Preliminary Information

Important Note to Users

Training Packages are not static documents; they are amended periodically to reflect the latest industry practices and are version controlled. It is essential that the latest version is always used.

Check the version number before commencing training or assessment

This Training Package is Version 4.1 – check whether this is the latest version by going to the National Training Information Service (www.ntis.gov.au) and locating information about the Training Package. Alternatively, contact Government Skills Australia (www.governmentskills.com.au) to confirm the latest version number.

Explanation of version number conventions

The primary release Training Package is Version 1. When changes are made to a Training Package, sometimes the version number is changed and sometimes it is not, depending on the extent of the change. When a Training Package is reviewed it is considered to be a new Training Package for the purposes of version control, and is Version 1. Do not confuse the version number with the Training Package's national code (which remains the same during its period of endorsement).

Explanation of the review date

The review date (shown on the title page and in the footer of each page) indicates when the Training Package is expected to be reviewed in the light of changes such as changing technologies and circumstances. The review date is not an expiry date. Endorsed Training Packages and their components remain current until they are reviewed and replaced.

Overview of Training Packages

Overview of Training Packages

What is a Training Package?

A Training Package is an integrated set of nationally endorsed competency standards, assessment guidelines and Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF) qualifications for a specific industry, industry sector or enterprise.

Each Training Package:

provides a consistent and reliable set of components for training, recognising and assessing people's skills, and may also have optional support materials; enables nationally recognised qualifications to be awarded through direct assessment of workplace competencies; encourages the development and delivery of flexible training which suits individual and industry requirements; and encourages learning and assessment in a work-related environment which leads to verifiable workplace outcomes.

How do Training Packages fit within the National Skills Framework?

The National Skills Framework applies nationally, is endorsed by the Ministerial Council for Vocational and Technical Education, and comprises the Australian Quality Training Framework (AQTF), and Training Packages endorsed by the National Quality Council (NQC).

How are Training Packages developed?

Training Packages are developed by Industry Skills Councils or enterprises to meet the identified training needs of specific industries or industry sectors. To gain national endorsement of Training Packages, developers must provide evidence of extensive research, consultation and support within the industry area or enterprise.

How do Training Packages encourage flexibility?

Training Packages describe the skills and knowledge needed to perform effectively in the workplace without prescribing how people should be trained.

Training Packages acknowledge that people can achieve vocational competency in many ways by emphasising what the learner can do, not how or where they learned to do it. For example, some experienced workers might be able to demonstrate competency against the units of competency, and even gain a qualification, without completing a formal training program.

With Training Packages, assessment and training may be conducted at the workplace, off-the-job, at a training organisation, during regular work, or through work experience, work placement, work simulation or any combination of these.

Who can deliver and assess using Training Packages?

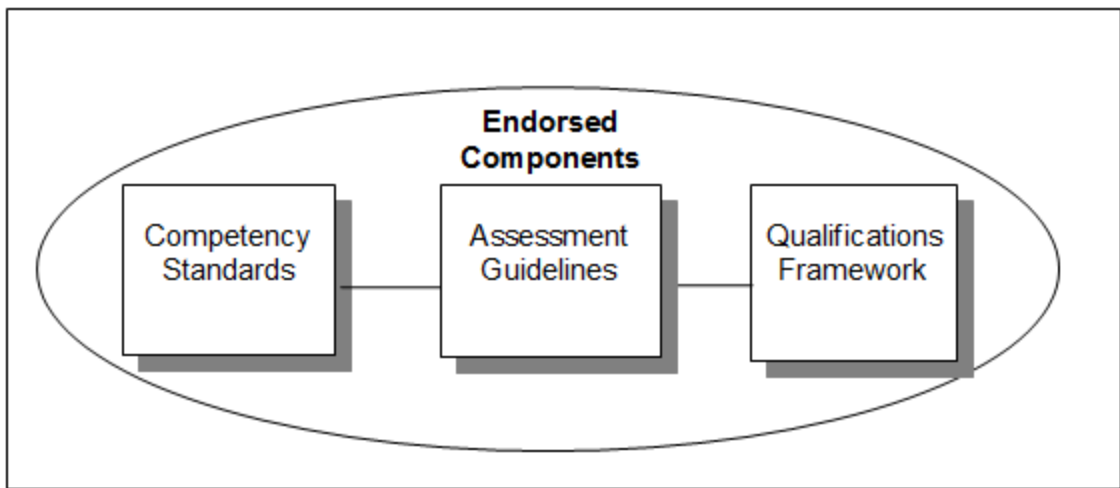

Training and assessment using Training Packages must be conducted by a Registered Training Organisation (RTO) that has the qualifications or specific units of competency on its scope of registration, or that works in partnership with another RTO as specified in the AQTF 2007.

Training Package Components

Training Packages are made up of mandatory components endorsed by the NQC, and optional support materials.

Training Package Endorsed Components

The nationally endorsed components include the Competency Standards, Assessment Guidelines and Qualifications Framework. These form the basis of training and assessment in the Training Package and, as such, they must be used.

Competency Standards

Each unit of competency identifies a discrete workplace requirement and includes the knowledge and skills that underpin competency as well as language, literacy and numeracy; and occupational health and safety requirements. The units of competency must be adhered to in training and assessment to ensure consistency of outcomes.

Assessment Guidelines

The Assessment Guidelines provide an industry framework to ensure all assessments meet industry needs and nationally agreed standards as expressed in the Training Package and the AQTF 2010. The Assessment Guidelines must be followed to ensure the integrity of assessment leading to nationally recognised qualifications.

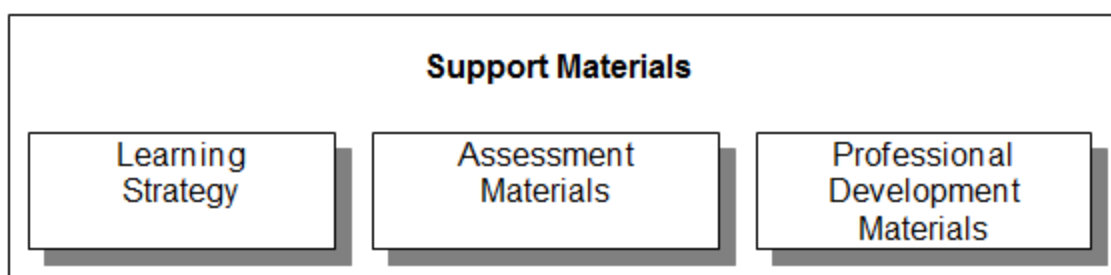

Qualifications Framework

Each Training Package provides details of those units of competency that must be achieved to award AQF qualifications. The rules around which units of competency can be combined to make up a valid AQF qualification in the Training Package are referred to as the 'packaging rules'. The packaging rules must be followed to ensure the integrity of nationally recognised qualifications issued.

Training Package Support Materials

The endorsed components of Training Packages are complemented and supported by optional support materials that provide for choice in the design of training and assessment to meet the needs of industry and learners.

Training Package support materials can relate to single or multiple units of competency, an industry sector, a qualification or the whole Training Package. They tend to fall into one or more of the categories illustrated below.

Training Package support materials are produced by a range of stakeholders such as RTOs, individual trainers and assessors, private and commercial developers and Government agencies.

Training Package, Qualification and Unit of Competency Codes

There are agreed conventions for the national codes used for Training Packages and their components. Always use the correct codes, exactly as they appear in the Training Package, and with the code always before the title.

Training Package Codes

Each Training Package has a unique five-character national code assigned when the Training Package is endorsed, for example PSP04. The first three characters are letters identifying the Training Package industry coverage and the last two characters are numbers identifying the year of endorsement.

Qualification Codes

Within each Training Package, each qualification has a unique eight-character code, for example PSP20104. Qualification codes are developed as follows:

- the first three letters identify the Training Package;
- the first number identifies the qualification level (noting that in qualification titles themselves, arabic numbers are not used);
- the next two numbers identify the position in the sequence of the qualifications at that level; and
- the last two numbers identify the year in which the qualification was endorsed. (Where qualifications are added after the initial Training Package endorsement, the last two numbers may differ from other Training Package qualifications as they identify the year in which those particular qualifications were endorsed.)

Unit of Competency Codes

Within each Training Package, each unit of competency has a unique code. Unit of competency codes are assigned when the Training Package is endorsed, or when new units of competency are added to an existing endorsed Training Package. Unit codes are developed as follows:

- a typical code is made up of 12 characters, normally a mixture of uppercase letters and numbers, as in PSPGOV201A;
- the first three characters signify the Training Package and up to eight characters, relating to an industry sector, function or skill area, follow;
- the last character is always a letter and identifies the unit of competency version. An 'A' in the example above indicates that this is the original unit of competency. 'B' or another incremented version identifier usually means that minor changes have been made. Typically this would mean that wording has changed in the range statement or evidence guide, providing clearer intent;
- where changes are made that alter the outcome, a new code is assigned and the title is changed.

Training Package, Qualification and Unit of Competency Titles

There are agreed conventions for titling Training Packages and their components. Always use the correct titles, exactly as they appear in the Training Package, and with the code always placed before the title.

Training Package Titles

The title of each endorsed Training Package is unique and relates the Training Package's broad industry coverage.

Qualification Titles

The title of each endorsed Training Package qualification is unique. Qualification titles use the following sequence:

first, the qualification is identified as either Certificate I, Certificate II, Certificate III, Certificate IV, Diploma, Advanced Diploma, Vocational Graduate Certificate or Vocational Graduate Diploma; this is followed by the words 'in' for Certificates I to IV and Vocational Graduate Certificate, and 'of' for Diploma, Advanced Diploma, and Vocational Graduate Diploma; then, the industry descriptor follows, for example Telecommunications; and then, if applicable, the occupational or functional stream follows in brackets, for example (Computer Systems).

For example:

PSP40104 Certificate IV in Government
PSP51704 Diploma of Government (Investigation).

Unit of Competency Titles

Each unit of competency title is unique. Unit of competency titles describe the competency outcome concisely, and are written in sentence case.

For example:

PSPHR603B Provide advisory and mediation services
PSPGOV422A Apply government processes.

Introduction to PSP04 Public Sector Training Package

Introduction to PSP04 Public Sector Training Package

Context

The review and re-development of the Public Sector Training Package has occurred within the context of a strong history of public sector skills development and ongoing reform of the vocational education and training system. Australia is committed to a system of vocational education and training which recognises and responds to industry needs. The aim is to increase the competitiveness and productivity of Australian industry.

A cooperative national approach is enabling Australian industries to identify the competency requirements of their workplaces, and to provide benchmarks for training and development, and qualifications which are nationally consistent and nationally recognised.

A national focus for vocational education and training means that people's qualifications and skills are portable across industries and across states. Industry competency requirements are determined as part of the development of industry Training Packages and most industries are currently engaged in developing or implementing their own Training Packages developed by various approved industry bodies.

The Public Sector Industry

The public sector is a major industry by any standards, including size, geographical spread, economic impact and products and services. The public sector:

- is a major employer, with over 1.3 million employees, representing 18% of the total Australian workforce;
- occupies a highly significant and pivotal position in Australian society generally and particularly in relation to vocational education and training, with diverse roles and responsibilities, with a very wide variety of services and facilities that impact on every aspect of the lives of Australian people, and which require employees with a very wide range of up to date knowledge and skills;
- contributes significantly to the development and maintenance of Australia's skill levels in both cities and in rural and regional areas through a widely dispersed workforce across Australia and overseas;
- shares a number of characteristics with private sector enterprises and has some common industry/occupational groups but has significantly different roles and responsibilities, structures and complexity of decision-making and accountability, which result in additional skill issues and the need for different responses;
- pays employees gross earnings in excess of $60 billion per annum;
- consists of a very diverse range and size of agencies;
- intersects with a wide range of industries, but chiefly government administration and defence, education and health and community services, so the VET Plans for other related industries need to be considered in conjunction with the public sector one to get a better picture of skill issues, needs and responses across government employment;
- employs a wide range of occupational groups with different and changing skill needs;

The public sector has undergone major change in the last 20 years and continues to experience increased and changing demands for services, as well as employment changes which impact on skill needs. Substantial down-sizing has occurred and the Commonwealth public sector continues to decline while State/Territory jurisdictions remain stable or with minor increases mainly in education and health and community services. Changes in employment include reduced level of permanent/ongoing employment, increases in contract, part-time and casual employment, and significantly reduced numbers of young employees, base grade positions and traditional apprenticeships, ageing of the workforce, higher turnover rates, more flexible working arrangements and more flexible employment conditions including work/life balance arrangements.

Structural change has occurred through greater contestability of public services, privatisation, asset sales, corporatisation, outsourcing and changes in machinery of government through frequent restructuring of portfolio and agency arrangements and responsibilities. Changes in workplace culture and organisation include devolved responsibilities for financial and human resource management, replacement of strong central control with frameworks, advisory, consultancy, support and monitoring approaches, increased focus on outputs and outcomes, a shift from EEO to a broader concept of diversity in employment, greater emphasis on efficient, ethical, accountable and customer service cultures, more contract management of outsourced arrangements, a growing focus on whole-of-government, integrated services and partnerships in the approach to complex issues and community demands and very significant increased use of information and communications technology.

The trends of the last 10 years are likely to continue, with minimal increases in employment at a State/Territory level in education and health and community services. Of increasing importance will be flexible and fluid working arrangements related to structural change, legislative and policy demands across a wide range of areas (e.g. ethics, financial management and accountability and privacy), demands for new and improved services (e.g. for an ageing population, and in regional and rural areas), projects, partnerships, whole-of-government and integrated services across levels of government. There will be greater demands on employees to be multi-skilled, flexible, adaptable, open to change, performance driven, customer-focussed and with technological skills.

The PSP99 Public Services Training Package, first developed in 1999 has now been reviewed, revised and substantially redeveloped into the current publication, PSP04 Public Sector Training Package to take account of the changes outlined above. This current Version 4.1 of the PSP04 Public Sector Training Package is the result of several changes as outlined in the Modification History. Version 3 saw the inclusion of a new qualification for Rail Safety Regulation. In the development of version 2, a review for Employability Skills and the inclusion of a new qualification for Government Revenue Officers took place. The Certificate I in Business was also removed from the Training Package at that time.

Cross Industry qualifications have been introduced in Version 4.1 and cover the fields of Radiation Safety and Translating and Interpreting.

Qualifications Framework

Qualifications Framework

The Australian Qualifications Framework

What is the Australian Qualifications Framework?

A brief overview of the Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF) follows. For a full explanation of the AQF, see the AQF Implementation Handbook.

The AQF provides a comprehensive, nationally consistent framework for all qualifications in post-compulsory education and training in Australia. In the vocational education and training (VET) sector it assists national consistency for all trainees, learners, employers and providers by enabling national recognition of qualifications and Statements of Attainment.

Training Package qualifications in the VET sector must comply with the titles and guidelines of the AQF. Endorsed Training Packages provide a unique title for each AQF qualification which must always be reproduced accurately.

Qualifications

Training Packages can incorporate the following AQF qualifications.

- Certificate I in ...
- Certificate II in ...
- Certificate III in ...
- Certificate IV in ...
- Diploma of ...
- Advanced Diploma of ...
- Vocational Graduate Certificate in ...
- Vocational Graduate Diploma of ...

On completion of the requirements defined in the Training Package, a Registered Training Organisation (RTO) may issue a nationally recognised AQF qualification. Issuance of AQF qualifications must comply with the advice provided in the AQF Implementation Handbook and the AQTF 2010 Essential Standards for Initial and Continuing Registration.

Statement of Attainment

A Statement of Attainment is issued by a Registered Training Organisation when an individual has completed one or more units of competency from nationally recognised qualification(s)/course(s). Issuance of Statements of Attainment must comply with the advice provided in the current AQF Implementation Handbook and the AQTF 2010 Essential Standards for Initial and Continuing Registration.

Under the AQTF 2010, RTOs must recognise the achievement of competencies as recorded on a qualification or Statement of Attainment issued by other RTOs. Given this, recognised competencies can progressively build towards a full AQF qualification.

AQF Guidelines and Learning Outcomes

The AQF Implementation Handbook provides a comprehensive guideline for each AQF qualification. A summary of the learning outcome characteristics and their distinguishing features for each VET related AQF qualification is provided below.

Certificate I

Characteristics of Learning Outcomes

Breadth, depth and complexity of knowledge and skills would prepare a person to perform a defined range of activities most of which may be routine and predictable.

Applications may include a variety of employment related skills including preparatory access and participation skills, broad-based induction skills and/or specific workplace skills. They may also include participation in a team or work group.

Distinguishing Features of Learning Outcomes

Do the competencies enable an individual with this qualification to:

demonstrate knowledge by recall in a narrow range of areas;

demonstrate basic practical skills, such as the use of relevant tools; perform a sequence of routine tasks given clear direction; and receive and pass on messages/information.

Certificate II

Breadth, depth and complexity of knowledge and skills would prepare a person to perform in a range of varied activities or knowledge application where there is a clearly defined range of contexts in which the choice of actions required is usually clear and there is limited complexity in the range of operations to be applied.

Performance of a prescribed range of functions involving known routines and procedures and some accountability for the quality of outcomes.

Applications may include some complex or non-routine activities involving individual responsibility or autonomy and/or collaboration with others as part of a group or team.

Do the competencies enable an individual with this qualification to:

demonstrate basic operational knowledge in a moderate range of areas;

apply a defined range of skills;

apply known solutions to a limited range of predictable problems;

perform a range of tasks where choice between a limited range of options is required; assess and record information from varied sources; and take limited responsibility for own outputs in work and learning.

Certificate IIICharacteristics of Learning Outcomes

Breadth, depth and complexity of knowledge and competencies would cover selecting, adapting and transferring skills and knowledge to new environments and providing technical advice and some leadership in resolution of specified problems. This would be applied across a range of roles in a variety of contexts with some complexity in the extent and choice of options available.

Performance of a defined range of skilled operations, usually within a range of broader related activities involving known routines, methods and procedures, where some discretion and judgement is required in the selection of equipment, services or contingency measures and within known time constraints.

Applications may involve some responsibility for others. Participation in teams including group or team co-ordination may be involved.

Do the competencies enable an individual with this qualification to:

demonstrate some relevant theoretical knowledge;

apply a range of well-developed skills;

apply known solutions to a variety of predictable problems;

perform processes that require a range of well-developed skills where some discretion and judgement is required;

interpret available information, using discretion and judgement;

take responsibility for own outputs in work and learning; and take limited responsibility for the output of others.

Certificate IV

Breadth, depth and complexity of knowledge and competencies would cover a broad range of varied activities or application in a wider variety of contexts most of which are complex and non-routine. Leadership and guidance are involved when organising activities of self and others as well as contributing to technical solutions of a non-routine or contingency nature.

Performance of a broad range of skilled applications including the requirement to evaluate and analyse current practices, develop new criteria and procedures for performing current practices and provision of some leadership and guidance to others in the application and planning of the skills.

Applications involve responsibility for, and limited organisation of, others.

Do the competencies enable an individual with this qualification to:

demonstrate understanding of a broad knowledge base incorporating some theoretical concepts;

apply solutions to a defined range of unpredictable problems;

identify and apply skill and knowledge areas to a wide variety of contexts, with depth in some areas;

identify, analyse and evaluate information from a variety of sources; take responsibility for own outputs in relation to specified quality standards; and take limited responsibility for the quantity and quality of the output of others.

DiplomaCharacteristics of Learning Outcomes

Breadth, depth and complexity covering planning and initiation of alternative approaches to skills or knowledge applications across a broad range of technical and/or management requirements, evaluation and coordination. The self-directed application of knowledge and skills, with substantial depth in some areas where judgment is required in planning and selecting appropriate equipment, services and techniques for self and others.

Applications involve participation in development of strategic initiatives as well as personal responsibility and autonomy in performing complex technical operations or organising others. It may include participation in teams including teams concerned with planning and evaluation functions. Group or team coordination may be involved.

The degree of emphasis on breadth as against depth of knowledge and skills may vary between qualifications granted at this level.

Do the competencies or learning outcomes enable an individual with this qualification to: demonstrate understanding of a broad knowledge base incorporating theoretical concepts, with substantial depth in some areas;

analyse and plan approaches to technical problems or management requirements;

transfer and apply theoretical concepts and/or technical or creative skills to a range of situations; evaluate information, using it to forecast for planning or research purposes;

take responsibility for own outputs in relation to broad quantity and quality parameters; and take some responsibility for the achievement of group outcomes.

Advanced DiplomaCharacteristics of Learning Outcomes

Breadth, depth and complexity involving analysis, design, planning, execution and evaluation across a range of technical and/or management functions including development of new criteria or applications or knowledge or procedures.

The application of a significant range of fundamental principles and complex techniques across a wide and often unpredictable variety of contexts in relation to either varied or highly specific functions. Contribution to the development of a broad plan, budget or strategy is involved and accountability and responsibility for self and others in achieving the outcomes is involved.

Applications involve significant judgment in planning, design, technical or leadership/guidance functions related to products, services, operations or procedures.

The degree of emphasis on breadth as against depth of knowledge and skills may vary between qualifications granted at this level.

Do the competencies or learning outcomes enable an individual with this qualification to:

demonstrate understanding of specialised knowledge with depth in some areas; analyse, diagnose, design and execute judgments across a broad range of technical or management functions; generate ideas through the analysis of information and concepts at an abstract level;

demonstrate a command of wide-ranging, highly specialised technical, creative or conceptual skills;

demonstrate accountability for personal outputs within broad parameters; and demonstrate accountability for personal and group outcomes within broad parameters.

Vocational Graduate Certificate

Characteristics of competencies or learning outcomes

- The self-directed development and achievement of broad and specialised areas of knowledge and skills, building on prior knowledge and skills.
- Substantial breadth and complexity involving the initiation, analysis, design, planning, execution and evaluation of technical and management functions in highly varied and highly specialised contexts.
- Applications involve making significant, high-level, independent judgements in major broad or planning, design, operational, technical and management functions in highly varied and specialised contexts. They may include responsibility and broad-ranging accountability for the structure, management and output of the work or functions of others.
- The degree of emphasis on breadth, as opposed to depth, of knowledge and skills may vary between qualifications granted at this level.

- Demonstrate the self-directed development and achievement of broad and specialised areas of knowledge and skills, building on prior knowledge and skills.
- Initiate, analyse, design, plan, execute and evaluate major broad or technical and management functions in highly varied and highly specialised contexts.
- Generate and evaluate ideas through the analysis of information and concepts at an abstract level.

- Demonstrate a command of wide-ranging, highly specialised technical, creative or conceptual skills in complex contexts.
- Demonstrate responsibility and broad-ranging accountability for the structure, management and output of the work or functions of others.

Vocational Graduate Diploma

Characteristics of competencies or learning outcomes

- The self-directed development and achievement of broad and specialised areas of knowledge and skills, building on prior knowledge and skills.
- Substantial breadth, depth and complexity involving the initiation, analysis, design, planning, execution and evaluation of major functions, both broad and highly specialised, in highly varied and highly specialised contexts.
- Further specialisation within a systematic and coherent body of knowledge.
- Applications involve making high-level, fully independent, complex judgements in broad planning, design, operational, technical and management functions in highly varied and highly specialised contexts. They may include full responsibility and accountability for all aspects of work and functions of others, including planning, budgeting and strategy development.
- The degree of emphasis on breadth, as opposed to depth, of knowledge and skills may vary between qualifications granted at this level.

- Demonstrate the self-directed development and achievement of broad and highly specialised areas of knowledge and skills, building on prior knowledge and skills.
- Initiate, analyse, design, plan, execute and evaluate major functions, both broad and within highly varied and highly specialised contexts.
- Generate and evaluate complex ideas through the analysis of information and concepts at an abstract level.
- Demonstrate an expert command of wide-ranging, highly specialised, technical, creative or conceptual skills in complex and highly specialised or varied contexts.
- Demonstrate full responsibility and accountability for personal outputs.
- Demonstrate full responsibility and accountability for all aspects of the work or functions of others, including planning, budgeting and strategy.

Skill Sets

Definition

Skill sets are defined as single units of competency, or combinations of units of competency from an endorsed Training Package, which link to a licence or regulatory requirement, or defined industry need.

Wording on Statements of Attainment

Skill sets are a way of publicly identifying logical groupings of units of competency which meet an identified need or industry outcome. Skill sets are not qualifications.

Where skill sets are identified in a Training Package, the Statement of Attainment can set out the competencies a person has achieved in a way that is consistent and clear for employers and others. This is done by including the wording 'these competencies meet [insert skill set title or identified industry area] need' on the Statement of Attainment. This wording applies only to skill sets that are formally identified as such in the endorsed Training Package. See the 2010 edition of the AQF Implementation Handbook for advice on wording on Statements of Attainment.

Introduction

Introduction

These Assessment Guidelines provide the endorsed framework for assessment of units of competency in this Training Package. They are designed to ensure that assessment is consistent with the Australian Quality Training Framework (AQTF) Essential Standards for Initial and Continuing Registration. Assessments against the units of competency in this Training Package must be carried out in accordance with these Assessment Guidelines.

Guiding Principles for Assessment in the Public Sector

Guiding Principles for Assessment in the Public Sector

The principles underpinning assessment in the public sector take account of a number of unique features of the industry. These include:

- a widely dispersed workforce
- a substantial group of very experienced (and competent) workers who have not had their competencies formally recognised
- substantial mobility between agencies and jurisdictions
- work that often also draws upon a number of specialist areas (social work, accounting, agriculture, ...)

- an extremely diverse range of jobs and roles within and between agencies and jurisdictions
- a highly interactive, client based, service delivery orientation
- well-defined organisational structures.

The guiding principles that underpin assessment in the public sector include:

- assessment is a transparent, empowering process that engages assesseees through encouraging self-assessment, free consent to assessment and responsibility
- opportunities to demonstrate the achievement of public sector competencies through assessment or recognition processes are available to employees working in any agency (including those in remote locations and small agencies), and to prospective employees not yet employed in the public sector
- where possible, the workplace will be used as the context for assessment, using current work activities, work placement or work experience
- assessment in the workplace is structured to minimise any interference with the normal working of the agency and its services to clients, either through the activities of assesseees or the assignment of assessors or technical experts to assessment responsibilities
- assessments provide constructive feedback to assesseees that supports further competency development assesseees are made aware that assessment provides only the declaration of competency observed at the time(s) of assessment and is not a guarantee of enduring competence

- as the outcomes of the assessment process are profoundly important for assesseees and their employers, the design of assessment resources and the conduct of assessments must be carried out in accordance with these guidelines.

Assessment System Overview

This section provides an overview of the requirements for assessment when using this Training Package, including a summary of the AQTF requirements; licensing and registration requirements; and assessment pathways.

Quality assessment underpins the credibility of the vocational education and training sector. The Assessment Guidelines of a Training Package are an important tool in supporting quality assessment.

Assessment within the National Skills Framework is the process of collecting evidence and making judgements about whether competency has been achieved to confirm whether an individual can perform to the standards expected in the workplace, as expressed in the relevant endorsed unit of competency.

Assessment must be carried out in accordance with the:

- benchmarks for assessment
- principles of assessment
- rules of evidence
- assessment requirements set out in the AQTF

Benchmarks for Assessment

The endorsed units of competency in this Training Package are the benchmarks for assessment. As such, they provide the basis for nationally recognised Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF) qualifications and Statements of Attainment issued by Registered Training Organisations (RTOs).

Principles of Assessment

All assessments carried out by RTOs are required to demonstrate compliance with the principles of assessment:

- validity
- reliability
- flexibility
- fairness
- sufficiency

These principles must be addressed in the:

- design, establishment and management of the assessment system for this Training Package
- development of assessment tools, and
- the conduct of assessment.

Validity

Assessment is valid when the process is sound and assesses what it claims to assess. Validity requires that:

- (a) assessment against the units of competency must cover the broad range of skills and knowledge that are essential to competent performance
- (b) assessment of knowledge and skills must be integrated with their practical application

(c) judgement of competence must be based on sufficient evidence (that is, evidence gathered on a number of occasions and in a range of contexts using different assessment methods). The specific evidence requirements of each unit of competency provide advice on sufficiency

Reliability

Reliability refers to the degree to which evidence presented for assessment is consistently interpreted and results in consistent assessment outcomes. Reliability requires the assessor to have the required competencies in assessment and relevant vocational competencies (or to assess in conjunction with someone who has the vocational competencies). It can only be achieved when assessors share a common interpretation of the assessment requirements of the unit(s) being assessed.

Flexibility

To be flexible, assessment should reflect the candidate's needs; provide for recognition of competencies no matter how, where or when they have been acquired; draw on a range of methods appropriate to the context, competency and the candidate; and support continuous competency development.

Fairness

Fairness in assessment requires consideration of the individual candidate's needs and characteristics, and any reasonable adjustments that need to be applied to take account of them. It requires clear communication between the assessor and the candidate to ensure that the candidate is fully informed about, understands and is able to participate in, the assessment process, and agrees that the process is appropriate. It also includes an opportunity for the person being assessed to challenge the result of the assessment and to be reassessed if necessary.

Sufficiency

Sufficiency relates to the quality and quantity of evidence assessed. It requires collection of enough appropriate evidence to ensure that all aspects of competency have been satisfied and that competency can be demonstrated repeatedly. Supplementary sources of evidence may be necessary. The specific evidence requirements of each unit of competency provide advice on sufficiency. Sufficiency is also one of the rules of evidence.

Rules of Evidence

The rules of evidence guide the collection of evidence that address the principles of validity and reliability, guiding the collection of evidence to ensure that it is valid, sufficient, current and authentic.

Valid

Valid evidence must relate directly to the requirements of the unit of competency. In ensuring evidence is valid, assessors must ensure that the evidence collected supports demonstration of the outcomes and performance requirements of the unit of competency together with the knowledge and skills necessary for competent performance. Valid evidence must encapsulate the breadth and depth of the unit of competency, which will necessitate using a number of different assessment methods.

Sufficient

Sufficiency relates to the quality and quantity of evidence assessed. It requires collection of enough appropriate evidence to ensure that all aspects of competency have been satisfied and that competency can be demonstrated repeatedly. Supplementary sources of evidence may be necessary. The specific evidence requirements of each unit of competency provide advice on sufficiency.

Current

In assessment, currency relates to the age of the evidence presented by a candidate to demonstrate that they are still competent. Competency requires demonstration of current performance, so the evidence collected must be from either the present or the very recent past.

Authentic

To accept evidence as authentic, an assessor must be assured that the evidence presented for assessment is the candidate's own work.

Assessment Requirements of the Australian Quality Training Framework

Assessment leading to nationally recognised AQF qualifications and Statements of Attainment in the vocational education and training sector must meet the requirements of the AQTF as expressed in the AQTF 2010 Essential Standards for Registration.

The AQTF 2010 Essential Standards for Initial and Continuing Registration can be downloaded from www.training.com.au.

The following points summarise the assessment requirements:

Registration of Training Organisations

Assessment must be conducted by, or on behalf of, an RTO formally registered by a State or Territory Registering Body in accordance with the AQTF. The RTO must have the specific units of competency and/or AQF qualifications on its scope of registration.

Quality Training and Assessment

Each RTO must provide quality training and assessment across all its operations. See the AQTF 2010 Essential Standards for Initial and Continuing Registration, Standard 1.

