Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be demonstrated evidence that the candidate has completed the following tasks:

- observed and questioned at least one client and their family and documented information relevant to the developmental status of the client
- confirmed client's developmental status prior to delivering services
- identified variations from normal development status and recognised and referred potentially serious issues in line with organisational requirements
- identified potential factors responsible for significant variations from normal developmental status and determined an appropriate response in terms of:
    - appropriate referral and reporting in line with organisational requirements
    - provision of appropriate services

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2026 HumanAbility

- referred to or sought assistance from an appropriate person or authority in relation to variations from normal functioning
- complied with mandatory reporting requirements where appropriate.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. These include knowledge of:

- detailed aspects of human development throughout the lifespan, including:
    - physical
    - psychological
    - cognitive
    - social
    - affective
- attachment theory
- key factors that may impact on the individual at identified stages of human development and their potential effects, e.g. the impact of trauma
- legal obligations, particularly in relation to child protection and elder abuse issues
- appropriate range of referral sources and associated protocols
- awareness of own values and attitudes and their potential impact on clients
- indicators of significant issues including:
    - child abuse (i.e. different types of child abuse)
    - abuse, neglect or harm including self-harm
    - domestic and family violence
    - elder abuse
- organisational standards, policies and procedures.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in the workplace.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. These include knowledge of:

- stages of behavioural development
- indicators of mental, physical, emotional or social difficulties
- indicators of trauma
- standard tests used to measure and review individual capacity and function, e.g. I.Q. tests, WISC
- factors that may impact on the individual at identified stages of human development, and their potential effects
- legislative requirements and obligations relating to delivery of community services, including mandatory notification issues and child protection policy
- detailed understanding of protocols and available resources associated with service delivery and referral
- organisational standards, policies and procedures.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in the workplace.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

CHCDFV009 Establish change promoting relationship with users of domestic and family violence

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit of competency was first released in CHC Community Services Release 3.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to establish the user's willingness to change, confirm the user's responsibilities and work respectfully with the user to plan and monitor changes. This relationship creates the context for the intervention and is constructed within a framework that promotes user responsibility, accountability, self-agency and direction towards change while maintaining a focus on the safety of others.

This unit applies to workers who operate with significant autonomy in therapeutic professional service roles in the community sector. The activity is self-directed.

The skills in this unit must be applied in accordance with Commonwealth and State/Territory legislation, Australian/New Zealand Standards and industry codes of practice.

Elements and Performance Criteria

Element	Performance criteria

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2026 HumanAbility

Elements define the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Establish willingness to address violent and abusive behaviour	1.1 Analyse existing case information about the user of domestic and family violence as the basis for work 1.2 Use questioning to explore how the user understands and locates the responsibility for their violence and abuse 1.3 Encourage the user of domestic and family violence to recognise the advantages of behaving in ways that are non-violent and non-abusive 1.4 Explore the user's aspirations for future relationships to examine how their violence undermines fulfilment of those aspirations 1.5 Characterise interactions with the user with respect, honesty and a concern for children and partner safety and in accordance with agency/organisation policies and procedures
2. Establish focus on user's responsibility for change and conditions for intervention	2.1 Acknowledge and challenge as the focus for change the user's understanding of the problems their violent and abusive behaviour cause 2.2 Establish a written contract for the intervention which clearly focuses on the user's responsibility, the potential for change and the priority of the safety of children and partners 2.3 Clarify and agree on expectations for mutually respectful behaviours and use of language, including challenging by the worker
3. Use reflective practice to minimise potential for collusion	3.1 Enact and maintain accountability processes throughout the intervention process 3.2 Recognise, resist and challenge instances provided by the user for collusion 3.3 Examine own practices with the user for their potential to replicate dominant behaviours 3.4 Examine own values and attitudes towards constructions of gender to determine the potential for collusion with the user's account of their use of violence and abuse 3.5 Maintain processes that ensure gender accountability between workers
4. Establish respectful and safe practices	4.1 Establish and maintain practices and strategies that are sensitive to the user's experiences in relation to membership of a minority culture or experiences of injustice

	4.2 Acknowledge respectfully the user's experiences of injustice, victimisations, prejudice or discrimination while ensuring that any attribution of causality or responsibility for abusive practices to these experiences is challenged 4.3 Assist the user to seek and acknowledge evidence of respectful, just and equitable values and practices in their culture
5. Provide opportunities for the user to plan, initiate and monitor changes	5.1 Encourage the user to make and implement realistic plans to cease all forms of violent and abusive behaviour 5.2 Provide opportunities for the user to demonstrate their responsible and respectful behaviour 5.3 Encourage the user to establish and maintain active involvement in ongoing networks of support for responsible and respectful behaviour

CHCDFV010 Promote accountability and assist users of domestic and family violence to accept responsibility

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit of competency was first released in CHC Community Services Release 3.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to assist users of domestic and family violence to accept their responsibility to cease all forms of violence and abuse, accept the consequences of their behaviour and understand the impact of this behaviour on those experiencing their abuse and themselves. The established basis for the intervention is the safety of people experiencing domestic and family violence with the recognition that users of domestic and family violence are solely responsible for their behaviour and that they can choose to relate respectfully to partners and children.

This unit applies to workers who operate with significant autonomy in therapeutic professional service roles in the community sector. The activity is self-directed.

The skills in this unit must be applied in accordance with Commonwealth and State/Territory legislation, Australian/New Zealand Standards and industry codes of practice.

CHCDIS004 Communicate using augmentative and alternative communication strategies

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This version was released in CHC Community Services Training Package release 2.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Minimal change to the elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment including volume and frequency requirements. Significant changes to knowledge evidence.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to communicate with people who have complex communication needs through effective use of Augmentative and Alternative Communication (AAC) strategies and systems.

AAC refers to methods that replace or supplement speech to address the needs of people whose oral speech skills limit their ability to meet their participation and communication needs.

AAC systems comprise communication aids, symbols, strategies, and techniques and methods that may be aided or unaided.

This unit applies to disability support work in a variety of contexts. Work performed requires a range of well developed, person-centred skills where some discretion and judgement is required and workers will take responsibility for their own outputs.

The skills in this unit must be applied in accordance with Commonwealth and State/Territory legislation, Australian/New Zealand standards and industry codes of practice.

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the identified work role.

This includes knowledge of:

- how to access:
    - the National Quality Framework
    - the National Quality Standards
    - the relevant approved learning framework
- how to navigate through framework and standards documents to find areas relevant to this unit of competency
- cultural competence and diversity as outlined in the approved learning framework relevant to the workplace
- impact of colonisation, historical events and issues on Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander people
- organisational policies and initiatives designed to support participation
- organisational standards, policies and procedures.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in a regulated education and care service.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment, including interactions with children and families

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in a regulated education and care service.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessment must ensure use of:

- National Quality Framework for Early Childhood Education and Care
- the relevant approved learning framework under the National Quality Framework for Early Childhood Education and Care.

Assessment must involve:

- interactions with actual babies and toddlers under the age of 24 months under the supervision of an early childhood educator.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be demonstrated evidence that the candidate has completed the following tasks:

- communicated issues to a supervisor and negotiated solutions in a clear and appropriate manner at least twice
- guided behaviour using positive support techniques with at least two children and/or young people

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2026 HumanAbility

- discussed behaviours of children and/or young people to plan and problem-solve in collaboration with others
- recorded observations and identified behaviours requiring support of children and/or young people using a range of methods
- used judgement to determine when to involve other staff for supported intervention.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. These include knowledge of:

- definitions of and differences between disruptive behaviour and behaviours of concern
- how learning difficulties or mental health issues may affect behaviour
- impacts of environment and culture on behaviour of children and/or young people
- communicative function of behaviour and positive support strategies to redirect behaviour and defuse situations
- organisational standards, policies and procedures.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be assessed in the workplace.

