Confirm the population for the source of data. 1.5 Assess the survey design for suitability.
2. Define data requirements	2.1 Determine the accuracy requirements (precision) of the data to be collected. 2.2 Define the requirements of proposed information management system with regard to storage and processing of data. 2.3 Define and communicate information requirements to all staff involved in data collection. 2.4 Identify and assess data sources for accessibility and reliability. 2.5 Define the type and extent of data required. 2.6 Apply classification standards to the proposed data.
3. Prepare data collection tools for direct collection	3.1 Define data collection methods and techniques clearly relative to data requirements. 3.2 Identify the optimum method for gathering the proposed data after research of alternatives has occurred. 3.3 Design the survey vehicle or questionnaire in conjunction with a suitably qualified person. 3.4 Test and evaluate the survey vehicle.
4. Conduct data collection using direct collection	4.1 Identify and/or construct the proposed sampling frame. 4.2 Select a sample and implement a pilot study. 4.3 Re-evaluate the proposed survey design based on the results of the pilot study. 4.4 Conduct the main survey according to accepted professional standards. 4.5 Take opportunities to establish and maintain contacts with those who may provide useful information, with due consideration of respondent burden.
5. Conduct data collection from existing source/s	5.1 Source data for the project. 5.2 Identify a range of statistics necessary for the project in conjunction with a suitably qualified person.

Assessment Requirements for PSPGEN063 Process statistical data

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	These Assessment Requirements were released in PSP Public Sector Training Package release 1.0 and meet the Standards for Training Packages. • Assessment Requirements created drawing upon specified assessment information from superseded unit

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the candidate must demonstrate evidence of performance of the following on at least one occasion.

- applying legislation, regulations, policies and standards relating to statistical data processing
- using at least one database management tool
- using information technology, including spreadsheets and databases
- undertaking critical analysis and problem solving
- recordkeeping
- reading and interpreting information
- using numeracy skills for data analysis/validation

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

- public sector legislation including WHS and environment, regulations, policies, procedures and guidelines relating to statistical data processing privacy and confidentiality
- statistical standards and classifications
- data processing concepts and systems
- workplace quality assurance standards
- management information policies

PSPGEN064 Interrogate and analyse statistical data

Release	Comments
1	This unit was released in PSP Public Sector Training Package release 1.0 and meets the Standards for Training Packages. This unit supersedes and is equivalent to PSPGOV523A Interrogate and analyse statistical data. • Unit code updated • Content and formatting updated to comply with new standards • All PC transitioned from passive to active voice

Application

This unit describes the skills required to apply techniques to analyse statistical data. It includes planning the analysis, applying statistical concepts and processes, determining strengths and weaknesses of the analysis and producing further statistics.

This unit applies to those working in generalist and specialist roles within the public sector.

The skills and knowledge described in this unit must be applied within the legislative, regulatory and policy environment in which they are carried out. Organisational policies and procedures must be consulted and adhered to.

Those undertaking this unit would work independently seeking advice as required, performing complex tasks in a range of familiar contexts.

Elements describe the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the range of conditions section.
1. Plan analysis	1.1 Choose analysis and descriptive tools and techniques appropriate to the nature of the information and the required outcome. 1.2 Determine priority of data to be interrogated in consultation with suitably qualified people, and organise work. 1.3 Reflect an understanding of the nature of the program or activity from which the data is obtained in the analysis of material. 1.4 Reflect an understanding of the way in which the data is structured in the system in the analysis. 1.5 Reflect the likely statistical indicators of the results in the analysis.
2. Apply statistical concepts and processes	2.1 Use software to retrieve data and present it in the required format. 2.2 Perform quantitative or qualitative analyses to obtain required outcomes. 2.3 Use analysis and descriptive tools and techniques appropriately given the nature of the information and the required outcomes. 2.4 Express preliminary results in accordance with the required detail, format and timeframe of the project. 2.5 Perform analysis.
3. Determine strengths and weaknesses of analysis	3.1 Identify sources of error and describe as required. 3.2 Identify and describe limitations in the methodology as appropriate. 3.3 Verify the conduct and results of analysis by a suitably qualified person.
4. Produce further statistics	4.1 Calculate summary statistics from the given dataset as required.

ELEMENTS	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
Elements describe the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the range of conditions section.
1. Interpret a graph or table	1.1 Write reports based on data that identify relevant relationships within data. 1.2 Calculate row and column percentages from a table. 1.3 Interpret data represented in a table or graph.
2. Interpret data and its summarised highlights	2.1 Define and explain data summaries and trends in a manner suited to the audience. 2.2 Interpret survey data according to accepted standards. 2.3 Interpret data and summarise its highlights. 2.4 Verify interpretation with a suitably qualified person.
3. Interpret a range of official statistics in a policy environment	3.1 Identify and explain data summaries and trends. 3.2 Interpret statistical tests and explain this interpretation. 3.3 Critique the sampling method or survey design. 3.4 Interpret the data in such a way as to inform decision making. 3.5 Verify interpretation with a suitably qualified person. 3.6 Identify the shortcomings of statistical applications in the policy environment.
4. Present statistical results	4.1 Present data in tables, charts and maps so that the reader does not misconstrue it. 4.2 Include glossaries, technical notes and referencing where required. 4.3 Prepare and present reports that include statistical concepts, tables, charts and maps. 4.4 Present findings in a way that is most appropriate for the audience. 4.5 Use charts in presentations that are appropriate to the variables and adhere to accepted standards.
5. Guide others in the interpretation of data	5.1 Define data summaries and trends clearly and communicate to staff involved in the project. 5.2 Communicate the assumptions upon which the interpretation is based, in accordance with audience needs.

Elements and Performance Criteria

Elements describe the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the range of conditions section.
1. Estimate liability	1.1 Use current information and guidelines on legislative changes and liability management to ensure up-to-date methods are used to estimate liability. 1.2 Identify all anticipated costs the employer believes may be incurred up to the time claims are resolved. 1.3 Use case estimate software facilities as required to create automated case estimates based on reporting data. 1.4 Use key indicators to estimate costs and amend automated estimates as necessary, based on local knowledge of particular claims. 1.5 Review estimates at required intervals, and maintain estimates of future liability on all open claims. 1.6 Identify and pursue recovery rights against other parties or employers for the disabilities claimed.
2. Determine settlement options	2.1 Identify settlement options. 2.2 Assess options to determine the most cost effective course of action, given the nature and extent of each liability.
3. Negotiate settlements	3.1 Consult injured workers to ensure they have competent professional and financial advice before entering into an agreement. 3.2 Negotiate settlement terms to meet obligations and minimise losses. 3.3 Determine settlement terms that represent substantial savings on costs that would otherwise have been incurred for future liability. 3.4 Negotiate settlements within financial delegations or refer. 3.5 Obtain discharge to ensure potential for further liability is eliminated. 3.6 Refer settlements, for conciliation and arbitration where agreement cannot be reached.