Assessor Competency Requirements

Each person involved in training and assessment must be competent for the functions they perform. See the AQTF 2010 Essential Standards for Initial and Continuing Registration, Standard 1 for assessor (and trainer) competency requirements. See also the AQTF 2010 Users' Guide to the Essential Standards for Registration – Appendix 2.

Assessment Requirements

The RTOs assessments, including RPL, must meet the requirements of the relevant endorsed Training Package. See the AQTF 2010 Essential Standards for Initial and Continuing Registration.

Assessment Strategies

Each RTO must have strategies for training and assessment that meet the requirements of the relevant Training Package or accredited course and are developed in consultation with industry stakeholders. See the AQTF 2010 Essential Standards for Initial and Continuing Registration.

National Recognition

Each RTO must recognise the AQF qualifications and Statements of Attainment issued by any other RTO. See the AQTF 2010 Essential Standards for Initial and Continuing Registration.

Access and Equity and Client Outcomes

Each RTO must adhere to the principles of access and equity and maximise outcomes for its clients. See the AQTF 2010 Essential Standards for Initial and Continuing Registration.

Monitoring Assessments

Training and/or assessment provided on behalf of the RTO must be monitored to ensure that it is in accordance with all aspects of the AQTF 2010 Essential Standards for Initial and Continuing Registration.

Recording Assessment Outcomes

Each RTO must manage records to ensure their accuracy and integrity. See the AQTF 2010 Essential Standards for Initial and Continuing Registration.

Issuing AQF Qualifications and Statements of Attainment

Each RTO must issue AQF qualifications and Statements of Attainment that meet the requirements of the current AQF Implementation Handbook and the endorsed Training Packages within the scope of its registration. An AQF qualification is issued once the full requirements for a qualification, as specified in the nationally endorsed Training Package are met. A Statement of Attainment is issued when an individual has completed one or more units of competency from nationally recognised qualification(s)/courses(s). See the AQTF and the edition of the AQF Implementation Handbook—available on the AQF Council website <www.aqf.edu.au>.

Licensing/Registration Requirements

This section provides information on licensing/registration requirements for this Training Package, with the following important disclaimer:

Government Skills Australia (GSA) and DEEWR consider that no licensing or registration requirements apply to RTOs, assessors or candidates with respect to this Training Package. Contact the relevant State or Territory Department(s) to check if there are any licensing or registration requirements with which you must comply. For further information on this topic contact GSA <www.governmentskills.com.au>.

Requirements for Assessors

In order to conduct assessment for statutory licensing or other industry registration requirements, assessors must meet the requirements outlined in the following chart, in addition to the AQTF requirements.

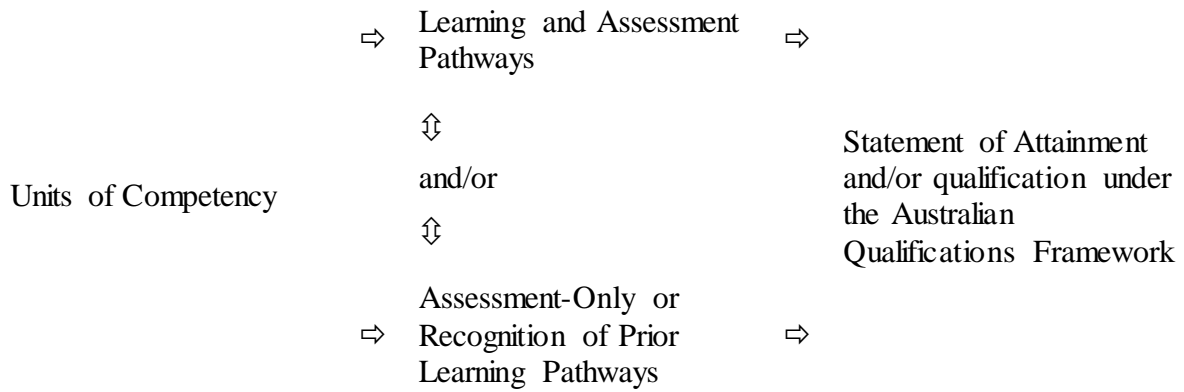

LICENCE/REGISTRATION	JURISDICTION	REQUIREMENTS
N/A

Pathways

The competencies in this Training Package may be attained in a number of ways including through:

formal or informal education and training experiences in the workplace general life experience, and/or any combination of the above.

Assessment under this Training Package leading to an AQF qualification or Statement of Attainment may follow a learning and assessment pathway, an assessment-only or recognition pathway, or a combination of the two as illustrated in the following diagram.

Each of these assessment pathways leads to full recognition of competencies held – the critical issue is that the candidate is competent, not how the competency was acquired.

Assessment, by any pathway, must comply with the assessment requirements set out in the Assessment Guidelines of the Training Package and the AQTF 2007.

Learning and Assessment Pathways

Usually, learning and assessment are integrated, with evidence being collected and feedback provided to the candidate at any time throughout the learning and assessment process.

Learning and assessment pathways may include structured programs in a variety of contexts using a range of strategies to meet different learner needs. Structured learning and assessment programs could be: group-based, work-based, project-based, self-paced, action learning-based; conducted by distance or e-learning; and/or involve practice and experience in the workplace.

Learning and assessment pathways to suit Australian Apprenticeships have a mix of formal structured training and structured workplace experience with formative assessment activities through which candidates can acquire and demonstrate skills and knowledge from the relevant units of competency.

Credit Pathways

Credit is the value assigned for the recognition of equivalence in content between different types of learning and/or qualifications which reduces the volume of learning required to achieve a qualification.

Credit arrangements must be offered by all RTOs that offer Training Package qualifications. Each RTO must have a systematic institutional approach with clear, accessible and transparent policies and procedures.

Competencies already held by individuals can be formally assessed against the units of competency in this Training Package, and should be recognised regardless of how, when or where they were acquired, provided that the learning is relevant to the unit of competency outcomes.

Recognition of Prior Learning

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) is an assessment process which determines the credit outcomes of an individual application for credit.

The availability of Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) provides all potential learners with access to credit opportunities.

The recognition of prior learning pathway is appropriate for candidates who have previously attained skills and knowledge and who, when enrolling in qualifications, seek to shorten the duration of their training and either continue or commence working. This may include the following groups of people:

- existing workers;
- individuals with overseas qualifications;
- recent migrants with established work histories;

- people returning to the workplace; and
- people with disabilities or injuries requiring a change in career.

As with all assessment, RPL assessment should be undertaken by academic or teaching staff with expertise in the subject, content of skills area, as well as knowledge of and expertise in RPL assessment policies and procedures.

Assessment methods used for RPL should provide a range of ways for individuals to demonstrate that they have met the required outcomes and can be granted credit.

These might include:

- questioning (oral or written)
- consideration of a portfolio and review of contents
- consideration of third party reports and/or other documentation such as documentation such as articles, reports, project material, papers, testimonials or other products prepared by the RPL applicant that relate to the learning outcomes of the relevant qualification component
- mapping of learning outcomes from prior formal or non-formal learning to the relevant qualification components
- observation of performance, and
- participation in structured assessment activities the individual would normally be required to undertake if they were enrolled in the qualification component/s.

In a Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) pathway, the candidate provides current, quality evidence of their competency against the relevant unit of competency. This process may be directed by the candidate and verified by the assessor. Where the outcomes of this process indicate that the candidate is competent, structured training is not required. The RPL requirements of the AQTF must be met.

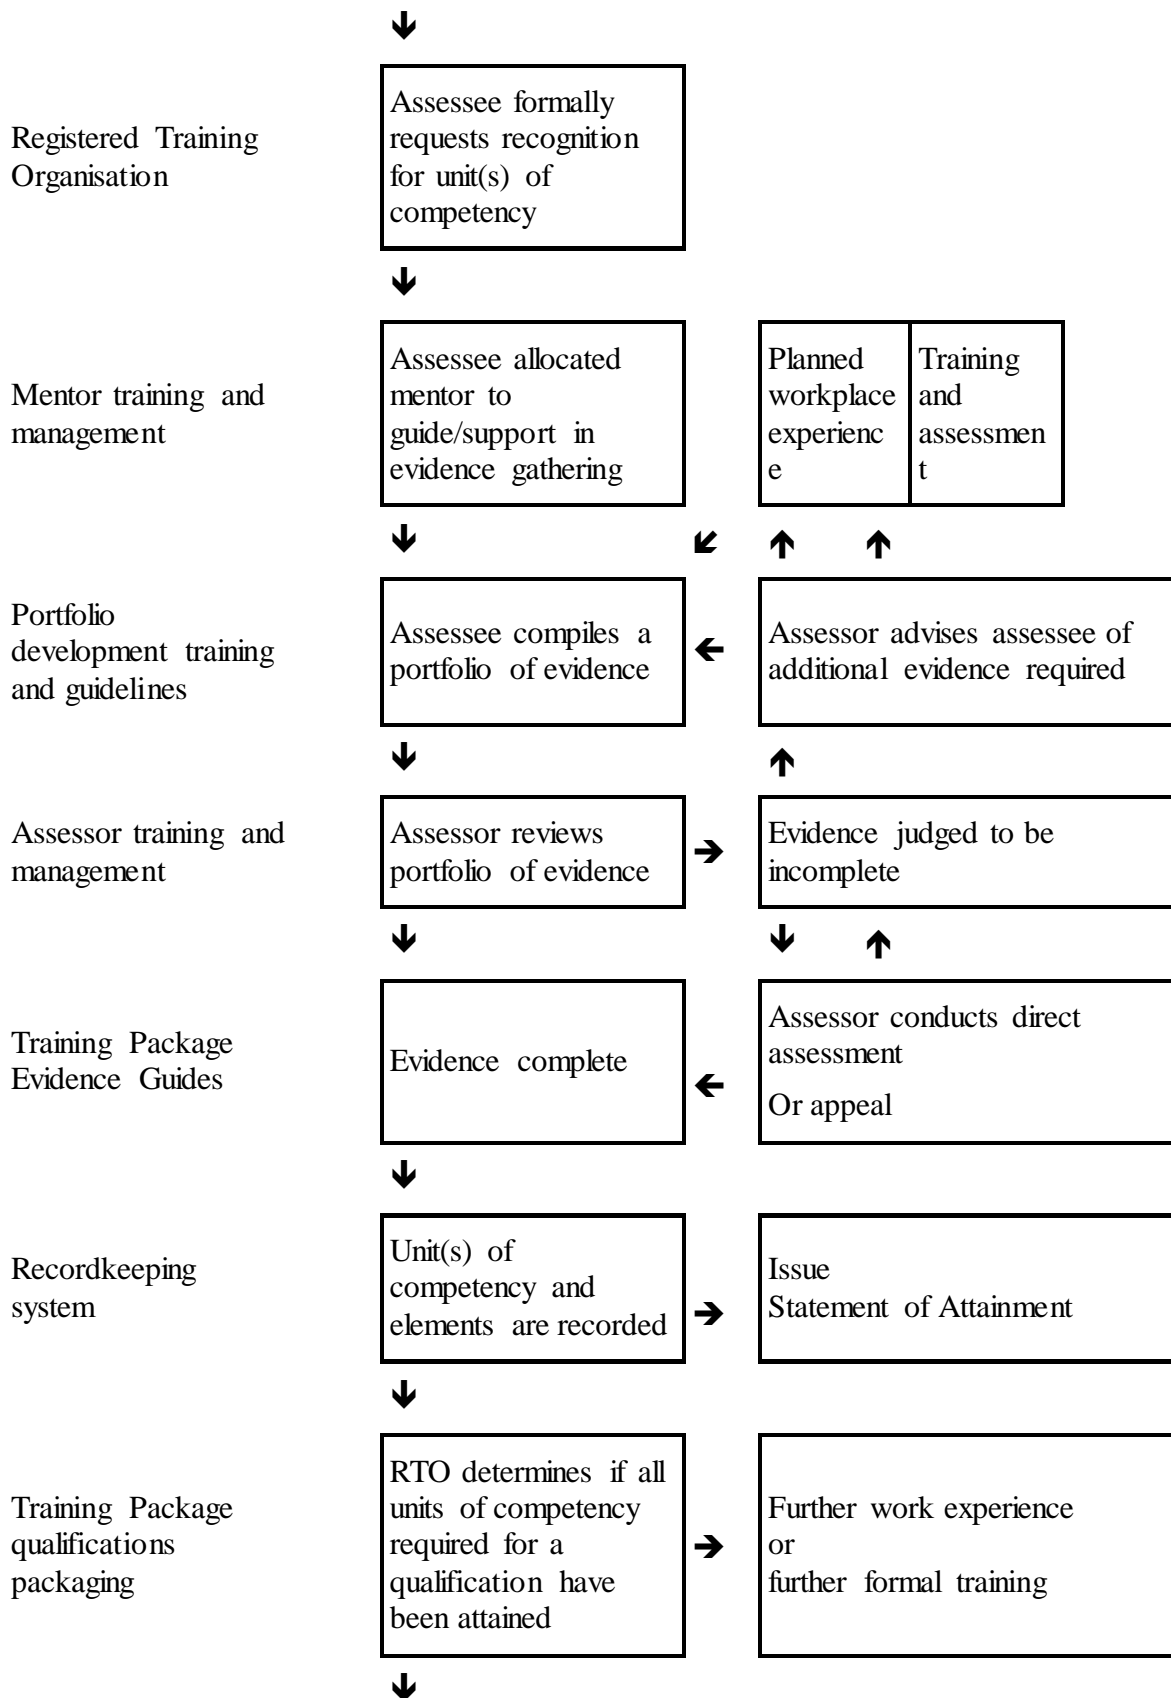

As with all assessment, the assessor must be confident that the evidence indicates that the candidate is currently competent against the endorsed unit of competency. This evidence may take a variety of forms and might include certification, references from past employers, testimonials from clients, work samples and/or observation of the candidate. The onus is on candidates to provide sufficient evidence to satisfy assessors that they currently hold the relevant competencies. In judging evidence, the assessor must ensure that the evidence of prior learning is:

- authentic (the candidate's own work);
- valid (directly related to the current version of the relevant endorsed unit of competency);
- reliable (shows that the candidate consistently meets the endorsed unit of competency);
- current (reflects the candidate's current capacity to perform the aspect of the work covered by the endorsed unit of competency); and
- sufficient (covers the full range of elements in the relevant unit of competency and addresses the four dimensions of competency, namely task skills, task management skills, contingency management skills, and job/role environment skills).

Award qualification

Credit Transfer

Credit transfer is a process which provides learners with agreed and consistent credit outcomes based on equivalences in content between matched qualifications.

This process involves education institutions:

- mapping, comparing and evaluating the extent to which the defined learning outcomes and assessment requirements of the individual components of one qualification are equivalent to the learning outcomes and assessment requirements of the individual components of another qualification
- making an educational judgment of the credit outcomes to be assigned between the matched components of the two qualifications
- setting out the agreed credit outcomes in a documented arrangement or agreement, and
- publicising the arrangement/agreement and credit available.

Combination of Pathways

Credit may be awarded on the basis of a combination of credit transfer plus an individual RPL assessment for additional learning. Once credit has been awarded on the basis of RPL, subsequent credit transfer based on these learning outcomes should not include revisiting the RPL assessment but should be based on credit transfer or articulation or other arrangements between providers.

Where candidates for assessment have gained competencies through work and life experience and gaps in their competence are identified, or where they require training in new areas, a combination of pathways may be appropriate.

In such situations, the candidate may undertake an initial assessment to determine their current competency. Once current competency is identified, a structured learning and assessment program ensures that the candidate acquires the required additional competencies identified as gaps.

Assessor Requirements

This section identifies the specific requirements on the vocational competence and experience for assessors, to ensure that they meet the needs of industry and their obligations under AQTF, and clarifies how others may contribute to the assessment process where one person alone does not hold all the required competencies.

Assessor Competencies

The AQTF specifies mandatory competency requirements for assessors. For information, Element 1.4 from the AQTF 2007 Essential Standards for Registration follows:

- 1.4 Training and assessment are conducted by trainers and assessors who:
- a) have the necessary training and assessment competencies as determined by the National Quality Council or its successors, and
 - b) have the relevant vocational competencies at least to the level being delivered or assessed, and

- c) can demonstrate current industry skills directly relevant to the training/assessment being undertaken, and
- d) continue to develop their Vocational Education and Training (VET) knowledge and skills as well as their industry currency and trainer/assessor competence.

* See AQTF 2010 Users' Guide to the Essential Standards for Registration – Appendix 2

Designing Assessment Tools

This section provides an overview on the use and development of assessment tools.

Use of Assessment Tools

Assessment tools provide a means of collecting the evidence that assessors use in making judgements about whether candidates have achieved competency.

There is no set format or process for the design, production or development of assessment tools. Assessors may use prepared assessment tools, such as those specifically developed to support this Training Package, or they may develop their own.

Using Prepared Assessment Tools

If using prepared assessment tools, assessors should ensure these relate to the current version of the relevant unit of competency. The current unit of competency can be checked on the National Register <www.ntis.gov.au>.

Developing Assessment Tools

When developing their own assessment tools, assessors must ensure that the tools:

are benchmarked against the relevant unit or units of competency;

are reviewed as part of the validation of assessment strategies required under the AQTF; and meet the assessment requirements expressed in the AQTF 2010 Essential Standards for Initial and Continuing Registration.

A key reference for assessors developing assessment tools is TAE10 Training and Education Training Package.

Language, Literacy and Numeracy

The design of assessment tools must reflect the language, literacy and numeracy competencies required for the performance of a task in the workplace and not exceed these expectations.

Conducting Assessment

This section details the mandatory assessment requirements and provides information on equity in assessment including reasonable adjustment.

Mandatory Assessment Requirements

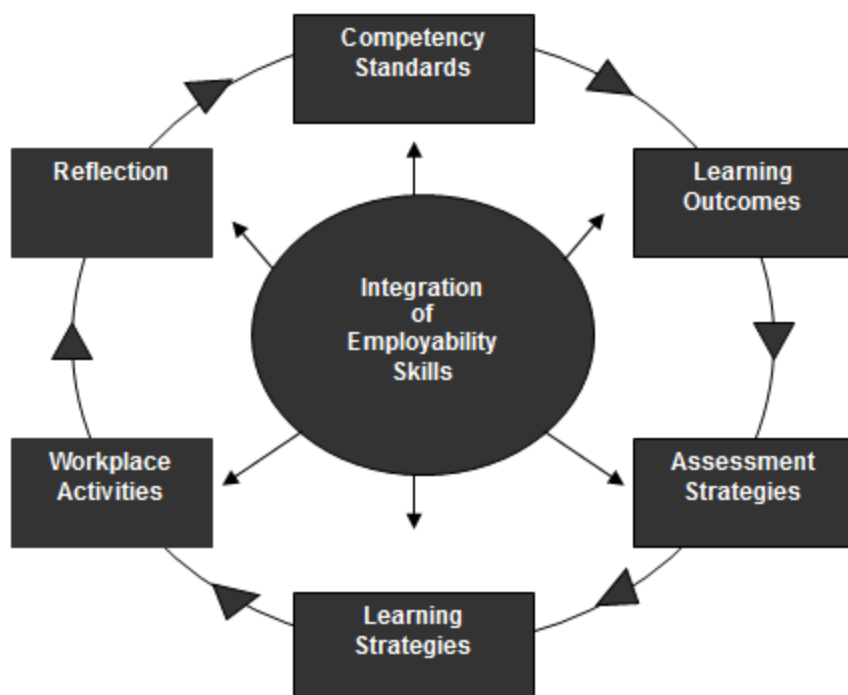

Assessments must meet the criteria set out in the AQTF 2007 Essential Standards for Registration.

For information, the mandatory assessment requirements from Standard 1 from the AQTF 2007 Essential Standards for Registration are as follows:

- 1.5 Assessment, including Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL):
- a) meets the requirements of the relevant Training Package or accredited course
 - b) is conducted in accordance with the principles of assessment and the rules of evidence
 - c) meets workplace and, where relevant, regulatory requirements.

Assessment of Employability Skills

Employability skills are integral to workplace competency and, as such, must be considered in the design, customisation, delivery and assessment of vocational education and training programs in an integrated and holistic way, as represented diagrammatically below.

Employability Skills are embedded and explicit within each unit of competency. Training providers must use Employability Skills information in order to design valid and reliable training and assessment strategies. This analysis could include:

- reviewing unit(s) of competency to locate relevant Employability Skills and determine how they are applied within the unit
- analysing the Employability Skills Summary for the qualification in which the unit or units are packaged to help clarify relevant industry/workplace contexts and the application of Employability Skills at that qualification outcome
- designing training and assessment to address Employability Skills requirements.

The National Quality Council has endorsed a model for assessing and reporting Employability Skills, which contains further suggestions about good practice strategies in teaching, assessing, learning and reporting Employability Skills. The model is available from <http://www.training.com.au/>.

The endorsed approach includes learners downloading qualification specific Employability Skills Summaries for Training Package qualifications from an online repository at <http://employabilityskills.training.com.au>

For more information on Employability Skills in Government Skills Australia Training Packages go to the Government Skills Australia website at www.governmentskills.com.au. Employability Skills are reported on each qualification using the following statement on the qualification testamur: "A summary of the Employability Skills developed through this qualification can be downloaded from <http://employabilityskills.training.com.au>".

Employability Skills in Generalist and Specialist Qualifications

The Public Sector Training Package includes generalist qualifications that use the title Certificate in Government or Diploma of Government. These qualifications contain a set of required units that are considered to be general requirements for all applications at each qualification level. These required units reflect the employability skills and their facets that are considered essential for a qualification.

The specialist qualifications at each qualification level share the same coverage of required units as the generalist units of competency at the same level. Therefore, the Employability Skills Summary for each level of the generalist qualifications applies to the specialist qualifications at the same level. The Employability Skills Summaries are not duplicated for the specialist qualifications.

In designing training and assessment resources for the specialist qualifications, the employability skills for the qualifications will be found in the equivalent qualification level of the generalist qualifications. Some customisation may be required to include the specific references from the specialist units of competency.

For more information on employability skills in Government Skills Australia Training Packages go to the Government Skills Australia website at www.governmentskills.com.au.

Access and Equity

An individual's access to the assessment process should not be adversely affected by restrictions placed on the location or context of assessment beyond the requirements specified in this Training Package: training and assessment must be bias-free.

Under the rules for their development, Training Packages must reflect and cater for the increasing diversity of Australia's VET clients and Australia's current and future workforce. The flexibilities offered by Training Packages should enhance opportunities and potential outcomes for all people so that we can all benefit from a wider national skills base and a shared contribution to Australia's economic development and social and cultural life.

Reasonable adjustments

It is important that education providers take meaningful, transparent and reasonable steps to consult, consider and implement reasonable adjustments for students with disability.

Under the Disability Standards for Education 2005, education providers must make reasonable adjustments for people with disability to the maximum extent that those adjustments do not cause that provider unjustifiable hardship. While 'reasonable adjustment' and 'unjustifiable hardship' are different concepts and involve different considerations, they both seek to strike a balance between the interests of education providers and the interests of students with and without disability.

An adjustment is any measure or action that a student requires because of their disability, and which has the effect of assisting the student to access and participate in education and training on the same basis as students without a disability. An adjustment is reasonable if it achieves this purpose while taking into account factors such as the nature of the student's disability, the views of the student, the potential effect of the adjustment on the student and others who might be affected, and the costs and benefits of making the adjustment.

An education provider is also entitled to maintain the academic integrity of a course or program and to consider the requirements or components that are inherent or essential to its nature when assessing whether an adjustment is reasonable. There may be more than one adjustment that is reasonable in a given set of circumstances; education providers are required to make adjustments that are reasonable and that do not cause them unjustifiable hardship.

The Training Package Guidelines provides more information on reasonable adjustment, including examples of adjustments. Go to <http://www.deewr.gov.au/tpdh/Pages/home.aspx>.

Assessment Resources

Registered training organisations (RTOs) are at the forefront of vocational education and training (VET) in Australia. They translate the needs of industry into relevant, quality, client-focussed training and assessment.

RTOs should strive for innovation in VET teaching and learning practices and develop highly flexible approaches to assessment which take cognisance of specific needs of learners, in order to improve delivery and outcomes of training.

Resources can be purchased or accessed from:

Competency Standards

What is Competency?

The broad concept of industry competency concerns the ability to perform particular tasks and duties to the standard of performance expected in the workplace. Competency requires the application of specified skills, knowledge and attitudes relevant to effective participation in an industry, industry sector or enterprise.

Competency covers all aspects of workplace performance and involves performing individual tasks; managing a range of different tasks; responding to contingencies or breakdowns; and, dealing with the responsibilities of the workplace, including working with others. Workplace competency requires the ability to apply relevant skills, knowledge and attitudes consistently over time and in the required workplace situations and environments. In line with this concept of competency, Training Packages focus on what is expected of a competent individual in the workplace as an outcome of learning, rather than focussing on the learning process itself.

Competency standards in Training Packages are determined by industry to meet identified industry skill needs. Competency standards are made up of a number of units of competency each of which describes a key function or role in a particular job function or occupation. Each unit of competency within a Training Package is linked to one or more AQF qualifications.

Contextualisation of Units of Competency by RTOs

Registered Training Organisation (RTOs) may contextualise units of competency in this endorsed Training Package to reflect required local outcomes. Contextualisation could involve additions or amendments to the unit of competency to suit particular delivery methods, learner profiles, specific enterprise equipment requirements, or to otherwise meet local needs. However, the integrity of the overall intended outcome of the unit of competency must be maintained.

Any contextualisation of units of competency in this Training Package must be within the bounds of the following advice:

RTOs must not remove or add to the number and content of elements and performance criteria.

RTOs can include specific industry terminology in the range statement.

Any amendments and additions to the range statement made by RTOs must not diminish the breadth of application of the competency, or reduce its portability.

RTOs may add detail to the evidence guide in areas such as the critical aspects of evidence or required resources and infrastructure – but only where these expand the breadth of the competency and do not limit its use.

Components of Units of Competency

The components of units of competency are summarised below, in the order in which they appear in each unit of competency.

Unit Title

The unit title is a succinct statement of the outcome of the unit of competency. Each unit of competency title is unique, both within and across Training Packages.

Unit Descriptor

The unit descriptor broadly communicates the content of the unit of competency and the skill area it addresses. Where units of competency have been contextualised from units of competency from other endorsed Training Packages, summary information is provided. There may also be a brief second paragraph that describes its relationship with other units of competency, and any licensing requirements.

Employability Skills statement

The sub-section contains a statement that the unit contains Employability Skills.

Prerequisite Units (optional)

If there are any units of competency that must be completed before the unit, these will be listed.

Application of the Unit

This sub-section fleshes out the unit of competency's scope, purpose and operation in different contexts, for example, by showing how it applies in the workplace.

Competency Field (Optional)

The competency field either reflects the way the units of competency are categorised in the Training Package or denotes the industry sector, specialisation or function. It is an optional component of the unit of competency.

Sector (optional)

The industry sector is a further categorisation of the competency field and identifies the next classification, for example an elective or supervision field.

Elements of Competency

The elements of competency are the basic building blocks of the unit of competency. They describe in terms of outcomes the significant functions and tasks that make up the competency.

Performance Criteria

The performance criteria specify the required performance in relevant tasks, roles, skills and in the applied knowledge that enables competent performance. They are usually written in passive voice. Critical terms or phrases may be written in bold italics and then defined in range statement, in the order of their appearance in the performance criteria.

Required Skills and Knowledge

The essential skills and knowledge are either identified separately or combined. Knowledge identifies what a person needs to know to perform the work in an informed and effective manner. Skills describe the application of knowledge to situations where understanding is converted into a workplace outcome.

Range Statement

The range statement provides a context for the unit of competency, describing essential operating conditions that may be present with training and assessment, depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts. As applicable, the meanings of key terms used in the performance criteria will also be explained in the range statement.

Evidence Guide

The evidence guide is critical in assessment as it provides information to the Registered Training Organisation (RTO) and assessor about how the described competency may be demonstrated. The evidence guide does this by providing a range of evidence for the assessor to make determinations, and by providing the assessment context. The evidence guide describes:

- conditions under which competency must be assessed including variables such as the assessment environment or necessary equipment;
- relationships with the assessment of any other units of competency;
- suitable methodologies for conducting assessment including the potential for workplace simulation;
- resource implications, for example access to particular equipment, infrastructure or situations;
- how consistency in performance can be assessed over time, various contexts and with a range of evidence; and
- the required underpinning knowledge and skills.

Employability Skills in units of competency

The detail and application of Employability Skills facets will vary according to the job-role requirements of each industry. In developing Training Packages, industry stakeholders are consulted to identify appropriate facets of Employability Skills which are incorporated into the relevant units of competency and qualifications.

Employability Skills are not a discrete requirement contained in units of competency (as was the case with Key Competencies). Employability Skills are specifically expressed in the context of the work outcomes described in units of competency and will appear in elements, performance criteria, range statements and evidence guides. As a result, users of Training Packages are required to review the entire unit of competency in order to accurately determine Employability Skills requirements.

How Employability Skills relate to the Key Competencies

The eight nationally agreed Employability Skills now replace the seven Key Competencies in Training Packages. Trainers and assessors who have used Training Packages prior to the introduction of Employability Skills may find the following comparison useful.

Employability Skills	Mayer Key Competencies
Communication	Communicating ideas and information

Teamwork	Working with others and in teams
Problem solving	Solving problems Using mathematical ideas and techniques
Initiative and enterprise
Planning and organising	Collecting, analysing and organising information Planning and organising activities
Self-management

PSP30604 Certificate III in Government (School Support Services)

Modification History

Not applicable.

Description

Qualification Descriptor

This specialist qualification covers the competencies required by those providing school support services in government schools in a range of functions such as finance (Group D), administration (Group C), technology (Group E), scientific assistance (Group H), library assistance (Group G), disability support (Group F), hospitality (Group I), janitorial and grounds services Group J). It is not targeted at teacher aide occupations. Electives may be taken from a single stream, such as finance or disability support, or from a range of streams to suit the particular workplace. If, however, all electives are chosen from Group B, the resulting qualification is a generalist Certificate III in Government, rather than this specialist qualification. Electives should reflect the responsibilities of the individual and the job skills required for effective performance. Where a free choice of electives is possible in the qualification packaging rules, electives may also be drawn from other Training Packages to reflect the work context and career plans of the individual.

Description

Qualification Descriptor

This qualification covers the competencies required for independent and self-directed work in the public sector. There may be supervisory responsibilities rather than specialist management competencies, which are catered for in the Diploma of Government (Management). The qualification is particularly suited to those working in an environment where there is a range of responsibilities which are diverse in nature rather than within a narrow specialisation and/or they work in small or regionally based organisations. Electives should reflect the responsibilities of the individual and the job skills required for effective performance. Where a free choice of electives is possible in the qualification packaging rules, electives may also be drawn from other Training Packages to reflect the work context and career plans of the individual. Please note that if all electives are chosen from a single Group, a specialist qualification may result. Requirements for specialisations are listed under the relevant Competency Field.

PSP52310 Diploma of Translating

Modification History

Not applicable.