1	This version was released in CHC Community Services Training Package release 1.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Significant changes to elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment including volume and frequency requirements.

Performance Evidence

- set up a safe environment on at least three occasions (including at least one indoor and one outdoor), including:
    - demonstrating effective selection and placement of equipment and resources, with consideration for safety of the children
    - guiding and facilitating individual children’s play and learning experiences, including allowing for children to make decisions
    - creating an environment that allows for individual and collaborative experiences
    - providing a range of experiences to stimulate children and aid learning, including those that allow exploration of natural materials, environments and experiences.

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2026 HumanAbility

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. These include knowledge of:

- how to access:
    - the National Quality Framework
    - the National Quality Standards
    - the relevant approved learning framework
- how to navigate through framework and standards documents to find areas relevant to this unit of competency
- relevance of the approved framework to pedagogical practices
- play and learning experiences, associated resources and materials relevant to the interests and abilities of children
- role of play in learning
- theories that pertain to play
- reflective practice
- United Nations Convention of the Rights of the Child
- organisational standards, policies and procedures
- safety measures available to minimise risks for children and others.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in a regulated education and care service.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessment must ensure use of:

- National Quality Framework for Early Childhood Education and Care
- the relevant approved learning framework under the National Quality Framework for Early Childhood Education and Care.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

1	This version was released in CHC Community Services Training Package release 1.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Significant changes to elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment, including volume and frequency requirements.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be demonstrated evidence that the candidate has completed the following tasks:

- established and maintained an environment that is safe and healthy for children in at least once service, including:
    - communicating hazards and safety issues to appropriate persons within the service
    - coordinating emergency responses including evacuation plans
    - planning and coordinating supervision of children
    - promoting and monitoring safety practices, including administration of medicines and safe handling of food
    - coordinating appropriate procedures for handling infections and illnesses, including communicating with families

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2026 HumanAbility

    - enacting strategies to support children to take increasing responsibility for their own health and physical wellbeing.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. These include knowledge of:

- how to access:
    - the National Quality Framework
    - the National Quality Standards
    - the relevant approved learning framework
- how to navigate through framework and standards documents to find areas relevant to this unit of competency
- common childhood illnesses and appropriate responses
- strategies for minimising risk
- notifiable diseases
- organisational standards, policies and procedures.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in a regulated education and care service.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessment must ensure use of:

• National Quality Framework for Early Childhood Education and Care

• the relevant approved learning framework under the National Quality Framework for Early Childhood Education and Care

• evacuation plans

• health and safety procedures and policies, including food-handling, travel and medication administration.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Elements and Performance Criteria

Element	Performance criteria
Elements define the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria specify the level of performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Establish and apply limits and guidelines for behaviour	1.1 Initiate strategies, which are consistent with children's abilities, to support them to manage their own behaviour 1.2 Establish guidelines in consultation with families that are relevant to the culture and background of the children and policies of the service 1.3 Develop guidelines in collaboration with children according to their ability to do so 1.4 Decide how to respond to incidents in a timely manner and implement response clearly, consistently and calmly
2. Identify and review behaviour as required	2.1 Gather information from all those involved in caring for the children 2.2 Reflect on the wide range of variables that can impact on behaviour 2.3 Observe and analyse behaviour to identify triggers or consequences which are maintaining the behaviour 2.4 Scan environment and curriculum for possible influences on behaviour 2.5 Facilitate an analysis of children's behaviour with all involved in caring for the children 2.6 Seek advice from appropriate authorities as required 2.7 Discuss incidents causing concern with families and colleagues as appropriate 2.8 Include families and colleagues in discussion about options for response 2.9 Discuss needs and concerns of other children who may be affected by the behaviour

3. Develop a plan to guide a particular child's behaviour where required	3.1 Identify long-term and short-term objectives in the plan 3.2 Clearly identify more acceptable alternative behaviours 3.3 Develop the plan in accordance with the service philosophy and policies 3.4 Develop goals of the plan consistent with child's abilities, age and developmental stage 3.5 Ensure that the plan is realistic and that resources are available 3.6 Establish plan in consultation with colleagues, family members and others who may be caring for the child 3.7 Ensure plan considers relevant cultural practices for responding to behaviour 3.8 Liaise with appropriate authorities and referral bodies as necessary
4. Implement and monitor behaviour plan	4.1 Support the child to understand specific expectations for behaviour 4.2 Inform all those involved in implementing and reinforcing the plan of its rationale, limits and strategies 4.3 Minimise as far as possible, factors that may lead to or maintain inappropriate behaviour 4.4 Support colleagues to implement the plan effectively and consistently 4.5 Review child's behaviour against the plan and modify where necessary in consultation with colleagues, family members and others caring for the child

Foundation Skills

The Foundation Skills describe those required skills (language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills) that are essential to performance.
• Oral communication – in order to facilitate a range of collaborative discussions with children, families and other educators. The remaining foundation skills essential to performance are explicit in the performance criteria of this unit.

Modification History

Release	Comments
2	Updated: • assessor requirements statement • foundation skills lead in statement • licensing statement • modification history to reflect 2012 standards Equivalent outcome.
1	This version was released in CHC Community Services Training Package release 1.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Significant changes to elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be demonstrated evidence that the candidate has completed the following tasks:

- observed and analysed children's behaviour, on at least three occasions, in a range of situations and contexts
- created, implemented and measured the effectiveness of at least one plan, including:
- developing long-term and short-term goals and objectives
    - establishing a baseline for the behaviour
    - clearly outlining alternative behaviours
    - communicating expectations with children
    - supporting and communicating with colleagues to implement the plan
    - revisiting the plan and reflecting on its effectiveness

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2026 HumanAbility

- developed positive relationships with children, respected family expectations and their cultural values, and acted within the service policy
- interacted with children and involved them in decision-making and planning.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the identified work role.

These include knowledge of:

- how to access:
    - the National Quality Framework
    - the National Quality Standards
    - the relevant approved learning framework
- how to interpret the relevance of framework and standards documents in guiding work in this unit of competency
- stage of development/age-appropriate expectations of children's behaviour
- appropriate and inappropriate behaviours – review of own stance and reflection on own values
- different family styles of discipline and beliefs about behaviour in different cultures and social groups
- relationship-based strategies to help children learn about behaviour
- possible contributing factors to behaviours of concern, i.e. recent events, child's history, actions of others, or developmental or emotional reasons
- code of ethics
- United Nations Conventions on the Rights of the Child
- organisation standards, policies and procedures.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in a regulated education and care service.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessment must ensure use of:

	2.4 Draw children's attention to issues of fairness relevant to them 2.5 Provide children with opportunities to learn about similarities and differences, interdependence and how we can learn to live together. 2.6 Engage children in discussions about respectful and equal relations
3. Identify children with barriers to learning	3.1 Investigate child's barrier to learning 3.2 Collect and use data to form an accurate understanding of the barrier to learning 3.3 Discuss concerns with others to develop a holistic understanding of a particular child's needs and use this information to inform actions
4. Develop a plan for support and inclusion	4.1 Consider the child's abilities, goals, interests, expectations and health status in the context of their cultural values, needs and requirements when making curriculum decisions for the child 4.2 Develop the plan in consultation with other professionals and the family 4.3 Adapt the environment and routines to ensure inclusion of all children with additional needs 4.4 Constantly reflect on the effectiveness of the plan and its impact on the child
5. Implement strategies to meet the child's additional needs	5.1 Support child's entry into the service 5.2 Reflect on the level of support provided on a regular basis and adjust accordingly if necessary 5.3 Encourage others to adopt inclusive attitudes and practices 5.4 Communicate with and provide support to others to implement strategies 5.5 Investigate and trial strategies that may address barriers 5.6 Implement strategies designed or suggested by family or other professionals 5.7 Respond to the daily needs of children with additional needs and seek assistance as required

