Release: 1

CHCECE047 Analyse information to inform children's learning

Modification History

Release 1. CHCECE047 Analyse information to inform children's learning supersedes and is not equivalent to CHCECE023 Analyse information to inform learning.

Application

This unit describes the performance outcomes, skills and knowledge required to gather and analyse information about children's learning to inform practice.

This unit applies to educators who develop and implement curriculum in the context of an approved learning framework in regulated children's education and care services in Australia. Work is undertaken independently, but according to the philosophy of the service.

The skills in this unit must be applied in accordance with Commonwealth and State/Territory legislation, Australian standards and industry codes of practice.

No occupational licensing, certification or specific legislative requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Assessment Requirements for CHCECE047 Analyse information to inform children's learning

Modification History

Release 1. CHCECE047 Analyse information to inform children's learning supersedes and is not equivalent to CHCECE023 Analyse information to inform learning.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit in the context of the job role, and:

- gather, document and analyse information about an individual child on six different occasions using a minimum of three different tools or methods
- develop and document a perspective about the child's:
 - overall development
 - knowledge
 - ideas
 - strengths
 - interests
 - social interactions
 - reactions to play environment
- report on two different critical reflection activities used to review own practice.

Knowledge Evidence

Demonstrated knowledge required to complete the tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit:

- requirements of the following National Quality Standard and related regulations and laws applicable to this unit including:
 - collaborative partnerships with families and communities
 - educational program and practice
 - relationships with children
- stages of the curriculum planning cycle and how to manage that cycle:
 - collecting information
 - questioning and analysing information
 - planning
 - implementation
 - review and reflection
- stages of child development and how they are considered in each phase of curriculum planning

- confidentiality and ethical requirements for the collection, sharing, storage and disposal of information
- strategies for the collection of information:
 - collaborative approaches to gathering and using information
 - prioritising the voice of the child
 - observations:
 - current and emerging thinking about contemporary practice in use of observations
 - what makes for meaningful observations
 - summative assessment methods and tools
 - other ways of gathering different types of information and their application in different contexts:
 - anecdotal records
 - asking questions of children
 - child records
 - discussion with families
 - narratives
 - learning stories
 - sociograms
 - running records
 - jottings
 - time or event samples
 - digital images
 - cultural maps
 - samples of children's work
- ways of interrogating and analysing information to determine:
 - individual children's strengths, interests and needs
 - when additional support may be needed
 - current and future development and learning opportunities
- the link between the collection and analysis of information and the planning and implementation of curriculum
- the need for multiple perspectives and how educators can encourage and support collaborative critical reflection in the service
- critical reflection:
 - what is critical reflection
 - why and how educators use critical reflection
 - what makes for meaningful critical reflection
- types of reflection activities used in analysing information and their key features:
 - individual and group
 - formal and informal
 - journals and diaries including written or visual.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in a regulated children's education and care service in Australia:

- interactions with children must be supervised by an approved early childhood educator.

Skills related to analysis, documentation and reflection may be demonstrated outside of the service but must be based on work in a regulated children's education and care service in Australia.

Assessment must ensure access to:

- observation-recording tools
- children's records (real or simulated)
- information technology for documentation
- National Quality Framework:
 - National Quality Standard
 - the relevant approved learning framework
- service standards, policies and procedures for:
 - collaborative partnerships with families and communities
 - educational program and practice
 - relationships with children
- educators and families for collaboration
- children in a regulated education and care service in Australia.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations' requirements for assessors.