Description

Qualification descriptor

The Diploma of Translating reflects the skills and knowledge required to translate general purpose texts from one language to another to convey information written in plain language to a limited and known audience.

Job roles

Employment in translating varies with the market for translated material in particular languages and domains. The Diploma prepares translators to translate texts where there are limited equivalence problems, plain language and concepts accessible to the general public, and limited requirement for research on the subject beyond client resources. Limited and known audiences may include the clients of community services, educational institutions, community information services and businesses, or may relate to government client relationships. Assignments may involve additional quality assurance to achieve functional equivalence. The majority of translators are self-employed and are contracted either directly or through translation service providers to work on translating assignments. Translators may be contracted to work in a team.

Pathways Information

Pathways into the qualification

Candidates may enter the qualification through demonstrated language proficiency in English and another language at a level required to undertake and complete the requirements of training and assessment for this qualification. Proficiency may also be demonstrated through recognised or accredited language qualifications or through an RTO determined assessment of current competency.

Pathways from the qualification

After achieving this qualification, candidates may undertake the Advanced Diploma of Translating or the Advanced Diploma of Interpreting. Articulation into programs in higher education may be possible from this Diploma.

Certain employment conditions, assignments and work roles may require practising translators and interpreters to have NAATI accreditation. This may be achieved through completion of a NAATI approved qualification at the standard required by NAATI and/or, through NAATI testing.

PSP52410 Diploma of Interpreting

Modification History

Not applicable.

Description

Qualification descriptor

The Diploma of Interpreting reflects the skills and knowledge required to interpret in general dialogue settings, with the potential to interpret in general monologue settings, where the interpreter is able to physically control the discourse to assist retention and recall.

Employment in interpreting varies with the market for interpreting in particular languages and domains. The Diploma prepares interpreters for work typically in the community and business domains, interpreting content that is broad and routine or that may be readily predicted and planned for. The community and business domains will include sectors such as general health, welfare and community services, non-complex disability assistance, educational and social contexts, initial police interviews, over the counter interviews in customer and community information services, tourism, and other informal business and workplace contexts where the consequences of errors in communicative intent can be readily managed. The majority of interpreters are self-employed and are contracted on a sessional basis either directly or through interpreting service providers to work on interpreting assignments, but may find permanent employment in a specific sector such as education, government or health, or may work with a diverse range of clients and sectors. Interpreters may be contracted to work in a team

Description

Qualification Descriptor

This qualification covers the competencies required for work in the public sector which is autonomous and often non-routine. The qualification is targeted at those who enter the public sector with another qualification as well as those progressing within the sector. It is generalist in nature to suit the requirements of working in small or regionally based organisations or where responsibilities are diverse in nature rather than within a narrow specialisation. There will be management or guidance of others without the role being that of a specialist manager, which is catered for in the Advanced Diploma of Government (Management). Electives should reflect the responsibilities of the individual and the job skills required for effective performance. Where a free choice of Electives is possible in the qualification packaging rules, Electives may also be drawn from other Training Packages to reflect the work context and career plans of the individual. Please note that if all Electives are chosen from a single Competency Field (listed in Table 7), a specialist qualification may result. Requirements for specialisations are listed under the relevant Competency Field.

PSP61010 Advanced Diploma of Translating

Modification History

Not applicable.

Description

Qualification descriptor

The Advanced Diploma of Translating reflects the skills and knowledge required to translate special purpose texts from one language to another to convey information written using specific terminology for a specific audience.

Job roles

Employment in translating varies with the market for translated material in particular languages and domains. The Advanced Diploma prepares translators to translate texts where there may be significant equivalence problems, the subject of the text has its own specific terminology or where and the need to undertake extensive research and translate complex language and concepts. Specific audiences may be found in commerce and marketing, government and international relations - including immigration, both regular and humanitarian - the media, and sectors generally considered to be professional, such as the law, health and medicine, technology and science. Assignments in these areas can deal with material requiring significant additional quality assurance processes to achieve functional equivalence. The majority of translators are self-employed and are contracted either directly or through translation service providers to work on translating assignments. Translators may be contracted to work in a team and may be required to provide quality assurance checks on the work of other translators.

Pathways Information

Pathways into the qualification

Candidates may enter the qualification through demonstrated language proficiency in English and another language at a level required to undertake and complete the requirements of training and assessment for this qualification. Proficiency may be demonstrated through recognised or accredited language qualifications or through an RTO determined assessment of current competency.

Pathways from the qualification

Articulation into programs in higher education may be possible from the Advanced Diploma.

Certain employment conditions, assignments and work roles may require practising translators and interpreters to have NAATI accreditation. This may be achieved through completion of a NAATI approved qualification at the standard required by NAATI, and/or, through NAATI testing.

PSP61110 Advanced Diploma of Interpreting

Modification History

Not applicable.

Description

Qualification descriptor

The Advanced Diploma of Interpreting reflects the skills and knowledge required to interpret in complex dialogue and monologue settings where there are additional demands in managing the discourse and the interpreter will require advanced skills in retention and recall and may be required to switch modes.

Job roles

Employment in interpreting varies with the market for interpreting in particular languages and domains. The Advanced Diploma prepares interpreters for work in all of community, business and diplomatic domains, interpreting content that may not easily be predicted or planned for or may require specialist subject knowledge and context awareness. The community, business and diplomatic domains will include sectors such as health and welfare, policing and courts, formal immigration hearings, education, the media, commerce, government and international relations, professional sectors such as the law, technology and science, and assignments involving formality, or participants with high status and accountability where the consequences of errors in communicative intent can have significant implications. The majority of interpreters are self-employed and are contracted on a sessional basis either directly or through interpreting service providers to work on interpreting assignments, but may find permanent employment in a specific sector such as education, government or health, or may work with a diverse range of clients and sectors. Interpreters may be contracted to work in a team and may be required to provide verification of the work of other interpreters.

Pathways Information

Pathways into the qualification

Candidates may enter the qualification through demonstrated language proficiency in English and another language at a level required to undertake and complete the requirements of training and assessment for this qualification. Proficiency may be demonstrated through recognised or accredited language qualifications or through an RTO determined assessment of current competency.

Pathways from the qualification

Articulation into programs in higher education may be possible from this Advanced Diploma.

Certain employment conditions, assignments and work roles may require practising translators and interpreters to have NAATI accreditation. This may be achieved through completion of a NAATI approved qualification at the standard required by NAATI, and/or, through NAATI testing.

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in bold italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
1. Prepare to patrol	1.1 The purpose and objectives of the patrol are explained to relevant personnel .
	1.2 The legislation, regulations, policies and guidelines under which the patrol is to be conducted are identified.
	1.3 The powers of officers under the legislation are confirmed and applied correctly.
	1.4 The patrol operation is planned to suit its objectives.
	1.5 Equipment, other resources and the need for assistance which may be required for the purposes of the patrol are identified.
	1.6 Any risks to the health and safety of officers involved in the patrol are identified and taken into account within the plan.
2. Conduct the patrol	2.1 The patrol is conducted in accordance with legislation, regulations, policies and guidelines.
	2.2 Patrol activities are undertaken in a thorough manner in accordance with standard operating procedures.
	2.3 Records are made of patrol actions, findings and outcomes in accordance with organisational policy and procedures.
3. Gather and report information	3.1 Initiative is used to identify possible information.
	3.2 Information is recorded accurately.
	3.3 Privacy and other legislative requirements are complied with.
	3.4 Information is reported in an accurate and timely manner in accordance with organisational policy and procedures.
4. Report on and review patrol activities	4.1 Outcomes of patrol activities are recorded and disseminated in accordance with organisational policy and procedures.
	4.2 The outcomes, procedures and processes used within the patrol are evaluated.
	4.3 Improvements to procedures and processes are identified and actioned.

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- conducting a thorough patrol in line with legal and policy requirements
- selecting and using equipment that meets the purposes of the patrol
- identifying and addressing occupational health and safety and environmental risks associated with conducting the patrol
- accurately recording and reporting information
- communicating with diverse audiences, conveying sometimes complex information orally and in writing
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability.

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- Australian legal framework as it applies to the conduct of patrols
- enabling and allied legislation
- policy, procedures, guidelines, protocols and standard operating procedures
- jurisdictional and organisational values/ethics and codes of conduct
- the organisation's corporate planning cycle and risk management policy and practices
- confidentiality, privacy and security issues
- equity and diversity principles
- occupational health and safety and environment legislation, policies and guidelines relating to the conduct of patrols
- communication systems relevant to the workplace including communications network and radio protocols
- risk assessment techniques
- equipment operation, usage and maintenance procedures
- reporting procedures
- evidence handling and storage
- profiles and trends
- statements
- workplace and industry environment.

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide specifies the evidence required to demonstrate achievement in the unit of competency as a whole. It must be read in conjunction with the Unit descriptor, Performance Criteria, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Public Sector Training Package.

Units to be assessed together

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit: Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit: Nil
- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:
 - PSPBORD302A Use border protection technology equipment
 - PSPETHC301B Uphold the values and principles of public service
 - PSPGOV301B Work effectively in the organisation
 - PSPGOV302B Contribute to workgroup activities
 - PSPGOV303B Build and maintain internal networks
 - PSPGOV307B Organise workplace information
 - PSPLEGN301B Comply with legislation in the public sector
 - PSPOHS301A Contribute to workplace safety.

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of the Employability Skills as they relate to this unit (see Employability Summaries in Qualifications Framework)
- conduct of patrols in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time).

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- legislation, policy, procedures and protocols relating to the conduct of patrols
- case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of patrol situations likely to be encountered.

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when conducting patrols, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- conduct of patrols in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

EVIDENCE GUIDE

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- demonstration
- observation
- portfolios
- questioning
- scenarios
- simulation or role plays
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses.

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Range Statement

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

5. Gather and report information	5.1 Initiative is used to identify possible information. 5.2 Relevant information is recorded accurately in accordance with legislative and organisational requirements. 5.3 Privacy and other legislative requirements are complied with. 5.4 Information is reported to relevant personnel in an accurate and timely manner.
6. Receive and act upon feedback	6.1 Feedback on search processes is sought on a regular basis. 6.2 Process and approach are improved based upon assessment of feedback received.

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- conducting searches thoroughly in accordance with legal and policy requirements
- dog handling
- identifying and addressing occupational health and safety and environmental risks issues associated with deployment of detector dogs
- liaising, consulting and communicating with diverse audiences, conveying sometimes complex information orally and in writing
- negotiating and applying conflict resolution
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- applying observation techniques
- accurately recording and reporting information
- applying decision making using sound judgment
- responding effectively to feedback
- suggesting improvements to procedures

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- risk management principles and risk assessment techniques and the application of these to a range of circumstances relating to the deployment of detector dogs
- principles of detector dog training and deployment
- enabling and allied legislation
- policy, procedures, guidelines, protocols and work instructions/standard operating procedures
- jurisdictional and organisational values/ethics and codes of conduct
- the organisation's corporate planning cycle and risk management policy and practices
- confidentiality, privacy and security issues
- equity and diversity principles
- occupational health and safety and environment legislation, policies and guidelines
- communication systems relevant to the workplace including communications network and radio protocols
- equipment operation, usage and maintenance procedures
- reporting procedures
- evidence handling and storage
- profiles and trends
- workplace and industry environment.

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide specifies the evidence required to demonstrate achievement in the unit of competency as a whole. It must be read in conjunction with the Unit descriptor, Performance Criteria, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Public Sector Training Package.

EVIDENCE GUIDE

Units to be assessed together

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit: Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit: Nil
- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:
 - PSPBORD304A Maintain detector dog proficiency
 - PSPETHC301B Uphold the values and principles of public service
 - PSPGOV301B Work effectively in the organisation
 - PSPGOV302B Contribute to workgroup activities
 - PSPGOV307B Organise workplace information
 - PSPLEGN301B Comply with legislation in the public sector
 - PSPOHS301A Contribute to workplace safety.

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of the Employability Skills as they relate to this unit (see Employability Summaries in Qualifications Framework)
- deployment of a detector dog in a range of (3 or more) contexts - re-qualification is periodically required.

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- legislation, policy, procedures and protocols relating to deployment of a detector dog
- case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of situations likely to be encountered when deploying detector dogs.

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when deploying a detector dog, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- deployment of a detector dog in a range of (3 or more) contexts
- periodic re-qualification.

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people

EVIDENCE GUIDE

- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations.

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- demonstration
- observation
- questioning
- scenarios
- simulation or role plays
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses.

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments.

Range Statement

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

- Search may include
- a search with the detector dog and any follow-up search by the handler of the following:
 - small craft
 - commercial vessels
 - aircraft
 - cargo containers
 - cargo
 - vehicles
 - postal items
 - accompanied or unaccompanied baggage
 - premises.
- Risks may include
- methods of concealment
 - nature of packaging
 - occupational health and safety issues
 - types of goods (in particular, dangerous goods)
 - types of narcotics
 - workplace environment
 - time constraints
 - availability of resources for follow-up activities
 - strengths and weaknesses of individual detector dog teams.
- Relevant legislation, policies, procedures and guidelines may include
- enabling legislation, such as:
 - Customs Act 1901 and regulations
 - Quarantine Act 1908 and regulations
 - organisational policies and procedures, particularly those relating to:
 - detector dog program training
 - operational and training aid control
 - occupational health and safety acts, regulations and guidelines
 - national and regional policies and procedures
 - procedural guides/standard operating procedures/work instructions.
- Information may include
- details of those searched
 - characteristics of persons of interest

- Relevant information may include
- points of origin
 - type and nature of goods
 - types of substances.
 - addresses
 - business cards
 - invoices/bills of lading/or other documents
 - letters
 - maps/charts
 - names
 - photographs
 - reasonable grounds for search
 - telephone numbers
 - any combination of the above.
- Relevant personnel may include
- intelligence
 - managers/supervisors
 - research and analysis
 - staff in other agencies
 - staff in other work areas
 - targeting and analysis
 - colleagues
 - employees of other agencies
 - training and analysis.

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in bold italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

1. Develop a plan for proficiency maintenance training	1.1 A detector dog's capability is assessed
	1.2 The needs of the dog/handler team are identified and assessed
	1.3 A tailored proficiency maintenance training plan is developed addressing the unique needs, strengths and weaknesses of the team
	1.4 The training is scheduled to meet priority needs within an agreed timeframe
	1.5 The training plan is regularly updated to reflect the changing needs of the team
2. Implement proficiency maintenance training	2.1 Proficiency maintenance training is implemented in accordance with the schedule and available resources
	2.2 The dog's response to training is assessed immediately
	2.3 Training is modified as required to meet desired outcomes
	2.4 Custody, transport and utilisation of training aids is undertaken in accordance with legislation, policy and guidelines
	2.5 Training and other records are maintained in accordance with legislation, policy and guidelines
3. Maintain dog/handler team performance	3.1 Performance standards for the detector dog team are identified and agreed with relevant personnel.
	3.2 A plan for achieving team effectiveness is implemented
	3.3 The detector dog team's effectiveness is assessed against specific performance criteria
	3.4 Performance records are maintained for monitoring purposes in accordance with relevant legislation, policy and guidelines
	3.5 Team plans and working practices are reviewed and improvements are identified if required to achieve maximum performance
4. Maintain dog's health and well-being	4.1 The detector dog's health is monitored on a regular and consistent basis
	4.2 The dog's needs and problems are identified and actions are taken to address them
	4.3 The detector dog is maintained at a high level of fitness
	4.4 Cleaning and maintenance of detector dog's quarters are undertaken/organised to the required standard

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- keeping records
- communicating using a range of styles to suit different audiences
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- applying occupational health and safety and environmental procedures in the context of detector dog proficiency maintenance

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- enabling and allied legislation and regulations
- organisational policy, procedures, guidelines and protocols
- occupational health and safety and environment policies and guidelines relating to detector dog program
- detector dog program training and deployment principles
- proficiency maintenance training exercises
- dog's health requirements
- health and hygiene
- fitness levels
- performance standards
- reporting procedures
- equipment operation, usage and maintenance procedures

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in bold italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Review established flight routes

- 1.1 Flight routes are regularly checked against requirements
- 1.2 Risk management techniques are utilised in checking effectiveness of established flight routes
- 1.3 Flight routes are flown to check and confirm suitability
- 1.4 The overall effectiveness of the route is assessed
- 1.5 Changes/trends in effectiveness are identified and analysed

2. Establish new flight routes

- 2.1 New routes are planned based upon analysis of client need and the application of a risk identification and assessment
- 2.2 The route is planned for maximum effectiveness
- 2.3 The new route is flown to assess effectiveness
- 2.4 Changes to new route are made in accordance with organisational policy and procedures based upon evaluation

3. Delete non-current flight routes

- 3.1 Flights are identified and assessed as being ineffective
- 3.2 A proposal to delete the flight route is prepared
- 3.3 Relevant personnel are advised in accordance with organisational policy and procedures

4. Obtain flight crew input into flight route review and development

- 4.1 Feedback on route plans is sought from flight crew
- 4.2 Flight crew input is taken into account
- 4.3 Feedback is provided to flight crew

5. Obtain approvals for changes to flight routes

- 5.1 Proposed changes to flight routes are submitted to relevant personnel for approval in accordance with organisational policy and procedures

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- establishing, evaluating and changing flight routes in line with risk management principles
- planning and evaluating in the context of surveillance flight route development
- using technology and equipment
- using a range of communication and liaison methods with a diverse range of audiences
- responding to diversity including gender and disability
- applying occupational health and safety and environmental procedures in the context of surveillance flight route development

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- enabling and allied legislation
- policy, procedures, guidelines, protocols and standard operating procedures
- organisational and jurisdictional values/ethics and codes of conduct
- risk assessment
- flight route planning
- aircraft capability
- relevant technology and equipment
- client requirements
- workplace and industry environment
- equity and diversity principles
- public sector legislation including occupational health and safety and environment related to development of surveillance flight routes

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide specifies the evidence required to demonstrate achievement in the unit of competency as a whole. It must be read in conjunction with the Unit descriptor, Performance Criteria, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Public Sector Training Package.

Units to be assessed together

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit: Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit: Nil
- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:
 - PSPBORD403A Review operational schedules
 - PSPBORD404A Analyse surveillance products
 - PSPETHC401A Uphold and support the values and principles of public service
 - PSPGOV406B Gather and analyse information
 - PSPGOV422A Apply government processes
 - PSPLEGN401A Encourage compliance with legislation in the public sector
 - PSPREG401C Exercise regulatory powers

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of the Employability Skills as they relate to this unit (see Employability Summaries in Qualifications Framework)
- development of surveillance flight routes in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- legislation, policy, procedures and protocols relating to development of surveillance flight routes
- operational equipment and technology
- case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of situations likely to be encountered when developing surveillance flight routes

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when developing surveillance flight routes, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine

EVIDENCE GUIDE

- development of surveillance flight routes in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as security requirements, staff rostering and availability, literacy and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- demonstration
- observation
- portfolios
- projects
- questioning
- scenarios
- simulation or role plays
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

1. Review operational flight schedules	1.1 Flight programs are checked and schedules reviewed against relevant plans/programs 1.2 Operational priorities and capabilities are confirmed and take into account diverse conditions 1.3 Variations to schedules are made in response to tasking priorities and capabilities 1.4 Liaison with clients is established and maintained 1.5 Regional-specific input is requested from clients as appropriate
2. Confirm operations	2.1 Relevant plans/programs are reviewed 2.2 Flight routes are confirmed as being consistent with known requirements and aircraft capabilities 2.3 Service delivery standards and agreed performance targets are taken into account in planning 2.4 Aircraft and crew availability is checked 2.5 Clients are consulted as required regarding details of the flight plans and information requirements 2.6 Contingencies are addressed 2.7 The weekly flying program is formulated and published
3. Monitor flying program	3.1 The flying program is checked against the relevant plans/programs 3.2 The program is checked to make sure there are no conflicts with other operational areas 3.3 Flights are re-programmed as required
4. Plan information collection	4.1 Information requirements are identified 4.2 The method of information collection is selected 4.3 Stakeholders are identified 4.4 Form of dissemination is identified
5. Brief management	5.1 Management is kept informed of workload 5.2 Management is informed of any relevant problems, issues or concerns 5.3 Trends in service demand, outcomes, equipment, problems are identified and discussed
6. Assist tactical operations	6.1 Tactical operations are supported by an approved client tasking 6.2 Issues such as infrastructure support are addressed 6.3 Contingencies are managed 6.4 Opportunities to improve outcomes are identified 6.5 Passenger approvals are requested 6.6 Participation is undertaken as a member of the flight team as

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- deploying detector dogs
- maintaining detector dog proficiency
- developing operational effectiveness of detector dog teams
- analysing training and development needs for each team
- preparing and delivering a detector dog training program
- preparing and managing a training budget
- mentoring detector dog teams
- assessing performance and providing feedback to detector dog teams
- producing reports based on assessment of all elements of detector dog training and deployment principles and practices
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- applying occupational health and safety and environmental procedures in the context of detector dog team training

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- principles of quality management and continuous improvement
- current training methodologies
- analysis techniques
- standards
- workplace and industry environment
- equity and diversity principles
- public sector legislation including occupational health and safety and environment related to detector dog team training

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide specifies the evidence required to demonstrate achievement in the unit of competency as a whole. It must be read in conjunction with the Unit descriptor, Performance Criteria, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Public Sector Training Package.

Units to be assessed together

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit: Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit: Nil
- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:
 - PSPBORD405A Develop operational effectiveness of detector dog teams
 - PSPETHC401A Uphold and support the values and principles of public service
 - PSPGOV403B Use resources to achieve work unit goals
 - PSPGOV404B Develop and implement work unit plans
 - PSPLEGN401A Encourage compliance with legislation in the public sector

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of the Employability Skills as they relate to this unit (see Employability Summaries in Qualifications Framework)
- conduct of detector dog team training in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- legislation, policy, procedures and protocols relating to detector dog team training
- case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of situations likely to be encountered when conducting detector dog team training

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when conducting detector dog team training, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- conduct of detector dog team training in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- demonstration
- observation
- portfolios
- projects
- questioning
- scenarios
- simulation or role plays
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Range Statement

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

- Needs* are based on
- the unique requirements of individual dogs and handlers through assessment of experience, strengths, weaknesses and potential
- Training resources* may include
- pre-selection of course dogs
 - pre-course conditioning of selected dogs
 - support staff
 - training literature and associated materials
 - training aids
 - training facilities and off-site locations
 - course syllabus
 - control stocks
- Administrative requirements* may include
- accommodation and travel arrangements of course participants
 - regional deployments
- Specific performance criteria* may include
- handler understanding and application of detector dog program training principles and methodologies as defined in training and operational manuals
 - handler technical skills associated with deployment of a detector dog as defined in training and operational manuals
 - dogs quality of search/detection ability/conditioned response to meet standards as defined in detector dog training and operational manuals
- Records* may include
- proposed changes to course syllabus
 - evaluation of individual exercises
 - regular evaluation and assessments
 - records of training activity
 - dog health and development
 - communications with internal/external networks
- Legislation, policy and guidelines* may include
- enabling and allied legislation such as:
 - Customs Act 1901 and regulations
 - Quarantine Act 1908 and regulations
 - organisational policies and procedures, particularly detector dog program training, operational and training aid control

Reports on findings may cover

- occupational health and safety
- national and regional policies and procedures
- standard operating procedures
- work instructions
- training program review
- development and performance of dogs
- development and performance of handlers
- training budget
- recall and transition training periods
- regional quality assurance processes

Unit descriptor

This unit covers the skills and knowledge required to command operational groups within a compliance/law enforcement operational environment (refer to Range Statement for definition). It includes preparing and planning for the group's role in the operation, communicating the plan to group members, and conducting operations and post operation processes.

In practice, commanding operational groups overlaps with other generalist and specialist public sector work activities such as acting ethically, complying with legislation, applying government processes, using resources, developing work plans, gathering information, etc.

This is a new unit of competency, added to the Border Protection Competency field of the Training Package in 2004.

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in bold italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

1. Prepare and plan for the group's role in the operation	1.1 Tasks relevant to the group are clarified with the operation commander 1.2 Warning order is issued to group members in accordance with organisational procedures 1.3 All relevant information is gathered including that gained from a planned reconnaissance , when required 1.4 The operation is planned using operational command principles and the appreciation process 1.5 Plan is confirmed and endorsed by the operation commander
2. Communicate the plan to group members	2.1 Written orders are produced in the operational command format 2.2 Oral orders are issued to group members in accordance with standing operating procedures
3. Conduct operations	3.1 Resources are deployed in the area of operations according to the plan 3.2 The group is maintained under command and control for the duration of the operation 3.3 Situation and resources are monitored to ensure attainment of the mission 3.4 Situational and resource changes are responded to by redeploying resources to achieve the group mission
4. Conduct post operation processes	4.1 The group debrief is conducted in accordance with standing operating procedures 4.2 Contributions are made to the operational debrief in accordance with standing operating procedures 4.3 Contributions are made to the post operation report by providing relevant information on group activities

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- applying leadership and command in the context of leading operational groups
- determining a response to a range of circumstances
- justifying chosen response to any given situation against legislation, guidelines, policies and regulations
- applying procedures relevant to the tasks undertaken at the group level, such as patrol, search, seizure, apprehension, surveillance etc
- conducting research in the context of leading operational groups
- using effective communication, consultation and liaison with a range of people from diverse backgrounds
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- applying negotiation and conflict resolution methods
- responding to feedback
- reading and interpreting legislation, regulations and guidelines
- undertaking analysis and decision making using sound judgment
- applying occupational health and safety and environment policies and guidelines in the context of commanding an operation

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- enabling and allied legislation
- knowledge of the full range of regulatory powers enforceable by officers
- operational command policy, methodology and principles
- regulations, policy, procedures, guidelines, protocols and standing operating procedures
- workplace and industry environment
- workplace technology and equipment (Ionscan, X-ray)
- occupational health and safety and environment policies and guidelines
- risk assessment techniques
- communication systems relevant to the workplace including communications network and radio protocols
- organisational and jurisdictional values/ethics and codes of conduct
- confidentiality, privacy and security issues
- equity and diversity principles
- reporting requirements

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

The operational environment

- occurs when a need is identified to manage a specific situation or piece of intelligence to achieve a short-term defined objective with a structure different to the day-to-day structure
- is an amalgam of six factors:
 - geographical location
 - transport mode
 - transaction (can sometimes be the transport mode, for example, small craft)
 - hours of operation
 - the human element, the officers; suspects; and persons who work, reside or visit in the environment
 - the situation or intelligence
- is different to the day-to-day environment because of amongst other things:
 - fluid circumstances
 - different sense of urgency
 - different or extended hours of operation
 - increased need for coordination of resources
 - more scope for initiative
 - scope for individual action
 - joint agency activity

Tasks include

- all probable activities included in a warning order from the operation commander
- all activities required to be considered as part of the appreciation process
- all activities that need to be included in a warning order to group members

Warning orders are issued to group members and must contain the following information

- an outline of the situation
- probable tasks
- earliest movement times or degree of notice to move
- time and place for orders group
- any special administrative arrangements

Planned reconnaissance can be conducted by the

- long-range from outside the area of operations
- short-range from within the area of operations

following methods

- land, by foot
- land, by vehicle
- marine
- aerial
- a combination of the above
- all available information about the situation

A planned

reconnaissance requires consideration of

- what has to be looked for
- where the area of operation can be seen from
- the amount of time available
- the need for security

Principles of operational command include

- principles of organisation:
- unity of command
- departmentalisation
- span of control
- scalar principle
- delegation
- principles of operations:
- maintenance of the mission
- maintenance of morale
- assertive action
- security
- economy of effort
- flexibility
- cooperation
- surprise
- administration
- principles of planning:
- selection and maintenance of the aim
- simplicity
- cooperation
- economy
- flexibility
- foresight
- security

The appreciation process includes

- an analysis of the situation
- determining the aim of the situation
- identifying information relevant to the aim
- examining and evaluating all significant factors in the situation
- constructing a deductive argument
- identifying and analysing possible courses of action

RANGE STATEMENT

- The plan must demonstrate consideration of
- selecting the best course of action based on this analysis
 - producing a workable plan
 - agency, operational, environmental and legal limits
 - the creation of an appropriate security environment
 - human resource competency and availability
 - morale maintenance
 - the physical limits of resources
 - effective use of financial resources
 - the appropriate use of attachments and other agency resources
 - the establishment of an effective operational communication network
 - reporting procedures to senior officers for routine and significant outcomes
 - appropriate interaction with the media
 - joint agency requirements and operations
- Written orders* in the operational command format means that
- orders are based on the outline plan from the appreciation process
 - format used is:
 - situation
 - mission
 - execution
 - administration and logistics
 - command and signal
- Oral orders* are
- prepared and delivered in accordance with operational command guidelines
 - confirmed with each of the group members
- Deployment of resources involves but is not limited to the following
- establishing communication networks
 - establishing a headquarters or command post
 - establishing an information and intelligence network
 - establishing an appropriate security environment
 - creating an environment for the enhancement of the morale for the group members
- Area of operations is defined as
- the geographical or physical area of authority of the commander as prescribed by the operation commander
- Command* is defined as
- the authority vested in an individual for the direction, coordination and control of resources

- Control is defined as
- the means by which a commander exercises command, with clear and concise orders through:
 - staff in a headquarters or command post
 - a reliable communication system
 - well-trying standing operating procedures
- Mission is defined as
- a statement made in two parts:
 1. a task derived from the argument made during the appreciation
 2. a purpose statement taken from the higher commander's intent or purpose
- Redeploying resources will require
- assessment of the changes and consideration of the relevant factors
 - making an informed decision
 - adjusting the plan
 - adjusting orders
 - re-allocating resources as required
 - re-issuing orders as required
- A group debrief should
- be conducted at the appropriate time with all available members of the group
 - cover positive aspects of the operation
 - elicit constructive criticism of relevant aspects of the operation
 - gather suggestions or recommendations for inclusion in the post operation report and operational debrief
- The operational debrief should involve
- all levels of command plus identified key stakeholders
 - an analysis of all operational and administrative aspects of the concluded operational activity
- A post operation report contains the following key parts
- a precis of the operational situation
 - the mission restated from the operation order
 - a summarised account of the operation
 - comments and conclusions
 - recommendations

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in bold italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

1. Identify firearms and components	1.1 Firearms and components are prepared for examination
	1.2 Firearms and components are examined in detail to determine relevant features
	1.3 Internal resources are researched to confirm observations
	1.4 Advice is sought on obscure or complex items from relevant personnel
	1.5 Classification of firearms and components is determined in accordance with legislation, regulations, policies and guidelines
	1.6 The requirement for testing or exemption from safety testing is determined in accordance with legislation, regulations, policies and guidelines
2. Conduct safety tests	2.1 Firearms are tested against standards specified in legislation, regulations, policies and guidelines
	2.2 Relevant equipment is operated in accordance with standard operating procedures and guidelines
	2.3 Occupational health and safety issues are identified and actioned in a timely manner
	2.4 The results of equipment use are correctly interpreted
3. Maintain resources	3.1 Routine maintenance of equipment is conducted
	3.2 Equipment is maintained to manufacturers' specifications and standard operating procedures and guidelines
	3.3 Repairs to equipment are organised as soon as practicable
4. Review and report on activities	4.1 Outcomes of firearm identification and safety testing activities are recorded and disseminated in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
	4.2 The outcomes, procedures and processes used in activities are evaluated
	4.3 Improvements to procedures and processes are identified and actioned in accordance with organisational requirements