6. Monitor and review strategies	6.1 Share information about progress among all concerned 6.2 Identify and discuss issues of concern 6.3 Establish and maintain constant information exchange with family and appropriate community members about the child's needs and care strategies 6.4 Seek and gain family permission prior to consulting with others regarding the child 6.5 Ensure communication occurs within a culturally and linguistically responsive framework 6.6 Closely monitor new strategies and the impact of these on the child 6.7 Identify and respond to any barriers to the strategies being implemented

1	This version was released in CHC Community Services Training Package release 1.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Significant changes to elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment, including volume and frequency requirements.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be demonstrated evidence that the candidate has completed the following tasks:

- designed and implemented curriculum on at least one occasion, including:
    - evaluating and modifying environments to enhance opportunities for children’s learning from other educators, children and their families
    - gathering information to use as a basis for design to address identified needs
    - designing learning experiences to foster children’s development
    - assessing and evaluating curriculum and learning experiences in accordance with guidelines

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2026 HumanAbility

- performed the activities outlined in the performance criteria of this unit during a period of at least 240 hours of work in at least one regulated education and care service.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. These include knowledge of:

- how to access:
    - the National Quality Framework
    - the National Quality Standards
    - the relevant approved learning framework
- how to navigate through framework and standards documents to find areas relevant to this unit of competency
- how to design programs and environments that foster children's development
- evaluation strategies
- organisation standards, policies and procedures.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in a regulated education and care service.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessment must ensure use of:

- National Quality Framework for Early Childhood Education and Care
- the relevant approved learning framework under the National Quality Framework for Early Childhood Education and Care.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in a workplace that provides services or support to children and families.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors

Significant changes to elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment, including volume and frequency requirements.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be demonstrated evidence that the candidate has completed the following tasks:

- implemented reading, writing and oral language support strategies for at least two students, as directed by the teacher
- maintained and completed required records for at least two students
- completed a sequence of tasks with direction and support from the teacher
- interpreted information from written and/or verbal directions
- managed time to provide effective support to learners as guided by teachers
- consulted with teachers and other colleagues to accommodate individual student requirements.

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2026 HumanAbility

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the identified work role.

These include knowledge of:

- relationships between oral language, reading and writing
- a range of strategies to develop students' oral language, reading and writing skills
- role of education support worker in providing oral language, reading and writing support to students
- a range of effective communication strategies for use with students and teachers
- genres and writing styles
- texts for different purposes
- accurate spelling, grammar and punctuation
- organisation policies and procedures
- current curriculum and literacy programs.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in the workplace.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Elements and Performance Criteria

Element	Performance criteria
Elements define the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria specify the level of performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Apply developmental and learning approaches to basic numeracy skills under supervision of teacher	1.1 Identify the skills and knowledge required by students to make meaning of numbers and basic computations 1.2 Identify numeracy processes that are relevant and appropriate to the student's ability and year level according to specified guidelines and practices of the school 1.3 Identify links between mathematical/numeracy processes and maths support strategies 1.4 Apply learning models and language to meet student needs
2. Implement a numeracy support program	2.1 Provide a numeracy support program as directed by the teacher, to meet the individual needs of students whilst taking into account their preferred learning styles 2.2 Select and implement activities to support understanding of numbers, use of number computations, measurement and numerical data 2.3 Record students' progress in accordance with program/school guidelines 2.4 Maintain student confidentiality at all times
3. Support student numeracy programs	3.1 Implement support strategies, under direction of supervising teacher, to accommodate student's ability according to education guidelines and program specifications

1	This version was released in CHC Community Services Training Package release 1.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Changes to elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be demonstrated evidence that the candidate has completed the following tasks at least once:

- applied understanding of the rights of students with disabilities and the responsibilities of the education team in their education support work
- analysed the impact of own attitude on working with students with disabilities
- demonstrated understanding of stereotypes that may exist about people with disabilities and worked with a commitment to access and equity, by:
    - communicating effectively with students, teachers, parents/carers
    - demonstrating empathy and sensitivity to diversity
    - evaluating risk situations
    - identifying problems and choosing effective solutions
    - interpreting information from written and/or verbal directions.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the work role.

These include knowledge of:

- consent, in terms of an awareness and understanding of what it means and strategies used to determine ability to consent
- discriminatory actions
- common risks to safety
- developmental and acquired disabilities
- holistic and individual-centred care
- principles and practices of confidentiality
- access and equity principles
- role of advocacy bodies
- student needs and rights including duty of care
- policies and procedures in relation to child protection.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in the workplace.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Elements and Performance Criteria

Element	Performance criteria
Elements define the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria specify the level of performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Facilitate application of mathematics skills for numeracy	1.1 Identify concept strands of mathematics included in current curriculum documents 1.2 Explore and explain a variety of numeracy demands and opportunities in daily life 1.3 Demonstrate the different functions of mathematics using activities and examples 1.4 Monitor students' understanding and use of mathematics through observation, listening and conversation, and provide information to teachers to inform planning 1.5 Identify factors affecting acquisition of mathematics skills for numeracy and discuss with the teacher/s
2. Support students to develop mathematics skills for numerate understanding	2.1 Determine strategies for supporting students in the application of mathematics skills in consultation with the teacher/s 2.2 Implement planned strategies, including learning environments, activities and resources to enhance the abilities of students and address their individual needs 2.3 Encourage students to problem-solve using mathematics knowledge and skills in everyday life contexts 2.4 Use explicit talk to focus students on specific mathematics knowledge and skills

3. Enhance students' mathematics knowledge and skills through structured activities	3.1 Use accurate mathematics terminology and concepts, as planned with teacher/s, to support students' learning 3.2 Encourage students to improve mental computation and calculation skills using strategies appropriate to students' developmental levels 3.3 Ensure students check for reasonableness of solutions when calculating, using a range of strategies including estimating and technology 3.4 Encourage students and build their confidence to attempt problem-solving that requires the use of mathematics knowledge and skills

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the work role.

These include knowledge of:

- the application of the principles of practice as used in the employing education environment for a specific phase of learning
- the principles of effective teaching and learning.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in the workplace.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Elements and Performance Criteria

Element	Performance criteria
Elements define the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria specify the level of performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Establish the learning environment	1.1 Access flexible learning programs to determine learning outcomes or objectives to be met in consultation with supervisor 1.2 In consultation with the teacher, design the learning space to meet access, health and safety, and supervision criteria 1.3 Arrange work spaces to encourage focused participation of students in flexible learning 1.4 Establish the range of activities, resources and any assessment requirements with the learner and the course facilitator 1.5 Obtain and make available resources for students as required 1.6 Confirm, where appropriate, technical requirements for the flexible learning environment 1.7 Identify and organise specific technical support needs and mechanisms for flexible delivery
2. Facilitate flexible learning for students	2.1 Develop flexible learning protocols in consultation with the supervisor 2.2 Conduct inductions with learners to the flexible learning environment including clarification and agreement of the objectives and protocols 2.3 Provide technical and personal support while students are engaged in flexible learning activities 2.4 Establish relationships that support inclusiveness, acknowledge diversity and encourage a positive learning environment

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2026 HumanAbility

3. Monitor and review flexible learning support	3.1 Monitor learner progress and report any identified issues to the supervisor 3.2 Provide support and guidance within and outside the learning environment 3.3 Monitor students interactions with others and participation in flexible learning activities and make interventions, where necessary, to maintain momentum and engagement 3.4 Encourage and promote learner collaboration within and outside the learning environment to enhance learning experiences 3.5 Reflect on own performance as a flexible learning support worker with a focus on continuous improvement 3.6 Identify, discuss with relevant personnel, and document recommendations for improvements to facilitating flexible learning and appropriateness of flexible learning systems, tools and resources

The Foundation Skills describe those required skills (language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills) that are essential to performance.
• Writing - in order to communicate with students and colleagues through email, e-learning software and correspondence.
Other foundation skills essential to performance are explicit in the performance criteria of this unit.

