Method of assessment

A range of assessment methods should be used to assess practical skills and knowledge. The following examples are appropriate for this unit:

- direct observation of the individual preparing for and producing stocks, sauces and soups
- evaluation of the taste and visual appeal of stocks, sauces and soups prepared by the individual
- projects that allow assessment of the individual’s ability to produce a variety of stocks, sauces and soups
- use of visual and taste recognition exercises so the individual can identify ingredient and product characteristics
- written or oral questioning to assess knowledge of culinary terms, quality indicators for stocks, sauces and soups, equipment, cookery
- methods and appropriate environmental storage conditions
- review of portfolios of evidence and third-party workplace reports of on-the-job performance by the individual.

Guidance information for assessment

The assessor should design integrated assessment activities to holistically assess this unit with other units relevant to the industry sector, workplace and job role.