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- applying legislation, regulations and policies relating to firearms examination and testing
- operating and maintaining equipment to achieve desired outcomes
- accurately interpreting resources and information generated
- selecting and using cleaning agents, solvents and lubricants
- selecting and using tools and equipment
- achieving accuracy in measurement
- undertaking analysis and decision making using sound judgment
- using written and oral communication including liaison and consultation
- planning, prioritising and problem solving
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- applying procedures relating to occupational health and safety and environment in the context of firearms examination and testing

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legislation, regulations, policies, procedures, guidelines and standard operating procedures relating to examination and testing of firearms in the context of international trade or travel
- custodial firearms safe handling procedures
- firearms safety issues
- firearms and firearms related components recognition indicators
- firearms research materials and resources
- public sector and organisational values/ethics codes of conduct or service charter
- security and reporting procedures
- risk management policy and practices
- risk assessment techniques
- profiles and trends
- Australian legal framework
- evidence handling and storage
- equipment maintenance procedures
- equipment operation and usage
- workplace and industry environment
- equal employment opportunity, equity and diversity principles
- public sector legislation such as occupational health and safety and environment in the context of firearms examination and testing

- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- demonstration
- observation
- questioning
- scenarios
- simulation or role plays
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

The operational environment

- occurs when a need is identified to manage a specific situation or piece of intelligence to achieve a short-term defined objective with a structure different to the day-to-day structure
- is an amalgam of six factors:
 - geographical location
 - transport mode
 - transaction (can sometimes be the transport mode, for example, small craft)
 - hours of operation
 - the human element, the officers; suspects; and persons who work, reside or visit in the environment
 - the situation or intelligence
- is different to the day-to-day environment because of amongst other things:
 - fluid circumstances
 - different sense of urgency
 - different or extended hours of operation
 - increased need for coordination of resources
 - more scope for initiative
 - scope for individual action
 - joint agency activity

- all probable activities included in a warning order from an operation chief
- all activities required to be considered as part of the appreciation process
- all activities that need to be included in a warning order to group commanders

Warning orders are issued to group commanders and must contain the following information

- an outline of the situation
- probable tasks
- earliest movement times or degree of notice to move
- time and place for orders group
- any special administrative arrangements

Planned reconnaissance can be conducted by the

- long-range from outside the area of operations
- short-range from within the area of operations

following methods

- land, by foot
- land, by vehicle
- marine
- aerial
- a combination of the above
- all available information about the situation

A planned

reconnaissance requires consideration of

- what has to be looked for
- where the area of operation can be seen from
- the amount of time available
- the need for security

Principles of operational command include

- principles of organisation:
 - unity of command
 - departmentalisation
 - span of control
 - scalar principle
 - delegation
- principles of operations:
 - maintenance of the mission
 - maintenance of morale
 - assertive action
 - security
 - economy of effort
 - flexibility
 - cooperation
 - surprise
 - administration
- principles of planning:
 - selection and maintenance of the aim
 - simplicity
 - cooperation
 - economy
 - flexibility
 - foresight
 - security

The appreciation process includes

- an analysis of the situation
- determining the aim of the situation
- identifying information relevant to the aim
- examining and evaluating all significant factors in the situation
- constructing a deductive argument
- identifying and analysing possible courses of action

- The plan must demonstrate consideration of
- selecting the best course of action based on this analysis
 - producing a workable plan
 - agency, operational, environmental and legal limits
 - the creation of an appropriate security environment
 - human resource competency and availability
 - morale maintenance
 - the physical limits of resources
 - effective use of financial resources
 - the appropriate use of attachments and other agency resources
 - the establishment of an effective operational communication network
 - reporting procedures to senior officers for routine and significant outcomes
 - appropriate interaction with the media
 - joint agency requirements and operations
- Written orders* in the operational command format means that
- orders are based on the outline plan from the appreciation process
 - format used is:
 - situation
 - mission
 - execution
 - administration and logistics
 - command and signal
- Oral orders* are
- prepared and delivered in accordance with operational command guidelines
 - confirmed with each of the group commanders
- Deployment of resources involves but is not limited to the following
- establishing communication networks
 - establishing a headquarters or command post
 - establishing an information and intelligence network
 - establishing an appropriate security environment
 - creating an environment for the enhancement of the morale for the force members
- Area of operations is defined as
- the geographical or physical area of authority of the commander as prescribed by the operation chief
- Command* is defined as
- the authority vested in an individual for the direction, coordination and control of resources
- Control* is defined as
- the means by which a commander exercises command, with clear and concise orders through:
 - staff in a headquarters or command post
 - a reliable communication system

- Mission* is defined as
- well-trying standing operating procedures
 - a statement made in two parts:
 - a task derived from the argument made during the appreciation
 - a purpose statement taken from the higher commander's intent or purpose
- Redeploying resources* will require
- assessment of the changes and consideration of the relevant factors
 - making an informed decision
 - adjusting the plan
 - adjusting orders
 - re-allocating resources as required
 - re-issuing orders as required
- The operational debrief should involve
- all levels of command plus identified key stakeholders
- A post operation report contains the following key parts
- a précis of the operational situation
 - the mission restated from the operation order
 - a summarised account of the operation
 - comments and conclusions
 - recommendations

Unit Descriptor

Unit descriptor

This unit covers the skills and knowledge required to lead, manage and command operations within a compliance/law enforcement operational environment (refer to Range Statement for definition). It includes identifying the need for an operation, preparing and planning for the operation chief's role in the operation, communicating the concept of the operation to operation commanders, conducting operations and contributing to post operation processes.

In practice, managing operations overlaps with other generalist and specialist public sector work activities such as managing compliance with legislation, managing diversity, managing risk, directing project activities, managing resources, etc.

This is a new unit of competency, added to the Border Protection Competency field of the Training Package in 2004.

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in bold italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

1. Identify the need for an operation	1.1 The nature of the problem is identified
	1.2 All known and relevant information is gathered 1.3 Risks are analysed against regional risk treatment plans and work area plans 1.4 The risk is prioritised
	1.5 A broad commitment to the allocation of resources is made in accordance with organisational procedures
2. Prepare and plan for the operation chief's role in the operation	2.1 Tasks relevant to the operation are identified and clarified with stakeholders
	2.2 Warning order is issued to operation commander/s in accordance with organisational procedures
	2.3 All relevant information is gathered including that gained from a planned reconnaissance , when required
	2.4 The operation is planned using operational command principles and the appreciation process
	2.5 Concept is agreed to and, where appropriate, endorsed by stakeholders
3. Communicate the concept of operation to operation commander/s	3.1 Written concept is produced in the operational command format
	3.2 Advice and guidance is provided to the operation commander/s in accordance with standing operating procedures
4. Conduct operations	4.1 Resources are provided for the area of operations according to the concept
	4.2 The operation is maintained under command and control for the duration of the operation
	4.3 Situation and resources are monitored to ensure attainment of the mission
	4.4 Situational and resource changes are responded to by redeploying resources to achieve the operation's intent
5. Contribute to post operation processes	5.1 Contributions are made to the operational debrief in accordance with standing operating procedures
	5.2 Recommendations are raised in the appropriate forum for discussion regarding implementation
	5.3 Recommendations are distributed to appropriate areas in the regions and central office

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- applying leadership and command in the context of commanding an operation
- determining a response to a range of circumstances
- justifying chosen response to any given situation against legislation, guidelines, policies and regulations
- conducting research in the context of leading operational forces
- using effective communication, consultation and liaison with a range of people from diverse backgrounds
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- applying negotiation and conflict resolution methods
- dealing with the media
- reading and interpreting legislation, regulations and guidelines
- undertaking analysis and decision making using sound judgment
- applying occupational health and safety and environment policies and guidelines in the context of managing operations

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- enabling and allied legislation
- knowledge of the full range of regulatory powers enforceable by officers
- operational command policy, methodology and principles
- regulations, policy, procedures, guidelines, protocols and standing operating procedures
- treatment options relevant to the tasks undertaken, such as patrol, search, seizure, apprehension, surveillance etc
- workplace and industry environment
- workplace technology and equipment (Ionscan, X-ray)
- inter-agency agreements, memoranda of understanding and relationships
- occupational health and safety and environment policies and guidelines
- risk assessment techniques
- communication systems relevant to the workplace including communications network and radio protocols
- organisational and jurisdictional values/ethics and codes of conduct
- confidentiality, privacy and security issues
- equity and diversity principles
- reporting requirements

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide specifies the evidence required to demonstrate achievement in the unit of competency as a whole. It must be read in conjunction with the Unit descriptor, Performance Criteria, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Public Sector Training Package.

Units to be assessed together

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit: Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit: Nil
- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:

PSPETHC601B Maintain and enhance confidence in public service

PSPGOV606A Prepare high-level/sensitive written materials

PSPLEGN601B Manage compliance with legislation in the public sector

PSPMNGT602B Manage resources

PSPMNGT605B Manage diversity

PSPMNGT608B Manage risk

PSPPM601B Direct complex project activities

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of the Employability Skills as they relate to this unit (see Employability Summaries in Qualifications Framework)
- managing operations in a range of (2 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- legislation, regulations, policies, standing operating procedures and protocols relating to managing operations
- case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of situations likely to be encountered when managing operations in a range of (2 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when managing operations, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine

- managing operations in a range of (2 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- demonstration
- observation
- questioning
- scenarios
- simulation or role plays
- authenticated evidence from the workplace training courses

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in bold italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

1. Develop an analytical framework	1.1 The context within which community engagement may ethically be undertaken and the underpinning policy drivers are identified 1.2 Key stakeholders are identified and consulted to ensure the framework is culturally appropriate and addresses key community characteristics 1.3 The task and objectives are defined in accordance with organisational requirements for the engagement program 1.4 Resources are allocated to implement the framework according to the requirements of the task and budgetary constraints 1.5 The framework is developed to meet the requirement to assist in analysing and understanding the community
2. Define the target community	2.1 Research techniques are identified in accordance with community engagement information requirements and community preferences 2.2 Information is gathered and analysed according to the requirements of the research strategy, and the target community(s) is defined with sufficient breadth and depth to meet community engagement program requirements 2.3 Community research is conducted and the community(s) is defined in accordance with public sector ethical standards in order to build community trust and confidence
3. Assess community features	3.1 Community diversity is acknowledged and respected in accordance with public sector diversity guidelines and/or codes of practice 3.2 The community's formal and informal leadership structure is identified, and protocols and cultural practices are acknowledged and adhered to 3.3 Community makeup and structures are detailed, and relationships are established through formal and informal community networks in accordance with organisational policy and procedures 3.4 Barriers to involvement by the community in the engagement process are identified, and strategies to address them are developed in accordance with community engagement program requirements 3.5 Risks and issues in relation to engaging with the community are identified, and strategies are developed to address them in accordance with program requirements
4. Build a community profile	4.1 An environmental scan is conducted to examine demographic, social or economic indicators or trends that may impact on community engagement, and the results included in the profile

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

- 4.2 The composition of the community and its leadership structures are detailed in the profile
- 4.3 The community's formal and informal networks and its formal and informal cultural practices are identified in the profile
- 4.4 Barriers to community engagement and risks/issues, including prior experiences and recommendations for addressing them, are detailed in the profile
- 4.5 The profile is validated with stakeholders in accordance with organisational policy and procedures

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- facilitating, consulting and networking with diverse communities using a range of communication styles to suit diverse audiences and purposes
- explaining complex and formal policies and concepts to a variety of audiences
- translating community engagement theory into practice
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- researching and analysing community information
- applying lateral thinking to provide solutions and overcome barriers to community engagement
- applying workplace safety procedures to community consultation
- detailing requirements, writing recommendations and preparing community profiles requiring complex language structures and precision of expression

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legislation, regulations, policies, procedures and guidelines relating to community engagement
- community engagement theory, principles, practices and techniques
- principles of leadership in the context of community engagement
- principles of cultural awareness and cross-cultural communication
- power relationships
- community politics, dynamics eg stigma
- barriers to community engagement
- public sector values and codes of conduct
- principles of ethical conduct
- principles of social justice
- equal employment opportunity, equity and diversity principles
- workplace safety procedures relating to community consultation

They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

The community may include

- individuals
- communities of place
- communities of geographical interest
- communities of interest/interest groups
- residents' and community groups
- ethnic communities
- non-government organisations
- private sector organisations
- public sector agencies
- other levels of government
- media organisations

Research techniques may include

- analysis of demographic, social and economic indicators
- analysis of statistical data
- attitude surveys
- consultation sessions
- environmental scanning
- face-to-face interviews
- focus groups
- value creation workshops
- observation
- panel research
- questionnaires
- sampling

- mobility
- physical ability
- political orientation
- religious belief
- sexual orientation
- socio-economic background
- thinking/learning styles
- work experiences
- codes of conduct, both implicit and explicit
- community structures, cultural norms and culturally appropriate conduct

Community protocols may include

Barriers to community engagement may include access constraints community perception that nothing ever comes from engagement with government - 'talk fest' cultural barriers diversity variables listed previously geographical isolation inappropriate timing, venues and strategies lack of awareness of the full range of government services lack of clear branding in government communications lack of confidence or trust in government lack of follow-up within community engagement strategies lack of information at the local level through local resources such as community newspapers lack of interest in or commitment to the issues lack of knowledge about the structure of government (at all three levels) lack of openness/transparency lack of understanding about an actual issue - building knowledge and literacy, knowing the scenarios

lack of understanding or clarity about the engagement process

language issues

limited access to effective information in first language little access to traditional ethnic media channels such as print and radio or an integrated mix mobility issues

over-reliance on or sole use of electronic media and Internet poor integration of government information strategies poor monitoring and feedback loops poor past experiences with engagement processes previous over-consultation

- social capital gate keepers - residents who block broad participation socio-economic levels

the difficulty of contacting the right area of government first time (no 'one number for government') the terminology and style of copy used in government information time constraints unequal access to information, participation, influence on decision making

Demographic, social or economic indicators may include

- population
- gender
- age
- workforce
- income level
- education
- employment
- ethnicity or cultural backgrounds
- population mobility
- geographical isolation
- spatial disadvantage

Prior community engagement experiences may include

- over-consultation by a range of government and private sector representatives
- feelings of not being listened to or respected throughout the process
- not receiving appropriate or timely feedback
- past consultation bias

Design community engagement activity or program	3.1 Opportunities are identified and used, where possible, to involve the community in the design of the engagement activity or program and its evaluation 3.2 Benefits for community involvement in the engagement process are identified, both for the organisation and the community 3.3 Relevant government/agency guidelines, protocols, systems and processes are identified and applied 3.4 Program is designed to address risks and issues with appropriate mitigation measures and includes strategies to identify and include those missed in the community definition 3.5 Communication, monitoring, reporting, feedback and evaluation processes are embedded in the activity or program 3.6 Relevant commitment to/approval of the activity or program is obtained in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
4. Implement community engagement	4.1 Resources and time are allocated to the implementation process, including a process manager/facilitator with the necessary

ELEMENTPERFORMANCE CRITERIA*activity or program

capabilities, in accordance with the program design

4.2 Implementation is coordinated across the agency and across government, where relevant

4.3 The objectives and constraints of the engagement are communicated in a manner that is understood by all participants

4.4 Clarity is established around the roles and responsibilities of all participants and the level of influence of the participants on the final decision

4.5 The expectations of participants are identified and managed and the community is provided with all relevant information throughout the engagement process

4.6 Feedback mechanisms are implemented in accordance with the process plan, and community requirements and barriers to community engagement involvement are addressed to maximise participation

4.7 Risks and issues are addressed with appropriate mitigation measures

4.8 Community diversity is acknowledged and respected throughout, and the process is transparent and managed in accordance with planned design

4.9 The process is implemented flexibly enough to allow the community to raise new ideas or options and provide the community with opportunities to develop their engagement capacity

5. Report on the outcomes of community engagement

5.1 Outcomes of community engagement are reported to relevant government/agency staff, all participants and those who may be affected or have a significant interest, in accordance with organisational policy and procedures

5.2 Feedback on how the outcomes may inform government/agency planning or decision making is provided to all participants

6. Evaluate community engagement activity

6.1 A good practice model is used to evaluate all components of the engagement activity or program in accordance with the design plan

6.2 Feedback on the quality of the activity or program is obtained from participants

6.3 The extent to which the engagement outcomes informed government/agency planning and decision making is analysed

6.4 Achievements and lessons from the engagement activity or program are recorded, shared and used across the government/agency and with the community in accordance with organisational policy and procedures

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- working with diverse communities using a range of communication styles to suit different audiences and purposes
- managing expectations
- explaining complex and formal policies and concepts to a variety of audiences
- facilitating community engagement, including relationship building, networking, negotiation, conflict management and risk management
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- scoping, designing and implementing community engagement activities/programs including project management, time management and budget management
- applying lateral thinking to provide solutions and overcome barriers to community engagement
- evaluating community engagement activities/programs
- applying workplace safety procedures to community engagement activities
- detailing requirements, writing recommendations and preparing community engagement reports requiring complex language structures and precision of expression

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legislation, regulations, policies, procedures and guidelines relating to community engagement
- community engagement theory, principles, practices and techniques
- public sector ethics and codes of conduct
- facilitation/process management in the context of community engagement
- principles of cultural awareness and cross-cultural communication
- social justice principles
- organisational policies related to communication and the media
- equal employment opportunity, equity and diversity principles
- workplace safety procedures relating to community engagement activities

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide specifies the evidence required to demonstrate achievement in the unit of competency as a whole. It must be read in conjunction with the Unit descriptor, Performance Criteria, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Public Sector Training Package.

Units to be assessed together

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit: Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit: Nil
- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:

PSPCOM501A Prepare for community engagement

PSPCOM503A Build and maintain community relationships

PSPETHC501B Promote the values and ethos of public service

PSPGOV504B Undertake research and analysis

EVIDENCE GUIDE

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of the Employability Skills as they relate to this unit (see table following for examples)
- community engagement strategies developed and implemented in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- community information, case studies or scenarios, including current journals, international case studies
- community engagement theory, principles, practices and techniques
- procedures and protocols for community engagement, including occupational health and safety
- policy and legislation related to community engagement
- public sector values and codes of conduct

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment, or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when designing and implementing community engagement activities/programs, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- community engagement strategies developed and implemented in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- portfolios

EVIDENCE GUIDE

- projects
- questioning
- scenarios
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

Unit Descriptor

Unit descriptor

This unit covers building, rebuilding and maintaining trusting relationships with individuals and communities by public sector officers. It includes setting the parameters for relationships or partnerships, providing information relating to community engagement, and building community engagement and community problem solving capacity.

In practice, building and maintaining community relationships overlaps with other generalist or specialist work activities such as acting ethically, providing leadership, developing client services, developing policy, undertaking research, facilitating change, etc.

This is a new unit of competency, added to the Community Engagement Competency field of the Training Package in 2004.

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in bold italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

1. Set the parameters for relationships or partnerships	1.1 A contextual framework is developed to assist in analysing and setting parameters for relationships/partnerships in accordance with organisational policy and procedure 1.2 The parameters and purpose for the relationships/partnerships are established and agreed 1.3 The emergence of new ideas and options are allowed for in the flexibility of the purpose 1.4 The dynamics within and across relationships/partnerships are identified and managed 1.5 Benefits for both parties are identified and agreed in accordance with organisational policy and procedure 1.6 Constraints are identified, including time, procedural and resource limitations, and resources are allocated in accordance with organisational requirements
2. Provide information relating to community engagement	2.1 Current community understanding of the roles and responsibilities of public officials is assessed, and information is provided to clarify the roles and responsibilities in accordance with organisational policy and procedures 2.2 The rights and responsibilities of individuals and communities to be involved in government processes and decision making are explained in a manner accessible to the audience 2.3 Government/agency priorities, strategic direction, systems, decision making and approval processes are communicated using language, materials and timelines to suit the audience and the occasion 2.4 Opportunities for community involvement in government/agency processes and decision making are communicated in ways suited to the diversity of the community
3. Build community engagement capacity	3.1 The skills and knowledge requirements of individuals and communities to engage with government are identified and addressed with a range of strategies tailored to individual needs 3.2 Opportunities for individuals and communities to develop their capacity to engage with government are identified collaboratively, resourced and promoted in accordance with organisational policy and procedures 3.3 Innovative strategies are developed and implemented to identify and reach out to those who have not yet connected with government, and those who have had a previous poor experience in attempting to engage with government 3.4 Informal and formal community networks are tapped into to strengthen local capital and to ensure ongoing capacity

4. Build community problem-solving capacity

3.5 Barriers to community engagement are identified and solutions formulated and implemented in accordance with organisational policy and procedures and community context

4.1 Information and opportunities for involvement in government processes and decision making are provided to individuals and communities in accordance with their needs and preferences

4.2 Existing and new ways to engage with government are identified and promoted in a variety of ways suited to diverse communities

4.3 Mechanisms for communities to raise their own issues with government are developed, implemented and promoted in accordance with organisational policy and procedures and community context

4.4 A range of strategies to address community issues is developed in partnership with communities

4.5 Mutually developed and agreed solutions to community issues are implemented in accordance with organisational policy and procedures

4.6 Strategies for reporting developments to communities are identified and utilised

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements describe the essential outcomes of a unit of competency.

Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the required skills and knowledge section and the range statement. Assessment of performance is to be consistent with the evidence guide.

Elements and Performance Criteria

1. Prepare for content of matter to be heard.	1.1. Court roster is checked and cause list is examined to identify jurisdiction, presiding officials and status of case . 1.2. Existing glossaries, running sheet and previous transcripts are located. 1.3. Information pertaining to the case and/or jurisdiction is obtained and used. 1.4. Resources are checked and sufficient time is allowed to set up before proceedings begin.
2. Prepare for audio/visual recording.	2.1. Court is set up , microphone/recording checks are carried out, and problems are remedied or reported according to organisational practices and procedures. 2.2. Equipment is placed and cables are secured in compliance with workplace safety requirements. 2.3. Paperwork is completed according to organisational practices and procedures. 2.4. Counsel at the bar is approached to ensure appropriate identification while monitoring. 2.5. Case information is obtained and court file is perused for relevant information . 2.6. Special requirements for relief recorders, for the start of a new trial or for ongoing cases, are included in preparations.
3. Undertake audio/visual recording of proceedings.	3.1. Recording equipment is operated to achieve and maintain high-quality recording . 3.2. Monitoring is undertaken according to organisational practices and procedures. 3.3. Court protocol is maintained at all times particularly while dealing with legal representatives and responding to queries regarding the transcript. 3.4. Where necessary, clarification of proceedings is obtained during adjournments. 3.5. Supervisor is advised when court is completed or adjourned according to organisational practices and procedures. 3.6. Correct procedure is followed when taken over by court reporters. 3.7. Tapes are processed in accordance with legislative requirements, and organisational practices and procedures.

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

- self-management skills to:
 - manage a large volume of work
 - work effectively under pressure
 - meet required deadlines
- initiative and enterprise skills to apply OHS and environmental legislation, regulations and policies to audio recordings of court proceedings
- literacy skills to read and interpret legislation, regulations and policies
- organisational and planning skills to monitor proceedings in a range of courts
- technology skills to:
 - operate recording equipment
 - produce high-quality transcriptions of audio recordings with the required speed and accuracy
 - set up and operate portable audio-recording equipment
 - undertake high-quality audio/visual recordings of court proceedings
- communication skills to:
 - deal effectively with a diverse range of people
 - make clear announcements
- interpersonal skills to respond to diversity, including gender and disability

Required knowledge

- legislation, regulations, policies, procedures and practice relating to audio/visual recordings of court proceedings
- structure, roles and functions of courts
- court administration structure
- principles of judicial independence
- court procedures and protocols
- English language, grammar and punctuation
- equal employment opportunity principles
- equity and diversity principles
- ethical standards in the workplace and how they are applied
- public sector legislation, such as OHS and environment in the context of audio/visual recording of court proceedings

Evidence Guide

The Evidence Guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.

Overview of assessment Competency must be demonstrated in preparing for content of the matter to be heard, preparing for audio/visual recording, and recording the proceedings

Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit

Assessment must confirm the ability to:

- locate and interpret information relevant to jurisdiction, presiding officials and case
- operate equipment and resources necessary for effective audio recording
- record and monitor information to produce accurate transcript of court proceedings
- apply formatting and style to transcript
- comply with organisational and legislative procedures and protocols.

Consistency in performance

Competency should be demonstrated by producing audio recordings on a range of occasions over time, according to organisational policy and procedures.

Context of and specific resources for assessment

Assessment must comply with:

- applicable regulations and codes
- workplace procedures and protocols.

Access may be required to:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practices and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when audio recording court proceedings, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- legislation, policy, procedures and protocols relating to audio/visual recordings of court proceedings
- access to a live courtroom
- court audio/visual recording equipment
- court transcription technology
- case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of situations likely to be encountered when audio/visual recording court proceedings.

Guidance information for assessment

The following assessment methods are suggested:

- oral questioning about relevant legislation, acting ethically, organisational requirements, and applying processes
- observation of the candidate in a range of contexts to ensure

The Evidence Guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.

achievement of the unit outcomes

- feedback from peers and/or supervisor that the candidate consistently applies relevant workplace procedures
- review of records completed by candidate or reports of performance.

In all cases, practical assessment should be supported by questions to assess underpinning knowledge and those aspects of competency that are difficult to assess directly. Questioning techniques should suit the language and literacy levels of the candidate.

Range Statement

The range statement relates to the unit of competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Bold italicised wording, if used in the performance criteria, is detailed below. Essential operating conditions that may be present with training and assessment (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) may also be included.

- Jurisdiction may include:
- types of matters that can be heard in that court
 - parties that have standing.
- Presiding officials may include:
- single judge, master or commissioner
 - full bench.
- Status of case may include:
- new case
 - part-heard
 - appeal.
- Information may include:
- style book information for the jurisdiction
 - day of case
 - page number.
- Case may be:
- civil
 - criminal
 - trial
 - appeal.
- Resources may include:
- sufficient tapes and paperwork
 - monitor manual.
- Set up may include:
- suitable number and placement of microphones
 - portable recording equipment.
- Equipment may be audio/visual and include:
- microphones, including monitoring microphones
 - leads
 - digital or analogue recording equipment
 - headphones.
- Relevant information in court file may include:
- correct spelling, particularly of unusual words
 - file numbers.
- Special requirements may include:
- drawing up a plan of the court
 - identifying counsel at particular microphones
 - checking whether opening addresses need to be typed
 - obtaining names of witnesses
 - if appeal, copies of lists of authorities and any reports.
- Maintaining a high-quality recording
- checking, using headphones plugged into the jack

EVIDENCE GUIDE

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of Employability Skills as they relate to this unit
- ethical conduct demonstrated and supported in others in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time) where contexts include generalist or specialist work activities such as applying government processes, delivering and monitoring services to clients, using resources, conducting interviews, giving evidence, awarding contracts, etc

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- ethics-related legislation and guidelines
- codes of conduct and codes of ethics
- public sector standards, procedures and protocols
- ethical decision making models

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when working ethically in a public sector environment, including coping with ambiguity, difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- ethical conduct demonstrated and supported in others in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time) where contexts include generalist or specialist work activities such as applying government processes, delivering and monitoring services to clients, using resources, conducting interviews, giving evidence, awarding contracts, etc

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- portfolios
- questioning
- scenarios
- simulation or role plays
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Range Statement

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when developing an ethical organisational culture, processes and conduct in a public sector environment, including coping with ambiguity, difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- leadership and influence in ethical practice demonstrated in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- portfolios
- questioning
- scenarios
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

EVIDENCE GUIDE

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in bold italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Analyse organisational issues

- 1.1 The financial management implications of the internal and external issues facing the organisation are identified
- 1.2 Internal and external stakeholders are consulted and the impact of their expectations on financial management is identified
- 1.3 Information is analysed to identify strategic financial management issues and the impact of legislative requirements

2. Ascertain the current resource position of the organisation

- 2.1 Existing strategic priorities are identified and the resource requirements of these are confirmed
- 2.2 The economic viability of proposed goals and objectives is assessed and resource requirements are identified
- 2.3 Resource assessments are prepared to confirm the current resource position and endorsement by management is sought in accordance with organisational policy and procedures

3. Assist in identifying and assessing resourcing strategies

- 3.1 The financial implications of alternative resourcing and program delivery strategies are considered in accordance with government policy
- 3.2 Financial evaluation techniques are used to assess the effect and financial sensitivity of alternative strategies and program variations

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- interpreting organisational information in financial terms
- preparing strategies and reports requiring precision of expression
- financial assessment and evaluation
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- applying environmental and occupational health and safety procedures relating to working in the public sector

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legislation, policies and processes relating to public sector finance
- strategic planning processes
- undertaking financial evaluation techniques
- alternative resourcing strategies
- forecasting, financial sensitivity testing and cost-benefit analysis
- legislation related to work in the public sector such as environmental and occupational health and safety requirements

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide specifies the evidence required to demonstrate achievement in the unit of competency as a whole. It must be read in conjunction with the Unit descriptor, Performance Criteria, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Public Sector Training Package.

Units to be assessed together

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit: Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit: Nil
- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:

PSPETHC601B Maintain and enhance confidence in public service

PSPLEGN601B Manage compliance with legislation in the public sector

PSPMNGT602B Manage resources

PSPMNGT608B Manage risk

PSPMNGT609B Formulate business strategies

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of the Employability Skills as they relate to this unit (see Employability Summaries in Qualifications Framework)
- strategic financial analysis undertaken in a range of (2 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- public sector and organisational financial procedures and protocols
- case studies and scenarios that provide organisational information for analysis
- financial legislation and guidelines, such as central agency guidelines

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when undertaking strategic financial analysis, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- strategic financial analysis undertaken in a range of (3 or more)

contexts (or occasions, over time)

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- portfolios
- projects
- questioning
- scenarios
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. The Evidence Guide specifies the evidence required to demonstrate achievement in the unit of competency as a whole. It must be read in conjunction with the Unit descriptor, Performance Criteria, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Public Sector Training Package.