Range of conditions

Specifies different work environments and conditions that may affect performance. Essential operating conditions that may be present (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) are included. Range is restricted to essential operating conditions and any other variables essential to the work environment.
Learning environment:	- Learning may take place in a classroom environment, in an online environment or through distance learning.

CHCEDU005 Work with clients to identify financial literacy education needs

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit of competency was first released in CHC Community Services Release 2.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to work in the community and health sector with target groups and individuals to identify their financial literacy education requirements.

This unit applies to workers who are part of a professional team and under the guidance of a supervisor.

Financial literacy education provides targeted information and resources to meet particular client needs.

Acquisition of financial literacy education competencies alone does not provide sufficient foundation to undertake complex financial literacy education or financial counselling.

Where financial issues have the potential to become complex, clients should be referred to a qualified financial counsellor.

The skills in this unit must be applied in accordance with Commonwealth and State/Territory legislation, Australian/New Zealand standards and industry codes of practice.

CHCEDU007 Provide group education on consumer credit and debt

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit of competency was first released in CHC Community Services Release 2.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to work in the community services and health sector with target groups and individuals to identify their financial literacy education requirements.

This unit applies to workers who will be part of a professional team and under the guidance of a supervisor.

Financial literacy education provides targeted information and resources to meet particular client needs.

Acquisition of financial literacy education competencies alone does not provide sufficient foundation to undertake complex financial literacy education or financial counselling.

Where financial issues have the potential to become complex, clients should be referred to a qualified financial counsellor.

The skills in this unit must be applied in accordance with Commonwealth and State/Territory legislation, Australian/New Zealand standards and industry codes of practice.

CHCLLN001 Respond to client language, literacy and numeracy needs

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit of competency was first released in CHC Community Services Release 2.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to identify situations where client language, literacy and numeracy (LLN) skills may be impeding access to services, to adjust service delivery, and to refer appropriately to improve client outcomes.

The unit does not provide workers with the skills and knowledge to identify LLN skill levels or to actively intervene in developing a client's LLN skills.

This unit applies to individuals who may be making individual client assessments or managing caseloads as part of their work role.

The skills in this unit must be applied in accordance with Commonwealth and State/Territory legislation, Australian/New Zealand standards and industry codes of practice.

Elements define the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance required to demonstrate achievement of the element
1. Establish client's LLN needs	1.1 Identify signs that the client may have LLN needs 1.2 Review the scope of LLN skill requirements needed to effectively access services 1.3 Identify gaps between the client's LLN skills and those required to effectively access services 1.4 Determine the degree to which other issues may impact on the client
2. Determine strategies to address LLN needs	2.1 Collaborate with client to agree areas of LLN need and how to respond 2.2 Determine ways in which service delivery can take account of the client's LLN needs 2.3 Prioritise areas for immediate or longer-term action based on scope of the client's needs
3. Implement strategies to address LLN needs	3.1 Adjust service delivery approaches that respond to LLN need, including use of appropriate tools and communication strategies 3.2 Provide the client with accurate and current information about LLN support services 3.3 Record agreed LLN needs and the strategies used, and report in line with the client and organisation requirements 3.4 Monitor the client and provide ongoing support and encouragement where appropriate

CHCMHS010 Implement recovery oriented approaches to complexity

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit of competency was first released in CHC Community Services Release 2.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to identify and respond to issues of complexity when supporting people living with mental illness and their care networks. The unit is based on a strengths-based approach and acknowledges that complexity is not a characteristic of an individual. Complexity may be impacted by a range of interactions between the worker, the organisation and the environmental context.

This unit applies to work with people living with mental illness in a range of community services work contexts.

The skills in this unit must be applied in accordance with Commonwealth and State/Territory legislation, Australian/New Zealand standards and industry codes of practice.

1	This version was released in CHC Community Services Training Package release 1.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Significant changes to elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be demonstrated evidence that the candidate has completed the following tasks at least once:

- implemented work practices which support the protection of children and young people, including:
  - complying with regulations, legislations and duty of care responsibilities
  - employing child-focused work practices to uphold the rights of children and young people
  - maintaining confidentiality
  - providing appropriate responses in the protection of children and young people
- used appropriate communication strategies to gather information from children and young people
- identified and responded to indicators of children or young people at risk of harm and abuse on at least three separate occasions, including:

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2026 HumanAbility

    - gathering and recording information about the child or young person
    - identifying uncharacteristic behaviour of child or young person
    - monitoring the circumstances of children identified as highly vulnerable
- reported risk-of-harm indicators
- sought support from supervisor for issues of ethical concern.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. These include knowledge of:

- child- and young person-focused practices
- child protection system, including polices and protocols
- common legal issues when working with children and young people
- risk-of-harm indicators
- organisation guidelines and policies and accepted standards for responding to risks of harm to children and young people
- overview of relevant aspects of the legal system
- organisation standards, policies and procedures
- communication techniques to engage and interact with young people.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in the workplace.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

1	This version was released in CHC Community Services Training Package release 1.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Significant changes to elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment.

Performance Evidence

- supported and promoted positive and cooperative behaviour for at least one child/young person, including:
    - communicating clearly and positively to the child/young person
    - identifying clients' needs, matching them to, and organising, appropriate services and programs
    - liaising with client service providers and providing all information required
    - undertaking any reporting requirements and record-keeping including the preparation of any court-ordered reports
    - monitoring service delivery and client requirements and making changes if required
    - providing appropriate supervision of child/young person

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2026 HumanAbility

- communicating all relevant information regarding services and programs to client as required.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. These include knowledge of:

- understanding adolescent clients and their special needs as individuals and as part of a group
- behaviour-management models, theories and techniques
- services and programs available and associated referral processes
- communication techniques to engage and interact with young clients
- organisational record-keeping protocols
- writing skills required to complete records accurately
- relevant legislation and responsibilities
- organisation standards, policies and procedures.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in the workplace.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

- documenting the strategy, at all stages
- working effectively and collaboratively with other agencies and personnel within organisational and interagency frameworks.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the identified work role.

