Overview of assessment

Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit

Evidence of the following is essential:

- plans within activity constraints and guides or leads and monitors groups in a safe and professional manner
- applies contingency management techniques to deal with a range of problems and issues that may arise during archery sessions
- encourages and responds to group feedback and evaluates and reflects on own leading performance to identify strengths, weaknesses and areas that need improvement.

Context of and specific resources for assessment

Assessment must ensure the safe leading of groups in archery activities that are appropriate to the needs and characteristics of a range of participants to demonstrate competency and consistency of performance.

Assessment must also ensure access to:

- a suitable archery venue to lead groups in archery activities
- participants to take part in the archery session
- resources and information regarding participants and location to plan, lead and document archery activities for a variety of participants
- bows, strings, arrows, targets, stands, quivers, finger or arm guards, and safety and first aid equipment.

Method of assessment

A range of assessment methods should be used to assess practical skills and knowledge. The following examples are appropriate for this unit:

- observation of planning and leading processes and interacting with a group of participants, including conveying information for safe participation
- oral or written questioning to assess knowledge and application of relevant legislation and organisational policies and procedures to enable safe conduct of all archery activities during session
- observation of dealing with contingencies such as changing weather conditions and equipment failure
- review of archery session plans
- third-party reports from a supervisor detailing performance.

Holistic assessment with other units relevant to the industry sector, workplace and job role is recommended.