Units to be assessed together

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit: Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit: Nil
- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:

PSPETHC401A Uphold and support the values and principles of public service

PSPLEGN401A Encourage compliance with legislation in the public sector

PSPGOV402B Deliver and monitor service to clients

PSPREG402C Promote client compliance

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

the knowledge requirements of this unit

the skill requirements of this unit

application of the Employability Skills as they relate to this unit (see Employability Summaries in Qualifications Framework)

- presentation of fraud and corruption control awareness sessions in a range of (3 or more) contexts

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

fraud and corruption control guidelines

- fraud investigation standards
- public sector values and codes of conduct
- legislation, procedures and protocols relating to fraud and corruption control
- legislation and procedures relating to public interest disclosures, protected disclosures or whistleblowing
- case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of fraud and corruption control situations likely to be encountered

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when conducting fraud and corruption control awareness sessions, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine

- presentation of fraud and corruption control awareness sessions in a range of (3 or more) contexts

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

people with disabilities

people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people

women

young people

older people

people in rural and remote locations

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

case studies

demonstration

observation

portfolios

projects

questioning

scenarios

simulation or role plays

authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

- Fraud and corruption control awareness presentation may include
- in formal situations
 - addressing special interest groups or community groups
 - part of a broader induction program for agency staff
 - explaining procedures and guidelines
 - on-the-job coaching

4. Develop and nurture cooperative client relationships	4.1 Expectations of clients and contractors are established and documented 4.2 Opportunities for establishing contacts and networks with external and internal clients are anticipated in consultation with work colleagues and managers 4.3 Changes in organisational focus are monitored for effects on organisation-client relationships and action is taken to inform clients of changes in accordance with organisational policy and procedures 4.4 Feedback on organisational activities is obtained and reported

within the organisation in accordance with policy and procedures

4.5 Organisation's fraud and corruption control philosophy, policy and procedures are imparted in a way which facilitates stakeholder understanding

4.6 Where required, clients are advised when and how they may modify their practices to meet organisational standards

5. Conduct fraud and corruption awareness activities

5.1 Fraud and corruption awareness activities are planned and are feasible within existing resource and time constraints

5.2 Intended outcomes are identified and are based on realistic expectations of the target audience

5.3 Activities are varied, refined and adapted as indicated by audience response or by changes in the organisation's fraud and corruption control strategy and procedures

5.4 Adult learning techniques are utilised

5.5 Fraud and corruption control awareness information is linked with codes of conduct, ethical requirements, and the fraud and corruption control guidelines of the organisation together with its broader corporate goals

6. Evaluate success of awareness-raising activities

6.1 Fraud and corruption control awareness activities are assessed against predetermined objectives

6.2 Results of evaluation are documented and used as the basis for planning future activities

6.3 Opportunities for new fraud and corruption awareness activities are identified and acted on as required

6.4 Evidence, if any, is obtained of a decrease in the level of fraud and corruption as a result of the activities

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- designing fraud and corruption control activities
- developing and maintaining client relationships
- tailoring sessions to the needs of adult learners and a variety of audiences
- explaining complex concepts and formal documents such as legislation, standards and codes of conduct
- using a range of communication styles to suit different audiences and purposes
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- applying occupational health and safety and environmental procedures in the context of conducting fraud and corruption control activities

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- agency structure and core business activities
- fraud and corruption and how they relate to the specific functions and activities of the organisation, together with an understanding of ethical standards required by the organisation of its staff, contractors and suppliers
- jurisdictional fraud and corruption control requirements
- the organisation's fraud and corruption risk management methodology

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in bold italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

1. Hypothesise fraud and corruption situations	1.1 Hypotheses are formulated and guidelines specified for input into information system design 1.2 Data and information is collected from a variety of sources and methods including fraud/corruption records, audit records, fraud/corruption risk assessment, past investigations and other organisations 1.3 Hypothetical fraud and corruption situations are used to identify new potential risk areas
2. Initiate projects to test newly identified risk areas	2.1 New projects are initiated and parameters defined in accordance with fraud/corruption control plan 2.2 Significance and value of the project are justified and are consistent with the fraud/corruption control strategy and plan and strategy 2.3 Previous and ongoing activities in the relevant areas are reviewed for their contributions to the outcomes of the project 2.4 Project activities are designed utilising current knowledge, methods and techniques for the identification of risks
3. Analyse trends in fraud and corruption activities and investigations	3.1 All project and investigation outcomes are reviewed to identify emerging patterns of behaviour reflected in data 3.2 Conclusions are drawn from data and statistical information as well as qualitative sources including information gathered and reports from previous investigations 3.3 Risks and strengths are identified as a result of a project's analysis of trends inside and outside the organisation 3.4 Discussion with colleagues and other experienced organisational staff is used as additional source of information on trends 3.5 Networks are used to provide useful contacts and information for investigation in accordance with legislative requirements 3.6 Performance reports are produced which identify trends in fraud and corruption activities and investigations
4. Recommend course/s of action	4.1 All relevant elements are considered during evaluation, prior to recommending course of action 4.2 Investigation targets are identified, and suggestions for future areas of investigation are referred to management 4.3 Recommendations are made for changes to organisational controls and initiatives to target potential trouble spots 4.4 Data is checked for reliability, and practical recommendations are made providing management with feasible options 4.5 Management issues and concerns are balanced against public

- interest and political concerns when framing recommendations
- 4.6 Recommendations are made that balance operational demands against contributions to strategic plan
- 5. Provide information on recommended actions
- 5.1 Reports are provided containing suggestions for actions and sufficient supporting information for management to adequately resource future projects
- 5.2 Advice is provided regarding appropriate controls and initiatives required to address fraud and corruption
- 5.3 Operational briefings and other presentations are prepared and given as required
- 5.4 Ad hoc opportunities to explain operational risks are taken advantage of, as they arise
- 5.5 Information is given in terms that clearly explain the nature of possible risk, with possible solutions outlined

Unit descriptor

This unit covers planning actions in response to the organisation's fraud/corruption control strategy, either the preparation of a specific fraud/corruption control plan based on a risk assessment or as an extension of the organisation's documentation of its fraud/corruption control strategy. The unit includes identifying areas for action, gaining commitment to the plan, identifying qualitative and quantitative performance indicators, and documenting and disseminating the fraud/corruption control plan.

Fraud in the unit title incorporates both fraud and corruption.

In practice, developing fraud control plans may overlap with other generalist or specialist public sector workplace activities such as acting ethically, promoting compliance with legislation, delivering client services, anticipating fraud activity, conducting fraud risk assessments, etc.

This unit replaces and is equivalent to PSPFRAU505A Develop fraud control plan.

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in bold italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

1. Identify areas for action	1.1 Processes are established to identify fraud and corruption risks and vulnerability 1.2 Areas are identified for action through the fraud/corruption risk assessment process or some other process for identifying fraud and corruption vulnerability 1.3 Initiatives are developed in consultation with appropriate staff to control identified vulnerabilities 1.4 Areas within the organisation responsible for fraud and corruption minimisation actions are identified 1.5 Consultation with stakeholders is undertaken to develop a shared understanding of responsibilities 1.6 Timeframe for implementation of actions is specified based upon an understanding of the nature of risk and resource ramifications
2. Gain commitment to fraud/corruption control plan	2.1 Professional development awareness and information programs are initiated in consultation with responsible staff 2.2 Fraud/corruption prevention initiatives are tailored to the organisational culture, core business and client groups
3. Identify qualitative and quantitative performance indicators	3.1 Advice is sought from internal and external specialist personnel 3.2 Stakeholders are involved in the development of performance indicators 3.3 Performance indicators are developed that relate to the objectives of the program and enable an assessment of the extent to which fraud and corruption control objectives are being achieved 3.4 Feedback mechanisms are established to ensure that performance data informs improvements to fraud/corruption control strategies and activities
4. Document fraud/corruption control plan	4.1 Control plan is documented using concise language and structure tailored to the intended audience/s 4.2 The responsibilities for fraud and corruption control of each area in the organisation are clearly articulated in the plan 4.3 Risks targeted by the risk assessment process are used to identify areas for action 4.4 A comprehensive fraud/corruption control strategy for the organisation is reflected in the plan 4.5 The plan is linked to internal audit to reduce overlap or duplication 4.6 The requirements of any jurisdictional fraud and corruption control legislation and guidelines are addressed in the plan

5. Disseminate fraud/corruption control plan

- 5.1 Non-confidential components of the fraud/corruption control plan are made accessible to staff, the Minister and clients of the organisation
- 5.2 Confidential components are documented and stored appropriately
- 5.3 Review of the plan is conducted in accordance with organisational and jurisdictional needs and requirements

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- identifying areas for action based upon an analysis and synthesis of objectives and information from the fraud/corruption control strategy, the processes established to identify fraud and corruption vulnerability, and agency corporate plans
- planning, analysis and evaluation relating to fraud and corruption risk control
- using a range of communication, consultation and negotiation styles to suit different audiences and purposes
- applying complex documents such as legislation, guidelines and standards
- managing contractors if the fraud/corruption risk assessment is outsourced
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- applying occupational health and safety and environmental procedures in the context of fraud and corruption control

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- jurisdictional fraud and corruption control requirements
- agency fraud and corruption control strategy and agency processes to measure fraud and corruption vulnerability
- agency structure and core business activities
- fraud and corruption risk factors in the organisation, agency clients, and any history of fraud and corruption in or against the agency
- the processes established to identify fraud and corruption vulnerability and agency corporate plans
- anti-discrimination and diversity legislation
- legislation, policies and procedures relating to fraud and corruption control

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide specifies the evidence required to demonstrate achievement in the unit of competency as a whole. It must be read in conjunction with the Unit descriptor, Performance Criteria, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Public Sector Training Package.

Units to be assessed together

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit: Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit: Nil

Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:

- PSPETHC501B Promote the values and ethos of public service
- PSPFRAU502B Anticipate and detect possible fraud activity
- PSPFRAU504B Conduct fraud risk assessments
- PSPGOV502B Develop client services
- PSPGOV504B Undertake research and analysis
- PSPGOV517A Coordinate risk management
- PSPLEGN501B Promote compliance with legislation in the public sector

Overview of evidence requirements

- In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:
- the knowledge requirements of this unit
 - the skill requirements of this unit
 - application of the Employability Skills as they relate to this unit (see Employability Summaries in Qualifications Framework)
 - development of fraud/corruption control plans in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Resources required to carry out assessment

- These resources include:
- legislation, policy and procedures relating to fraud and corruption control
 - fraud and corruption control guidelines and standards
 - AS/NZS 4360:1999 or as revised
 - public sector values and codes of conduct
 - case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of fraud/corruption planning activities likely to be undertaken

Where and how to assess evidence

- Valid assessment of this unit requires:
- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when developing fraud/corruption control strategy, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- development of a fraud/corruption control strategy in a range of (2 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

people with disabilities

people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people

women

young people

older people

people in rural and remote locations

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

case studies

portfolios

projects

questioning

scenarios

authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

Obligations may include promotion of effective delivery of service management of public resources to protect against losses through fraud, corruption, waste, mismanagement and abuse management of human resources to ensure employees' rights and responsibilities are upheld promotion of ethical behaviour, and accountability protection of persons who provide information under public interest disclosures, protected disclosures or whistleblowing legislation risk management
 evaluation

Needs identification may include consultation with: staff peers
 clients
 fraud/corruption prevention network relevant standards-setting organisations

Requirements to be incorporated may include legislative and judicial requirements relevant to the jurisdiction guidelines and legislative requirements from standards-setting organisations relevant to the jurisdiction

Attributes of a fraud/corruption control strategy may vary from agency to agency but should include: integration into the broader policies and values of the agency internal and external fraud and corruption reporting systems external notification investigation standards fraud/corruption risk assessment responsibility structures

employee and customer and community awareness conduct and disciplinary standards procedures for providing information under public interest disclosures, protected disclosures or whistleblowing legislation protection of persons who provide information under public interest disclosures, protected disclosures or whistleblowing legislation

Quality assurance processes may include internal review external review

Stakeholders may include

relevant government Ministers agency staff and senior management agency clients community and lobby groups contractors and consultants suppliers
industry associations other agencies with an interest in fraud/corruption control including standards-setting bodies law enforcement agencies prosecution agencies internal/external audit

Effective channels for information dissemination on the strategy may include public documents

Unit Descriptor

Unit descriptor

This unit covers the use of communication techniques for interacting with internal and external clients and following instructions. It includes handling routine enquiries, following and relaying routine instructions and engaging in workplace discussions. Though the prime focus of the unit is on speaking, listening and reading non-verbal cues, if reading, writing and visual literacy are intrinsic to the workplace communication these are included. Where reading and writing are the prime focus of the workplace function these are addressed in PSPGOV208A Write routine workplace materials.

In practice, workplace communication overlaps with other generalist or specialist public sector work activities such as working in a public sector environment, delivering client service, handling information, participating in change, using resources, using technology, etc.

This is one of 5 units of competency in the Working in Government Competency Field that deal with communication. Related units are:

PSPGOV312A Use workplace communication strategies

PSPGOV412A Use advanced workplace communication strategies

PSPGOV512A Use complex workplace communication strategies

PSPGOV605A Persuade and influence opinion

This unit replaces, and for qualification purposes is equivalent to PSPGOV202A Communicate in the workplace.

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Collect and analyse workplace information

- 1.1 Required information is collected and analysed under direction
- 1.2 Routine information is checked and recorded in accordance with organisational format/s
- 1.3 Maintenance of data systems is undertaken to ensure records are accurate and up-to-date
- 1.4 Internal data storage systems are updated, accessed and searched as required
- 1.5 Workplace procedures related to security and confidentiality are applied to information handling

2. Process workplace information

- 2.1 Incoming information is sorted and distributed within defined timeframes
- 2.2 Problems in processing routine information are identified and communicated to relevant staff
- 2.3 Information storage and filing systems are established and maintained in accordance with legislation, policy and procedures

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- handling files
- handling mail
- applying information security requirements
- applying computer technology to data storage, retrieval and presentation
- converting one information type to another (such as scanning)
- applying basic statistical and numerical manipulation
- using problem solving and referring problems as required
- communicating with colleagues and supervisors
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legislation, policies, procedures and guidelines relating to information handling in the public sector, such as confidentiality, privacy, security, freedom of information
- organisational procedures for handling information
- electronic and manual filing systems
- databases and data storage systems
- equal employment opportunity, equity and diversity principles
- occupational health and safety and environmental procedures relating to information handling

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide specifies the evidence required to demonstrate achievement in the unit of competency as a whole. It must be read in conjunction with the Unit descriptor, Performance Criteria, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Public Sector Training Package.

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit: Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit: Nil
- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:

PSPGOV201B Work in a public sector environment

PSPGOV202B Use routine workplace communication techniques

PSPGOV203B Deliver a service to clients

PSPGOV204B Access and use resources

PSPGOV207B Use technology in the workplace

PSPGOV208A Write routine workplace materials

PSPOHS201B Follow workplace safety procedures

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of Employability Skills as they relate to this unit
- workplace information handled in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- legislation, policy, procedures and protocols relating to information in the public sector
- case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of situations likely to be encountered when handling information

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment, or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when handling information, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- workplace information handled in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time).

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations.

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- demonstration
- observation
- portfolios
- projects
- questioning
- scenarios
- simulation or role plays
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Select and use technology

- 1.1 The technology requirements of tasks are assessed and technology and/or software applications are selected in accordance with task requirements and available workplace resources
- 1.2 Work area, furniture and equipment are adjusted and used in accordance with ergonomic requirements
- 1.3 Technology/software is used to achieve work outcomes in accordance with organisational guidelines and occupational health and safety requirements
- 1.4 Manuals, training booklets, online/telephone assistance or help-desks are used to overcome basic difficulties with technology, and more complex problems are referred for assistance in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
- 1.5 Technology and data are secured in accordance with legislation, policy and procedures

2. Maintain technology

- 2.1 Routine maintenance is carried out and/or arranged to ensure that technology is maintained in accordance with manufacturers' instructions and organisational requirements
- 2.2 Equipment faults are corrected or reported in accordance with manufacturers' instructions and service agreements
- 2.3 Technology consumables are replaced as they are used in accordance with manufacturers' instructions and organisational requirements
- 2.4 Use of technology and disposal of used consumables meets government and organisational environmental policies

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- planning technology use
- identifying work requirements and selecting the equipment and software application of best fit in terms of timeliness, cost effectiveness, occupational health and safety conditions
- using a keyboard
- using a range of technology applications
- using communication to request advice, receive feedback and work with others
- applying problem solving in relation to routine problems
- following manufacturers' instructions
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- applying public sector legislation such as occupational health and safety and environment in the context of using workplace technology

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legislation, procedures and guidelines relating to the use of technology in the workplace
- occupational health and safety procedures and regulations
- logon, backup, virus protection and shutdown procedures for computer equipment
- basic technical terminology in relation to reading manuals and help files
- methods of detecting faults in and solving problems with business technology
- equal employment opportunity, equity and diversity principles

- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to any of the generalist public sector specific units at Certificate II or above, particularly:

PSPGOV201B Work in a public sector environment

PSPGOV202B Use routine workplace communication techniques

PSPGOV203B Deliver a service to clients

PSPGOV204B Access and use resources

PSPGOV205B Participate in workplace change

PSPGOV206B Handle workplace information

PSPGOV208A Write routine workplace materials

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of Employability Skills as they relate to this unit
- use of equipment and application of software in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time).

The unit relates to the application of technology as a transferable competency. It is not necessary to assess (or address) an exhaustive range of equipment, rather attention should be given to the different kinds of technology that can be used and the selection of the 'technology of best fit' for the task. (Is it better/more economical to print one master copy, and photocopy multiples, or print multiple copies direct from the computer? I need a graph - do I use a word processing or spreadsheet application?)

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- legislation, policy, procedures and protocols relating to the use of technology in the workplace
- case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of situations likely to be encountered when using technology in the workplace

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment, or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when using technology in the workplace, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- correct use of equipment and application of software in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time).

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations.

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Read, interpret and act on routine written materials

- 1.1 Intended recipients and purpose of incoming written materials are determined with assistance from others
- 1.2 Key points are identified and used to record, store or forward incoming materials in accordance with organisational procedures.
- 1.3 Information from tables, charts and other graphic information is used to plan and organise work.
- 1.4 Procedural information is read and followed to implement workplace routines or remedy problems
- 1.5 Assistance is sought with difficult or ambiguous materials in accordance with organisational procedures

ELEMENT

2. Prepare routine written materials

- 2.1 Requirements of written materials are confirmed and followed in accordance with legislation, organisational procedures and standard templates
- 2.2 Information is included that is accurate, clear and concise and meets organisational guidelines for the type of document
- 2.3 Material is checked to ensure correct grammar, spelling and punctuation, and to correct any inaccuracies in content.
- 2.4 Written information is presented in accordance with organisational standards for format and accuracy
- 2.5 Written information is prepared and submitted for approval/final editing within required timeframes

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- reading and writing at a level to cope with routine workplace materials
- identifying key messages in written information
- writing and sequencing paragraphs according to the required purpose of written material
- linking ideas in written material through selection and use of words, language structures and punctuation appropriate to the purpose
- spelling, punctuation and grammar for workplace documents at a practical level
- responding to diversity requirements, including gender and disability
- implementing ergonomic requirements for office work
- complying with environmental policies such as those relating to paper use/wastage/recycling

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legislation, regulations, policies, procedures and guidelines relating to written materials such as privacy, freedom of information, information security, confidentiality, copyright
- organisational policy for recordkeeping
- principles of effective written communication
- differences between requirements for written as opposed to spoken English

Unit Descriptor

Unit descriptor

This unit covers the requirements for working effectively in a public sector organisation with a focus on self-management. It includes evaluating and developing your own expertise, identifying career options, working within the organisational structure and culture, and managing your own work. It does not cover working with others. This is addressed in the unit PSPGOV302B Contribute to workgroup activities.

In practice, working effectively occurs in the context of other generalist and specialist public sector work activities, such as acting ethically, using resources, organising information, maintaining workplace safety, complying with legislation etc.

This is one of 5 units in the Working in Government and Management Competency Fields that deal with work effectiveness/career management. Related units are:

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

----------------	-----------------------------

ELEMENTPERFORMANCE CRITERIA*1. Evaluate and develop own expertise

- 1.1 Self-assessment of work-related competencies is made by reflecting on own workplace experience and training, and from monitoring feedback on performance in the workplace
- 1.2 Research is undertaken to identify possible careers and compare the requirements of these careers with current skill base and development opportunities available within the organisation and across the public sector
- 1.3 Areas requiring competency development are identified by comparing current competencies with the competency requirements of current or anticipated duties
- 1.4 Personal learning goals are set and progress towards them monitored
- 1.5 Potential competency recognition or development opportunities are identified and accessed in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
- 1.6 Records of competency development are maintained and work-related competencies and experience are conveyed to relevant people as required

2. Work within the organisational structure and context

- 2.1 A comprehensive knowledge of the organisation's structure and functioning is developed and utilised in accordance with legislation, policy and procedures
- 2.2 An understanding of the organisation's context is developed and used
- 2.3 The work unit's position in the organisational structure is identified, its relationship with other organisational work units examined and any protocols/difficulties/special requirements determined
- 2.4 The contribution of the work role and the work unit to the organisation's vision, goals and outcomes is identified and confirmed
- 2.5 Work is undertaken in a manner that has regard for the workgroup position and the organisation's structure, functioning, culture and vision

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

3. Manage own work

- 3.1 Individual work goals are identified, clarified and prioritised in accordance with the organisation's requirements
- 3.2 Risks to the achievement of personal work outcomes are identified and managed in accordance with organisational risk management requirements
- 3.3 Work strategies are selected with regard to applicable work parameters
- 3.4 Progress with work is monitored relative to set goals, strategies and outcomes
- 3.5 Work goals are achieved and work plans revised to attend to ongoing or new responsibilities

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of Employability Skills as they relate to this unit
- organisation of workplace information in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- legislation, policy, procedures and protocols relating to information in the public sector
- case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of situations likely to be encountered when organising workplace information

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when organising workplace information, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- organisation of workplace information in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time).

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations.

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- demonstration
- observation
- portfolios
- projects
- questioning
- scenarios
- simulation or role plays
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

Unit Descriptor

Unit descriptor

This unit covers client service where a relationship is established with the client to address their needs. Staff may need to explore with clients what outcomes are possible and would best promote satisfaction. It may also require staff to be familiar with a product/service that is capable of customisation. The nature of the service/product delivery may need to be explored with the client. The unit includes assisting clients to articulate needs, satisfying client needs and exercising judgment to resolve client service issues.

In practice, addressing client needs may overlap with other generalist or specialist public sector work activities such as acting ethically, complying with legislation, working effectively, working with diversity, undertaking basic procurement, calculating duty and other taxes, processing claims, etc.

This unit is based upon unit GCSO06A from GCS01 Client Service (Generic Guideline Competencies), but the outcome has been altered. Element 1 of this competency is from element P17 from GCS01, element 2 of this competency is from element P18 from GCS01 and element 3 of this competency is from element S21 from GCS01.

This is one of 5 units of competency in the Working in Government and Management Competency Fields that deal with client services. Related units are:

PSPGOV203B Deliver a service to clients

PSPGOV402B Deliver and monitor service to clients

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Assist clients to articulate needs

- 1.1 Client needs are fully explored, specified and agreed
- 1.2 Available services/products are matched to client needs
- 1.3 Options for meeting needs are identified to clients and explained in a manner suited to client requirements
- 1.4 Clients are assisted to evaluate service/product options to satisfy their needs in line with organisational policy and guidelines
- 1.5 The rights and responsibilities of clients in relation to the product/service are identified and communicated to clients in accordance with legislation, policy and procedures

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

2. Satisfy client needs

- 2.1 Preferred product/service is determined and prioritised for action
- 2.2 Customised solutions to client needs are developed within limits of own authority, and delivered in accordance with legislation, policy and procedures
- 2.3 Where the required service cannot be provided, an explanation is provided to clients as to why need/s cannot be met
- 2.4 An acceptable alternative is recommended to clients and if none is available, any further actions that can be taken are explained

3. Exercise judgment to resolve client service issues

- 3.1 Potential difficulties in client service delivery and its impact for clients and the organisation are identified
- 3.2 Options for resolution available within limits of own authority are explained to clients
- 3.3 Viable options are proposed in accordance with legislation, policy and procedures
- 3.4 Positive actions are taken to address issues within legislative and policy constraints
- 3.5 Matters where a solution cannot be found are referred in accordance with organisational procedures

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of Employability Skills as they relate to this unit
- work in and with a small, regional or remote organisation in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- legislation, policy, procedures and protocols relating to the public sector
- case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of situations likely to be encountered when working in and with a small, regional or remote organisation

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when working in and with a small, regional or remote organisation, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- work in and with a small, regional or remote organisation in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time).

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations.

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- demonstration
- observation
- portfolios
- questioning
- scenarios
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

Unit Descriptor

Unit descriptor

This unit covers coaching/mentoring from the point of view of the person being coached/mentored. It includes arranging for coaching/mentoring, working with a coach/mentor and maximising coaching/mentoring results.

In practice, working effectively with a coach or mentor may overlap with other generalist or specialist public sector work activities such as acting ethically, complying with legislation, working effectively in the organisation, working with diversity, giving and receiving feedback, etc.

This unit is one of 4 units of competency in the Working in Government Competency Field that deal with coaching/mentoring. Related units are:

PSPGOV414A Provide workplace mentoring

PSPGOV415A Provide workplace coaching

PSPGOV506A Support workplace coaching and mentoring

This is a new unit of competency, added to the Working in Government Competency Field of the Training Package in 2004.

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Arrange for coaching/mentoring

- 1.1 The need for assistance is identified and the benefits of coaching versus mentoring discussed with others to determine best option
- 1.2 Coaching/mentoring is selected in accordance with the identified benefits
- 1.3 A checklist is prepared to assist in explaining the purpose and desired outcomes of the coaching/mentoring arrangement
- 1.4 Assistance is obtained where necessary, to identify and approach suitable person/s to request coaching/mentoring in accordance with the coaching/mentoring plan
- 1.5 Selected person/s are approached and a coaching/mentoring arrangement is negotiated in accordance with the identified need, personal expectations, the ability of the coach/mentor to provide the service, cultural and other considerations

2. Work with a coach/mentor

- 2.1 Ground rules are established and realistic expectations set with the coach/mentor
- 2.2 Options to attain goals are explored and a plan is prepared with the coach/mentor to formalise the arrangement
- 2.3 Coaching/mentoring input is used constructively in accordance with established goals
- 2.4 Time is managed to achieve learning goals
- 2.5 Progress is monitored and goals achieved or adjusted as required

3. Maximise coaching/mentoring results

- 3.1 The initiative is taken to build and maintain the coaching/mentoring relationship
- 3.2 Productive questions are formulated and used to obtain information and feedback from coaching/mentoring
- 3.3 Active listening is used to ensure coaching/mentoring time is used productively
- 3.4 Techniques are used for resolving differences/problems without damaging the relationship, or assistance is obtained in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
- 3.5 New learning is consolidated to maximise coaching/mentoring results
- 3.6 Closure of the coaching/mentoring arrangement is negotiated once goals have been met or either party wishes to withdraw

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- applying legislation, regulations and policies relating to/impacting on coaching/mentoring in the public sector
- using a range of communication techniques including active listening, questioning, giving and receiving feedback, negotiating, constructive conflict resolution
- planning and setting objectives
- self-assessing learning style, the need for coaching/mentoring and ongoing competency development
- building coaching/mentoring relationships
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- applying procedures relating to occupational health and safety and environment in the context of coaching/mentoring

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legislation, regulations, policies, procedures and guidelines relating to coaching/mentoring in the public sector such as those dealing with privacy, confidentiality, anti-discrimination, harassment, workplace bullying
- the role of coaching and mentoring in competency development and career enhancement
- differences between coaching and mentoring and the benefits of each
- principles of emotional intelligence and its application to working in a one-to-one relationship with a coach/mentor
- equal employment opportunity, equity and diversity principles
- the value of diversity in a coaching/mentoring arrangement
- public sector legislation such as occupational health and safety and environment in the context of coaching/mentoring

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

Coaching

- has a focus on the acquisition of job skills and knowledge
- is results oriented
- is performance, success or goal directed
- emphasises action or improved performance in a specific area
- requires good interpersonal relations
- is provided by a coach who:
 - provides learning opportunities or helps identify them
 - monitors performance
 - provides constructive feedback
- is internal or external to the organisation/public sector
- maintains confidentiality in the relationship

Mentoring

- has a focus on personal growth and learning
- includes a wide range of learning oriented to:
- exchange of wisdom
- support
- guidance in personal or professional growth
- is a relationship, not simply focused on a procedure or activity
- is one person professionally assisting the professional development of another
- is a developmental effort to build skills and knowledge for advancement based on merit, rather than alliances/politically-based partnerships to advance careers based on politics rather than aptitude
- is provided by a mentor who:
- facilitates the mentoree's professional growth
- provides information, guidance and constructive comments
- evaluates the mentoree's plans and decisions
- supports, encourages and, where necessary, highlights shortfalls in agreed performance
- maintains confidentiality in the relationship

Others may include

- supervisor
- peers
- counsellor
- support person
- case manager

Assistance may be provided by

- supervisor
- peers
- counsellor
- support person
- case manager

Coaching/mentoring arrangements may include

- internal partnership
- purchased service from outside the organisation

RANGE STATEMENT

Cultural or other considerations may include

- choosing a coach/mentor with compatible attributes or very different attributes depending on the purpose and objectives of the relationship
- age
- cultural background
- disability
- educational level
- ethnicity
- expertise
- family responsibilities
- gender
- interests
- interpersonal approach
- language
- learning/thinking styles
- life experience
- marital status
- personality
- physical ability
- political orientation
- religious belief
- sexual orientation
- socio-economic background
- work experience
- working styles

RANGE STATEMENT

Ground rules may include

- relationship is voluntary
- arrangement is confidential
- coaching/mentoring partners should not be in the same chain of command
- mentor should not be a direct manager of the person being mentored
- coach may be supervisor of the person being coached
- for internal arrangements during work hours, supervisors of both coaching/mentoring partners must approve
- coach/mentor's guidance and counsel does not supersede that of the supervisor in work-related matters
- training for coaching/mentoring partners
- a coaching/mentoring agreement
- active involvement of both partners in the coaching/mentoring process
- fee for service/contractual arrangement
- accessibility of coach/mentor
- options to finalise arrangements, such as:
- 'no-fault divorce' provision where either party can end the relationship any time for any reason, or no reason (Gordon F Shea, 1999, Making the most of being mentored)

Coaching/mentoring plan may include

- explicit expectations/purpose
- well-defined objectives
- problems (past, present, future) that may constrain achievement of the objectives
- clear statement of what the coach/mentor would do
- goals set by the organisation (coaching)
- goals set by the individual and the coach/mentor
- expected timeframe/time commitments
- meeting arrangements - face-to-face, distance, email

Productive questions may include

- open rather than closed:
- what?
- why?
- when?
- how?
- where?
- who?

Listening skills may include

- listening for central ideas
- considering how information applies to the situation/person
- identifying/eliminating emotional triggers
- using techniques for staying in touch with what the speaker is saying, as thought speed outstrips speed of speech
- paraphrasing
- summarising
- using silence to elicit additional information
- using and recognising body language.

Techniques for resolving differences may include

- finding a mutually beneficial solution
- inviting discussion
- providing explanations for rejecting advice that is not accepted
- not laying blame
- using 'I' messages
- agreeing to end the relationship and seek alternative arrangement with someone else.

Ways to consolidate learning may include

- identifying patterns
- reviewing learning soon after it occurs
- recording learning in writing, on audiotape or using diagrams
- discussing learning with others
- rehearsing
- arranging additional practice
- applying learning in real work situations.

Unit Descriptor

Unit descriptor

This unit covers the use of workplace communication strategies for interacting with internal and external clients. It includes responding to enquiries, receiving and giving directions, participating in meetings and making presentations in the workgroup. Though the prime focus of the unit is on speaking, listening and reading non-verbal cues, if reading, writing and visual literacy are intrinsic to the workplace communication these are included. Where reading and writing are the prime focus of the workplace function these are addressed in PSPGOV313A Compose workplace documents.