These include knowledge of:

- roles, responsibilities and functions of key agencies and personnel participating in interagency and collaborative casework
- a range of potential issues that may present and require action in investigation and risk-assessment strategies
- organisation and interagency child protection frameworks
- range of options for intervention
- key principles of child protection work
- legislation and regulations of child protection work relevant to the investigation and assessment of children at risk
- organisation standards, policies and procedures.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in the workplace.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessment must ensure use of:

- a real multi-agency investigation and child risk assessment strategy

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in the workplace.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. These include knowledge of:

- code of ethics
- United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child
- how to access:
    - the National Quality Framework
    - the National Quality Standards
    - the relevant approved learning framework
- how to navigate through framework and standards documents to find areas relevant to this unit of competency
- introductory level child development for children, including:
    - early brain development
    - importance of the early years for subsequent educational success
    - foundational knowledge of developmental theory
- aspects of poor early childhood development, such as:
    - poor diet
    - lack of play
    - limited stimulation of brain development
    - lack of materials and resources
    - inconsistent or non-existent emotional support or comfort
    - trauma
    - other life experiences, which interrupt appropriate childhood activities, and their potential long-term harmful impacts
- biological and environmental influences on development
- symbol systems including letters, numbers, time, money and musical notation.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in a regulated education and care service.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2026 HumanAbility

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessment must ensure use of:

- National Quality Framework for Early Childhood Education and Care
- the relevant approved learning framework under the National Quality Framework for Early Childhood Education and Care.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

1	This version was released in CHC Community Services Training Package release 1.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Significant changes to elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be demonstrated evidence that the candidate has completed the following tasks:

- established and maintained at least one network in the community in which youth work is performed. This includes:
  - using a range of community engagement strategies
  - respecting difference and embracing diversity of cultures
  - advocating for young people's participation in community issues and decision-making where appropriate
  - facilitating negotiations in conflict situations in communities where the conflict may be between young people and other community stakeholders
- referred at least one young person to appropriate services within or external to the community

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2026 HumanAbility

- implemented community development principles and strategies to engage young people and others in at least one community action and response.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the identified work role.

These include knowledge of:

- relevant historical, social, political, economic, cultural and environmental factors that impact on community
- political and power dynamics within the community, including key stakeholders and role and place of young people in communities
- duty of care requirements and application in the community context
- community development principles
- youth-centred practices with a focus on the young person as the primary stakeholder
- relevant youth cultures, and social, political and economic and professional frameworks
- own cultural values, cultural lens and ethnocentrism
- organisation standards, policies and procedures.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in the workplace.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

- planned family intervention-based support strategically to achieve service outcomes and priorities for at least one young person.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the identified work role.

These include knowledge of:

- principles of communication for specified outcomes, including:
    - empathetic listening
    - meaning and impact of body language
    - eye contact
    - interpreting hidden and complex messages
    - feedback
    - use of reflection, review and debriefing
    - facilitation of interaction and participation
- principles of group dynamics and interaction including:
    - differentials in power
    - empathy/identification
    - trust-building
    - challenging
- rights of children and young people
- ethics and codes of conduct where the young person is the primary client
- privacy legislation applied to situations of information exchange between a range of individuals and organisations about a young person as primary client of the service
- understanding of own values and attitudes and their impact on work and relationships.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in the workplace.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Prepare for learning	1.1 Identify work-related learning goals 1.2 Investigate a range of formal and informal learning pathways 1.3 Investigate a range of approaches to achieve goal 2.4 Identify potential barriers to learning
2. Use strategies for learning	2.1 Identify a preferred approach to achieving work-related learning goals 2.2 Identify strategies to address barriers to achieving learning goals 2.3 Propose routine learning strategies to achieve learning goal 2.4 Create and use a learning plan to implement strategies
3. Review own learning progress	3.1 Monitor progress against the plan 3.2 Seek feedback from an appropriate person 3.3 Identify areas for further learning and training

Foundation Skills

This section describes language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills incorporated in the performance criteria that are required for competent performance.

- body regulation including:
  - maintenance of body temperature
  - fluid and electrolyte (including PH) balance
  - elimination of wastes from the body
  - maintenance of blood pressure
- protection from infection
- physical activity – active and passive

Assessment Conditions

Skills must have been demonstrated in the workplace or in a simulated environment that reflects workplace conditions. The following conditions must be met for this unit:

- use of suitable facilities, equipment and resources, including client health information
- modelling of industry operating conditions, including integration of problem solving activities

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors

- specialist services for loss, grief and trauma
- statutory responsibilities including duty of care requirements
- narrative therapy approaches
- indicators of stress
- awareness of own values and attitudes around loss, grief and trauma
- organisational standards, policies and practices.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated working:

- in a health service or centre
- individually or as a member of a multidisciplinary primary health care team
- with Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander clients and communities.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2026 HumanAbility

Assessment must be undertaken by a workplace assessor who has expertise in this unit of competency and who is:

an Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander Health Worker

or:

accompanied by an Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander person who is a recognised member of the community with experience in primary health care.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role.

There must be evidence that the candidate has completed the following tasks in line with state/territory regulations, first aid codes of practice, Australian Resuscitation Council (ARC) guidelines and workplace procedures:

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2026 HumanAbility

- Followed DRSABCD in line with ARC guidelines, including:
    - performed at least 2 minutes of uninterrupted single rescuer cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) (5 cycles of both compressions and ventilations) on an adult resuscitation manikin placed on the floor
    - performed at least 2 minutes of uninterrupted single rescuer CPR (5 cycles both compressions and ventilations) on an infant resuscitation manikin placed on a firm surface
    - responded appropriately in the event of regurgitation or vomiting
    - managed the unconscious breathing casualty
    - followed single rescue procedure, including the demonstration of a rotation of operators with minimal interruptions to compressions
    - followed the prompts of an automated external defibrillator (AED)
- Responded to at least one simulated first aid scenario contextualised to the candidate's workplace/community setting, including:
    - demonstrated safe manual handling techniques
    - provided an accurate verbal or written report of the incident

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. This includes knowledge of:

- State/Territory regulations, first aid codes of practice and workplace procedures including:
    - ARC Guidelines relevant to the provision of CPR
    - safe work practices to minimise risks and potential hazards
    - infection control principles and procedures, including use of standard precautions
    - requirements for currency of skill and knowledge
- Legal, workplace and community considerations, including:
    - awareness of potential need for stress-management techniques and available support following an emergency situation
    - duty of care requirements
    - respectful behaviour towards a casualty
    - own skills and limitations
    - consent
    - privacy and confidentiality requirements
    - importance of debriefing

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2026 HumanAbility

- Considerations when providing CPR, including:
    - airway obstruction due to body position
    - appropriate duration and cessation of CPR
    - appropriate use of an AED
    - chain of survival
    - standard precautions
- Basic anatomy and physiology relating to:
    - how to recognise a person is not breathing normally
    - chest
    - response/consciousness
    - upper airway and effect of positional change

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated working individually in an environment that provides realistic in-depth, industry-validated scenarios and simulations to assess candidates' skills and knowledge.

Assessment resources must include:

- adult and infant resuscitation manikins in line with ARC Guidelines for the purpose of assessment of CPR procedures
- AED training device
- workplace injury, trauma and/or illness record, or other appropriate workplace incident report form

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessor Requirements

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

In addition hold current first aid certificate HLTAID003 or higher.

- Responded to at least three simulated first aid scenarios contextualised to the candidate's workplace/community setting, and involving infants and children of varying ages including:
  - conducted a visual and verbal assessment of the casualty
  - demonstrated safe manual handling techniques
  - post-incident debrief and evaluation
  - provided an accurate verbal and written report of the incident
  - conducted a hazard assessment and identified strategies to minimise risk
- Applied first aid procedures for the following:
  - allergic reaction
  - anaphylaxis
  - bleeding control
  - choking and airway obstruction
  - envenomation, using pressure immobilisation
  - fractures, sprains and strains, using arm slings, roller bandages or other appropriate immobilisation principles techniques
  - head injuries
  - poisoning
  - respiratory distress, including asthma
  - seizures & convulsions, including febrile convulsions and epilepsy
  - shock
- Located and interpreted workplace policies and procedures

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. This includes knowledge of:

- State/Territory regulations, first aid codes of practice and workplace procedures including:
    - ARC Guidelines for provision of CPR and first aid to infants, children and adults
    - guidelines from Australian national peak clinical bodies
    - safe work practices to minimise risks and potential hazards
    - first aid requirements for services under the Education and Care Services National Law
    - infection control principles and procedures, including use of standard precautions
    - requirements for currency of skill and knowledge
- legal, workplace and community considerations, including:
    - awareness of potential need for stress-management techniques and available support following an emergency situation, including the psychological impact on children
    - duty of care requirements
    - respectful behaviour towards a casualty
    - own skills and limitations
    - consent, including situations in which parental/caregiver consent is required
    - privacy and confidentiality requirements
    - importance of debriefing
- considerations when providing first aid including:
    - airway obstruction due to body position
    - appropriate duration and cessation of CPR
    - appropriate use of an AED, including placement of pads for adults and children aged older than 8 years
    - specific considerations when using an AED on children aged between 1 and 8 years, including identification of AED with paediatric capability, paediatric voltage and use of paediatric pads
    - chain of survival
    - standard precautions
    - how to conduct a visual and verbal assessment of the casualty

- principles and procedures for application of first aid management of the following scenarios:
    - abdominal injuries
    - allergic reaction
    - anaphylaxis, including signs, symptoms and triggers and using different types of adrenaline auto injectors
    - asthma, including signs, symptoms and triggers and using different types of bronchodilators
    - basic care of a wound
    - bleeding control
    - burns
    - cardiac conditions, including chest pain
    - choking and airway obstruction
    - crush injuries
    - diabetes
    - dislocations
    - drowning
    - envenomation
    - environmental impact, including hypothermia, hyperthermia, dehydration and heat stroke
    - eye and ear injuries
    - febrile convulsions
    - fractures
    - head, neck and spinal injuries
    - minor skin injuries
    - needle stick injuries
    - poisoning and toxic substances
    - respiratory distress
    - seizures, including epilepsy
    - shock
    - soft tissue injuries, including sprains and strains
    - stroke

- chest
- infant respiratory systems and implications for provision of CPR
- basic anatomical differences between adults and children, and the implications for provision of first aid
- normal clinical values for children
- response/consciousness
- upper airway and effect of positional change

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated working individually in an environment that provides realistic in-depth, industry-validated scenarios and simulations to assess candidates' skills and knowledge.

Assessment resources must include:

- adult, child and infant resuscitation manikins in line with ARC Guidelines for the purpose of assessment of CPR procedures
- AED training device
- different types of training adrenalin auto-injector training devices (e.g. EpiPen and AnaPen)
- different types of placebo bronchodilators and a spacer device
- roller bandages
- triangular bandages
- workplace First Aid kit
- workplace injury, trauma and/or illness record, or other appropriate workplace incident report form
- wound dressings

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessor requirements

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Elements and Performance Criteria

Element	Performance criteria
Elements define the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria specify the level of performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Respond to a remote emergency situation	1.1 Plan for isolated travel or work if required, accounting for expected contingencies 1.2 Recognise an emergency situation 1.3 Identify, assess and manage immediate hazards to health and safety of self and others 1.4 Assess the casualty and recognise the need for first aid response 1.5 Assess the situation and evaluate options for medical assistance 1.6 Evaluate options for transporting casualty or waiting for medical assistance in relation to environmental issues, risks, transport availability and casualty condition
2. Apply appropriate first aid procedures	2.1 Perform cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) in accordance with Australian Resuscitation Council (ARC) guidelines

	2.2 Provide first aid in accordance with established first aid principles 2.3 Display respectful behaviour towards casualty 2.4 Obtain consent from casualty where possible 2.5 Use available resources and equipment to make the casualty as comfortable as possible 2.6 Operate first aid equipment according to manufacturer's instructions 2.7 Monitor the casualty's condition and respond in accordance with first aid principles
3. Manage the incident	3.1 Seek assistance from others present to manage incident circumstances 3.2 Establish communication links with emergency response services and convey incident details 3.3 Report details of casualty condition, changes in condition, management and responses 3.4 Assist in the evacuation of the casualty by following directions given by emergency response services as required 3.5 Maintain confidentiality of records and information in line with statutory and/or organisational policies
4. Evaluate the incident and own performance	4.1 Recognise the possible psychological impacts on self and other rescuers involved in critical incidents 4.2 Participate in debriefing to address individual needs

Foundation Skills

The Foundation Skills describe those required skills (language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills) that are essential to performance.
Foundation skills essential to performance are explicit in the performance criteria of this unit of competency.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role.

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2026 HumanAbility

There must be evidence that the candidate has completed the following tasks in line with state/territory regulations, first aid codes of practice, Australian Resuscitation Council (ARC) guidelines and workplace procedures:

- Followed DRSABCD in line with ARC guidelines, including:
    - performed at least 2 minutes of uninterrupted single rescuer cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) (5 cycles of both compressions and ventilations) on an adult resuscitation manikin placed on the floor
    - performed at least 2 minutes of uninterrupted single rescuer CPR (5 cycles both compressions and ventilations) on an infant resuscitation manikin placed on a firm surface
    - responded appropriately in the event of regurgitation or vomiting
    - managed the unconscious breathing casualty
    - followed single rescue procedure, including the demonstration of a rotation of operators with minimal interruptions to compressions
    - followed the prompts of an Automated External Defibrillator (AED)
- Responded to at least three simulated first aid scenarios contextualised to the candidate's remote and/or isolated situation:
    - demonstrated safe manual handling techniques
    - conducted a visual and verbal secondary survey assessment of the casualty
    - assessed vital signs, including respirations, pulse and temperature
    - post-incident debrief and evaluation
    - provided an accurate verbal and written report of the incident
- Applied first aid response in a remote situation for the following:
    - allergic reaction
    - anaphylaxis

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit of competency was first released in HLT Health Release 3.0.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in the elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be evidence that the candidate has:

- identified at least 4 appropriate times for hand washing and followed correct hand washing procedures
- cleaned and tidied work areas at least 2 times to avoid contamination and pests
- identified at least 2 food items for disposal and followed food disposal procedures
- identified, corrected and reported at least 2 processes or practices that were not consistent with food safety program.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively complete tasks outlined in the elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. This includes knowledge of:

- food safety program and procedures and consequences of not following these procedures
- current national, state or territory food safety laws, standards and codes, including:
    - meaning of contaminant, contamination and potentially hazardous foods as defined by the current code
    - hygiene actions that must be adhered to by businesses to avoid food-borne illnesses
    - employee responsibility to participate in hygienic practices
    - reasons for food safety programs and what they must contain

- calculated medications with 100% accuracy and used the rights of medication and standard precautions to administer medication

The following conditions must be met for this unit:

- use of suitable facilities, equipment and resources, including:
    - placebo medication, administration equipment, charts and documentation
    - individualised plans
    - workplace policies and procedures

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

In addition, assessors must be a registered nurse or registered enrolled nurse or registered Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander health practitioner.

HLTHPS010 Interpret and use information about nutrition and diet

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit of competency was first released in HLT Health Release 2.0.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to interpret and use basic information about nutritional principles and healthy diet. It does not include the provision of therapeutic nutritional or dietary advice to individual clients or the recommendation of 'practitioner only' nutritional products.

This unit applies to individuals working with clients within the limits of the Australian dietary guidelines. They make referrals to other health professionals or accredited practising dietitians when those limits are exceeded.