In practice, using communication strategies may overlap with other generalist or specialist public sector work activities such as acting ethically, complying with legislation, working effectively, working with diversity, organising information, addressing client needs, etc.

This is one of 5 units of competency in the Working in Government Competency Field that deal with communication. Related units are:

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Interpret written information

- 1.1 Workplace materials are scanned to identify the subject and key information for using or reporting to others
- 1.2 Procedural manuals and codes of practice are scanned to locate specific information to carry out work functions in accordance with legislation, policy and standards
- 1.3 A range of written materials is scanned to locate and select required information for summaries, short reports and responses to requests
- 1.4 Cultural context and assumed prior knowledge needed for interpretation of workplace information are identified and assistance is obtained when required
- 1.5 Assistance is sought with interpretation of complex materials in accordance with organisational procedures

ELEMENT

2. Compose written materials

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

- 2.1 Established protocols for a range of written materials are identified and complied with in accordance with organisational procedures and standard templates
- 2.2 Audience for the material is identified and any specific requirements and sensitivities are investigated and catered for
- 2.3 Material is planned in terms of structure, level of formality and key information to be included, in accordance with the purpose and organisational protocols
- 2.4 Written information is prepared in an accurate, concise and unambiguous manner that meets intended audience, legislative and organisational requirements
- 2.5 Material is checked to confirm readability, grammar, spelling and punctuation, and to correct any inaccuracies or gaps in content
- 2.6 Written materials are prepared and provided for approval within required timeframes

- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of Employability Skills as they relate to this unit
- workplace documents interpreted and composed in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- legislation, policy, procedures and protocols relating to written materials in the public sector
- case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of written communication situations likely to be encountered in the public sector

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when interpreting and composing workplace documents, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- workplace documents interpreted and composed in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time).

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations.

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- portfolios
- questioning
- scenarios
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Unit Descriptor

Unit descriptor

This unit covers the requirement to contribute to conflict management in the workplace between self and others, such as staff or clients. It includes recognising the presence of conflict, dealing with emotions, overcoming barriers to communication, gathering the facts, agreeing on and implementing action. It does not include managing conflict between two other parties, formal negotiation, counselling or conducting mediation.

In practice, contributing to conflict management may overlap with other generalist or specialist public sector work activities such as acting ethically, complying with legislation, working effectively, working with diversity, using workplace communication strategies, etc.

This is one of 4 units of competency in the Working in Government and Human Resource Management Competency Fields that deal with conflict. Related units are:

PSPGOV411A Deal with conflict

PSPGOV508A Manage conflict

PSPHR603B Provide advisory and mediation services

This is a new unit of competency, added to the Working in Government Competency Field of the Training Package in 2004.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Acquire and apply available resources

- 1.1 Available resources are identified and gaps filled in accordance with work unit plans
- 1.2 Procedures are applied that promote efficient, economical and effective allocation and distribution of resources
- 1.3 Acquisition and storage of resources is carried out in accordance with legislation, organisational policy and procedures
- 1.4 Resource handling is undertaken in accordance with established work practices and guidelines, including occupational health and safety and security requirements

ELEMENT

2. Monitor and report on resource usage

- 2.1 Trends on resource usage are monitored and reported in accordance with organisational requirements
- 2.2 Records of resource usage are maintained in accordance with relevant legislation and guidance
- 2.3 Relevant financial and resource management systems are operated in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
- 2.4 Resource shortfalls are identified and recommendations made to address these

3. Maintain resources

- 3.1 Resources are maintained in accordance with manufacturers' and organisational guidelines and service contracts
- 3.2 Maintenance of resources is organised to facilitate work practices and outcomes
- 3.3 Contingency plans are developed to ensure operational continuity

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- applying legislation, policy and guidelines relating to resource usage, storage and maintenance
- using a range of communication methods with a diverse range of people including maintenance contractors, work unit members, managers etc on a range of resource related matters
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- monitoring outcomes
- applying public sector legislation, including occupational health and safety and environmental requirements in the context of resource usage, storage and maintenance

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legislation, regulations, policies, procedures and guidelines relating to resource usage
- operational procedures for accessing, storing, maintaining and using resources
- security and fraud control guidelines
- stock handling procedures
- occupational health, safety and environmental and sustainability requirements in the context of resource usage, storage and maintenance
- equal employment opportunity, equity and diversity principles

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of Employability Skills as they relate to this unit
- use and maintenance of resources in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- legislation, policy, procedures and guidelines relating to resource usage, storage and maintenance
- workplace technology for resource ordering, managing and financial requirements
- case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of situations likely to be encountered when using resources to achieve work unit goals

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment, or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when using resources to achieve work unit goals, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- use and maintenance of resources in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time).

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations.

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- demonstration
- portfolios
- projects
- questioning
- scenarios
- simulation or role plays
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses.

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments.

- information gathered and analysed in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time).

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations.

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- portfolios
- projects
- questioning
- scenarios
- simulation or role plays
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Clarify requirements

- 1.1 Requirements are confirmed with the funder/purchaser in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
- 1.2 Market research is conducted in accordance with legislation, policy and procedures to confirm the viability of providing a quotation

2. Establish costs and availability of resources

- 2.1 Costs for labour, equipment or materials are obtained in accordance with organisational policy and procedures and included in the quotation in full
- 2.2 Availability of equipment, materials or personnel is confirmed for the timeframe required
- 2.3 Infrastructure costs to the organisation of providing the goods or services are included
- 2.4 Cost or benefit from any asset disposal at the conclusion of the contract is included

ELEMENT

3. Prepare estimate

- 3.1 Estimate is prepared to take account of all requirements and allow for contingencies
- 3.2 Estimate is structured to provide for cost recovery or to return a profit according to legislation, policy and procedures
- 3.3 Costs are estimated to enable provision of goods or services to the standards required by the client
- 3.4 Estimate is checked for accuracy and detailed in accordance with organisational procedures and client requirements

4. Prepare and submit quotation

- 4.1 Quotation is prepared in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
- 4.2 Required details are included to meet client requirements
- 4.3 Quotation is submitted within required timeframe
- 4.4 Organisational recordkeeping requirements for providing quotations are met

5. Take follow-up action

- 5.1 Changes and variations to the quotation are negotiated to meet the needs of the client and the organisation, in accordance with policy, procedure and delegated authority
- 5.2 Proposal, outcome and preparation process are evaluated using feedback from a range of stakeholders and the results are used to improve subsequent quotations

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- using numeracy for selecting and applying mathematical concepts, estimating, checking reasonableness of results

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Conduct self-assessment

- 1.1 Life and work experiences, current and potential abilities are identified and ranked in order of importance
- 1.2 Personal values and preferences relating to future careers are explored
- 1.3 A personal profile is prepared that identifies career related characteristics

2. Identify possible career opportunities

- 2.1 Careers are researched to identify those with continuing longevity, and their requirements identified
- 2.2 Information sources are identified and explored for indicators, trends and information on potential career opportunities
- 2.3 Existing and emerging careers are assessed and their skill/qualification/experience requirements identified
- 2.4 The nature of the workforce, trends and opportunities are analysed and associated skill needs identified

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

3. Develop and implement career plan

- 3.1 Preferred future career and associated skill requirements are identified and compared with current strengths
- 3.2 Gap analysis is undertaken to identify those skills that are common to both preferred future career and the organisation's requirements
- 3.3 Career goals are established and a career plan is developed that identifies immediate priorities as well as a longer term strategy for gaining experience and skills development
- 3.4 Career development activities are initiated in accordance with the career plan and organisational legislation, policy and procedures

4. Monitor progress

- 4.1 Acquisition of skills and experience is monitored and feedback is obtained on achievement of performance requirements
- 4.2 Feedback is considered and integrated as necessary into the career plan
- 4.3 The organisation's requirements are monitored and the career plan is adjusted to take account of new information, environment/culture
- 4.4 Preferred career requirements and progress towards career goals are monitored and adjusted as required

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- analysing strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, threats (SWOT)
- researching and questioning
- reflecting on own competencies and performance
- conducting skills audits and skills gap analyses
- developing strategies for the management of one's own career
- managing personal change and planning

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- strategic approach to career planning
- self-assessment to identify values, preferences, etc
- performance management
- career development options
- workforce trends
- succession planning
- changing demographics and workforce skill needs
- organisational planning for human resources at a strategic level
- principles of equal employment opportunity and diversity
- legislation, policies and procedures relating to career development including occupational health and safety and environment

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide specifies the evidence required to demonstrate achievement in the unit of competency as a whole. It must be read in conjunction with the Unit descriptor, Performance Criteria, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Public Sector Training Package.

EVIDENCE GUIDE

Units to be assessed together

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit: Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit: Nil
- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:

PSPGOV404B Develop and implement work unit plans

PSPGOV405B Provide input to change processes

PSPGOV406B Gather and analyse information

PSPGOV412A Use advanced workplace communication strategies

PSPGOV417A Identify and treat risks

PSPGOV418A Develop internal and external networks

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of Employability Skills as they relate to this unit
- ongoing personal planning that integrates new information and justifies or changes planned progress towards career goals
- career planning in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- legislation policies, procedures and guidelines relating to career planning
- workplace scenarios and case studies

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when undertaking career planning, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- ongoing personal planning that integrates new information and justifies or changes planned progress towards career goals
- career planning in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time).

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations.

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- demonstration
- portfolios
- projects
- questioning
- scenarios
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- reading and writing at a complex level to cope with a range of workplace materials
- integrating information from a diverse number of sources in order to generate meaning
- writing and sequencing abstract concepts according to the required purpose of written material
- linking complex ideas in written material through selection and use of words, grammatical structures, headings and punctuation appropriate to the purpose
- spelling, punctuation and grammar for workplace documents at an experienced level
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- implementing ergonomic requirements for office work
- complying with environmental policies such as those relating to paper use/wastage/recycling

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legislation, regulations, policies, procedures and guidelines relating to written communication in the public sector such as privacy, freedom of information, information security, confidentiality, copyright
- principles of effective written communication at a high level of complexity
- differences in register/style between workplace communication for different purposes
- government style manual
- organisation protocols for a range of complex written communication
- channels of communication and processes for obtaining advice, approvals etc
- organisational policy for recordkeeping - paper-based and electronic
- equal employment opportunity, equity and diversity principles
- public sector legislation such as occupational health and safety and environment in the context of preparing written materials

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide specifies the evidence required to demonstrate achievement in the unit of competency as a whole. It must be read in conjunction with the Unit descriptor, Performance Criteria, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Public Sector Training Package.

Units to be assessed together

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit: Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit: Nil
- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:

PSPETHC401A Uphold and support the values and principles of public service

PSPGOV402B Deliver and monitor service to clients

PSPGOV405B Provide input to change processes

PSPGOV406B Gather and analyse information

PSPGOV408A Value diversity

PSPGOV411A Deal with conflict

PSPLEGN401A Encourage compliance with legislation in the public sector

PSPOHS401B Implement workplace safety procedures and programs

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of Employability Skills as they relate to this unit
- advanced communication strategies used in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

EVIDENCE GUIDE

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- legislation, policy, procedures and protocols relating to communication in the public sector, including freedom of information, privacy, equal employment opportunity, anti-discrimination, occupational health and safety
- case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of advanced communication situations likely to be encountered and required in the public sector

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when using advanced communication strategies, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- advanced communication strategies used in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time).

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations.

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- demonstration
- observation
- portfolios
- questioning
- scenarios
- simulation or role plays
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

EVIDENCE GUIDE

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments.

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

Mentoring

- has a long-term focus on personal growth and learning
- includes a wide range of learning oriented to:
 - exchange of wisdom
 - support
 - guidance in personal or career growth
- is a relationship, not just a procedure or activity
- is one person professionally assisting the professional development of another
- is a developmental effort to build skills and knowledge for advancement based on merit, rather than alliances/politically-based partnerships to advance careers based on politics rather than aptitude
- is provided by a mentor who:
 - facilitates the growth of the person being mentored
 - provides information, guidance and constructive comments
 - evaluates the plans of the person being mentored, decisions, goals and objectives
 - supports, encourages and, where necessary, highlights shortfalls in agreed performance
 - maintains confidentiality in the relationship
 - does NOT take over problems and try to solve them
 - does NOT give advice, criticisms or solutions, but supports the person being mentored to make their own decisions
 - is not the direct manager of the person being mentored

Mentoring agreement/contract may include

- explicit expectations/purpose
- well-defined objectives
- issues (past, present, future) that may constrain achievement of the objectives
- clear statement of what the mentor will and will not do
- goals set by the organisation
- expected timeframe/time commitments
- meeting arrangements - face-to-face, distance, email

Cultural or other considerations may include

- choosing a mentor with appropriate attributes depending on the purpose and objectives of the relationship
- age
- cultural background
- educational level
- ethnicity
- expertise
- family responsibilities
- gender
- interests
- interpersonal approach
- language
- learning/thinking styles
- life experience
- marital status
- personality
- physical ability
- political orientation
- religious belief
- sexual orientation
- socio-economic background
- work experience
- working styles

Ground rules may include

- relationship is voluntary
- mentoring partners should not be in the same chain of command
- supervisors of both mentoring partners must approve, where mentoring arrangement is internal
- mentor's guidance and counsel does not supersede that of the supervisor in work-related matters
- training for mentoring partners
- a mentoring agreement
- active involvement of both partners in the mentoring process
- internal or external mentoring arrangements
- 'no-fault divorce' provision where either party can end the relationship any time for any reason, or no reason (Gordon F Shea, 1999, Making the most of being mentored)

RANGE STATEMENT

Legislation, policy and procedures may include

- State/Territory and Commonwealth legislation and regulations such as:
- public sector management acts
- privacy legislation
- equal employment opportunity, anti-discrimination and harassment legislation
- occupational health and safety legislation
- ethics and accountability standards
- public sector standards
- organisational policy, procedures and protocols

Techniques for resolving differences may include

- finding a mutually beneficial solution
- self-disclosure
- inviting discussion
- providing explanations
- not taking it personally when information provided is rejected
- not laying blame
- using 'I' messages
- accessing assistance
- withdrawing from the mentoring arrangement

Benefits may include

- empowerment
- opportunity to acquire competencies and professional experience
- insights into the organisational culture, attitudes, protocols and expected behaviours
- increased potential for career mobility and promotion
- a supportive environment in which successes and failures can be evaluated
- networking opportunities
- development of professional abilities and self-confidence
- recognition and job satisfaction
- mutual respect

Personal benefits to the mentor may include

- renewed enthusiasm for their role if they are an experienced employee
- challenging discussions with people who may have fresh perspectives
- satisfaction from contributing to another's development
- opportunities to reflect upon and articulate the role of mentor
- improved ability to share experiences and knowledge
- opportunities to test new ideas
- broader picture/strategic overview

Benefits to the organisation may include

- increased productivity
- new competencies in the person being mentored
- staff motivation
- more committed, involved and responsible personnel at all levels
- personal and trusting developmental relationships
- knowledge sharing
- increased people focus
- safeguard investment in high potential people

They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

Coaching

- has a focus on the acquisition of job skills and knowledge and is generally short-term
- is a defined relationship to enhance performance
- is results oriented
- is performance or goal directed
- emphasises action or improved performance in a specific area
- requires good interpersonal relations
- is identified on personal learning and development plans
- is provided by a coach who:
- provides learning opportunities
- monitors performance
- provides constructive feedback
- maintains confidentiality
- may have undertaken training/development to undertake the role
- is not necessarily hierarchical

Factors influencing the decision for coaching may include

- request for coaching from colleague to be coached
- own observation and workplace experience
- direction from others

Coaching agreement may include

- purpose
- goals
- timeframe
- frequency of sessions
- time and place for coaching:
 - on-the-job during work hours

 - in a simulated location away from the actual workplace.
- confidentiality

Competencies/processes to be coached may be

- generally those which do not require formal or extended training sessions but based on short, commonly-used tasks
- service-related competencies such as customer service
- technical or practical competencies such as those related to operating equipment, following guidelines or completing documentation to achieve workplace outcomes
- competencies related to dealing with people such as management, communication
- workplace routines/systems
- new processes introduced to job role

Underpinning knowledge and skills refers to

- the essential knowledge required to carry out tasks and use skills effectively such as:
 - components of equipment or other items
 - details of products or services
 - reasons for undertaking various tasks
 - legislative, occupational health and safety or environmental requirements linked to procedures.
- underpinning skills such as communication, planning, working with others, literacy, numeracy

RANGE STATEMENT

Communication techniques may include

- questioning
- active listening
- verbal and non-verbal communication
- culturally appropriate strategies
- constructive feedback
- paraphrasing
- re-phrasing
- rapport building
- written communication
- systems

Performance problems or difficulties may be due to

- shyness or lack of confidence
- reluctance of person to participate
- reluctance of coach to give full commitment
- lack of coaching skills/training (for coach)
- breakdown in communication
- language or cultural barriers
- insufficient opportunity for practice
- inappropriate circumstances for coaching
- hierarchy/organisational structure
- lack of clearly defined goals or relationship

Legislation, policy and standards may include

- State/Territory and Commonwealth legislation and regulations such as:
- public sector management acts
- privacy legislation
- equal employment opportunity, anti-discrimination and harassment legislation
- occupational health and safety legislation.
- ethics and accountability standards
- public sector standards
- organisational policy, procedures and protocols

Perceptions of those outside the coaching arrangement may include

- favouritism being shown to person
- person being 'less smart' and needing special attention
- inappropriate relationship between coach and person

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

3. Provide feedback and determine action

- 3.1 Feedback on the outcome of performance monitoring is provided to the person monitored, and to other personnel as agreed in the relevant guidelines, using communication to suit each particular audience.
- 3.2 Agreement on action/follow-up required is negotiated with the person monitored, and an action plan is documented.
- 3.3 Where agreement cannot be reached, reports are prepared and further action is taken if necessary, in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
- 3.4 Learning and development opportunities related to performance standards are identified and included as required
- 3.5 Ongoing monitoring is used to ensure that action/follow-up occurs in accordance with agreement

4. Review performance monitoring and feedback

- 4.1 Information related to the performance monitoring process is gathered from all stakeholders.
- 4.2 The performance monitoring process is reviewed in accordance with organisational requirements and amended if necessary to enhance its validity, reliability, efficiency and fairness

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- planning performance monitoring
- communicating with members of a diverse workforce, including negotiating, questioning, clarifying, understanding, active listening, evaluating the ideas and opinions of others
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- evaluating workplace performance
- identifying learning and development opportunities
- applying public sector legislation such as occupational health and safety and environment in the context of performance monitoring

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legislation, regulations, policies, procedures and guidelines relating to performance monitoring
- organisation policies, practices and procedures
- workplace performance requirements and issues
- performance monitoring requirements
- expertise in work being performance monitored
- equal employment opportunity, equity and diversity principles

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide specifies the evidence required to demonstrate achievement in the unit of competency as a whole. It must be read in conjunction with the Unit descriptor, Performance Criteria, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Public Sector Training Package.

Units to be assessed together

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit: Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit: Nil
- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:

PSPETHC401A Uphold and support the values and principles of public service

PSPGOV404B Develop and implement work unit plans

PSPGOV406B Gather and analyse information

PSPGOV408A Value diversity

PSPGOV411A Deal with conflict

PSPGOV412A Use advanced workplace communication strategies

PSPGOV413A Compose complex workplace documents

PSPGOV422A Apply government processes

PSPLEGN401A Encourage compliance with legislation in the public sector

PSPOHS401B Implement workplace safety procedures and programs

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of Employability Skills as they relate to this unit
- performance monitored and feedback provided in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- legislation, policy, procedures and protocols relating to performance monitoring
- case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of situations likely to be encountered when monitoring performance and providing feedback

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment, or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when monitoring performance and providing feedback, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- performance monitored and feedback provided in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time).

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations.

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- demonstration
- observation
- portfolios
- questioning
- scenarios
- simulation or role plays
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

Standards may include

- selection criteria
- best practice standards
- organisational practice standards
- competencies
- service level standards
- codes of ethics/conduct
- legislation/regulations
- agreed goals

Contexts of performance monitoring may include

- reward and recognition
- ongoing feedback
- learning and development
- recruitment and selection
- exit interviews
- evidence gathering under the supervision of a qualified assessor
- counselling
- return to work
- case management

Contexts of performance monitoring do NOT include

- assessments requiring formal assessor training qualifications from the national Training and Assessment Training Package.

Stakeholders, assessors and subjects may include

- self
- peers
- managers/supervisors/team leaders
- employees
- teams and team members
- clients/customers
- job applicants
- subject matter experts
- validators

Performance monitoring processes and sources of evidence may include

- self (self-assessment)
- qualified workplace assessors
- 360° feedback
- performance data
- qualifications
- written applications
- interviews
- referees reports/third party reports
- client/customer feedback
- checklists

Guidelines may include

- performance monitoring methods/sources
- feedback methods/decisions
- performance monitoring conditions
- assessors
- timelines
- reporting protocols on stakeholder feedback

Unit Descriptor

Unit descriptor

This unit covers the identification and treatment of risk using the organisation's risk management procedures and treatments. It applies to the risks inherent in all aspects of everyday work in the public sector as well as to specific functional activities and projects related to the particular mandate of the organisation. The unit covers establishment of the risk context, identification, analysis and evaluation of risks, risks treatment, and monitoring and review of risk treatment plan.

In practice, identifying and treating risk occurs in the context of other generalist or specialist public sector work activities such as acting ethically, complying with legislation, applying government processes, handling classified information, using resources, administering projects, providing parliamentary support, making arrests, using financial processes, undertaking scientific research, awarding contracts, undertaking native title assessments, assessing compensation claims, road transport compliance, etc.

This is one of 4 units of competency in the Working in Government and Management Competency Fields that deal with risk. Related units are:

PSPGOV517A Coordinate risk management

PSPMNGT608B Manage risk

PSPMNGT704A Undertake enterprise risk management

This is a new unit of competency, added to the Working in Government Competency Field of the Training Package in 2004

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Establish the risk context

- 1.1 The nature and extent of the work activity are established within the broader organisational context
- 1.2 The outcomes to be achieved are identified and documented as required
- 1.3 The relationship between the activity and its environment is analysed and critical factors in the environment that may impact on the achievement of outcomes are identified
- 1.4 Stakeholders are identified and consulted to identify their opinions, concerns and needs related to the activity and the management of risks related to it
- 1.5 Risk evaluation criteria are determined for the activity in accordance with legislation, policy and procedures related to risk management in the organisation

ELEMENTPERFORMANCE CRITERIA*2. Identify risks

- 2.1 Method/s for identifying risks are selected in accordance with risk management policy and procedures, budgetary and time constraints relative to the type of activity to be undertaken
- 2.2 Sources of risk are identified and documented as required
- 2.3 Risk events related to each source of risk are identified and recorded in accordance with risk management policy and procedures
- 2.4 Consultation and communication is undertaken to ensure all possible risks are identified

3. Analyse risks

- 3.1 The probability of identified risks occurring is analysed and rated in accordance with risk management policy and procedures
- 3.2 The consequences of identified risks occurring are analysed and rated according to organisational procedures
- 3.3 Current control measures for any of the identified risks are considered in the risk analysis, and residual risks are analysed and included if necessary
- 3.4 Levels of risk are determined in accordance with risk matrix used by the organisation
- 3.5 Consultation/communication is undertaken as required to confirm risk levels, and analysis is documented in accordance with organisational risk management procedures

4. Evaluate risks

- 4.1 Risks are evaluated by comparing the level of risk with risk evaluation criteria established at the beginning of the risk management process
- 4.2 The importance of the activity, its outcomes and the degree of control over the risks are considered
- 4.3 Potential and actual losses which may arise from the risk are considered
- 4.4 Benefits and opportunities presented by the risk are taken into account
- 4.5 Risks are identified as acceptable or unacceptable in accordance with risk evaluation criteria, and confirmation/approval is obtained in accordance with risk management policy and procedures
- 4.6 Unacceptable risks are prioritised and the reason/s for acceptance of risks is documented

ELEMENT

5. Treat risks

- 5.1 Options for treating risks are determined in accordance with risk management policy and procedures
- 5.2 The best treatment option is selected and a cost-benefit analysis is undertaken to compare the cost of implementing the treatment with the benefits
- 5.3 A risk treatment plan is prepared, approved and communicated to those who will be involved in implementation
- 5.4 Changes required to operational structure, procedures or staffing in order to implement risk treatments are negotiated in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
- 5.5 Resources are arranged and risk treatment plan is implemented in accordance with risk management policy and procedures

6. Monitor and review risk treatment plan

- 6.1 Changes in the organisational environment and factors impacting on the organisation are monitored for their impact on risks and existing risk treatments
- 6.2 Risk treatments for unacceptable risks are monitored and adjusted as required to ensure they remain effective
- 6.3 Acceptable risks are monitored to ensure these risk levels do not increase over time
- 6.4 Consultations are conducted and data relating to risks and risk treatments are collected, analysed and used to improve risk management in own area of operation
- 6.5 Risk treatment plan is reviewed in accordance with timetable for review of plan and updated as required
- 6.6 Input is provided into formal reviews/audits of risk in the organisation to improve risk management outcomes

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- applying legislation, regulations and policies relating to risk management
- researching and analysing the wider context affecting the organisation
- assessing and evaluating risks
- monitoring and reviewing risks and risk treatments
- communicating and consulting with a diverse range of stakeholders
- estimating and arranging resources needed for implementation of risk treatments
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- applying procedures relating to occupational health and safety and environment in the context of risk management

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legislation, regulations, policies, procedures and guidelines relating to risk management
- Australian and New Zealand standards - Risk management, AS/NZS 4360:1999 or as revised
- Guidelines for managing risk in the Australian and New Zealand public sector - HB 143:1999
- the organisation's risk management framework
- the relationship of risk to context - how the context may define the risks
- the importance of consultation and communication at every stage of the risk management cycle
- risk management as a core activity of everyday work in the public sector
- the diversity of risks in the public sector
- equal employment opportunity, equity and diversity principles
- public sector legislation such as occupational health and safety and environment in the context of risk management

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

Organisational context may include

- the organisation, how it is organised, and its capabilities
- the organisation's functions:
 - political
 - operational
 - financial
 - social
 - legal
 - commercial.
- the various stakeholders and clients
- any official resources, including physical areas and assets, that are vital to the operation of the organisation
- key operational elements and services of the organisation
- any major projects
- the relationship between the organisation and the environment in which it operates

Environmental factors may be

- social
- economic
- legal
- technological
- environmental

Stakeholders may include

- employees
- managers
- volunteers
- unions
- financial managers
- self-insurers
- clients
- suppliers
- contractors
- service providers
- community organisations
- the public

Risk evaluation criteria are

- used to rank risks and decide whether they are acceptable or not
- affected by:
- legal requirements
- perceptions of internal/external stakeholders
- cost-benefit analysis, for example, cost of risk management being less than financial cost if the risk occurred

Legislation, policy and procedures may include

- Commonwealth and State/Territory legislation relating to risk management
- national and international codes of practice and standards, such as SIRCA 8001:2003
- the organisation's risk management policies and practices
- codes of conduct/codes of ethics
- Australian and New Zealand standards - Risk management, AS/NZS 4360:1999 or as reviewed
- Guidelines for managing risk in the Australian and New Zealand public sector - HB 143:1999
- international guidelines such as ISO/IEC Guide 73:2002, Risk management - vocabulary, guidelines for use in standards
- professional standards for risk management, for example certified practising risk manager (CPRM)
- jurisdictional policies, guidelines and web sites, for example www.riskmanagement.qld.gov.au

Risk management

- is a logical and systematic process of identifying, analysing, evaluating, treating and monitoring risks related to any strategy, plan, process, program or procedure that will enable the organisation to minimise losses and maximise opportunities.
- may be considered in relation to an organisation's:
 - people
 - assets and physical environment
 - reputation and image
 - legal issues
 - business continuity
 - finances.
- may include written procedures to ensure staff know:
 - what
 - how
 - when, and
 - by whom, action is to be taken to treat risks in the organisation

Methods of identifying risks may include

- analysis of past records
- personal, local or overseas experience
- interviews/discussions with stakeholders
- surveys/questionnaires
- audits and physical inspections
- observation of activity
- analysis of scenarios
- research of external sources
- using industry experts/consultants

Risks may include

- physical injury or death
- failure of machinery or equipment
- breaches of security
- fraud
- litigation
- client dissatisfaction
- unfavourable publicity

Risks may be

- internal
- external
- random
- real
- perceived

Sources of risk may include

- human behaviour
- technology/technical issues
- occupational health and safety
- legal
- political
- property/equipment
- environmental
- financial/market
- natural events

Risk events are

- what can happen, as opposed to the source (how a risk may arise) and the impact (what is the implication if it happens)

Probability of risk may be

- almost certain
- likely
- possible
- unlikely
- rare

Consequences of risk may be

- insignificant
- minor
- moderate
- major
- catastrophic

RANGE STATEMENT

- Control measures may
- reduce the probability of the risk occurring, the consequences of the risk, or both
 - include:
 - training
 - supervision
 - minimising/restricting exposure
 - physical barriers.
 - relocation
- Level of risk may be
- low - treated with routine procedures
 - moderate - with specific responsibility allocated for the risk, and monitoring and response procedures implemented
 - high - requiring action, as it has potential to be damaging to the organisation
 - extreme - requiring immediate action, as the potential could be devastating to the organisation
- Documentation of analysis may include
- table showing all risks, any existing controls, probability of occurring, consequences and subsequent level of risk
- Acceptable risks are
- those which an organisation has determined have the least potential for harm
 - not necessarily insignificant
- Risks may be acceptable because
- the risk level is so low that it does not warrant spending time and money to treat it
 - the risk is low and the benefits outweigh the cost of treating it
 - the opportunities presented are much greater than the threat
- Unacceptable risks are
- those which an organisation has determined have the most potential for harm

RANGE STATEMENT

Options for treating risks may include

- avoiding the risk, for example, by terminating the activity or conducting it in another way (these actions may have different risks attached)
- controlling the risk, by reducing the probability of the risk occurring, the consequences of the risk, or both
- transferring the risk, for example, by arranging insurance, contracting some or all of the activity to another organisation or person, etc
- retaining the risk, and making contingency plans/funds allocation for covering any loss or other negative effect from the risk

Risk treatment plan may include

- sources of risk and risk events
- analysis of risks - probability, consequences and risk levels
- prioritised list of unacceptable risks
- treatment options selected
- person/s responsible for implementing treatment options
- resources required
- performance measures
- timeframe for implementation
- timetable for review of plan

Resources may include

- physical - equipment, motor vehicles, furniture
- human - management, employees, volunteers
- financial - funding, budget allocation, sponsorship
- resources that are part of the risk treatment, not just implementation of the treatment plan
- training and briefing sessions
- changes to the organisation's operating structure

Changes may mean that

- new risks are created
- existing risks are increased or decreased
- risks no longer exist
- the priority order of risks changes
- risk treatment strategies are no longer effective