The skills in this unit must be applied in accordance with Commonwealth and State/Territory legislation, Australia/New Zealand standards and industry codes of practice.

Elements and Performance Criteria

Element	Performance criteria
Elements define the essential outcomes	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2026 HumanAbility

1. Access nutritional and dietary information	1.1 Establish credible sources of information about nutrition and diet 1.2 Access and interpret current dietary guidelines for healthy Australians and nutritional information that support self-care 1.3 Extract and distil information relevant to own practice
2. Use information about diet and nutrition	2.1 Determine situations where nutrition and diet may play a role for individual clients 2.2 Integrate knowledge of basic nutrition and diet into service provision 2.3 Promote healthy diet and nutrition to others based on the Australian dietary guidelines 2.4 Provide information on lifestyle, self-care practices and specialist services related to diet and nutrition 2.5 Identify situations where referral to a health care professional is required and take action accordingly
3. Maintain own knowledge of nutrition	3.1 Identify and use opportunities to update nutritional knowledge 3.2 Monitor current issues and trends in nutrition and diet 3.3 Evaluate potential changes in own work based on updated knowledge

The Foundation Skills describe those required skills (language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills) that are essential to performance.

Foundation skills essential to performance are explicit in the performance criteria of this unit of competency.

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This unit of competency was first released in HLT Health Release 2.0.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be evidence that the candidate has:

- used critical thinking skills to review and distil information about nutrition and diet
- used information about nutrition and diet within the scope of own job role in the provision of services to at least 3 different people

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. This includes knowledge of:

- legal and ethical requirements in relation to the provision of nutritional and diet information to clients:
    - roles, responsibilities and limitations of different people
    - conflicts of interest and ethical considerations
- source of information about nutrition and diet and ways to assess their credibility
- established evidence-based sources of information about nutrition and diet
- anatomy and physiology relating to diet, including:
    - structure of the digestive system
    - role of metabolism
    - digestive processes and activities, including:
        - ingestion
        - mechanical digestion
        - propulsion
        - chemical digestion
        - absorption

Assessment Conditions

Skills must have been demonstrated in the workplace with the addition of simulations and scenarios where the full range of contexts and situations have not been provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely.

The following conditions must be met for this unit:

- use of suitable facilities, equipment and resources, including:
  - organisational infection prevention and control guidelines
  - personal protective equipment
  - hand hygiene facilities and equipment
  - medical or client care equipment relevant to the workplace
  - clinical and other waste and waste disposal equipment
  - areas for cleaning
  - equipment for cleaning, including sterilised sharps if relevant to role

HLTOHC001 Recognise and respond to oral health issues

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	This version was released in HLT Health Training Package release 2.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Significant changes to the elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment including volume and frequency requirements.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to identify variations and recognise oral health issues through a visual check, observation of patient behaviour and habits, signs and symptoms and physical condition of patients. This enables the candidate to respond appropriately to the clinical findings to initiate follow up oral health care.

This unit applies to workers in a range of health and community services environments where their work role requires them to recognise and respond to oral health issues.

The skills in this unit must be applied in accordance with Commonwealth and State/Territory legislation, Australian/New Zealand standards for maintaining infection control, and industry codes of practice.

Elements and Performance Criteria

Element	Performance criteria
Elements define the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria specify the level of performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element
1. Identify variations in patient behaviour and habits	1.1 Identify opportunities to observe patient behaviour, physical functions, capabilities and habits that may indicate oral health issues or associated pain or discomfort 1.2 Observe, listen for self-reports and question patient and family/or carer to determine whether the patient is experiencing pain or discomfort that may be associated with oral health issues 1.3 Access relevant information on contributing factors that may produce variation from normal behaviour
2. Undertake basic visual oral check and questioning	2.1 Obtain consent from the patient to conduct basic visual oral check and questioning from patient and/or family/carer 2.2 Ensure comfort of patient by developing trust and rapport, adapting environment and optimal time based on patient needs 2.3 Provide support for patient's head or chin if necessary to enhance visual access without creating discomfort for the patient 2.4 Seek assistance from patient to open their own mouth to limit hand contact inside the mouth 2.5 Prepare and perform basic visual oral checks in line with own work role and use of standard precautions 2.6 Identify signs and symptoms of oral health issues that may indicate variation from normal and actively listen to and be aware of self-reports
3. Follow up and promote ongoing oral health care	3.1 Complete documentation and reporting processes, using information from patient, and/or family/carer or other relevant people as well as own observations in relation to oral health issues 3.2 Discuss oral health issues with patient and/or carer in line with organisation policies and procedures and respecting patient priorities and choices 3.3 Take appropriate action within work role, including liaising with supervisor in consultation with patient to ensure appropriate referral occurs

	3.4 Use appropriate communication strategies to provide information relevant to promoting and maintaining good oral health 3.5 Provide instruction to support patients to take a self-care approach to oral health in line with individual needs where possible 3.6 Identify and address key barriers to management or self-management of oral health 3.7 Review and monitor oral health issues

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be evidence that the candidate has:

- performed a visual oral health check on 5 patients, including:
    - identified any signs and symptoms related to oral health care issues
    - gathered relevant information from visual check and questioning to initiate appropriate follow up oral health care
    - used appropriate manual handling techniques when working with patients with special care needs or mental health condition

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. This includes knowledge of:

- basic anatomy and physiology underpinning oral health, including what is considered healthy and unhealthy
- patient behaviour and habits which contribute to oral health issues
- causes and prevention of tooth decay, gum disease and tooth wear, including erosion, abrasion and attrition.
- effective self-care practices for oral health including cause, control and prevention of dental plaque

Release	Comments
1	This version was released in HLT Health Training Package release 2.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Significant changes to the elements and performance criteria. Removed pre-requisite. New evidence requirements for assessment including volume and frequency requirements.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required by practitioners working specifically in rural, remote and isolated areas and/or facilities that have knowledge and experience in oral health care, to apply fluoride varnish in line with prescribed treatment as outlined in an individualised oral health care plan and in accordance with relevant jurisdictional, legislative and regulatory requirements.

The unit applies to registered Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander health practitioners, registered nurses and registered enrolled nurses in primary health care settings in rural, remote and isolated areas where the work roles may require the application of fluoride varnish.

The skills in this unit must be applied in accordance with Commonwealth and State/Territory legislation, Australian/New Zealand standards for maintaining infection control, and industry codes of practice.

Licensing/Regulatory Information

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Elements and Performance Criteria

Element	Performance criteria
Elements define the essential outcomes	Performance criteria specify the level of performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element
1. Prepare for the application of fluoride varnish	1.1 Check scope of own work role to ensure it includes application of fluoride varnish as advised by an authorised oral health practitioner in an individualised oral health care plan 1.2 Confirm the patient's oral health care plan, developed by an oral health practitioner, specifically includes the application of fluoride varnish and that there are no contraindications to this procedure 1.3 Confirm consent 1.4 Explain fluoride varnish application procedure to patient and/or family/carer and check their understanding of the benefits of fluoride varnish, need for regular applications, and the risks associated with fluoride varnish 1.5 Explain the advantages and disadvantages of fluoride varnish over other procedures 1.6 Prepare fluoride varnish kit and personal protective equipment (PPE) as required
2. Apply fluoride varnish to teeth	2.1 Position the patient for safety and comfort 2.2 Use PPE in accordance with infection control policies and procedures throughout procedure 2.3 Prepare teeth for fluoride varnish application in accordance with product instructions and application protocols 2.4 Dispense appropriate amount of fluoride varnish 2.5 Apply fluoride varnish in correct manner with applicator to teeth as recommended in the oral health care plan
3. Provide information to patient and/or family/carer about post-application advice and follow up requirements	3.1 Advise patient and/or family/carer of the importance of following instructions and recommended guidelines for eating, drinking fluids and brushing/cleaning teeth following fluoride varnish application 3.2 Inform patient and/or family/carer of any expected short term changes in tooth appearance or sensation, including colour, feel or taste

	3.3 Provide post-application information to patient and/or family/carer in both verbal and written or picture formats as appropriate to their individual needs or preferences 3.4 Ensure patient and/or family/carer understand oral health practitioner's recommended schedule for ongoing application in line with their individualised oral health care plan
4. Record and document information about the application	4.1 Record and document details of the application undertaken, information provided and any concerns arising during contact with patient and/or family/carer 4.2 Use relevant technology to complete documentation according to organisation's policies and procedures

The Foundation Skills describe those required skills (language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills) that are essential to performance.

Foundation skills essential to performance are explicit in the performance criteria of this unit of competency.

Significant changes to the elements and performance criteria. Removed pre-requisite. New evidence requirements for assessment including volume and frequency requirements.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be evidence that the candidate has:

- applied fluoride varnish safely and effectively to 5 people in line with product guidelines, jurisdictional legislation and regulation relating to fluoride schedule, supply, authorisation and disposal, including:
    - prepared self and the client using personal protective equipment against risks associated with the use of fluoride varnish
    - identified and responded to risks associated with applying fluoride varnish
    - evaluated own capabilities in the application of fluoride varnish skills

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. This includes knowledge of:

- fluoride varnish refers to:
    - a highly concentrated form of fluoride which is applied to tooth's surface as a type of topical fluoride therapy. may be applied to enamel, dentine or cementum of tooth and can be used to help prevent decay, remineralise tooth surface and treat dentine hypersensitivity
    - not permanent varnish but due to adherent nature will stay in contact with tooth surface for several hours
- accessibility to services, including availability of private and public oral health services and eligibility for services

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2026 HumanAbility

- awareness of relevant jurisdictional legislation and regulation relating to fluoride, including schedule, supply, authorisation and disposal
- application of fluoride varnish in the correct manner refers to:
    - keeping client mouth open
    - maintaining moisture control
    - retracting lip and cheek, wiping and applying a thin layer of varnish to the teeth as prescribed in the oral health care plan
    - ensuring varnish is applied without contact with other tissues
    - never dispensing product in excess to that stated in the oral health care plan
- how to reflect on own level of knowledge to achieve desirable outcomes and maintain own capabilities
- awareness of risks associated with fluoride varnish
- basic anatomy and physiology underpinning oral health and hygiene
- causes and prevention of common dental diseases especially dental caries
- common equipment utilised in the application of fluoride
- effective self-care practices for oral health, including cause, control and prevention of dental plaque
- emergency procedures that may be required during the application of fluoride varnish
- factors that impact on oral health, including:
    - abuse (neglect of oral health needs)
    - access to dental and health services
    - alcohol, licit and illicit drugs and substances over the counter and herbal treatments
    - bacteria in dental plaque
    - correct infant feeding practices
    - damage from habitual grinding of teeth
    - diet and nutrition, including fluids and excessive intake of sugar
    - fluoride
    - general health and wellbeing
    - immunosuppressant conditions, HIV, chemotherapy and radiation
    - injury to mouth, such as from a seizure
    - medical history
    - oral piercings
    - patient oral health information
    - presence of plaque and calculus

  - psychological issues, such as fear of being seen without dentures or persisting with ill-fitting dentures for satisfaction of others
  - salivary function
  - smoking
  - social and cultural determinants of health
  - susceptible tooth surfaces
  - transmission of bacteria particularly from family/carer to child
  - teeth misalignment causing trauma to teeth
  - trauma to the mouth as a result of an accident
- work health and safety (WHS) issues and procedures, including those related to manual handling of fluoride varnish and personal safety and security risks associated with provision of fluoride varnish application
- own work role and responsibilities in the application of fluoride varnish
- principles and practices of confidentiality, privacy and consent of fluoride treatment
- evaluation criteria for monitoring effectiveness of fluoride varnish application program
- role of significant others in supporting patient's oral health care needs
- safe application of fluoride varnish
- safe storage of products
- relationship between oral health and general health

Assessment Conditions

Skills and knowledge must be demonstrated in the workplace with the addition of simulations and scenarios where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely.

The following aspect of the performance evidence must have been demonstrated using simulation prior to demonstration in the workplace or with members of the general public

- apply fluoride varnish safely and effectively

Note: Where state/territory legislation prevents practice in the workplace, simulated assessment environments may only be used in place of workplace assessment.

The following conditions must be met for this unit

- use of suitable equipment and resources, including:
  - appropriate personal protective equipment (PPE)
  - oral hygiene self-care aids and technique
  - placebo fluoride varnish
  - specialised equipment utilised in the application of fluoride varnish

© Commonwealth of Australia, 2026 HumanAbility

- modelling of industry operating conditions, including access to people for the simulated scenarios

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Elements and Performance Criteria

Element	Performance criteria
Elements define the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria specify the level of performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Establish work health and safety practices	1.1 Access and interpret legislation, regulations, code of conduct and workplace policies and procedures for WHS 1.2 Develop procedures for ongoing hazard identification, and assessment and control of associated risks 1.3 Ensure risk controls and hazard-specific procedures are consistent with the hierarchy of control and are monitored to support compliance with legislative and regulatory requirements 1.4 Identify requirements for expert WHS advice, and request this advice as required
2. Facilitate consultation, cooperation and communication	2.1 Develop and provide consultative WHS activities to provide advice in relation to work health and safety issues 2.2 Monitor processes for ensuring that workers have an opportunity to contribute feedback on health and safety issues 2.3 Document outcomes of consultation and communicate to workers 2.4 Develop and implement processes to ensure that responsibilities and duties are documented and accountability processes are in place 2.5 Implement and monitor training programs to ensure identified WHS training requirements are addressed, including induction process
3. Monitor compliance with risk control processes	3.1 Develop WHS record-keeping policies and procedures and provide information to workers 3.2 Monitor hazard, incident and injury reporting processes to meet legislative requirements and to inform future prevention strategies 3.3 Evaluate WHS record-keeping policies and procedures for compliance with legislative requirements

- principles of safe design processes

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in the workplace.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

In addition, assessment must ensure use of:

- current workplace policies and procedures for WHS

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

- factors that impact on emergency situations to enable appropriate contingency planning
- behaviour and characteristics of typical emergencies to enable the development of an action plan to quickly and effectively bring the situation under control.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in:

- a sport, fitness or recreation environment where the individual is exposed to simulated emergencies requiring response. This can be a workplace or simulated environment.

Assessment must ensure access to:

- current industry procedures for reporting and managing emergency situations
- legislation relevant to emergencies:
    - work health and safety/occupational health and safety
    - duty of care
    - environment protection
    - hazardous substances and dangerous goods
    - public health and safety
    - industry codes of practice
- equipment and resources to ensure adequate response to emergencies relevant to work role and workplace
- a variety of clients and/or participants requiring an emergency response, clients and participants can be:
    - clients and participants in a sport, fitness or recreation industry workplace who are assisted by the individual during the assessment process or
    - individuals who participate in role plays or simulated activities, set up for the purpose of assessment, in a simulated industry environment operated within a training organisation.

Assessment activities that allow the individual to:

- coordinate participant movement during emergency situations
- respond to a range of emergencies in a sport, fitness or recreation environment, within the required, but realistic, timeframe.