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Build and maintain networks

- 1.1 Networking opportunities are identified and pursued to maximise a range of personal industry contacts
- 1.2 Information regarding new network opportunities is communicated to inform colleagues and managers of the potential benefits to the organisation of involvement
- 1.3 The level of usefulness of existing networks is assessed against current involvement, and adjustments are made to improve or downgrade relationships
- 1.4 Participation is maintained in professional networks and associations to obtain and maintain personal knowledge and skills

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

2. Establish and maintain working relationships

- 2.1 Network strategies are used to establish and maintain working relationships that promote benefits consistent with organisational objectives
- 2.2 Trust and confidence of key stakeholders is gained and maintained through high standards of ethical practice
- 2.3 Negotiation and collaborative problem solving are used to achieve positive outcomes when difficult situations arise
- 2.4 Formal and informal communication channels are established and maintained to exchange information and ideas in accordance with legislation, policy and procedures
- 2.5 Networking is built in to professional and organisational planning regimes to maximise its usefulness to the organisation

3. Represent and promote the organisation

- 3.1 The organisation's interests and requirements are represented and promoted using a range of strategies tailored to diverse participants in the networks
- 3.2 Information on organisational issues, policies and practices authorised for public presentation is provided orally and in writing in accordance with network requirements
- 3.3 Feedback is obtained from stakeholders to identify and develop ways to improve promotional activities within available resources

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- applying legislation, regulations and policies relating to networking in the public sector
- demonstrating leadership to gain the trust and confidence of clients and colleagues
- using a range of communication strategies including giving and receiving feedback, reporting, maintaining effective relationships and managing conflict
- using problem solving and negotiation to manage contingencies and achieve mutually acceptable outcomes
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- reading and understanding a variety of texts
- preparing general information and papers according to target audiences
- proofreading and editing to ensure clarity of meaning and conformity to organisational requirements, checking for accuracy and consistency of information
- applying procedures relating to occupational health and safety and environment in the context of internal and external networking

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legislation, regulations, policies, procedures and guidelines relating to the public sector environment
- organisational policies, plans and procedures
- principles and operations of networks
- principles of effective communication in relation to listening, questioning and non-verbal communication
- techniques for building relationships of trust including those with people from different cultures
- techniques for facilitating mutually acceptable outcomes
- methods and techniques to prepare and present information to promote the organisation
- related organisations, agencies and networks
- equal employment opportunity, equity and diversity principles
- public sector legislation such as occupational health and safety and environment in the context of networking

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Identify interpreting needs

- 1.1 The need for interpreting services, the type of service and client preferences are identified in consultation with the client or client representative
- 1.2 The purpose of interpreting is determined to ensure the competency of the interpreter meets organisational requirements
- 1.3 Interpreting language is identified and any specific requirements to support interpreting service are determined
- 1.4 Where clients refuse interpreting services but they are needed for communication, the client is advised that communication cannot proceed and access to interpreting services at least for interviewer is negotiated or communication deferred in accordance with legal and organisational requirements
- 1.5 Details of interpreting needs are recorded in accordance with organisational policy and procedures

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

2. Make preparations for using interpreting services

- 2.1 Legal and ethical responsibilities relating to the use of interpreters are identified and clarified if necessary
- 2.2 Client appointments are coordinated with interpreter bookings to ensure the need for interpreting services is met in accordance with client needs
- 2.3 Additional time is allocated to appointments to allow for interpreting needs
- 2.4 Full details of interpreting requirements are provided at time of booking to ensure efficiency and effectiveness of process
- 2.5 Any specific requirements to support interpreting service are arranged in accordance with client and organisational needs

3. Conduct a meeting/interview using interpreting services

- 3.1 Positioning arrangements are made in consultation with the interpreter, and the role and ethical requirements of the interpreter are confirmed.
- 3.2 Introductions are made, and time is provided for the interpreter and client to familiarise themselves to ensure a good understanding of language and other cultural issues.
- 3.3 Communication is directed to the client, not the interpreter, in a manner that allows for effective exchanges of dialogue
- 3.4 If clarification/explanations are needed from the interpreter, the client is informed first that this is to happen
- 3.5 Judgment is used to address or refer problems resulting from cultural/societal differences, situational or ethical issues in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
- 3.6 The meeting is closed in accordance with organisational protocols and the interpreter debriefed as required

4. Monitor the safety and well-being of interpreters

- 4.1 Induction of interpreters into environment/situation is conducted in accordance with legal requirements and organisational policy and procedures
- 4.2 Safety of interpreters is monitored in terms of occupational health and safety responsibilities
- 4.3 Safety equipment is provided as required in accordance with the environment/situation
- 4.4 Interpreters are protected from physical contact/violence or harassment from clients in accordance with workplace safety requirements
- 4.5 Stress of interpreters is monitored and debriefing/counselling services are offered/arranged for interpreters in accordance with organisational policy and procedures

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- briefing interpreters on subject matter, situation and environment they will encounter
- making preparations to ensure effectiveness and efficiency of interpreting experience
- tailoring communication to suit the requirements of client understanding and the interpreting environment
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- ensuring the safety of interpreters in workplace situations
- debriefing interpreters and providing support as required

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legal and ethical requirements of working with interpreters
- process for accessing interpreting services
- cultural aspects of communication with diverse client groups
- dynamics and cultural aspects of the interpreting situation
- the importance of positioning arrangements and non-verbal clues in communication via interpreters
- strategies for effective use of interpreters
- language requirements of working with interpreters
- interpreters' code of ethics
- legislation, policy and procedures related to working with interpreters
- occupational health and safety and environmental issues related to working with interpreters

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide specifies the evidence required to demonstrate achievement in the unit of competency as a whole. It must be read in conjunction with the Unit descriptor, Performance Criteria, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Public Sector Training Package.

Units to be assessed together

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit: Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit: Nil
- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:

PSPETHC401A Uphold and support the values and principles of public service

PSPGOV402B Deliver and monitor service to clients

PSPGOV406B Gather and analyse information

PSPGOV412A Use advanced workplace communication strategies

PSPGSD403A Conduct government service delivery interviews

PSPLEGN401A Encourage compliance with legislation in the public sector

PSPREG411A Gather information through interviews

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of Employability Skills as they relate to this unit
- working with interpreters in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

EVIDENCE GUIDE

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- legislation, organisational policy, procedures and protocols relating to working with interpreters
- code of ethics for interpreters
- guides for working with interpreters, such as those produced by multicultural affairs agencies
- case studies and workplace scenarios, with role players in languages other than English, to capture the range of interpreting situations likely to be encountered.

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when working with interpreters, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- working with interpreters in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time).

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations.

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- demonstration
- observation
- portfolios
- questioning
- scenarios
- simulation or role plays
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

EVIDENCE GUIDE

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

Interpreting is

- the rendering of an oral or visual gesture communication from one language (the source language) into another (the target language) - languages include community and Aboriginal languages and Auslan (Australian sign language)

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Prepare written information for translation

- 1.1 Written information for translation is presented in language that is simple, plain, grammatically correct and uses short sentences, while preserving the integrity of the required meaning
- 1.2 Words without direct translations, key concepts, terminology and jargon are explained in simple terms or through diagrams/graphics/pictures
- 1.3 Active voice is used in preference to passive where possible and acronyms and abbreviations are avoided or explained in full
- 1.4 Question and answer formats are used for written information where possible to break text into meaningful chunks
- 1.5 Written information is checked to ensure it is legible, and precise
- 1.6 Written information is tested on others not familiar with the subject matter, in accordance with legislative and organisational requirements, to ensure that the meaning is clear and easy to understand

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

2. Engage translation service

- 2.1 The purpose of translation is determined to ensure the competency of the translator meets organisational requirements
- 2.2 Target languages are identified and any specific requirements of the translating service are determined
- 2.3 Exact specifications and timeframe for finished product are determined and agreed with translator
- 2.4 Occupational health and safety requirements are considered and incorporated in determining time allocations and deadlines for translations
- 2.5 Quotes are obtained if required and translator/s engaged in accordance with organisational policy and procedures.
- 2.6 Details of translation arrangements are recorded in accordance with organisational policy and procedures

3. Complete translation arrangements

- 3.1 Background materials and information for translation are provided to translator/s in agreed format and timeframe
- 3.2 Contact details are provided for clarification of information, concepts and technical terms as required by translators
- 3.3 Translations are received in accordance with agreed conditions, and payments authorised as required in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
- 3.4 Where translated material is sent for printing, completed proofs/products are checked by translator/s prior to printing

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- specifying requirements and preparing information to ensure effectiveness and efficiency of translating experience
- tailoring written communication to suit the level of client understanding and the translating environment
- briefing translators on subject matter, terminology and required background reading
- addressing the occupational health and safety of translators (in terms of issues such as stress, repetitive strain injury) through adequate time allocations and deadlines
- applying legislative and ethical requirements of working with translators

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legal and ethical requirements of working with translators
- process for accessing translation services
- translators' code of ethics
- cultural aspects of communication with diverse client groups
- language requirements of working with translators
- roles a translator should and should not be expected to perform
- legislation/policy/procedure related to working with translators
- occupational health and safety and environmental issues related to working with translators

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Confirm delegation

- 1.1 Current information relating to enabling legislation, standards, instructions and delegated authority is accessed and used to maintain up-to-date knowledge of requirements
- 1.2 Delegation provided under legislation and the boundaries of that authority are confirmed
- 1.3 Rights, responsibilities and accountabilities under the delegation are identified and confirmed
- 1.4 All levels of authority under the delegation are confirmed with management and staff to ensure referrals as limits of authority are reached

2. Apply other legislation, policies and instructions

- 2.1 Other legislation, policies or instructions that impact on authority under a delegation are identified and these requirements confirmed
- 2.2 Apparently conflicting legislative directions are resolved or referred in accordance with organisational policy and procedures

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

3. Exercise delegations

- 3.1 Exercise of delegations is consistent with organisational processes and the boundaries and authority contained in legislation, policies and instructions
- 3.2 Decisions are documented and records kept in accordance with organisational policy and procedures to provide audit information of delegated authority exercised
- 3.3 Circumstances requiring the exercise of delegations that are outside own limits are identified and approvals are obtained in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
- 3.4 Risks associated with the exercise of delegations are identified and strategies to manage risks are identified in accordance with the organisation's risk management strategy

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- applying legislation, regulations and policies relating to delegations
- using information technology to access relevant legislation and procedures
- reading complex written materials such as legislation, instructions, and standards and applying them to work practices
- scanning techniques to locate main ideas in legislation, policy documents and instructions
- using questioning strategies to clarify understanding
- using communication strategies involving exchanges of often complex oral information
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- applying procedures relating to occupational health and safety and environment in the context of exercising delegations

Knowledge requirements

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide specifies the evidence required to demonstrate achievement in the unit of competency as a whole. It must be read in conjunction with the Unit descriptor, Performance Criteria, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Public Sector Training Package.

Units to be assessed together

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit: Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit: Nil
- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:

PSPGOV402B Deliver and monitor service to clients

PSPGOV403B Use resources to achieve work unit goals

PSPGOV404B Develop and implement work unit plans

PSPGOV405B Provide input to change processes

PSPGOV406B Gather and analyse information

PSPGOV407B Provide a quotation

PSPGOV409A Provide support to Parliament

PSPPROC410A Administer contracts

PSPREG410B Give evidence

PSPREG411A Gather information through interviews

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of government processes in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time) in generalist or specialist work activities such as delivering and monitoring services to clients, using resources, conducting interviews, giving evidence, administering contracts, etc

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- legislation, policy, procedures and protocols relating to the public sector
- organisational structures
- Machinery of Government information
- case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of situations likely to be encountered when applying government processes

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when applying government processes, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- applying government processes in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time) in contexts relating to generalist or specialist work activities such delivering and monitoring services to clients, using resources, conducting interviews, giving evidence, administering contracts, etc.

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations.

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- portfolios
- projects
- questioning
- scenarios
- simulation or role plays
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

- Machinery of Government may include
- cycles of government, such as budget cycle
 - separation of powers (Executive, Judiciary, Legislative)
 - levels of government (Federal, State/Territory, Local)
 - legislative process
 - role and functions of parliamentary structures (unicameral, bicameral)

Elements and Performance Criteria

----------------	-----------------------------

ELEMENT

1. Provide diversity input to strategies, policies and plans

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

- 1.1 Quantitative and qualitative workplace diversity data is collected, analysed, and used for planning strategies, policies and plans to achieve a more diverse workforce
- 1.2 Workplace diversity data is compared with data on the diversity of the organisation's client base and the community it serves to ensure strategies, policies and plans are responsive to all stakeholders
- 1.3 Diversity strategies are developed in consultation with stakeholders, including people from key equity groups and clients
- 1.4 Effectiveness measures are developed to evaluate the effectiveness and outcomes of workplace strategies, policies and plans in relation to diversity
- 1.5 Actions to address the implementation of workplace diversity objectives are included in workplace business plans in accordance with organisational requirements
- 1.6 Reporting and feedback processes are incorporated into strategies and plans in accordance with organisational policy and procedures

ELEMENTPERFORMANCE CRITERIA*2. Attract, develop and promote a diverse workforce

- 2.1 Diversity principles are integrated with and underpin human resources policies and practices in the work area in accordance with the organisation's diversity strategy
- 2.2 Strategies to increase the recruitment and retention of equity groups and others who don't fit the dominant organisational paradigm are promoted and implemented in the workplace in accordance with legislation, policies and procedures
- 2.3 Barriers that prevent the recruitment, retention and progression of staff from diverse backgrounds are identified, and strategies developed to address them
- 2.4 Development opportunities are identified and tailored to address the needs of a diverse workforce in accordance with diversity objectives and resourcing constraints
- 2.5 Individuals with the capacity to operate in a variety of business and cultural settings are identified and mentored to maximise their contribution to the organisation and its clients in accordance with organisational procedures and diversity objectives
- 2.6 A harmonious and supportive work environment is created by valuing and promoting the benefits of a diverse workforce to those working within the business unit and/or the organisation in accordance with diversity objectives

3. Monitor diversity outcomes

- 3.1 Employee data and feedback from staff or interviews are evaluated to identify changes and trends in diversity outcomes for the work area
- 3.2 Progress against workplace diversity effectiveness measures and policy/legal obligations is regularly monitored, outcomes reported and adjustments made to the diversity strategy or objectives in accordance with organisational procedures, to ensure its continued relevance and success

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- statistically analysing diversity data
- planning and developing diversity objectives and effectiveness measures
- developing, monitoring and reporting on the progress of diversity strategies
- communicating with people from diverse backgrounds
- responding to diversity, including disability and gender
- managing diverse teams
- applying intercultural management

- institutional racism and resulting indirect discrimination
- jurisdictional legislation, instructions, directions and standards that underpin or impact on workplace diversity
- public sector policies, practices and procedures related to diversity

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide specifies the evidence required to demonstrate achievement in the unit of competency as a whole. It must be read in conjunction with the Unit descriptor, Performance Criteria, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Public Sector Training Package.

Units to be assessed together

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit: Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit: Nil
- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:

PSPETHC501B Promote the values and ethos of public service

PSPLEGN501B Promote compliance with legislation in the public sector

PSPGOV502B Develop client services

PSPGOV504B Undertake research and analysis

PSPGOV506A Support workplace coaching and mentoring

PSPGOV510A Undertake and promote career management

PSPGOV511A Provide leadership

PSPGOV512A Use complex workplace communication strategies

PSPGOV514A Facilitate change

PSPGOV516A Develop and use emotional intelligence

PSPGOV523A Interrogate and analyse statistical data

PSPHR508A Coordinate career development

PSPPOL501A Develop organisation policy

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of Employability Skills as they relate to this unit
- promotion of diversity in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

EVIDENCE GUIDE

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- definition and benefits of workplace diversity
- public sector values and codes of conduct
- organisational procedures and protocols
- legislation, regulations, policies, procedures and guidelines relating to/impacting on workplace diversity

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- promotion of diversity in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time) such as promoting the values and ethos of public service, promoting compliance with legislation, providing leadership, developing client services, developing policy, coordinating career development.

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations.

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- demonstration
- observation
- portfolios
- projects
- questioning
- scenarios
- simulation or role plays
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

Quantitative and qualitative workplace diversity data may include

- distribution of equity groups by public sector level (number and proportion)
- barriers to progress illustrated by drop in numbers above a certain level in the hierarchy
- employment status
- changes over time in employment status
- comparison with client base
- representation of equity groups at senior executive level
- comparison with the rest of the public sector

Analysis of data may include

- comparison with historical data
- desegregation and cross-referencing of data on the basis of gender, disability, ethnicity and age (to identify inter-sectionality)

RANGE STATEMENT

Diversity may include

- age
- cultural background
- educational level
- ethnicity
- expertise
- family responsibilities
- gender
- interests
- interpersonal approach
- language
- life experience

Unit Descriptor

Unit descriptor

This unit covers promotion and support for coaching and mentoring in the organisation. It includes developing a coaching/mentoring strategy, establishing a coaching/mentoring framework, implementing and supporting coaching/mentoring, monitoring coaching and mentoring arrangements and consolidating opportunities for further coaching/mentoring.

In practice, supporting workplace coaching and mentoring in the organisation may overlap with other generalist or specialist public sector work activities such as acting ethically, complying with legislation, providing client service, leading a group, developing policy, etc.

This unit is one of 4 units of competency in the Working in Government Competency Field that deal with coaching/mentoring. Related units are:

PSPGOV311A Work with a coach or mentor

PSPGOV414A Provide workplace mentoring

PSPGOV415A Provide workplace coaching

This is a new unit of competency, added to the Working in Government Competency Field of the Training Package in 2004

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

Coaching

- has a focus on the acquisition of job skills and knowledge and is generally short-term
- is a defined relationship to enhance performance
- is results oriented
- is performance or goal directed
- emphasises action or improved performance in a specific area
- requires good interpersonal relations
- is identified on personal learning and development plans
- is provided by a coach who:
 - provides learning opportunities
 - monitors performance
 - provides constructive feedback
 - maintains confidentiality
 - may have undertaken training/development to undertake the role
- is not necessarily hierarchical

Mentoring

- generally has a longer-term focus on personal growth and learning
- includes a wide range of learning oriented to:
- exchange of wisdom
- support
- guidance in personal or professional growth.
- is a relationship, not just a procedure or activity
- is one person professionally assisting the professional development of another
- is a developmental effort to build skills and knowledge for advancement based on merit, rather than alliances/politically-based partnerships to advance careers based on politics rather than aptitude
- is provided by a mentor who:
- facilitates the growth of the person being mentored and professional development
- provides information, guidance and constructive comments
- evaluates the plans of the person being mentored, decisions, goals and objectives
- supports, encourages and, where necessary, highlights shortfalls in agreed performance
- maintains confidentiality in the relationship
- does NOT take over problems and try to solve them
- does NOT give advice, criticisms or solutions, but supports the person being mentored to make their own decisions
- is not the direct manager of the person being mentored

Other human resource strategies may include

- performance management
- learning and development
- succession planning
- career management

Benefits may include

- for the organisation:
 - increased productivity
 - new competencies available
 - more committed, involved and responsible personnel at all levels
 - personal and trusting developmental relationships
 - knowledge sharing
 - safeguarding investment in high potential people
 - culture change.
- for the person being coached or mentored:
 - empowerment
 - opportunity to acquire competencies and professional experience
 - insights into the organisational culture, attitudes, protocols and expected behaviours
 - increased potential for career mobility and promotion
 - a supportive environment in which successes and failures can be evaluated
 - internal and external networking opportunities
 - development of professional abilities and self-confidence
 - recognition and job satisfaction
 - mutual respect.
- for the coach/mentor:
 - renewed enthusiasm for the role (if an experienced employee)
 - challenging discussions with people who may have fresh perspectives
 - satisfaction from contributing to another's development
 - opportunities to reflect upon and articulate the role of coach/mentor
 - improved ability to share experiences and knowledge
 - opportunities to test new ideas
 - being of service to others
 - increased self-esteem

RANGE STATEMENT

Ground rules may include

- relationship is voluntary, although the requirement to participate in coaching may not be
- mentoring partners should not be in the same chain of command
- supervisors of both partners must approve, if in-house rather than out-sourced arrangement
- guidance and counsel from a coach/mentor does not supersede that of the supervisor in work-related matters
- training for coaching and mentoring partners
- a formal agreement
- active involvement of both partners in the process
- commitment from the organisation and both parties to the arrangement
- effectiveness measures
- requirements to monitor/evaluate and report on outcomes
- provision for either party can end the relationship any time for any reason, or no reason

Stakeholders may include

- all those individuals and groups both inside and outside the organisation that have some direct interest in the organisation's behaviour, actions, products and services such as:
- employees at all levels of the organisation
- other public sector organisations
- private sector organisations/businesses
- non-government organisations
- union and association representatives
- boards of management
- government
- Ministers

Matching participants may include consideration of

- age
- cultural background
- educational level
- ethnicity
- expertise
- family responsibilities
- gender
- goals
- interests
- interpersonal approach
- language
- learning/thinking styles
- life experience
- marital status
- personality
- physical ability
- religious belief
- sexual orientation
- socio-economic background
- work experience
- working style
- coach/mentor with particular attributes depending on the purpose and objectives of the arrangement

Mentoring opportunities may include

- secondments
- relieving opportunities
- work shadowing
- project assignments
- intra- and inter-departmental release
- networks
- outsourced (paid) - business coach/mentor when none is available internally

Networks may include

- professional organisations
- informal common interest groups
- public sector management consultants

RANGE STATEMENT

Legislation, policy and procedures may include

- State/Territory and Commonwealth legislation and regulations such as:
- public sector management acts
- privacy legislation
- equal employment opportunity, anti-discrimination and harassment legislation
- occupational health and safety legislation
- ethics and accountability standards
- public sector standards
- organisational policy, procedures and protocols

Techniques and practices for resolving differences may include

- finding a mutually beneficial solution
- inviting discussion
- providing explanations
- not taking it personally when information is rejected
- not laying blame
- using 'I' messages
- self-disclosure

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Plan for negotiation

- 1.1 The purpose of the negotiation and the issue/s under consideration are clarified with affected personnel and through analysis of all related documentation/information
- 1.2 Primary needs and desired outcomes of all parties are identified
- 1.3 The organisation's position is determined in consultation with senior personnel, and a negotiating approach is devised based on an analysis of the strengths and weaknesses of the position
- 1.4 Information relating to the negotiation, including any precedents, is collected, analysed and organised to support the negotiating approach
- 1.5 Timeframe and logistics are agreed and a negotiation plan is developed in accordance with legislation, policy and procedures, and communicated to other staff, if any, involved in the negotiation team

2. Conduct negotiation

- 2.1 The issue/s under consideration and the negotiation process to be used are agreed by all parties and documented in accordance with legislation, policy and procedures
- 2.2 Negotiating techniques are used to persuade the other party of the strength of the argument in favour of the organisation's position
- 2.3 The negotiation plan is modified if necessary to respond to contingencies
- 2.4 Techniques for dealing with conflict or deadlocks are selected and used in accordance with the negotiation plan and the progress of the negotiation
- 2.5 Options for resolving the issue are discussed and the acceptability of these to the parties is determined

ELEMENT

3. Finalise negotiation outcomes

- 3.1 An agreed conclusion is reached, documented and signed-off by the parties
- 3.2 Negotiation outcomes are reported in accordance with organisational policy and procedures and stakeholders are debriefed if required
- 3.3 Any further action required as a result of agreement is determined and undertaken in accordance with organisational requirements
- 3.4 The negotiation process and outcomes are reviewed, and lessons learnt are documented for future use in accordance with organisational recordkeeping practices

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Unit Descriptor

Unit descriptor

This unit covers the requirements for managing conflict in the workplace. It includes identifying and assessing conflict situations, implementing strategies to resolve conflict and monitoring the situation. It does not include formal negotiation, counselling or conducting mediation.

In practice, managing conflict may overlap with other generalist or specialist public sector work activities such as acting ethically, complying with legislation, providing leadership, facilitating change, negotiating, maintaining workplace safety, coordinating employment relations, etc.

This is one of 4 units of competency in the Working in Government and Human Resource Management Competency Fields that deal with conflict. Related units are:

PSPGOV314A Contribute to conflict management

PSPGOV411A Deal with conflict

PSPHR603B Provide advisory and mediation services

This is a new unit of competency, added to the Working in Government Competency Field of the Training Package in 2004

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Identify and assess conflict situations

- 1.1 Signs, stages and possible causes of conflict are identified and anticipated
- 1.2 Factors and issues relevant to conflict are clarified
- 1.3 Possible resolutions and/or compromises are explored using appropriate communication techniques
- 1.4 Responses are evaluated against workplace requirements, legislation, policies and procedures
- 1.5 Resolution strategies are developed that identify the timeframes involved and the form of reporting to be used

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

2. Implement strategies to resolve conflict

- 2.1 The strategy for resolution is selected to take account of social and cultural differences and is consistent with legislation, organisational policies and procedures
- 2.2 Situations requiring assistance are identified and support is sought as required, according to organisational policy and procedures
- 2.3 Strategies to address conflict are implemented promptly in accordance with legislation, policy and procedures
- 2.4 Records and reports are maintained in accordance with legislation, policy and procedures

3. Monitor conflict situations

- 3.1 Effectiveness of the resolution strategies is evaluated
- 3.2 Resolution methodology is monitored and remedial actions are initiated as required
- 3.3 Lessons learnt are recorded and used to improve service delivery, organisational policy and procedures as required

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- communicating with a diverse workforce and client base including use of assertiveness, active listening, non-verbal communication, appropriate language styles, teamwork
- using problem solving to deal with unexpected issues or attitudes
- dealing with difficult situations and people
- questioning, negotiating and problem solving

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when managing conflict, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- management of conflict in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time).

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations.

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- observation
- portfolios
- questioning
- scenarios
- simulation or role plays
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

EVIDENCE GUIDE

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Identify the purpose of the evaluation

- 1.1 The purpose, scope and terms of reference of the evaluation are confirmed with key stakeholders and approvals are gained in accordance with organisational requirement
- 1.2 The range of documentary evidence, individuals and organisations who can provide specialist input are identified and commitment is gained for their contribution to the evaluation
- 1.3 Information critical to the evaluation is determined to inform the selection of the evaluation methodology and tools
- 1.4 Ownership of the evaluation data/outcomes and right of access to the reported results are determined in accordance with organisational policy and procedures

ELEMENTPERFORMANCE CRITERIA*2. Identify evaluation methodology and tools

- 2.1 Criteria for the evaluation and the audience for evaluation results are identified and communicated to stakeholders
- 2.2 Evaluation methods are selected from a range of alternatives to suit the scope, purpose and outcome requirements of the evaluation
- 2.3 Measuring tools and media are selected/developed to ensure valid and reliable evaluation results
- 2.4 An evaluation strategy is formulated in consultation with key stakeholders to ensure acceptance and commitment
- 2.5 Resource needs are determined in accordance with budgetary constraints and obtained in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
- 2.6 Evaluation infrastructure is established in accordance with evaluation requirements and resource constraints

3. Implement evaluation

- 3.1 Implementation tasks are defined and clarified with stakeholders in accordance with the evaluation methodology
- 3.2 Evaluation strategy is implemented and data collected, collated and recorded against evaluation criteria in accordance with planned methodology
- 3.3 Expectations are managed and barriers to the evaluation are identified and addressed or referred in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
- 3.4 Progress of the evaluation is monitored and changes are negotiated as needed to timeframes, methodology or tools in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
- 3.5 Data is analysed/referred for specialist analysis, and results are compared with evaluation criteria
- 3.6 Preliminary results are presented for stakeholder feedback in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
- 3.7 The evaluation is conducted in accordance with legislative and organisational requirements

4. Report outcomes

- 4.1 An evaluation report is prepared that compares outcomes to the evaluation criteria established at the outset, and provides supporting evidence in accordance with legislative and organisational requirements
- 4.2 Recommendations for action are made in accordance with the terms of reference and supported by the evaluation outcomes
- 4.3 Unbiased and objective evaluation outcomes are reported in a form and language to suit the intended audience of the report

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Identify current career strengths

- 1.1 A self-directed search is conducted of current knowledge, skills, abilities, interests and values
- 1.2 Life and work experiences, current and latent abilities are included and ranked in order of personal importance
- 1.3 Personal preferences are determined in broad terms, including areas of work/skills that are acceptable in the long term
- 1.4 A personal profile is prepared that identifies strengths, preferences and opportunities for learning and growth

2. Identify and map career opportunities

- 2.1 Careers and occupations are scanned to identify a list of possibilities and their requirements for skills, qualifications and experience
- 2.2 Economic and industry scan is continually undertaken to identify the outlook for possible careers/occupations and to identify emerging careers throughout work life
- 2.3 Opportunities for entering possible careers/occupations are investigated to ensure the feasibility of pursuing those options
- 2.4 Personal profile is matched to possible career opportunities and a decision made on the best option/s to pursue

ELEMENTPERFORMANCE CRITERIA*3. Develop and implement career plan

- 3.1 Career goals are established that cater for transition from existing career/work to preferred future career
- 3.2 A career plan is developed that identifies immediate priorities for learning and development as well as medium to long-term strategies to obtain additional skills and experience
- 3.3 Gap analysis is undertaken to identify dated/lost skills and skills that are common to both preferred future career and the organisation's requirements
- 3.4 Career development activities are initiated in accordance with the career plan and in accordance with organisational legislation, policy and procedures

4. Monitor progress

- 4.1 Acquisition of skills and experience is monitored and feedback is obtained on performance achievements
- 4.2 Feedback is considered and integrated as necessary into the career plan
- 4.3 Organisational requirements and future career requirements are monitored and the career plan is adjusted to take account of new information
- 4.4 Progress towards future career is monitored and career goals are adjusted as required

5. Contribute to others' career management

- 5.1 Others are assisted to take responsibility for their own careers, research career information and plan for future job placements, learning and development
- 5.2 Feedback on performance is provided and development opportunities suggested to address immediate performance gaps or build on performance strengths linked to career plans
- 5.3 Medium to long-term plans are agreed and implemented to address barriers to career development and meet individual and group learning and development needs
- 5.4 Staff are encouraged to monitor their progress against career goals and adjust long-term plans to integrate changed circumstances or new skill requirements
- 5.5 Staff are encouraged and supported in applying new skills and knowledge in the workplace

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Facilitate commitment to objectives and required standards

- 1.1 The organisation's vision, strategic objectives and required standards of performance are discussed and clarified with others in accordance with the needs, communication and learning styles of workgroup members
- 1.2 Establishment of the purpose, objectives, roles and responsibilities in the workgroup is facilitated in accordance with organisational requirements and objectives
- 1.3 Commitment to objectives and standards is modelled to provide leadership and develop workgroup commitment
- 1.4 Equal employment opportunity, occupational health and safety, diversity management and participative work practices are modelled and promoted within the workgroup in accordance with legislation, policy and procedures

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

2. Contribute to the development of a co-operative, high performance workgroup

- 2.1 Work contributions or suggestions are encouraged, acknowledged and considered constructively
- 2.2 Workgroup members are supported to use, share and develop their skills according to work requirements
- 2.3 Work allocation is facilitated within the group on the basis of current skills and development needs
- 2.4 Implementation of new work practices is undertaken in consultation with workgroup members
- 2.5 Conflict and other issues which affect the performance of the workgroup are resolved within the workgroup wherever possible, or referred in accordance with organisational policy and procedures

3. Give and receive feedback on performance

- 3.1 Feedback is obtained from others outside the workgroup on personal and workgroup performance, and open and constructive responses to feedback are given
- 3.2 Regular constructive feedback on all aspects of work performance is gathered from and provided to the workgroup
- 3.3 Performance is assessed and addressed in a fair and timely manner and where possible notable performance is recognised/rewarded in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
- 3.4 Under-performance of self and others is addressed in accordance with relevant legislation, guidelines and procedures
- 3.5 Feedback is used to continuously improve performance and outcomes

ELEMENTPERFORMANCE CRITERIA*4. Support and participate in development activities

- 4.1 An action plan to meet individual and group learning and development needs is developed, agreed and implemented
- 4.2 Individuals are supported to identify their specific learning/development needs
- 4.3 Workgroup members are encouraged and supported to take advantage of development opportunities in accordance with their needs and organisational requirements
- 4.4 Learning and development opportunities are accessed to continuously improve own leadership skills and other identified development needs
- 4.5 On-the-job learning opportunities are provided for in accordance with individual needs and to the required standard
- 4.6 Workgroup members are encouraged and supported in applying new skills and knowledge in the workplace

5. Provide leadership, direction and guidance in the workgroup

- 5.1 Participative decision making is used routinely in developing, implementing and reviewing the work of the group and the distribution of responsibilities, where appropriate
- 5.2 Opportunities and encouragement are given to workgroup members to develop new and innovative work practices and strategies
- 5.3 Workgroup members are provided with the support, leadership, advice and policy direction necessary to perform work safely and effectively
- 5.4 Tasks are allocated in accordance with the competencies of workgroup members, and autonomy and authority are delegated as appropriate
- 5.5 Leadership and guidance strategies are varied to meet changing priorities and situations, and take into account the differing needs and skills of individuals and the requirements of the tasks and workplace

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- applying legislation, regulations, policies, procedures and guidelines
- providing leadership, supervision and performance feedback
- undertaking problem solving in a team environment
- using transparent decision making
- communicating with a diverse workplace including listening, facilitating, negotiating, mentoring
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legislation, regulations, policies, procedures and guidelines relating to the public sector
- principles of effective team operation
- principles of facilitation and empowerment
- group processes
- group dynamics
- range of leadership styles and the application of these to suit different groups and tasks
- learning and development in the workplace
- equal employment opportunity, equity and diversity principles
- occupational health and safety and environment legislation in the context of leading a workgroup

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide specifies the evidence required to demonstrate achievement in the unit of competency as a whole. It must be read in conjunction with the Unit descriptor, Performance Criteria, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Public Sector Training Package.

EVIDENCE GUIDE

Units to be assessed together

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit: Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit: Nil
- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:

PSPETHC501B Promote the values and ethos of public service

PSPGOV503B Coordinate resource allocation and usage

PSPGOV504B Undertake research and analysis

PSPGOV505A Promote diversity

PSPGOV506A Support workplace coaching and mentoring

PSPGOV507A Undertake negotiations

PSPGOV508A Manage conflict

PSPGOV512A Use complex workplace communication strategies

PSPGOV514A Facilitate change

PSPGOV517A Coordinate risk management

PSPLEGN501B Promote compliance with legislation in the public sector

PSPOHS501A Monitor and maintain workplace safety

PSPWPI502B Facilitate improvement in workplace legislative performance

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of Employability Skills as they relate to this unit
- provision of leadership in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

EVIDENCE GUIDE

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- legislation, policy, procedures and protocols relating to the public sector
- case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of situations likely to be encountered when providing leadership to a workgroup

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when providing leadership to a workgroup, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- provision of leadership in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time).

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations.

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- demonstration
- observation
- portfolios
- projects
- questioning
- scenarios
- simulation or role plays
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

EVIDENCE GUIDE

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments.

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

Workgroup may include

- an existing team
- business unit
- group formed for a special purpose or project
- group of community members
- volunteers
- interagency members
- client group, such as employees on a safety committee

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Prepare for complex communication

- 1.1 Communication objectives are clarified, those to be present are confirmed and communication mode is identified
- 1.2 Analysis is undertaken to anticipate the likely positions to be taken by those present on the matters under discussion
- 1.3 Subject matter is researched/organised, key points to be conveyed are identified and recorded, and information to counter other positions is summarised
- 1.4 Requirements of legislation, policy and guidelines relevant to the discussion are identified and incorporated

ELEMENTPERFORMANCE CRITERIA*2. Analyse and respond to opinions

- 2.1 Discussion is evaluated to identify impartiality, bias or unsupported argument
- 2.2 Points of view of other speakers are noted and information to counter opposing views is presented objectively in accordance with required position
- 2.3 Reaction to speakers and their point of view is analysed to identify and manage emotional reactions and maintain objectivity
- 2.4 Opposing/challenging views are examined for their value in achieving the same ends
- 2.5 Active listening and questioning are used to clarify own understanding, challenge or justify other points of view

3. Present a convincing argument

- 3.1 Communication approach is chosen and used to suit the given audience
- 3.2 Prepared position is asserted with conviction and purpose
- 3.3 Verbal and non-verbal behaviour are adjusted to maintain listener interest if the audience is unresponsive
- 3.4 Questions are used to elicit feedback and check audience understanding
- 3.5 Audience questions and argument are responded to objectively, and answers are backed by reasoned explanation
- 3.6 Agreement is negotiated where possible, concluding with a summary of agreed items

4. Develop a range of communication strategies

- 4.1 Feedback from others is obtained and the outcomes of communication are assessed
- 4.2 Lessons learnt are recorded and used to underpin future interactions
- 4.3 Language structures and features that influence audiences to a preferred point of view are developed and practised
- 4.4 Communication strategies are explored and practised for a range of workplace applications in accordance with organisational requirements

Required Skills and Knowledge

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Critically analyse information

- 1.1 Information is tested for relevance, reliability, consistency and usefulness to the task/organisation
- 1.2 Fact is separated from opinion and underlying values and beliefs are identified
- 1.3 Cultural context of the information is taken into account in the analysis
- 1.4 Stereotypes, bias, prejudice and motive are recognised
- 1.5 Conclusions are drawn and a critical analysis with supporting evidence is prepared and submitted in accordance with organisational requirements

ELEMENT

2. Compose/refine complex documents

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

- 2.1 The purpose, audience and objectives of complex documents are confirmed in accordance with organisational requirements
- 2.2 Structure and content of document is approved in line with the purpose and intended audience
- 2.3 Risk assessment is undertaken and risk management is implemented in relation to document preparation and content, in accordance with the nature and classification of the material
- 2.4 Information/documents provided by others are analysed for bias, gaps, the influence of values, attitudes and context, conflicting advice/evidence and political implications
- 2.5 Information is synthesised and complex documents are prepared and submitted in accordance with organisational requirements, legislation, policy and procedures
- 2.6 Feedback is provided to contributors of information/documents to improve future input in a manner that provides learning opportunities for the researchers/authors

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- reading and writing at a level to cope with a range of complex and sensitive workplace materials
- critically analysing and synthesising information to compose complex written documents
- refining content, structure and sequence according to the required purpose of written material
- using spelling, punctuation and grammar for workplace documents at an experienced level

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Plan for the introduction of change

- 1.1 Research for the introduction of change is undertaken in order to consider the broader context of the organisation and emerging and future trends in the public sector
- 1.2 Own knowledge and understanding are supplemented through advice from and consultation with others
- 1.3 The interconnectedness of people, systems and structures is recognised and taken into account in planning for change
- 1.4 Plans are made in consultation with stakeholders in accordance with legislation, policy and procedures
- 1.5 The organisation's rationale for introducing change is communicated effectively to individuals/workgroups
- 1.6 Information needs of all stakeholders are anticipated and facilitated as part of change management

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

2. Deal with emerging challenges and opportunities

- 2.1 Strategies to engage stakeholders in the change process are developed and implemented
- 2.2 Internal and external clients are informed about the change process, possible inconveniences and the benefits intended from the change
- 2.3 Risk factors affecting change are identified, monitored and addressed in accordance with the organisation's risk management plan
- 2.4 Sensitivity is shown to people's individual responses to change and a range of support mechanisms is provided in line with specific needs
- 2.5 Learning from the implementation of change are identified and shared with others

3. Handle ambiguity in the change process

- 3.1 Ambiguity in the change process is identified and the need to work with issues that cannot be resolved immediately is communicated to others as part of any change process
- 3.2 Strategies to assist others to cope with apparent ambiguities are developed and implemented in accordance with specific needs and organisational requirements
- 3.3 Recommendations for improving the methods/techniques to manage change are identified, evaluated and negotiated in accordance with organisational policy and procedures

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- communicating with a diverse range of individuals at different levels in the organisation
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- problem solving in the context of managing ambiguity and change
- giving and receiving feedback, including 'managing up'
- influencing others
- monitoring and observation
- coaching and mentoring others in the change process
- managing the effects of change in the workplace, including occupational health and safety issues such as workplace stress

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legislation, policy and procedures relating to public sector workplaces
- a range of change management models and tools and the application of these in the workplace
- organisational structure and culture
- group dynamics
- emotional intelligence
- equal employment opportunity, equity and diversity principles

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

3. Establish and manage benchmarking exercise

- 3.1 Staffing arrangements are established and resourced in accordance with project plan
- 3.2 Consultation, communication with stakeholders and ongoing progress reports are included as a feature of the management of the exercise to ensure the engagement and cooperation of those people in the areas being benchmarked
- 3.3 Benchmarking exercise is managed in accordance with timeframes and budgetary constraints

4. Gather and analyse information

- 4.1 Networking and consultation are undertaken with staff in the areas to be benchmarked, to gather tacit knowledge
- 4.2 Encouragement of open and honest input is provided to ensure outcomes are valid, reliable and useful for improving performance
- 4.3 Organisational data is gathered, collated with information from consultation and analysed against benchmarks in accordance with the project plan
- 4.4 Benchmarking findings are discussed with staff and management, and feedback is incorporated into final results

5. Report on/act on benchmarking outcomes

- 5.1 Benchmarking report is written to meet audience needs and is presented in accordance with organisational requirements
- 5.2 Areas of excellence/strengths and recommendations for improvement are identified in the report in accordance with pre-determined objectives and outcomes
- 5.3 When required, a strategy is developed for phased implementation of recommendations that meet organisational requirements
- 5.4 Research information is preserved and stored in accordance with organisational and security requirements to provide historical data for subsequent benchmarking exercises
- 5.5 Benchmarking outcomes are acted upon/recommendations implemented in accordance with organisational requirements

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- applying legislation, regulations and policies relating to benchmarking
- planning and managing projects
- collecting, recording and collating information
- undertaking research and analysis
- using records management systems
- interpreting organisational information
- communicating/consulting with a range of diverse stakeholders
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- writing recommendations and reports requiring formality of expression
- using numeracy skills for data analysis
- applying procedures relating to occupational health and safety and environment in the context of benchmarking

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legislation, regulations, policies, procedures and guidelines relating to benchmarking
- principles of benchmarking performance
- organisational structure and functions, systems and processes
- public sector standards including ethics and security relating to organisational information
- project management
- equal employment opportunity, equity and diversity principles
- public sector legislation such as occupational health and safety and environment in the context of benchmarking

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide specifies the evidence required to demonstrate achievement in the unit of competency as a whole. It must be read in conjunction with the Unit descriptor, Performance Criteria, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Public Sector Training Package.

Units to be assessed together

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit: Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit: Nil
- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:

PSPETHC501B Promote the values and ethos of public service

PSPIM503A Maintain and monitor service standards

PSPGOV503B Coordinate resource allocation and usage

PSPGOV504B Undertake research and analysis

PSPGOV505A Promote diversity

PSPGOV507A Undertake negotiations

PSPGOV508A Manage conflict

PSPGOV511A Provide leadership

PSPGOV512A Use complex workplace communication strategies

PSPGOV517A Coordinate risk management

PSPLEGN501B Promote compliance with legislation in the public sector

PSPPM502B Manage complex projects

PSPSEC502A Develop security risk management plans

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of Employability Skills as they relate to this unit
- performance benchmarked in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

EVIDENCE GUIDE

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- legislation, policy, procedures and protocols relating to benchmarking
- industry best practice standards for benchmarks
- access to similar organisations/areas/functions for comparison
- case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of situations likely to be encountered when benchmarking performance

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when benchmarking performance, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- performance benchmarked in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time).

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations.

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- portfolios
- projects
- questioning
- scenarios
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

EVIDENCE GUIDE

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

Benchmarking is

- an activity undertaken by an organisation to gauge its performance against a set of internal or industry-specific best practice standards
- applied organisation-wide, to departments or business units or to areas such as finance, human resources, customer service/satisfaction, etc

Scope may include

- organisation-wide
- functional area
- business unit
- skill area, such as management behaviours and practices
- procedures, policies, guidelines, work instructions
- resource deployment and usage
- business practices
- performance outcomes
- organisational processes

RANGE STATEMENT

- Resources may include
- personnel
 - funding
 - downtime when benchmarking is underway
 - equipment and supplies
 - research materials
 - technology
- Benchmarking approach may include
- a project team approach
 - comparison with similar organisation/function
 - visit to and critique of a similar organisation
 - collaboration in 'critical friends' program
 - comparison with pre-determined standard
 - identifying and setting targets for improved performance
 - change management
 - resourcing commensurate with the size and perceived importance of the exercise
 - training/education about benchmarking
 - benchmarking networks
- Key result areas may include
- service delivery
 - finance
 - people management
 - client service
 - administration
 - safety
 - security
 - fraud control
 - process improvement, especially key business processes
- Research may include
- key stakeholders
 - current literature
 - industry research
 - internal, local, national or international search for benchmarks
 - ensuring benchmarks are valid (comparing apples with apples) and reliable
 - identifying confounding variables

RANGE STATEMENT

- Benchmarks may include
- internal standards/performance indicators
 - historical data - past performance
 - external standards
 - industry standards
 - best/leading practice standards
 - national standards
 - international standards
- Stakeholders may include
- all those individuals and groups both inside and outside the organisation that have some direct interest in the organisation's behaviour, actions, products and services, including:
 - boards of management
 - clients
 - community organisations
 - contractors
 - employees at all levels of the organisation
 - government
 - Ministers
 - other public sector organisations
 - service providers
 - suppliers
 - the public
 - union and association representatives
 - volunteers
- Legislation, standards, policies and guidelines may include
- public sector management acts
 - financial management acts
 - audit acts
 - public sector standards
 - fraud control standards
 - government security standards
 - risk management guidelines
 - Australian standards, such as accounting standards, audit standards, risk management standards, knowledge management standards, quality standards
 - ethics and accountability standards
 - codes of conduct
 - confidentiality agreements

Staffing arrangements may be

- internal
- external
- contracted expertise

Tacit knowledge is

- knowledge that is not written down/recorded that resides in the mind and may include aspects of culture or 'ways of doing things'

Unit Descriptor

Unit descriptor

This unit covers supervision and performance management in accordance with the organisation's performance management system. It includes linking individual/workgroup activities to organisational goals, setting performance expectations, measuring performance achievements, and renegotiate performance and development plans.

In practice, performance management may overlap with other generalist or specialist public sector work activities such as acting ethically, complying with legislation, leading a group, managing projects, supervising inspections, benchmarking performance, etc.

This is one of 4 units in the Working in Government and Management Competency Fields that deal with performance.

Related units are:

PSPGOV315A Give and receive workplace feedback
PSPGOV416A Monitor performance and provide feedback
PSPMNGT603B Facilitate people management

This is a new unit of competency, added to the Working in Government Competency Field of the Training Package in 2004

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

1. Link individual/workgroup activities to organisational goals

- 1.1 The organisation's mission, vision and goals are identified, linked and explained in accordance with each individual's needs
- 1.2 Individual and workgroup activities are aligned with organisational goals in consultation with workgroup members
- 1.3 Individual and workgroup activities are prioritised in accordance with organisational directions

2. Set performance standards expectations

- 2.1 Performance standards are identified and clarified in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
- 2.2 Performance standards are consulted upon, negotiated and agreed
- 2.3 Performance and learning/development plans are developed and agreed, to document team and individual performance targets, standards and professional development objectives
- 2.4 Performance targets and key performance indicators are developed that are specific, realistic and measurable
- 2.5 Performance plans are implemented in accordance with organisational requirements

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

3. Measure performance achievements

- 3.1 Individual performance is monitored, appraised and measured against performance goals and required business outcomes
- 3.2 Performance is assessed and addressed in a fair and timely manner in accordance with legislation, policy and procedures
- 3.3 Disagreement or conflict is managed and documented in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
- 3.4 Where possible, outstanding performance is recognised/rewarded in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
- 3.5 Under-performance is addressed promptly in accordance with organisational guidelines, procedures and the principles of natural justice
- 3.6 Areas/strategies for improvement are identified and implemented to continuously improve performance and outcomes

4. Renegotiate performance and learning/ development plans

- 4.1 The results of performance management are documented in accordance with legislative and organisational requirements and used to identify strengths and performance gaps
- 4.2 Learning is captured to inform knowledge management strategies and transfer skills to other staff
- 4.3 Performance standards are renegotiated and agreed in accordance with organisational procedures
- 4.4 Learning and development objectives are identified and agreed to enhance performance and meet developing organisational and workgroup goals
- 4.5 Agreed performance standards and related professional development are documented in accordance with organisational policy and procedures

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- applying legislation, regulations and policies relating to performance management
- giving feedback on performance
- maintaining confidentiality
- communicating with a diverse workforce including listening, questioning, clarifying, negotiating and managing conflict
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- identifying future learning and development requirements
- applying time management
- recordkeeping
- applying procedures relating to occupational health and safety and environment in the context of performance management

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legislation, regulations, policies, procedures and guidelines relating to performance management such as:
- equal employment opportunity
- grievance procedures
- disciplinary procedures
- code of conduct
- privacy legislation
- freedom of information.
- organisation's performance management system
- organisation's learning and development system
- impact of learning and development opportunities on performance
- remuneration systems
- equity and diversity principles
- public sector legislation such as occupational health and safety and environment in the context of performance management

Unit Descriptor

Unit descriptor

This unit covers the process of clearly identifying the scope of a statistical data collection project and the expected outputs to meet user requirements. It includes defining the purpose/outputs, defining the scope, researching and identifying possible sources of data, developing project documentation, determining resource requirements and confirming project feasibility.

In practice, scoping data collection may overlap with other generalist or specialist public sector work activities such as acting ethically, complying with legislation, providing client service, working safely, initiating a project, undertaking research and analysis, etc.

This is one of 5 units of competency in the Working in Government Competency Field that deal with statistics. Related units are:

PSPGOV521A Collect statistical data

PSPGOV522A Process statistical data

PSPGOV523A Interrogate and analyse statistical data

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Define purpose/outputs

- 1.1 Required deliverables are confirmed with relevant personnel/stakeholders
- 1.2 Tasks are reviewed to identify requirements
- 1.3 Requirements are specified and confirmed in accordance with organisational policy and procedures

2. Define scope

- 2.1 The population for the study is defined
- 2.2 The audience for the project's outputs is defined
- 2.3 Proposed hypotheses are defined and any anticipated issues identified
- 2.4 The duration, sequence and inter-dependence of tasks are determined in consultation with stakeholders
- 2.5 The scope is specified and agreed in accordance with organisational policy and procedures

3. Research and identify possible sources of data	3.1 Data sources and statistics already in existence are identified 3.2 Alternative sources of data are identified 3.3 Data is sourced to test hypotheses
4. Develop project documentation	4.1 Information is collated and examined to determine the detail required in project brief and specifications 4.2 Statistical processes are identified for later use in conjunction with a suitably qualified person 4.3 Legal and ethical issues relating to the collection of data are identified and addressed 4.4 The final reporting medium is identified 4.5 Anticipated communication strategies are determined 4.6 Risk management strategies are developed in accordance with organisational policy and procedures
5. Determine resource requirements	5.1 Project/survey costs are estimated to enable budgets to be developed and implemented in accordance with legislation, policy and procedures 5.2 Information technology requirements are identified 5.3 Any special equipment or resource requirements are identified 5.4 Equipment and material requirements are accessed according to the project/survey requirements
6. Confirm feasibility	6.1 Identified variations to the feasibility of the project/survey are determined and documented to enable adjustments to be made 6.2 Adjusted feasibility of the project/survey is evaluated to confirm progress of the project 6.3 Feasibility is confirmed and the project is approved in accordance with organisational policy and procedures

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- applying legislation, regulations and policies relating to statistical data collection in the public sector
- using numeracy skills to estimate costs, assess data sources and schedule tasks
- managing statistical projects
- communicating with a diverse range of stakeholders including consultation and negotiation
- applying time management
- applying problem solving
- using information technology including databases and spreadsheets
- differentiating between primary and secondary data sources
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- applying procedures relating to occupational health and safety and environment in the context of statistical data collection

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legislation, regulations, policies, procedures and guidelines relating to statistical data collection in the public sector, such as freedom of information, privacy
- the limitations of the statistics being worked on
- the way statistics can be used to inform policy development
- statistical standards and classification systems
- the differences between primary and secondary data sources
- equal employment opportunity, equity and diversity principles
- public sector legislation such as occupational health and safety and environment in the context of statistical data collection

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Prepare for data collection

- 1.1 The project/survey question is studied and where necessary clarified
- 1.2 Expected data outputs are defined in accordance with the project scope
- 1.3 Proposed technology is familiarised and customised where necessary
- 1.4 The population for the source of data is confirmed
- 1.5 The survey design (if necessary) is assessed for suitability

2. Define data requirements	2.1 The accuracy requirements (precision) of the data to be collected are determined 2.2 The requirements of proposed information management system with regard to storage and processing of data are defined 2.3 Information requirements are defined and communicated to all staff involved in data collection 2.4 Data sources are identified and assessed for accessibility and reliability 2.5 The type and extent of data required is defined 2.6 Classification standards are applied to the proposed data
3. Prepare data collection tools for direct collection	3.1 Data collection methods and techniques are clearly defined relative to data requirements 3.2 The optimum method for gathering the proposed data is identified after research of alternatives has occurred 3.3 The survey vehicle/questionnaire is designed in conjunction with a suitably qualified person 3.4 The survey vehicle is tested and evaluated
4. Conduct data collection using direct collection	4.1 The proposed sampling frame is identified and/or constructed 4.2 A sample is selected and a pilot study implemented 4.3 Re-evaluation of the proposed survey design is undertaken based on the results of the pilot study 4.4 The main survey is conducted according to accepted professional and/or organisational standards 4.5 Opportunities are taken to establish and maintain contacts with those who may provide useful information, with due consideration of respondent burden
5. Conduct data collection from existing source/s	5.1 Data for the project is sourced 5.2 A range of statistics necessary for the project is identified in conjunction with a suitably qualified person 5.3 Sources of information are regularly reviewed for usefulness, reliability and cost 5.4 Channels and sources of information are used effectively in accordance with organisational standards

6. Collate and organise information/data

- 6.1 Statistics are identified to support the project question
- 6.2 Data is researched and/or collated from sources in accordance with legislation, policy and guidelines
- 6.3 Data is collated electronically
- 6.4 The accuracy and appropriateness of data are evaluated
- 6.5 Data is recorded in the desired format in accordance with professional, organisational and project requirements

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- applying legislation, regulations and policies relating to statistical data collection
- deciding which survey method to use
- designing questionnaires
- using a range of communication methods including consultation, establishing and maintaining contacts
- reading information and data requirements
- writing survey questions that are unambiguous and reflect intended meaning
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- applying procedures relating to occupational health and safety and environment in the context of statistical data collection

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legislation, regulations, policies, procedures and guidelines relating to statistical data collection
- legislation and policies governing privacy and confidentiality
- the advantages and disadvantages of different data sources
- the differences between census and survey data
- the importance of identifying a good frame
- the quality of the statistics and for what purpose the data can be used
- the limitations of the statistics used
- different data collection methodologies and how they affect results
- data collection and sampling methodologies
- the effects of non-response on survey estimates
- the impact of types of errors
- national and international classification standards
- information management systems
- equal employment opportunity, equity and diversity principles
- public sector legislation such as occupational health and safety and environment in the context of statistical data collection

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide specifies the evidence required to demonstrate achievement in the unit of competency as a whole. It must be read in conjunction with the Unit descriptor, Performance Criteria, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Public Sector Training Package.

Units to be assessed together

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit: Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit: Nil
- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:

PSPETHC501B Promote the values and ethos of public service

PSPGOV503B Coordinate resource allocation and usage

PSPGOV504B Undertake research and analysis

PSPGOV520A Scope statistical data collection

PSPGOV522A Process statistical data

PSPGOV523A Interrogate and analyse statistical data

PSPGOV524A Interpret data and related statistics

PSPLEGN501B Promote compliance with legislation in the public sector

PSPPM502B Manage complex projects

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of Employability Skills as they relate to this unit
- collection of statistical data in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

EVIDENCE GUIDE

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- legislation, policy, procedures and protocols relating to the collection of statistical data
- case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of situations likely to be encountered when collecting statistical data

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when collecting statistical data, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- collection of statistical data in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time) where contexts may include data collection via both primary and secondary sources.

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations.

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- demonstration
- portfolios
- projects
- questioning
- scenarios
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

EVIDENCE GUIDE

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

Expected data outputs may include

- variable names
- attributes

Data sources may include

- Australian Bureau of Statistics data
- government agency sources

Classification standards may include

- national and international definitions for collating and coding information

Survey vehicle may include

- opinion polls
- mail-out questionnaires
- computer-aided telephone interviewing (CATI)
- face-to-face interviews

Sampling methods may include

- simple random sampling
- systematic sampling
- multi stage sampling

RANGE STATEMENT

Legislation, policy and guidelines may include

- State/Territory and Commonwealth legislation and regulations such as:
- public sector management acts
- financial management acts
- privacy legislation
- equal employment opportunity and anti-discrimination legislation
- occupational health and safety legislation
- ethics and accountability standards
- public sector standards
- risk management standards
- fraud control standards
- government security standards
- knowledge management standards
- organisational policy, procedures and protocols

Unit Descriptor

Unit descriptor

This unit covers the process of recording, storing and managing data prior to analysis. It includes preparing raw data for electronic storage, using software tools to collect and/or store data, processing raw data and maintaining records.

In practice, processing statistical data may overlap with other generalist or specialist public sector work activities such as acting ethically, complying with legislation, working safely, managing a project, undertaking research and analysis, etc.

This is one of 5 units of competency in the Working in Government Competency Field that deal with statistics. Related units are:

PSPGOV520A Scope statistical data collection

PSPGOV521A Collect statistical data

PSPGOV523A Interrogate and analyse statistical data

PSPGOV524A Interpret data and related statistics

This is a new unit of competency, added to the Working in Government Competency Field of the Training Package in 2004

Application of the Unit

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

1. Prepare raw data for electronic storage

1.1 Data is coded and recorded in accordance with organisational and/or professional standards

2. Use software tools to collect and/or store data

- 2.1 Computer technologies are used in accordance with organisational licensing, manufacturers' specifications and organisational procedures
- 2.2 Software is used to collect, store and retrieve data in accordance with legislation, policy and guidelines
- 2.3 Computer input/output is checked and verified by a suitable person
- 2.4 Data is stored and retrieved in accordance with accepted standards with meta-data included
- 2.5 Geographic Information System (GIS) and database tools are used to access and retrieve a range of data

3. Process raw data

- 3.1 Data is validated in accordance with statistical standards
- 3.2 GIS and spreadsheet tools are used to retrieve data and present it in a suitable format
- 3.3 Spurious and/or inaccurate data is identified
- 3.4 Data is made confidential according to standard operational and privacy procedures

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

4. Maintain records

- 4.1 The management of the dataset is undertaken in accordance with accepted standards
- 4.2 The design of long-term storage/archiving systems is effected in accordance with accepted standards
- 4.3 Workplace processes are performed in accordance with relevant quality assurance standards
- 4.4 Validation of data is undertaken to ensure accuracy and consistency of data in the dataset in accordance with statistical standards

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- applying legislation, regulations, policies and standards relating to statistical data processing
- using at least one database management tool
- using information technology, for example spreadsheets, databases
- accessing the Internet
- undertaking critical analysis and problem solving
- recordkeeping
- reading and interpreting information
- using numeracy skills for data analysis/validation
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- applying procedures relating to occupational health and safety and environment in the context of data processing

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legislation, regulations, policies, procedures and guidelines relating to statistical data processing
- legislation and policies governing privacy and confidentiality
- statistical standards and classifications
- data processing concepts and systems
- workplace quality assurance standards
- management information policies
- equal employment opportunity, equity and diversity principles
- public sector legislation such as occupational health and safety and environment in the context of data processing

Unit Descriptor

Unit descriptor

This unit covers the process of applying techniques to analyse statistical data. It includes planning the analysis, applying statistical concepts and processes, determining strengths and weaknesses of the analysis and producing further statistics.

In practice, interrogating and analysing statistical data may overlap with other generalist or specialist public sector work activities such as acting ethically, complying with legislation, working safely, undertaking a project, conducting research and analysis, etc.

This is one of 5 units of competency in the Working in Government Competency Field that deal with statistics. Related units are:

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements are the essential outcomes of the unit of competency. Together, performance criteria specify the requirements for competent performance. Text in italics is explained in the Range Statement following.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

1. Plan analysis

- 1.1 Analysis and descriptive tools and techniques are chosen appropriate to the nature of the information and the required outcome/s
- 1.2 Priority of data to be interrogated is determined in consultation with relevant suitably qualified people, and work is organised accordingly
- 1.3 An understanding of the nature of the program or activity from which the data is obtained is reflected in the analysis of material
- 1.4 An understanding of the way in which the data is structured in the system is reflected in the analysis
- 1.5 The likely statistical indicators of the results are reflected in the analysis

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

2. Apply statistical concepts and processes

- 2.1 Software is used to retrieve data and present it in the required format
- 2.2 Quantitative and/or qualitative analyses are performed to obtain required outcomes
- 2.3 Analysis and descriptive tools and techniques are used appropriately given the nature of the information and the required outcomes
- 2.4 Preliminary results are expressed in accordance with the required detail, format and timeframe of the project
- 2.5 Analysis is performed in accordance with legislation, policy and guidelines

3. Determine strengths and weaknesses of analysis

- 3.1 Sources of error are identified and described as required
- 3.2 Limitations in the methodology are identified and described as appropriate
- 3.3 The conduct and results of analysis are verified by a suitably qualified person

4. Produce further statistics

- 4.1 Summary statistics are calculated from the given dataset as required in accordance with organisational requirements

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- applying legislation, regulations and policies relating to statistical analysis
- using at least one statistical analysis package
- utilising the most relevant data capture (software)
- using GIS and web mapping/web GIS tools to access and/or manipulate a range of data
- using a spreadsheet or database package for data analysis
- using statistical tools to collect, store and analyse data
- calculating growth rates and percentage change over time
- applying analytical problem solving
- communicating statistical concepts
- being able to 'listen' to data needs and use appropriate statistics such as mean, median, mode, standard deviation
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
